Hunt's personnel reduction plan okayed by Council

by DAVE KNIGHT

Despite contentions that the support staff in City Hall will be close to being overworked, the City Council gave its okay Monday night to a personnel reduction program proposed by City Manager Robert Hunt.

The complicated plan utilizes reductions of hours, temporary layoffs, interdepartmental transfers and days off without pay to save $30,000 in the city's General Fund. That is the amount designated by council in April to be trimmed from the General Fund budget in order to avoid a tax increase.

A voluntary program enacted at that time in which all city employees took one day off each month without pay was criticized recently by local city employee union officials who claimed the personnel reduction in the utility departments was not benefitting the General Fund.

City Clerk Deanne Balch cautioned council members at Monday night's special meeting saying that the reduction of hours in her department and for other clerical workers at City Hall could create a serious backlog of work.

Said Mrs. Balch, "If things are as bad as you say they are, I am willing to try it (the new program)...But work continues to increase in my department with three elections coming up this year and the daily red tape. There's going to be a point when it becomes impossible."

Council member Shirley Roloff acknowledged Mrs. Balch's situation but asked cooperation saying, "This plan should be given a chance to work."

Under a policy adopted by the council in May, Hunt was given the authority to enact any layoffs or work reductions neccessary to balance the budget. There being no motion to override his proposal Monday night, there was no need for a vote on the matter.

The new program includes the following:

-In the Electric and Wastewater Departments, all employees will return to full-time status.

-All employees in the Street Department will be returned to full-time status though one equipment operator will be transferred to the Water Department until winter when he will return to help with snow removal. In late fall one light equipment operator will be temporarily laid off until needed for snow removal.

-Water Department employees will be returned to full-time status.

-Police Department employees, including the secretary, will maintain the one-day-off-a-month-without-pay program.

-No changes in the Fire Deparment.

-In City Hall, the city manager's secretary, the deputy city clerk and the deputy city treasurer will remain on the one-day-off-a-month-without-pay program, the senior payroll billing clerk and the utility billing clerk will be returned to full-time status, the average work week for the part-time clerk's assistant will be reduced from 21.5 to 17 hours per week, the recreation secretary will take one day off a month without pay and the number of work weeks for the assessor's secretary will be reduced from 17 to 15 weeks each year.

Strawbridge quits as planning head

Dr. David J. Strawbridge, chairman of the Charlevoix City Planning Commission, has announced his resignation from the commission. Strawbridge, 37, has chaired the commission for the past five years.

In a letter submitted to city officials last Thursday, Strawbridge wrote, "It is with some mixed emotions that I tender my resignation from the Charlevoix Planning Commission, effective July 11, 1982. This decision is one that I have contemplated for several months, one that I have arrived at after considerable thought. I would like to say that I have very much enjoyed working with the other members of the Planning Commission and wish them individually and as a body only success in the future. If I may be of service to Charlevoix in some other capacity in the future I certainly would enjoy it."

Strawbridge's resignation creates a second vacancy on the Planning Commission. Former commission member Clement Olach recently resigned when he was appointed to fill the Third Ward City Council seat vacated by Joseph Morris.

O'Sullivan found dead in front yard

The Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department is investigating the death of Joseph Finbarr O'Sullivan, 47, retired from the U.S. Navy, whose body was found in the driveway of his Eveline Township home at 8:15 a.m. Monday by a passing motorist.

Dr. Reed Freidinger, Charlevoix County Medical Examiner, has ordered an autopsy which will be performed at the Otsego County Hospital in Gaylord. The body will be returned to the Winchester Funeral Home in Charlevoix.

O'Sullivan had come to Northern Michigan from the Detroit area with his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. O'Sullivan, following his retirement from the U.S. Navy.

Solid waste plan is ready

by PEG OHLE

Every man, woman, and child in Charlevoix County generates approximately 2.4 pounds of household waste daily. On top of that, commercial establishments generate another two pounds of waste daily for every man, woman, and child.

The disposal of this waste in an environmentally safe and economically feasible manner was the major problem faced by the County's Solid Waste Planning Committee during a two-year period of writing a Solid Waste Management Plan for the County.

Faced with the actual or threatened closing by the Department of Natural Resources of all the municipal landfills within the County and with the DNR's demand that the County provide for disposal of solid waste of its residents in a State-approved manner, the Solid Waste Planning Committee was appointed and told to go to work on a Plan.

That Plan has been completed and a draft copy has been sent to Township and City officials, members of the County Board, officials of adjacent counties, the Regional Planning Commission, the Charlevoix County Planning Commission, and the Department of Natural Resources.

Next, the Plan will be subjected to a public hearing, after which the Solid Waste Planning Committee will make any revisions suggested by the public that are deemed desirable. Then the Planning Commission will approve the Plan and present it to the County Board of Commissioners for their approval. After that, the 15 Townships, three Cities, and one Village will be asked for approval. (Sixty-seven percent, or 13 of these municipalities must approve the Plan before it can be enacted locally). Finally, the Plan will be sent to the Department of Natural Resources for its approval. If the Plan does not receive approval at any step, the Solid Waste Planning Committee is charged with the job of making whatever changes are necessary to insure its approval and returning the Plan to all the governmental units for further consideration.

Briefly, the proposed Solid Waste Management Plan calls for the continuing use of the Charlevoix Garbage Service Landfill in Eveline Township (which is working toward Airport expansion may lead to bigger, better things

by DAVE KNIGHT

While dust flies from the Charlevoix Municipal Airport runway espansion project, stragtegy is being laid for some even bigger plans for the facility.

Earth movers and paving equipment of the Manthei Development Corporation were hard at it last week as the 1,000-foot extension to the existing east-west runway and a taxiway from the runway to the hangar on Carpenter Ave. began to take shape.

Construction on the project began in May after approval of funding earlier in the year. The project is being jointly funded by the federal government, state and city.

The runway will be extended from its present 3,500-foot length to 4,500 feet. The additional 1,000 feet, say local pilots, will greatly increase the margin of safety for planes using the airport, especially the larger, twin-engine crafts which require the longer distance for landings and take-offs.

While the expansion project was first envisioned several years ago in the airport's master plan, it has now taken on a new perspective according to engineer Alvin Ranger who developed the plan and who now sees it as a possible stepping stone to a much greater asset.

Ranger went public last week with plans being devised by an informal ad hoc committee to attract a Federal Aviation Administration flight service station to Charlevoix.

"This improvement certainly helps our opportunity to bid for the flight station," said Ranger, "The fact that we are actively implementing the master plan for the airport may well get the FAA interested."

The flight station being sought will be one of 61 such operations to be built across the country to consolidate the efforts of over 400 now operating. The station will provide weather data and other vital information for pilots in all of the Lower Peninsula plus Luce, Chippewa and Mackinaw Counties in the U.P.

The facility would require a 10,000-foot building, half of which would be occupied by computer equipment. Up to 125 people would be employed and, since the station trains all its own employees, some jobs may be available to local residents, said Ranger.

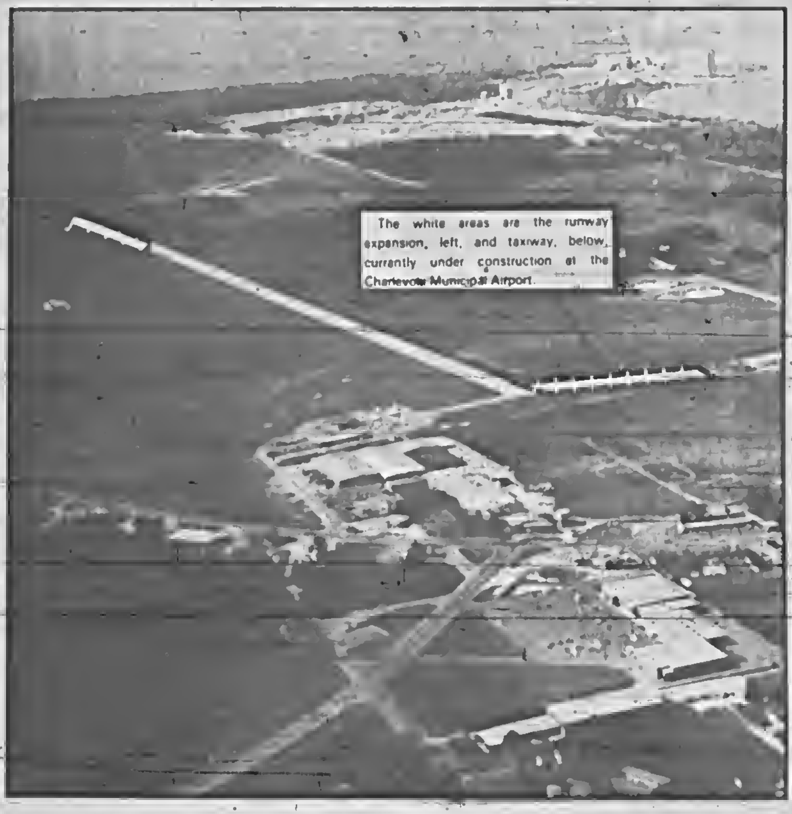
The estimated payroll would be from $2 to $4 million.

Ranger, Charlevoix City Manager Robert Hunt and County Commissioner John Haggard will be in Lansing July 21 to learn more about the bidding process for the flight service station.

With several Michigan communities competing for the station, it is expected that a building will have to be virtually donated on a $1 a year basis.

Said Ranger, "This could be the keystone to a whole flowering of good economic things for the community. The light industry based on high technology that would be brought in is just what Charlevoix is looking for in its economic master planning."

The Charlevoix County Economic Development Corporation was the first local entity to throw its support behind the proposal. The EDC approved a $100 expense last week to cover the committee's trip to Lansing. The EDC will, in the meantime, be exploring other ways to approach the project.



The white areas are the runway expansion, left, and taxiway, below, currently under construction at the Charlevoix Municipal Airport.

Local artists join forces at Godwins

by SARA GAY DAMMANN

A potter, a wood worker and a "mixed media" craftsperson – wall hangings to sweet grass baskets – share studios at Godwin Pottery on Antrim Street.

This Friday they are celebrating a "Grand Opening", putting their works on display in the showroom and inviting visitors into their studios, from 7 to 10 p.m., with refreshments.

Barbara Godwin-Chulick, owner of Godwin Pottery, invited weaver-jeweler Christa Maria and wood worker Shirley Johns to join her in a cooperative effort this summer.

Godwin Pottery first opened in 1980 when Barbara Godwin-Chulick bought the former Art's Dry Cleaners for her home, studio and showroom. The building, built in 1882 to house a small grocery, is one of Charlevoix's Centennial Homes.

Godwin-Chulick describes her pottery as "elegant, functional, wheel thrown porcelain."

Pieces range from wine goblets to complete dinner sets, predominately white on white, some with fine line drawings or simple lines of color. The potter says she also works with cumstomers to design pieces.

Originally from Saginaw, Godwin-Chulick studied art and ceramics at the American College in Paris (France) and at Michigan State University. When not working in her Charlevoix studio she takes her pottery to art shows around the midwest, including the Birmingham and Palmer Park Fairs as well as Charlevoix' Waterfront Art Fair.

Dried wild flower wreaths, non-functional brooms of rushes and twigs accompanied by poetry, and woven hangings with shells and feathers are among the works of Christa Maria at the studio showroom.

A native of Lubeck, Germany, Christa Maria's work combines European and American folk traditions with her own designs. She moved to the United States in 1965. In Fort Wayne, Indiana, she was the coordinator of the Children's Wing of the Fort Wayne Art Museum.

Asked to describe her work, the dark haired woman laughed and peered over her spectacles, "mixed media," she said with a trace of a German accent. She shrugged.

"My wall hangings combine weaving and crocheting with found objects. I use natural materials. My non-functional brooms are meant to be decorative. I combine them with poetic messages."

She also works in jewelery, setting natural stones in gold and silver, and she says, she will repair jewelery as well as design custom pieces.

The pottery and jewelery are displayed on some of the wood furniture made by third studio member, Shirley Johns.

Formerly an apprentice with Ron Gank of Windjammer Wood Products of Hastings and Eastport, and a member of the National Association of Furniture Manufacturers, Johns works in hard woods, handcrafting large and small pieces – beds to cutting boards.

"I like to work in maple and cherry, also black walnut, but that's hard to get," Johns says, running her hand over the warm natural finish of a pieced maple table on which she has displayed cutting boards of intricately pieced walnut, maple and cherry.

"I get a lot of satisfaction knowing my furniture will be passed on to the grandchildren of my customers because it is substantial and well made," she smiles.

She adds that she enjoys working with antiques. "I love history."

The three young women said they will be opening their studios as well as the showroom to the public as of Friday. Regular hours, they say, will be Tuesday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and noon to 5 p.m. on Sunday.

Contract awarded for roof repair

The contract for preparing the Charlevoix High School for a new roof plus insulation of the structure has been awarded to the Traverse City Insulating Co. it has been announced following the opening of bids at the school business office at noon Friday..

Four bids which ranged from $25,000 to $33,600 were received for the work which will include the removal of all skylights, lowering the ceilings in the sawtooth areas of the study hall and Special Education room, installation of a ceiling in the shop area, the installation of an estimated 56,000 square feet of insulation and other lesser porjects.

The company's bid was in the amount of $28,000. While the bid was not the lowest of the four received, it was the most appropriate because of the type of materials used Vincent Olach, business manager, said.

Earlier, a bid in the amount of $99,380 had been awarded to J.R.J. Roofing Co. of Harrison for the installation of a Trocal roof.

The two successful bidders will begin work on the project later this month in order to have the work completed prior to the opening of the 1982-83 school year Sept. 8.

The project will give the building an R-34 factor and cut fuel consumption by as much as a third it has been estimated. The project will be financed by a .9 mill levy for two years approved in the June 14 election.

Knight on the Town
End to the Late Show?

Picture this.

A stream of people, heads bowed and bleary-eyed, stagger to their vehicles parked along the intersection of State and Mason. They move sluggishly as if having weathered a major ordeal. Some shake their heads.

Are these people returning from a service at the Winchester Funeral Home?

No. It is midnight. They are leaving a regular Monday night meeting of the Charlevoix City Council.

Marathon council meetings, always a threat when the agenda includes controversial items, have lately become the norm and the city fathers want to do something about it before people start coming to meetings with pillows and blankets.

If vocal participation in local government is a valid measure of civic responsibility, Charlevoixians can take pride. Traditionally, city residents have come to the council chambers to be heard and, traditionally, they have always gotten their say. Trouble is, some take several "says" to make their point.

The result has been, on some nights, a free-for-all that resembles the futures pit of the Chicago Board of Trade. To put it briefly, decorum at the council meetings has been lacking.

In an effort to tighten up the Monday night melee, council members have agreed to experiment with some new policies on meeting procedures. Among them are included the consolidation of agenda items on which there is unanimous consent, the reduction of meeting time used to voice council concerns on minor matters to the city manager, the shifting of more responsibility to the Planning Commission on planning matters and an increased assertiveness on the part of the mayor and council members to move the meetings along.

There is also a new set of rules governing public comment.

At the start of each meeting, time will be allotted for general public comments about items not on the agenda. Whenever public comment is scheduled during the meeting, people wishing to address the council will be asked to stand until recognized and, when recognized, will speak from the podium after giving their name and address.

Each speaker will be allowed three minutes. Speakers are allowed to raise questions of the council members or request further information on a subject but they will not be allowed to engage in any dialogue with other audience members.

When they are finished, they will not be allowed to speak again on the same item. After everyone who wishes to speak on a subject has had their chance, the mayor will close the meeting to public comment and the council will take up the matter. Large groups are asked to assign one or two persons to represent them at the podium. If someone requires a more lengthy presentation, a request should be made to the city manager to be scheduled on the agenda well in advance of the meeting.

At first, the whole idea sounds pretty radical...like asking the bulls that run through the streets of Pamplona, Spain to watch for crossing lights. But something has to be done.

It's going to take some assertiveness on the part of Mayor Ken Staley with cooperation from the council. Running a tidy meeting is a function of the chairman, not the participants. When public comments have gotten out of control in the past, it has been because they were allowed to.

One of the enticements of small town life is being able to participate in local government. Detroit residents don't even get three minutes at their city council meetings. To diminish this sense of involvement would be a mistake.

But the lack of order at council meetings is, in itself, a discouragement to people wishing to participate.

There's nothing wrong with trying to convert the council from being the weekly Late Show back into prime time.

Clockwise
Weird weather

by Bob Clock

THERE'S A TIRED old adage that claims if you don't like Michigan weather — wait a minute.

This weekend certainly bore out that bearded saying in spades.

It is hard to remember a more perfect summer day than Saturday, with crowds of visitors in East Park for the Hobbycraft Fair and thousands of shoppers making the circuit of Bridge Street shops.

A goodly number of folks were in town to ride the Bay Queen or the South Shore or take the Bay Rail Express to Petoskey.

The weather was warm to the point of being balmy and our lakes sparkled like gems.

Then, all of a sudden clouds move in from the south and a gentle drizzle began. By midnight we were in the teeth of a full-blown fall storm — the first of the season. The wind continued without let-up all day Sunday, with rain falling in sheets from sodden skies.

Although we needed the rain badly, I was sorry to see such a beautiful weekend turn sour.

Of course, there'll be others; but the rapid change in temperature was merely a reminder that we live north of the 45th parallel — and foul days outnumber fair by a goodly margin.

THE HOBBYCRAFT Fair, incidentally, has become one of my favorite summer events in Charlevoix, and apparently I'm not alone, judging from the crowds browsing — and buying — in the park Saturday.

If memory serves, the fair was the brainstorm of Mrs. Arthur (Bernice) Wexstaff of Bay Shore who thought craftsmen deserved a day of their own in the park to display their wares. Many of them had been judged ineligible to enter the Waterfront Art Fair because their work fell on the wrong side of that thin line that divides arts from crafts.

The Hobbycraft Fair has grown beyond everyone's expectations. The 1982 edition was bigger and better than ever, with so many booths offering attractive merchandise at affordable prices.

I can't recall that Mrs. Wexstaff ever entered anything in the fair. But she certainly came up with a fine idea that has continued to bear fruit — year after year.

IF YOU PLAN on relaxing at all this summer, you'd better hurry. The weekend of July 23 to 25 is the Venetian Festival — followed by Sidewalk Days and the Art Fair.

Come to think of it, there's not a great deal of summer left — and it has hardly started.

IF YOU HAPPEN to see a tired old rat terrier limping through the streets of Charlevoix, give me a call at 547-9627. Our Gin, who will be 18 on Aug. 2, and has lost her sight, her hearing and most of her get-up-and-go, wandered away from the house Saturday afternoon and can't find her way home. Her poor old master is disconsolate...

OPEN LETTER TO CHARLEVOIX VOTERS

SUBJECT: Chronology of events and actions relating to the City Council's recent appointment to fill a council chair vacancy.

I shall preface this letter by stating that the Council acted in full accord with the dictates of the Charlevoix City Charter, per Article II, sections 2.5 & 2.6. Further, I will state that this letter is not directed at the Council appointees, past or present. The purpose of this letter is to discuss how this action was and is accomplished, and to possibly raise some questions thereto.

June 7, 1982 - The City Attorney advised the Council that according to provisions of the City Charter a Council seat vacancy then existed in the 3rd Ward, and further stated that according to the Charter that vacancy must be filled by Council appointment within thirty (30) days. At this time a discussion was held regarding interested persons seeking to fill the vacancy, including from the audience the name of the runner up in the previous election. The Mayor, as well as other council members, stated that they had been contacted regarding the vacant seat. It was generally decided by the Council to consider the merits of anyone interested in filling the vacancy at their next work session. However, at this time all names being considered had been proffered prior to any formal announcement of a vacancy.

June 9, 1982 - the Charlevoix Courier carried an article and Editorial comment regarding the 3rd Ward Council seat vacancy. At this time there still were no names available to the public as to those aspiring to serve.

June 14, 1982 - Council met in work session.

June 18, 1982 - The Charlevoix Courier printed a Letter Retort to the previous week's Editorial comment. Still no names of those interested in the Council position.

June 21, 1982 - The Council met in General Session..a brief discussion concerning the vacant seat was permitted. A petition with signature supporting a previous candidate was presented to the Mayor and Council. Thereafter, a vote was taken on the motion (made prior to discussion) and a replacement Council member was sworn in and seated.

In the final analysis the newspaper articles, letters, circulated petition and public input was all after the fact, as the decision had been made previously on June 14, 1982 at the closed work session.

This then leads to the questions raised:

First...with 30 days in which to act why was in necessary to rush to get in done in 7 days?

Second...Consider that ANY vacancy occuring in ANY Ward is subject to an appointment by Council, and at the time of appointment FOUR or FIVE Council members are from other wards. Is this fair to the constituents of the Ward involved?

Finally...Should the Voters consider a Charter amendment which will provide a more representstive and equitable means of filling a Council vacancy? Since this is not the FIRST, nor will it be the LAST, time a vacancy must be filled.

Solid waste plan

DNR licensing); shipping waste to landfills in Kalkaska and Crawford Counties; mini transfer stations in the Boyne City, East Jordan, and Charlevoix areas; a major transfer station near the Charlevoix Garbage Service Landfill or somewhere along M-66; continuing use of green box transfer stations in Boyne Valley and Melrose Townships; and either a modular incinerator or a lined landfill on Beaver Island.

The above facilities are marked only for disposal of the usual household and commercial garbage and trash. The Plan calls for other disposal facilities for such matter as building materials and specific industrial waste.

The Plan as set up is geared to a five-year period, looking forward to future advancements in recycling, waste processing, and energy recovery. "Our technology is advancing at such a rapid rate that to exclude these would hinder our ability to fulfill the objectives contained in this Plan;" the Committee reports.

How will Solid Waste be collected under this Plan? There are several options:

–Residents taking it to transfer stations and-or landfills.

–Collection by private haulers under contract to residents.

–Collection by private haulers paid for through taxes.

–Collection by private haulers by franchise areas and paid for by residents personally or through taxes.

–Municipal collection paid for through taxes.

–Multiple municipal authority collection paid for through taxes.

–County Department of Public Works collection paid for through taxes and-or direct payment of fees to Department of Public Works by residents.

–How will the landfills and transfer stations be operated? There are several possible ways:

–The Charlevoix Garbage Service Landfill, by private ownership with revenue generated from dumping fees.

–The Antrim-Kalkaska Landfill, by the two-County authority using State-owned land. Operated with revenue generated by dumping fees and supplemental appropriations from County Boards.

–The Crawford-Otsego Landfill, by the two-County Authority using State-owned land. Operated in same manner as above.

–On Beaver Island, a modular incinerator or lined landfill, by public ownership by Peaine and St. James Townships Authority, run by employee of township, financed by property taxes.

–Mini Transfer Station, Boyne City, by private ownership, City ownership, or City-Township Authority. Operated by owner or his employee or contracted by public owner to private sector; financed by tipping fees and recycling revenues, property taxes, and tipping fees from non-residents; could be located at the existing open dump location, within the City on property zoned "Commercial" or "Industrial", or along South M-75 in the general vicinity of Control Engineering and Top O'Michigan Rural Electric Cooperative.

–Mini Transfer Station, East Jordan, same criteria as Boyne City except that Station could be located along M-66 or M-32.

–Mini Transfer Station, Charlevoix, same criteria as Boyne City and East Jordan except that Station could be located at present industrial waste sit near the Charlevoix Airport, along US-31 or M-66 on land zoned "Industrial" or "Warehousing" preferably in the area of Captain's Corners, or in the Industrial Park.

–Major Transfer Station, by private ownership, public (County) ownership, or by mult-municipality Authority. Financed by tipping fees and recycling revenues, property taxes, pass cards for residents of supporting municipalities and-or County, with tipping fees paid by non-residents and commercial haulers. Could be located at Charlevoix Garbage Service Landfill Site, adjacent to the County Road Commission on Shaw or Brock Road, or along M-66 in Eveline or South Arm Township, northwest of East Jordan.

The Solid Waste Planning Committee is made up of County residents representing different segments of the community, as required by State law. They are:

Lee Moerland, County Government; Dennis Jason, Regional Planning Commission; Oscar Ward, City Government; Junior Hunt, Township Government; Larry Levengood and John Frey, Environmental Interests; Bruce Malpass, William Marme, Jr., Dawson Way, and Clarence Smith, Solid Waste Haulers and-or Operators of Disposal Sites; Ralph Richardson, Tom Wieland, and Tim Clifton, Members-at-Large. County Planner Lawrence Sullivan has worked closely with the Committee in preparing the Plan.

The "schedule of passage" for the Solid-Waste Management Plan calls for a public hearing on Thursday evening, Sept. 30, at 7:30 in the County Building Annex. The Solid WAste Planning Committee will meet on Monday, October 4, to review the comments made at the public hearing and decide if any changes should be made in the Plan in response to the comments.

The Charlevoix County Planning Commission will meet on Thursday evening, October 7, to review the Plan and consider any major changes. If the Plan is approved by the Planning Commission, it will go to the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners on October 12 or 13 for the Commissioners' review and approval. When that approval is received, Sullivan and members of the Solid Waste Management Committee and the County Planning Commission will attend Township and City meetings to explain and promote the Plan.

After approval by 67 percent of the municipalities, the Plan will have "passed" locally and goes to the Department of Natural Resources for its blessing.

Weddings

Mr. and Mrs. Verne A. Merritt

Malec - Merritt

Arrangements of large white mums and peach carnations graced the altar of St. Francis Xavier Church for the July 3 wedding of Theresa Ann Malec and Verne Anthony Meritt. Fr. Nicholas Meyer, OFM performed the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Lewis Malec of Charlevoix and the late Patricia Ann Malec and Mr. and Mrs. Roland Wilson of Indian River and Verne Merritt Sr., of Belleville.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown featuring a high neckline, double full Bishop sleeves with wide cuffs, a raised waistline and full A-line skirt with attached Cathedral length train trimmed with seed pearls and Chantilly lace. Her waist length double tiered veil of bridal illusion was attached to a silk floral wreath.

Wedding music was offered by the organist, August Huybrechts and soloist, Carolyn Phillips.

Patricia Soe Kelbel attended as maid of honor and bridesmaids were Chris Kelbel, Gina Merritt and Carolyn Phillips. They wore apricot print on white voile gowns with matching print lace sweetheart necklines, V-shaped yokes with lace ruffles and slightly raised waists.

Sara Wright, as flower girl, wore a costume designed like the bridesmaids gowns. Jason Wright was ringbearer.

Robbin Stockton attended the groom as best man and groomsmen were Tim Malec, George Swadling and Joe Hendrickson. Ushers were Tim Malec, George Swadling and Joe Hendrickson.

A reception for 600 guests followed at the VFW Hall, given by the father of the bride. The buffet was catered by Harry and Clara Ellenberger and music was by Judy and her Suchey Brothers of Alpena.

Following a honeymoon through the Southeastern states, the couple will make their home in Indian River after July 18. They are both employed at Northern Michigan Hospitals in Petoskey.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rabbi Frederic Dworkin before approximately 100 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Slater of Paramus are parents of the bride, and Dr. and Mrs. Robert Tollas of Charlevoix are parents of the bridegroom.

The bride's gown of white summer satin was fashioned with short puffed sleeves, a train, and a pearl-covered bodice. Her sister, Dorie, served as maid of honor. A sister-in-law, Julie Slater, was a bridesmaid, as were two sisters of the bridegroom, Debbie and Diane Tollas, and Linda Allen.

Albert Slater gave his daughter in marriage.

David Tollas served his brother as best man. Ushers were another brother, Dane Tollas, and Allan Slater, Michael O'Donnell, and Richard Allen.

Following the marriage ceremony, the bride's parents hosted a reception at the Tamcrest Country Club, with music provided by the Charlotte Russe band.

The newlyweds will be at home in Lansing when they return from a wedding trip to Cape Cod. The bridegroom, who is an artist, teaches at Lansing Community College. The bride plans to enter computer-programming field.

The bride, who was given in marriage by Norman Sulkowski, wore a white chiffon gown with lace bodice, lace trim on the sleeves, and ruffles at the waist. Her veil was of white netting trimmed with lace, and she carried a bouquet of yellow sweetheart roses, white daisies, and baby's breath with light blue ribbon streamers.

Tina Klama of Bartlesville, Oklahoma served her sister as maid of honor. Teresa Klama, another sister, and Marjorie Timms, both of Charlevoix, were the bridesmaids. The maid of honor wore a gown of light blue qiana with matching chiffon jacket and the bridesmaids wore pastel yellow gowns with lace jackets. They each carried a white silk rose with ribbons to match their gowns.

Hist. Soc. holds annual meeting

Members of the Charlevoix Historical Society heard Woodbury Ransom talk about the history of the Belvedere Club at their annual meeting last week. His well-documented recitation began with the founding of the "Charlevoix Summer Resort" and the first building activity in 1878, and continued to the present time.

The history of the Belvedere Club was one of a series of "histories" presented at Historical Society meetings during the past year. Others were "The Emrey and Todd Families" by Bob Emrey, "Dan Schwertz" by LaRne Gill, "Koch's Casino" by Edith Gilbert, "Grandvue Medical Care Facility" by Marcia Breakey and Helen Deming, "History of the local Church of God" by Shirley Lusk, "Second Book of Minutes of Society" by Lillian Swinton, "Historical Society Activities" by Bill Price and Lou Orlowski, "Charlevoix Garden Club" by Dorothy Lewand, "History of Bay Shore by Betty Zipp", and "History of the Charlevoix Police Department" by Chief Jack Mol.

At last week's meeting, members also heard a report on the Harsha House Museum, which has been carpeted and completed. A committee is now cataloging artifacts, mounting pictures, and acquiring display racks.

The Museum was financed during the year by sales of "Bob Miles' Charlevoix", Irene Young's "Map of the Million Dollar Sunset Section of Michigan", and a reprint of the "1907 Charlevoix Cookbook", as well as by life memberships and funds received through a special fund drive.

The Society also acknowledged a member's gift of 100 shares of Kerr-McGee stock with an estimated value of $4,063, which has been placed in the Society's reserve fund.

The Charlevoix Historical Society now has 115 regular members and 101 life members. Meetings are held the first Tuesday of each month at 8 p.m. in the Harsha House, 103 State Street. The Harsha House Museum is open during July and August on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday afternoons from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Officers for the coming year are Marilyn Boss, president; Ann Curtis, first vice-president; Bob Miles, second vice-president; Eloise LaRue, secretary; Ralph Hamilton, treasurer; and Hilda Gibson, assistant treasurer and membership chairman. Board members are Ron Swanson, Betty Zipp, Dale Boss, Benona Kohler, Dorothy Lewand, Lou Orlowski, Ed Beuiner, and Bill Price.

The next activity of the Society is the Fourth Annual Heritage Day Luncheon, to be held at the Harsha House on July 23.

Help protect your car from summer sunburn!

If you're looking to keep your car longer, try to keep it out of the hot, baking sun. While sunshine is beautiful it speeds up paint deterioration. Make sure that when you wash your car you dry it completely immediately. Water droplets intensify and direct sun rays into the paint. If you have Tidy Car paint sealant — Preserv — A — Shine® — protecting your paint, the Preserv-A-Shine has some of the same qualities of suntan lotion. It will absorb a portion of the sun's harmful rays before they reach the paint. And this month Tidy Car has a $10-off special on all Preserv-A-Shine applications. Bible Questions Answers

DEAR B, Q & A - WHY ARE SO MANY CHRISTIANS SICK IF IT IS GOD'S WILL THAT THEY BE HEALED? - Sincere.

Dear Sincere. Your question deserves a very honest look into God's Word as well as just plain logic and thinking the problem through. My first thought is (1) What is a Christian and (2) How do you now that the people that were sick WERE INDEED Christians?

A Christian can be defined from God's Word as a follower or a disciple of Christ. One who is being disciplined into the image or likeness of Christ in their life. It is also someone who not only has confessed Christ as their Lord and Saviour, but continues to live daily with Christ as their Lord and Saviour. A Christian is also a person who not only has HAD his sins forgiven (from the past) but also is FREE of sin presently, or as he calls himself a Christian. Now this is the tough one. Many people get saved, or come to Christ at one time in their life, but they fail to stay free of sin from that point on. Christ can only forgive sins when we come to Him and ask for forgiveness. He does not "automatically" forgive every sin that I commit. Once a Christian commits a sin, he has at that moment surrendered himself (by his own choice) to Satan, Prince of this World. At that moment that person is not in the Kingdom of God. But provision has been mde in 1 John 1;9 to confess that sin and Christ IS faithful and just to forgive THAT sin.

So being a Christian is a FULLTIME job for any person. He must be IN Christ, FREE of sin and obeying the voice of the Holy Spirit in seeking and experiencing the TRUTH or WORD of God. A Christian EATS the Word of God daily for his spirit just as we eat food daily for our body. A baby deprived of food will die in a few days. So will a Christian that is not feeding on the Word of God and keeping his life clean of sin. Now that you know WHAT a Christian is, the next problem is HOW do you know that any person is TRULY living a CHRISTIAN LIFE? Only God really knows the answer to that. Our problem is that we see a person who "calls himself" a Christian but they MAY NOT be living a Christian life. Therefore we are confused when they have sickness and disease in their life and our tendency is to think that God has put this on them for some other noble reason. In all fairness, it is possible that it is a new Christian and they are yet ignorant of the laws of FAITH and the promises of DIVINE HEALING thru the Cross. More next week. PLEASE WRITE YOUR QUESTIONS: BQA, Box 361, Charlevoix, Mi. 49720.

Whitley advances to national wrestling competition

Gregg Whitley, wrestling in the 153 pound weight class in the Michigan division of the U.S. Wrestling Federation in the Free Style class, placed first over 14 other competitors to win a berth on the state's team in his weight class in the National Competition to be held at the University of Iowa, July 27.

He won seven matches, five by pins and two by decisions of 13-8 and 11-5. Thirty-eight state teams will compete at the University of Iowa.

The state meet was held on the campus of Michigan State University last weekend.

Yachting Notes

Blustery breezes and sparkling sunshine combined to make the opening of the summer race series an exciting evening. Disappointment was the order of the day for "Indooroophily" and "Blazen III"; who, after sailing outstanding races, learned they were over the line early at the start. "Indooroophily" dropped all the way from first overall to D.N.S.

Adjusted Results, Overall: 1st - "Mint Julep", 2nd - "Hummer", 3rd - "Sly", 4th - "Comouflage", and 5th - "Max".

In Fleet winners and second places: PHRF - "Mint Julep" and "Hummer", P-26 - "Tireless" and "Win Haven", Santana 525 - "Sly" and "Max", and in the Portsmouth Fleet - "Seascape" followed by "Tegi".

The Santana 525 Championship Series is this weekend ... 5 races total (1 Friday evening, 2 each Saturday and Sunday), call Gary Gleason, 547-4600 with your entry. P-21's are invited to race the same courses, 10 minutes later - call Mike Carland, 547-4418. Other members have a special invitation to enjoy Friday evening at the Club and view Race number 1 of the series. Don't forget the sail board fun and games, also Friday evenings at the Club, 6:00 p.m.

Several members are now cruising the North Channel and we look forward to a report on their activities next week.

Everybody .. NOW is the time to register for the Venetian Yacht Parade. Member and non-member yachts, boats, tugs, barges, canoes and floating bath tubs should enter by calling John Coolman at 547-6933 (after 6:00 p.m.) or 582-6426, Ext. 230.

...A Nony Mouse

Sailing classes announced

The Charlevoix Yacht Club has announced an expanded plan for sailing classes including a final session on racing strategy.

Class No. 1 will be held from 3 to 5 p.m. on Tuesday and Thursday, July 20 and 22 for the basics and at the same times July 27 and 29 for the actual sailing.

Class No. 2 will have the same structure and will be held on August 3, 5, 10 and 12.

Class No. 3 will have advanced sessions on August 17 and 19 with sailing on August 24 and 26.

Rates are $15 for 13 to 16 year-olds, $25 for CYC members 16 and over and $40 for non-members 16 and over.

Those interested may call 547-4600 to register or they may pick up an application blank at the Chamber of Commerce. Five centerboard Puffer boats are used for the instruction. Sessions will also be offered on sailboarding.

School physicals to be given

Physical examinations will be given Monday and Tuesday to all Charlevoix High and Middle School students who plan to participate in inter-scholastic sports or cheerleading during the 1982-83 school year.

Girls physical exams will be given at the high school study hall at 7:30 p.m. Monday, July 19, and boys physical exams will be given at the same site at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, July 20.

Charlevoix area physicians will be conducting the examinations. Students are encouraged to take advantage of these free physical examination clinics. Those who do not have physicals at this time must make their own arrangements as the Michigan High School Athletic Assoication requires them for everyone participating in any or all sports.

Coaches will be present to assist.

Clive spreads the word about soccer

by ANNE KELLY

In England and Canada, according to coach Clive Wilkinson who recently directed a five day youth soccer clinic and a one day coach's clinic in Charlevoix, soccer is played by kids on the empty lots and back streets, much like the stick ball and back yard versions of American baseball, here. Kids play for the sheer enjoyment of the sport, spontaneously and not necessarily concerned with the intricacies of rules or the confinements of teams and standings.

"I thing adults try to organize kids too much," observed Wilkinson. "We tend to give them too much supervision...we should let them play and enjoy when they are young."

An elementary teacher by vocation for the past 18 years, Wilkinson has been a soccer player as long as he can remember, and a coach since he was 17 and living in North Bay, Ontario. He came to Canada from England when he was 13 with memories of having English International Soccer great Sir Sandy Mathews, the world's best soccer player of the 50's, come to his school and help coach the team on which Wilkinson and Mathew's son were players.

Visiting friends in Petoskey last summer and, seeing soccer balls on display in a shop window there, led to a conversation about the sport with that merchant and subsequently, a week-long soccer clinic for kids and coaches. That was an enjoyable and rewarding experience for Wilkinson which led to this year's soccer clinics in Charlevoix and Petoskey as part of the Youth Activities Program.

Wilkinson loves kids and the game of soccer. Like a salesman convinced with the quality of his product, he is enthusiastic about the American trend to include soccer in its sports repetoire. He himself coaches two youth teams and manages one premiere men's team in Canada. He feels that many "Over here lack vision of the game," that they tend to over-simplify the teamwork strategy involved. Coaching young people newly introduced to the game is coaching "banana soccer", Wilkinson commented with tongue-in-cheek, "you know, played in bunches." They have yet to learn the importance of position and tend to follow the ball around the field in packs toward the goal.

But that's a coach's responsibility, "Molding into team play," and it's what he obviously enjoys.

Working with coaches is even more important, Wilkinson explained.

"All sports programs depend on administrators and coaches...unless you get the coaches out to look after the children—a lot of this goes for nothing."

As a conclusion of the exposure to English and Canadian soccer in our area, Wilkinson has arranged for two upcoming attractions, both in Petoskey. July 17 and 18 at North Central Michigan College, Wilkinson's "under 17" team from Soo, Canada will be playing in competition with local players. This team ranks among the top 15 or 20 in the province. Times are tentatively set for 1:00 and 4:00 P.M. on Sat. July 17, and 11:00 A.M. and an afternoon match yet to be announced on Sunday, July 18.

August 12, is the date of a visit from a boy's 13 and 14 year old team from Woking, S. England who will demonstrate their skills and knowledge of the game against a Petoskey men's team. The game will be played at the Petoskey High School football field at 6:00 P.M.

Big Rock included in Oak Ridge incident report

by DAVE KNIGHT

Charlevoix's Big Rock nuclear plant was one of three facilities in Michigan to be named in a recently released report listing U.S. nuclear plants that had potentially dangerous reactor incidents between 1969 and 1979.

The report was made by the Oak Ridge National Laboratory in Tennessee for the Nuclear Regulatory Commission.

Also listed were the Donald C. Cook 1 and 2 plants in Bridgman and the Palisades plant in South Haven.

Following its release by Ralph Nader's Public Citizen's Critical Mass Energy Project, the report was criticized, however, for disregarding technical advances made in the aftermath of the Three Mile Island incident in 1979.

The study documented 169 incidents in the ten-year period as having some degree of potential for core meltdown, the most serious eventuality in a nuclear plant accident.

Massachusetts Institute of Technology Professor Norman Rasmussen, who critiqued the report for Oak Ridge, was quoted last week by UPI as saying, "The study is dominated by several events, especially the accidents at Three Mile Island and Browns Ferry. Any fixes that have been made since then won't show up for five years or so in their research."

Losses of offsite power were the incidents cited most frequently in the cases of the Michigan plants. For the Big Rock plant, one power-loss episode in 1972 was mentioned while up to six similar incidents apiece were logged for the Cook and Palisades plants.

Big Rock and Palisades are owned by Consumers Power Company while the Donald C. Cook plant is owned by the Indiana and Michigan Electric Company.

NRC spokesman Jan Strasma was quoted by UPI as saying the incidents cited in the report at all three Michigan plants would have had to been compounded by at least one more malfunction in each case to have developed into dangerous situations.

Auction set for petunias

An auction to raise funds for next year's petunia planting has been set for Saturday, August 7 in East Park.

Keep Charlevoix Beautiful, Inc., coordinators of the petunia project this year, has issued a request to all people in the community to donate saleable merchandise for the event.

All unusual service gifts will be accepted as well as actual items to be sold. Donations already commited include sailboard lessons, an airplane tour, gift certificates and antiques.

The auction, to be held from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. on the East Park stage, is on the same day as the annual Walloon lake Association auction. Negotiations are under way to coordinate the two events.

Items to be donated will be picked up by a member of the KCB executive committee. Anyone with a donation for the auction is asked to call Ken or Jeane Heininger at 547-4551 or 599-2801.

Central Lake plans art and craft fair

The Central Lake Area Chamber of Commerce will sponsor their annual Art and Craft Fair on the "village green" in Central Lake.

This event will take place on Saturday July 17 from 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. at N. Main and Cedar in the shade of the beautiful blue spruce trees.

Lunch will be available from the local Masonic Lodge.

Area exhibitors are welcome and reservations can be made by calling 544-3322.

A Public Hearing was held regarding a proposed amendment to the City Zoning Ordinance which would create a permanent Motel-Hotel (M-H) zoning classification. George Richardson, a member of the General Public present, expressed concern regarding several aspects of the proposed amendment including allowable retail store space, density and square footage requirements, kitchen facility restrictions, and setback requirements. The City Manager stated that Mr. Richardson had made some valid points and suggested that the amendment either be revised or sent to the Planning Commission for their review.

Moved by councilman Wood and supported by Councilman Block to refer a proposed amendment to the City Zoning Ordinance, creating an M-H zoning classification, to the City Planning Commission for their review and recommendation.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Moved by Councilman Porter and supported by Councilman Wood to accept the bid submitted by W.A. Porter for construction of the City's Stormsewer Project in the estimated amount of $299,175.70 contingent upon the following items: (A) execution of a contract between the City and the County Drain Board, (B) that the County Drain Board also award the bid, and (C) that te State Highway Department concur in the awarding of the bid.

Moved by Councilman Olach and supported by Councilman Wood to allow overnight parking in the East Park parking lot at the foot of Clinton Street by permit only at an annual rate of $200.00 or a nightly rate of $3.00, said parking lot to remain a tow away zone for all vehicles parked there at night without a permit.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Timma, Roloff, Wood, Block, Olach, and Porter. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Moved by Councilwoman Roloff and supported by Councilman Timms that the City Manager be directed to enter into an agreement with Granger Engineering for an amount not to exceed $5,000 to conduct an initial evaluation of alternatives to eliminate trichloroethylene from the City water supply.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Timma, Roloff, Wood, Block, Olach, and Porter. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Paul Burlew and Mel Renaud, members of the General Public present, discussed problems of enforcement and clarification of the City Code with the Council including: (A) enforcement of the Blight Ordinance (B) parking on City streets at night (C) enforcement hours being posted on parking meters, and (D) clarification of the section of the Zoning Ordinance pertaining to fencing on a corner lot.

Council tabled any action regarding a City personnel reduction program until July 12, 1982 and generally agreed to hold a special Council Meeting to act on the matter at that time provided the City Manager has completed his recommendation on the subject.

The City Manager reported briefly on the following items:

1. The City will provide parking for the customers of the Beaver Island Boat Company at the Municipal Airport at the same rates available to regular Airport Customers.

2. A section of the City pier has been rented to John Cross for commercial fishing purposes for $800.

3. The City Manager has determined that the modification of the single family home at 125 Pine River Lane into a duplex does not require a site plan.

4. House Bill 789 which would allow equal representation on City and Township members on a Consolidated Charter Commission has been signed by the Governor and is now Public Act 192.

5. The City Attorney has sent a letter to the Woodland Oil Company regarding zoning violation.

6. The City Attorney has sent a zoning enforcement letter to Robert Schleman regarding zoning violations on property owned by S.W.S. Investments on Elm Street.

7. Three hundred ten (310) City water customers have signed up for the lawn watering program which represents approximately 20% of the residential sewer customers.

8. The City Manager has sent a letter to Charlevoix Public Schools regarding the City's water quality problems.

Moved by Councilman Olach and supported by Councilman Porter to hold Public Hearings at 8:00 P.M. on July 19, 1982 regarding the following proposed amendments to the City Code:

1. An Amendment to the City Zoning Code which would require that site plans be submitted and approved for major changes in use of a property.

2. An Amendment to the City Zoning Code which would allow professional offices in the C-1 zoned districts of the City.

3. An Ordinance which would provide a new framework for licensing transient merchants and peddlers and would allow the City Council to grant franchises for peddlers operating on public property.

4. An Ordinance which would permit the City Council to establish and change hours for City beaches and parks by resolution.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Timma, Roloff, Wood, Block, Olach, and Porter. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Council generally agreed to institute a policy of hearing public comments during Council meeting only at the time designated for this purpose on the agenda or during Public Hearings in an effort to control the length of the meetings.

The City Clerk asked for clarification of the earlier discussion regarding enforcement hours for parking meters. It was generally agreed to post enforcement hours at 9:00 A.M. to 5:00 P.M. daily except Sundays and holidays.

The Council having examined bills totaling $131,822.56 find them correct and recommend the bills be allowed.

Moved by Councilman Timma and supported by Councilman Porter that the bills be allowed and orders drawn for their amount.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Timma, Roloff, Wood, Block, Olach, and Porter. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Council adjourned.

City puts clamps on hot dog stands, etc.

by DAVE KNIGHT

In an effort to stem the proliferation of hot dog stands and other street vendors in the central business district, the City Council passed a strong resolution Monday night banning any new licenses for such operations within 100 feet of Bridge Street or Michigan Avenue from Hurlbut to Dixon during the summer season.

The two hot dog stands already licensed and operating were allowed to continue under a grandfather clause added to the resolution drafted by City Manager Robert Hunt.

Council also enacted an extensive new ordinance dealing with the licensing of solicitors and temporary businesses. Approved with the ordinance was a revised fee schedule making it substantially more costly to operate seasonal or temporary businesses in the city.

The new ordinance was developed by City Clerk Deanne Balch who has been working on it for about three years. According to Mrs. Balch, it combines elements of a similar ordinance from an Ohio city along with provisions taken from other sources. The legisation addresses the licensing of solicitors, door-to-door salesmen, roadside stands, temporary businesses, transient merchants and auctioneers.

Under the new fee schedule, a solicitor's license will cost $50 plus $5 for every day the license is in effect. An additional $25 must be paid for each person other than the applicant who solicits in the city under the authority of the license. A license for a roadside stand or temporary business will cost $100 plus $5 for each day the license is in effect. A transient merchant's license will cost $50 and an auctioneer's license $15 per auction.

"Roadside stands" and "temporary businesses" are defined in the new ordinance as places at which business is conducted other than in permanent, approved structures. "Transient merchants" are any persons doing business in a permanent structure for a period of six months or less.

Phillip Canulleri, one of three owners of the LeDoggie hot dog stand which has been operating along Bridge St. this summer, told the council that strict controls on

Beach to be closed at midnight

Whether people shall be able to stroll along the city's beaches in the late evening and early morning hours was a lively topic at Monday's City Council meeting which eventually saw the enactment of new hours of 7 a.m. to midnight set for Michigan Beach park.

Several city residents attending the meeting voiced objection to the restrictions on park usage.

Said Mrs. Jeanine Wallace, "The beaches are the reason most of us live here. We should be able to use them."

Dale Boss, responding to the popularity of young peoples' late night beach parties, said, "The kids have got to have somewhere to go. This is a traditional part of the fun of summers in Charlevoix."

Enacted first by the council, unanimously, was an ordinance enabling them to set park hours by resolution. The actual resolution setting the 7 a.m. to midnight hours at Michigan Beach was passed on a 4-2 vote with council members Wood, Olach, Block and Timms in favor and Porter and Roloff against.

Park hours for all city parks were previously set by ordinance to be 7 a.m. to 2 a.m.

Who will don Venetian crown?

Weeks of rehearsals, fittings, prompting and general nervousness will climax Thursday night with the crowning of Miss Charlevoix 1982 at the Queen's Pageant which traditionally kicks off Venetian Weekend in Charlevoix.

Seven contestants will compete for the honor to reign over the weekend's festivities and represent the community as Miss Charlevoix for the coming year.

Pageant chairman Sandy Bonello has coordinated a lively program with plenty of musical entertainment to accompany the girls as they participate in talent, bathing suit and gown competition. A dance featuring all the contestants has been choreographed by Candy Smith and will lead off the program.

Lending their talents for musical interludes will be the Pine River Four barbershop quartet and local musicians Jimmy Boggs and John Grooters. Miss Charlevoix 1981, Tami Noirot, will also be on hand to crown the new queen. Master of Ceremonies for the evening will be KHQ air personality Rob Hazelton.

Judges include Lorraine Warner, Dr. Loyal Jollar and Sean Ryan who will conclude the evening with a song to the queen.

Contestants include:

Brenda Newton, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Newton, who is sponsored by Charlee's.

Pamela Lynn Lamoreaux, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lamoreaux, who is sponsored by The Head Shop.

Novak re-elected Board president; new, more inclusive student code enacted

By FRAN MARTIN

The Charlevoix Board of Education held its organizational meeting for the 1982-83 fiscal year before conducting its regular business meeting Monday night.

At the business session decisions were made relating to the levying of taxes for 1982; sports to be offered during the 1982-83 school year; the adoption of a revised athletic and a new extra-curricular code; the renting of the high school parking lot; the granting of a year's leave of absence to Sandra Fassett; setting times and dates of meeting and naming of depositories and signatories.

At the organizational meeting, Max Novak, was re-elected president; Elaine R. Martin, vice-president; Kenneth Boss, secretary and Ardeth Wieland, treasurer. Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Wieland, who were re-elected to four year terms, were sworn in as trustees.

A total authorized levy of 25.75 mills to be levied in the Charlevoix School District for operating purposes was approved by the board. The total includes both voted and allocated millage.

Action was taken on the sports to be offered during the school year. The decision was based on declining enrollment, lack of league competition and competition available outside the school in the three sports to be eliminated. They are golf, skiing and tennis. It was explained that these were sports that only a very limited number of schools were offering and thus there was little or no competition within the league. It was suggested that they might become club sports. However, no decision was made regarding this. Football, girls basketball and cross country will be offered this fall.

A revised athletic code was presented for consideration by the board before it was adopted. In most instances the revisions were confined to changes in wording in spelling out the code. Three new sections were added. One was bring the cheerleaders under the code; a second spelled out training and competition seasons which leaves no periods between seasons such as a time between a fall and winter or winter and spring sport. In other words, the code would be in effect throughout the school year, beginning with the opening of the football practice in August. An appeal process is also included in the code.

Mrs. Doris Pearl of the board questioned the committee which drew up the code as to whether they had taken into consideration the suggestions made at a recent meeting of the Sports Boosters. She was advised that they were considered and, in some instances, incorporated into the code. A lack of communication was said to be lacking. However, the committee advised that this would no longer be lacking.

For the first time an extra-curricular code was adopted because it was felt that students participating in other school-related events such as forensics, band and school clubs should be expected to live under a similar code. Both codes were unanimously approved following lengthy discussions. The codes will be included in the new student handbook which will go into every home.

The board gave its approval to the renting of the high school parking lot to the Beaver Island Transportation Co., which operates the Bay Queen and other businesses which bring people to the community. The company is leasing the parking lot for $600 per month with the funds derived set aside to improve the lot. It was felt that since the company has contributed greatly to the economy of the community and because parking in the downtown area is at a premium, the renting of the lot would help to alleviate the parking problem and assist local economy.

Mrs. Fassett, who has been a member of the high school faculty for 15 years, was granted a year's leave of absence with the understanding that she be re-hired if there is an opening at the end of the year.

Board meetings will be held on the first and third Mondays at the high school at 7:30 p.m.

The depositories will remain as they are for this year. However, with the beginning of the 1983 fiscal year on July 1, 1983, the depositories will be alternated every two years.

At the present time the First State Bank will remain the depository for the Title I, hot lunch, the three debt retirement funds, central office internal, high school activities, high school athletic, middle school internal and culinary arts accounts. The Charlevoix County State Bank will remain the depository for the public library, general fund and payroll accounts.

The signatories will remain the same with a minimum of qualified persons signatories for all accounts.

In other action, the business manager, Vincent Olach, was authorized to make investments for the school district.

Supt. Gordon VanWieren advised the board that logs for the construction of a dormitory-type cabin at the Beaver Island lighthouse project were purchased and shipped to Beaver Island because they were already for use at a better price than they would have been purchased from sawmills on the island. He said the logs milled on the island were not readied for immediate use, were not the proper size and would not allow use of plans drawn up and accepted for use by the Youth Corps that is doing the work. The explanation was given in answer to criticism the board had received.

The next meeting of the board is scheduled for August 2.

Bible Questions Answers

DEAR B, Q & A - IF DIVINE HEALING IS IN THE ATONEMENT WHY ARE SO MANY CHRISTIANS SICK? - Sincere.

Dear Sincere: As we answered in last week's column, one problem is that sometimes we do not know what a Christian really is and also once a person becomes a Christian, does he or she stay free of sin? If they fall back into sin and fail to confess those sins, and overcome living in such sins, then they can no longer be called a Christian. Then we are faced with Divine Healing not being made available to those that willfully live in sin.

Another reason we just touched on was that because of lack of knowledge about the Work of Jesus on the Cross, or about the availability of Divine Healing could be an open gate to sickness in one's life. I have found that the majority of those calling themselves Christians do not even have a good grasp on what FAITH is all about. Hebrews 11:6 tells us that without FAITH it is impossible to please God. Another reason for a Christian being sick would be that they have broken natural laws of health in not taking proper care of their body or they are not eating, sleeping, etc. etc. properly. So to sum it up, persons who call themselves Christians could be sick because of (1) sin in their lives (2) Ignorance of the work of Jesus on the Cross (3) lack of knowledge of the Faith Laws or (4) are breaking natural laws of health for their bodies. At any rate, God has supplied the answer to sickness and disease and He is not willing to see people sick. (2 Peter 3:9) Jesus has provided those that follow Him with deliverance from sickness, disease, sin and poverty. Our duty is to seek Jesus for a born-again experience, be baptized with the Holy Spirit, walk a Holy, sin-free life before Him, and then take advantage of His gifts by searching out His Word and Will on HOW to be set free from those things that tend to destroy our lives.

There is not one verse in the Bible to teach that any of God's TRUE followers ever died with sickness and disease. God knows that His people will die eventually from simply being worn out, or tired, worn and weary as the Bible defines it. But not with sickness and disease. Jesus has taken that on His Body on the Cross for all of mankind. We are having regular Bible Classes twice a week here in Charlevoix as well as Traverse City. We have been teaching on all of these subjects for the past two years. These are free and open to the public. See our information listed under BEREAN BIBLE TEACHING CENTER in the church directory elsewhere in the Courier. PLEASE WRITE YOUR QUESTIONS TO: B, Q & A — Box 361, Charlevoix, Mi, 49720.

Ethel Rehman looks back at colorful career serving heads of state, world famous celebrities

by PEG OHLE

Ethel Bearss left her home in Ellsworth when she was 16 to take a job as waitress at the Chicago Club.

Thus began a long career of dining room service that took her to some of the finest restaurants in the country and the opportunity to meet and know many famous persons.

To start at the beginning: Ethel's father was Jefferson Monroe Bearss, a Canadian who came to Ellsworth in 1874 at the age of 16. For many years, he operated the first stage route between Ellsworth and East Jordan.

The only girl in a family of boys, Ethel showed her ingenuity at an early age by catching frogs which she sold to fishing guides for 50 cents a dozen and picking wild berries which she sold to the local hotel for 15 cents a quart.

At the end of summer, she took out the Sears, Roebuck catalog and selected her clothes for school, paying for them with her earnings.

Ethel attended East Jordan High School through the 10th grade and then quit.

"It was too confining", she says now, indicating that she had other ambitions.

After two summers at the Chicago Club and another summer at The Inn, Ethel went to work at the State Hospital in Traverse City, where she received almost enough training to qualify as a nurse. But she had to move on.

This time it was to Detroit, which was easily reachable by train from East Jordan. She and a friend made the trip together. Ethel took a job at the Statler Hotel and her friend went to work for the telephone company.

But it wasn't exactly what she wanted and she remembered that A. I. Cramer, who managed The Inn when she worked there, also managed a hotel in North Carolina during the winter months. Ethel thought North Carolina would be a good place to live, so she contacted Cramer and went to work for him at Highland Pines. However, an even better known resort hotel, Pinehurst, was nearby and Ethel switched her allegiance and went to work there.

After two years in the Carolinas, Ethel moved on to Atlantic City, where she found a job at one of the fine old hotels on the Boardwalk. It was also here that she found her husband, Ed Rehman.

Shortly after their marriage, the depression set in and they lost their jobs. Coming back to Detroit, they scraped together their savings and bought a small house and Ed went to work for the Ford Motor Company. After a while he lost that job and they lost their house.

Now, with a baby to care for as well as themselves, Ethel and Ed started over.

"It was struggle, struggle, struggle", Ethel recalls.

Shortly thereafter, Ethel was hired by the Dearborn Inn as a waitress. She stayed there for 30 years, holding such responsible positions as head waitress in the ballroom and catering elaborate state dinners and banquets.

Ethel was the head waitress in 1952 when Queen Juliana and Prince Berhard of The Netherlands were feted at the Dearborn Inn. She was "written up" in the local newspaper at that time, being described as having a "cool head".

It wasn't just the mechanics of serving wine and food that were important at parties like these, Ethel points out, "We had to be trained in protocol, too."

Another newspaper story tells about Ethel serving "queens and tycoons, business magnates and politicians, actors and musicians." Among them were Henry Ford (whom she served the night before he died), George Washington Carver, Wayne King, Tommy Dorsey, Governor George Romney, Hedda Hopper, Will Rogers, Walt Disney, Jackie Coogan, Charles A. Lindbergh, Irving Berlin, Lily Pons, and Charles Laughton.

Ethel has the autograph of many famous people, usually accompanied with a note of appreciation for the fine service she rendered.

There were others she served, too, the ordinary local business and professional men who belonged to the Optimist and Rotary Clubs. When Ethel retired from the Dearborn Inn, she was made an honorary member of both groups.

All the years she worked at the Dearborn Inn, Ethel and Ed were busy raising four children (a fifth died in infancy), and, as if that were not enough, they operated an antique shop in their home.

Ethel and Ed retired from their jobs in 1968 and moved to Boyne City. Two of their children followed them north. Daughter Joyce Pearson and her husband, Bud, operate the Teddy Bear Ice Cream Parlor and Restaurant in Charlevoix and live near Susan Lake. Daughter Donna is a nurse at the Osteopathic Hospital in Traverse City, and son Dan lives in Colorado with his family. Another son, Norwood, died six years ago. There are 16 grandchildren.

This hard-working mother and grandmother is proud of the years she spent "waitressing".

"When you think of it, there's nothing nicer one person could do for another than serve him good food in a gracious manner," she explains.

Although her serving days are over, Ethel and Ed still keep very busy. Their house near Boyne City is an antique lovers delight, filled with vintage furniture, pictures, China, and glassware, and their yard and garden are carefully manicured.

Their cupboards are filled with canned fruits and vegetables and glasses of jellies and preserves, all the product of Ethel's kitchen. They are proud of their children and their own productive lives, but most of all, they are proud of the fact that they have never accepted any kind of government help. There, again, is the independence of the little girl from Ellsworth who caught frogs and picked berries for her school clothes.

If you would like to meet Ethel and Ed Rehman, you will find them at the Flea Market in front of the Veterans of Foreign Wars building in Charlevoix every Friday during the summer, where they set up a table to display and sell some of their treasures each week.

Hayes Township plans special meeting on lanscaping lake frontage

Hayes Township lake front property owners and anyone else concerned about maintaining the high quality of Lake Charlevoix water are encouraged to attend a special meeting of the Hayes Township Planning Commission July 27 at 7:30 p.m. in the township hall on Old US 31.

The meeting has been called to hear public thinking on the issue of the Township Shoreline Protection Strip Section of the Zoning Ordinance which states in part that "a strip of land thirty-five (35) feet wide from the normal high water mark bordering the body of water shall be maintained in trees and shrubs in their natural state. Trees and shrubs may be pruned, however, to afford a view of the water."

The Planning Commission is concerned because some lake front property owners have clear cut their land to the lake, destroying the natural growth which protects lake water quality from erosion and the addition of nutrients as a result of runoff.

The shoreline protection section of the Hayes Township Zoning Ordinance follows guidelines published by the University of Michigan Biological Station at Douglas Lake for the protection of lake water quality.

Studies have shown that dramatic water quality changes take place in front of property lacking protective natural barriers. The run off of nutrients speeds the growth of vegetation in the water as well as the aging process of the lake. Part of that aging process, according to biologists, is a warming trend caused by the increased vegetation which leads to changes in aquatic life, making habitats less suitable, for example, for colder water game fish such as trout and more suitable for warmer water fish such as carp.

The Planning Commisssion hoping to avoid legal confrontations has designed Tuesdays meeting as an educational one during which property owners' opinions will be solicited.

Methods for replanting attractive shoreline protection strips will also be presented.

Opinion

Knight on the Town

Hosting the summer

by Dave Knight

What's a good party without a gracious host and hostess to welcome guests, see to their needs and clean up after them?

And is not summer in Charlevoix basically a three-month party (followed by a nine-month hangover)?

Assuming these, it seems only fitting that Charlevoix have on duty for the summer a regular host and hostess as part of a new program sponsored by the downtown merchants.

You can't miss Andre Fiedler, a junior-to-be at Charlevoix High School, and Martha Staley, co-valedictorian of the CHS Class of 1982, on their daily rounds. Decked out in pink shirts and khacki slacks donated by the Clothing Company with "Charlevoix the Beautiful" monograms courtesy of Mettlers, Andre and Martha take turns pushing a litter barrel on wheels donated by Staley Hardware.

What really sets them apart, however, are the pith helmets donated by Keep Charlevoix Beautiful. Makes them look like preppies on safari.

"With the new fast food restaurants in town adding to the food and snack concessions already operating, we felt that Charlevoix could face a real litter problem downtown," says Jim Mabee of the Clothing Company who came up with the idea.

"We (the Downtown Merchants Association) also thought it important to let our summer visitors know that we enjoy having them here and want them to come back," said Mabee, "That is why the host and hostess are instructed not only to pick up litter but to be available to answer questions and assist people whenever they can."

On the litter front, the battle appears to be well under control. After spending their first days on the job cleaning up a winter's worth of wrappers, cigarette butts and other miscellaneous refuse, Andre and Martha say the problem has stabilized. In fact, their presence alone may be somewhat of a preventive factor.

Says Andre, "I think people who see us picking up litter are more apt to put their wrappers and things into the trash barrels instead of dropping them on the street."

Each of the two works four hours a day covering Bridge Street from hill to hill and some blocks down to State St. Their first rounds are made with the cart to collect papers and the like. Later they go around with a broom and dust pan to hunt cigarette butts.

Funding for the program is coming primarily from the Downtown Merchants. Each business is being asked to contribute $20 for the summer. Although the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce is not directly involved, the Chamber office is used as a base of operations and is also where merchants can direct their contributions if they have not yet chipped in.

The Keep Charlevoix Beautiful organization has also strongly endorsed the Host and Hostess program and has promised to contribute up to 20 percent of the proceeds of their August 7 auction in East Park if neccessary.

As far as their ambassadorial duties, Andre and Martha have not exactly been beseiged with intriguing inquiries - the most frequent tourist concern appears to be the location of the nearest bathroom. But the summer's young and this is the type of job one grows with. It can even have some vocational possibilities. Chances are that by Labor Day, our intrepid pair will be well seasoned public relations experts.

And if that career doesn't appeal, they can always go into solid waste management.

roadside stands were probably not neccessary since the traffic will not support more than a few such businesses.

"I don't think there is enough business in Charlevoix to support more than one or two hot dog stands," said Camilleri who also objected to the higher fees saying, "We are paying about $250 a month to operate right now. If you extrapolate our volume to other permanent businesses downtown, I think you'll find that we actually pay more than our share."

In passing the resolution restricting street vendors, the council also instructed the city manager to work on a plan for a limited number of such operations to be licensed in the central business district for next season. One suggestion raised called for an assigned plot adjacent to East Park in which spaces could be offered for bids for summer use.

Out of the Blue

We've poles-apart opinions,
But on this we came to agree —
I think he's plain pig-headed ...
And be thinks the same of me.

Letters: Council vacancies

To the Editor:

In the recent issue of the Courier dated 7-13-82 Mr. Burlew brought up the subject of filling future city council vacancies.

I had really hoped that our local editor would address this issue because it was obvious at the council chambers when the most recent appointment was made to fill the recent vacancy that the present charter in this instance is quite inadequate if one is at all serious about representative government.

Article 11 of the present charter is as vague as it is brief in providing no provision for an election to fill a single or double vacancy. Especially in times like the present with two elections coming up in the near future and no added expense.

I hava no quarrel with the new councilman or the four who appointed him. The argument (if there is one) should be confined to principles not personalities but the fact exists that the city council will be handicapped in available options for similiar situations until the charter is revised.

The time element is no doubt the important factor here with council appointments retained for vacancies extending for a few months – with periods over one year requiring mandatory return to the election process.

And while change is being considered it might well be time to get serious about council function.

The new charter has proven to be both inefficient and acrimonious. If recent history is any guide I feel the council functioned better with the former committee system. They definitely had less reams of paper to deal with.

It is good, to be understood.

Clockwise

Pleasantly surprised

by Bob Clock

AS EXECUTIVE director of the Moonlight Bay School of Music, I had a hard time imagining myself in attendance at a Castle Farms concert. Mind you, I have nothing against cacophonous rock music — so long as I am out of earshot.

"But the Oak Ridge Boys don't play rock," explained my friend Larry Edwards who works for Castle Farms. "They play country and you'll love them."

I was still skeptical Saturday evening when Judy, Terry Goetz from Petoskey and I pulled into the parking lot at Castle Farms. I had never seen so many cars assembled together at one time in the environs of Charlevoix and my heart sank. I could see myself tied up in a colossal traffic jam until dawn.

But the parking lot attendants seemed to know what they were doing and a couple of minutes later the car was safely parked in a grassy pasture across M-66 from Castle Farms and the three of us had joined a parade of concert-goers trooping onto the castle grounds with their six-packs and beer coolers.

Inside, I was surprised at the size of the amphitheater, although I shouldn't have been. I remembered how vast and forlorn the deserted Loeb farm looked when Judy and I moved to Charlevoix 17 years ago. I also remembered visiting the property after John VanHaver had cleaned it up with an eye toward turning it into a center for arts and crafts.

The land between the barns and the highway has been turned into a huge bowl, with the highest portion abuting the road. The stage itself is a gigantic roofed structure open on four sides and high enough to give concert-goers a view of the soaring stone silos on the far side that are nothing short of architectural masterpieces.

The three of us climbed the newly sodded hill and spread our blanket on the lawn. Thousands of others had done the same, but there was still plenty of elbow room between blankets.

Below us on the "infield" additional thousands of spectators were sitting in reserved seats. They might have had a better view of the performers, but they missed the panorama of the concert grounds as seen from the hillside. Furthermore, 14 enormous speakers — seven on each side of the stage — telescoped the sound to the most distant corners.

Let me say something else about the sound. It undoubtedly was the "biggest" sound I had ever heard. Gigantic. Colossal. Overpowering. God speaking through a megaphone. But it wasn't the least bit grating or annoying, even to those of us with super-sensitive ears. Every sound had a purity, a fidelity that left me breathless.

Now for the people. I really don't know what I expected: Bleary-eyed junkies stumbling around in a haze of marijuana smoke. Wanton pleasure-seekers parading up and down in the buff. I had heard all kinds of tales. But the folks who attended the Oak Ridge Boys' concert were right out of a Norman Rockwell painting — wholesome American and Canadian couples and families out for a good time on a Saturday night.

Of course, other concerts may be different. I have only been to one and I had a grand time. So did Judy and Terry. We'd all like to go again.

My only complaint is that the music stopped too soon.

I had anticipated all kinds of trouble worming our way out of the parking lot and back on M-66 — but none of it materialized. Traffic moved fairly smoothly thanks to the efforts of security personnel and sheriff's deputies. We were home well before dark.

A HEARTFELT thank-you to all of you who have inquired about our dog Gin who wandered away last weekend, despite her great age and physical infirmities. Tuesday afternoon the Humane Society called to say she had been found. She is now back home —where I hope she will be content to stay. Pet owners —and pets — are certainly fortunate that the Humane Society is there when it is needed.

Weddings

Mr. and Mrs. Mark E. Mulka

Scibior-Mulka

Pink and white gladioli floral arrangements graced St. Francis Xavier Church for the July 10 wedding of Mary J. Scibior and Mark E. Mulka. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Scibior of Petoskey and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mulka of Charlevoix.

Fr. Nicholas Meyer, O.F.M. performed the double ring rites before 250 wedding guests.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white slipper satin with a bodice of French imported re-embroidered Alencon lace. The elbow length bishop sleeves featured lace motifs and the neckline was trimmed with ruffled lace. Her long full skirt of satin ended in a chapel length train and her waltz length veil was attached to a wreath of silk and satin flowers, custom made by the bride's aunt. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of silk and satin roses accented by pearls and satin ribbon streamers.

Organist was Professor August Huybrechts and soloist was Paul Huybrechts.

Diane Wagner, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and bridesmaids were Loraine Scibior and Rosanne Scibior, sisters of the bride, and Linda Hamlin. They wore dresses of rose luster-glow with yoke insets of white Schiffli embroidered on English net with slit cape-like sleeves, gathered bodices and full A-line skirts. They carried bouquets of satin roses, ribbons and silk flowers. All of the floral arrangements and centerpieces were made by the bride's aunt, Frankie Blazok of Redford.

Paul Mulka, brother of the groom, was best man and groomsmen were Paul Seibert, Rob Johnson and Greg Jonas. Ushers were Tom and Ken Scibior, brothers of the bride.

A reception, given by the parents of the bride and groom and assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Vern Spears, followed at the Knights of Columbus Hall. Theresa and Catherine Kargol served the wedding cake and Catherine and Christine Kargol, cousins of the bride, attended the guest book. Adam Wagner and Carrie Rosevear distributed rice. The wedding cake was made and the dinner catered by Mrs. Leonard Simon.

On Friday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Malka hosted the rehearsal dinner at their Charlevoix home.

The newlyweds will be residing in Petoskey when they return from their wedding trip. (Photography by Arthur Hilton)

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Shores

St. Amand-Shores

Zion Lutheran Church in Petoskey was the setting for the July 10 wedding of Dawn St. Amand and Gary Shores. Rev. R.D. Baerwold performed the double ring rites before the altar decorated with white gladioli and purple statice. Church pews were marked with lace bows, greens, and purple statice.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. William St. Amand of Petoskey and Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Shores of Charlevoix.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown with a Queen Anne neckline, full Bishop sleeves and a bodice trimmed with Chantilace, pearls and sequins. The tiered ruffled skirt of polyester sheer was trimmed with chantilace and fell into a semi-chapel length train. Her mantilla of bridal illusion was edged with matching lace and she carried a cascade bouquet of silk lavendar roses, azaleas and ivy which the bride designed.

Mrs. Joan Reyner, at the organ, offered a program of wedding music.

Denise Van Allen attended the bride as maid of honor and bridesmaids were Laurie Vargo and sisters of the bride Dotty St. Amand and Debbie Carver. The maid of honor wore lavendar and the bridesmaids wore hyacinth gowns of matte jersey with ivory lace bodices. They wore headpieces of lavendar miniature azaleas and carried bouquets of silk lavendar azaleas, roses and star flowers designed by the bride and her sister Debbie.

Robert Shores attended the groom as best man and groomsmen were Benjamin Shores, brother of the groom, Jay Potter, brother-in-law of the groom and Michael Coyne. Ushers were David Milligan and Brian Carver.

A reception followed the ceremony at the VFW Hall. Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Jane Howard, Mrs. Carl Knapp, Mrs. Shirely Hiar, Mrs. Nancy Howard and Mrs. Louise Wodek, aunts of the bride. The guest book was attended by Julie Howard and the cake served by Connie Shores and Debbie Potter, sisters of the groom.

On Friday evening, the rehearsal party was held at Elzinga Park, hosted by the groom's parents.

The newlyweds are honeymooning in the Upper Peninsula and then will make their home in Petoskey. (Wedding photo by Patrick Adelaine)

Picnic table donated to Bergmann Center

An eight foot long picnic table that will seat 12 people has been made by two residents of Boyne Falls and given to Bergmann Center Mrs. Jessie Cunningham, coordinator of the sheltered workshop located in Charlevoix Township has announced.

The gift, resulting from a suggestion made by Sam Kosc of Boyne Falls, a member of the Northern Michigan Community Mental Health Services Board, was made by Mark Kondrat of Boyne Falls and Pat Topolinski of Boyne City. The pair furnished the materials including the hardware and made the table complete with attached benches and last week transported it to the center. "We certainly will put it to good use during the hot weather we've been experiencing for it allows our clients to sit outside under the trees during their lunch hour and work breaks" Mrs. Cuningham said in acknowledging the gift.

Marriages

Mr. and Mrs. Terry P. Davenport

Thomson-Davenport

The United Methodist Church in Petoskey was the scene of the wedding of Valerie Ann Thomson and Terry Dean Davenport on Friday evening, July 2.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Thomson of East Jordan, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Davenport of Charlevoix and Big Rapids.

The Reverend Dan Minor of the Shelby United Methodist Church, a friend of the family, performed the double-ring ceremony which was witnessed by 350 guests.

The church altar was decorated with arrangements of pink and white carnations and lighted candelabra. The hurricane candles that lined the aisle were decorated with pink and white peonies, greens, and white satin bows.

The bride was escorted down the candle-lit aisle by her parents, who gave her in marriage. She wore a gown of white chiffon and lace fashioned with a fitted lace bodice and bouffant elbow-length sleeves that were also accented by lace. Her accordian-pleated skirt draped to a Chapel-length train, and her veil was secured by a floral headpiece of pink and white sweetheart roses. She wore pearl earrings, a gift of the bridegroom and carried a bridal bouquet of pink and white roses, baby's breath, and ivy.

Lois Howie of Petoskey served as maid of honor. She wore a gown of soft burgundy chiffon styled with a draped neckline and handkerchief hemline.

The bridesmaids were Judy Bandemer, Wendy Burch, and Cindy Daniels, all of Petoskey, Lisa Wainwright of Mishawaka, Indiana, and Jodi Davenport and Chris Davenport Way, sisters of the bridegroom. They wore gowns identical to that of the maid of honor, and all carried arrangements of long-stemmed silk roses in shades of pink and with pink and white streamers.

Allison Darr of Hodson and Jessica Perry of Lansing, cousins of the bride, served as flower girls. They wore floor-length gowns of white eyelet trimmed in pink and scattered rose petals as they walked down the aisle.

Eddie Perry, also a cousin of the bride, served as ringbearer.

Mike Stodola of Big Rapids served as best man. Groomsmen were Tom Fowler of New Orleans, Mark Jenson of Minneapolis, and Brian Williams of Charlevoix. Also serving were Gary Steffens of Big Rapids, cousin of the bridegroom, Kim Thomson of East Jordan, brother of the bride, and Mike Way of Houghton, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

Music for the ceremony was provided by organist Marilyn Eley of Lowell, cousin of the bride, who played traditional wedding selections, and by Martha Case of Petoskey who accompanied soloist Roy Harvey as he sang "Here, There, Everywhere", "The Lord's Prayer", and "For Baby for Bobby".

Following the wedding ceremony, a reception was held at the Harbour Inn in Harbor Springs, hosted by the bride's parents. The rehearsal dinner was held at the Tucker Inn in East Jordan, hosted by the bridegroom's parents.

The bride is a graduate of the Kendall School of Design, and the bridegroom is a graduate of Ferris State College and Northwestern University Graduate School. The newlyweds will honeymoon enroute to their new home in Dallas, where the bridegroom will be an assistant account executive with Tracy-Locke Advertisers.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen R. Buttrick

Rudolph-Buttrick

Julia Lynn Rudolph and Stephen R. Buttrick exchanged marriage vows on Saturday afternoon, July 10, at the East Jordan Presbyterian Church.

Approximately 150 guests witnessed the double-ring ceremony performed by the bridegroom's father before an altar decorated with white wicker baskets filled with yellow and white Fuji chrysanthemums, carnations, mixed greenery, and English ivy.

The bride wore her mother's wedding gown, which was fashioned of ivory Chantilly lace over satin with molded bodice, long tapering sleeves, and a yoke edged with appliqued lace flowers centered with seed pearls. The bride's headpiece was a creation of ivory carnations, stephanotis, and baby's breath. Her bouquet was a colonial cascade of the same flowers with English ivy.

Jean Rudolph of Evanston, Illinois, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Jeanne Buttrick of St. Louis, sister of the bridegroom; Laurie Wilson of New York City; and Barbara Rechter of St. Louis. They all wore floor-length yellow linen gowns piped in white with matching bolero jackets and carried bouquets of yellow and white miniature carnations, baby's breath, and English ivy.

Tom Kretsinger of Kansas City, Missouri served the bridegroom as best man. The groomsmen were Neil Cluck of Tulsa, Oklahoma, Tom Monaghan of Kansas City, and Scott McCorvie of Lansing.

Music for the ceremony was provided by Robert Bryan, organist, and Janet Brune, who sang "The Wedding Song".

Following the ceremony a reception and dance was held at Stafford's Bay View Inn, hosted by the bride's parents. The rehearsal dinner was held on Friday evening at the Grey Gables Inn, hosted by the bridegroom's parents.

After a wedding trip to England, the newlyweds will be at home in St. Louis, where the bridegroom is a painting and decorating contractor.

Yachting Notes

The Championship series for 525's started out in great shape Friday evening with "Bandit" taking an early lead which held throughout the first five legs of the race. Following the final rounding of the leward mark, the breeze abruptly died and the entire fleet started chasing zephyrs of wind in all directions. When they finally got back together at the windward mark, it was "Sly", "Max", "Indooroophily", "Razzmatazz", "Mud Duck" and "Bandit". The finish order was the same except "Mud Duck" and "Bandit" swapped positions.

Saturday morning the squall line came through just before the start and all crews got a chance to enjoy a first hand view of nature playing games. Ultimately, the remaining races were postponed to a future, as yet unscheduled, date.

Last Wednesday's results were, to say the least, unusual. In the big boats, scratch boat "Tigger" did not start, "Mint Julep" did not finish and the Spring Series winner "Hummer" finished well down the fleet and placed 8th on corrected time. First, Second and Third Overall..."Indooroophily", "Max", and "Melvin" for a 525 sweep and, of course, the first three positions in 525 Fleet.

PHRF Fleet: "Camouflage", "Hummer", and "Babe".

P-26 Fleet: "Cygnus", "Crampt Quarters" and Blazen III".

Portsmouth Fleet: "Clockwork", "Cheeman" and "Seascape".

Need you all - members and non-members - in the Venetian Yacht Parade ... call John Coolman 582-6528 (days) or 547-6933 (evenings); or come down to the Yacht Club Friday evening 5:00 p.m. 'til 9:00 p.m., for the last minute registration and details.

Women's league to finish schedule

The Charlevoix Women's Slow-Pitch League will play out its 1982 schedule Tuesday and on Thursday begin play in a double elimination tournament that will close out the season Dwight Boss, city recreation director, has announced.

The first night's play will find Kwikie Duplicating meeting Erber Auto in the opening game of the tournament at 6 p.m. Thursday. Medusa will clash with the Charlevoix Hospital at 7:15 p.m. with Michigan National Bank North meeting Paul Bunyan Lanes in the nightcap at 8:30 p.m. Thursday.

Because of the seventh annual Charlevoix Venetian Fast Pitch tournament scheduled for the weekend, play in the women's tournament will be suspended until Tuesday, July 27. At that time, the winners of the Kwikie-Erber game will meet the winner of the Medusa-Hospital game at 8 p.m. and Townhouse will make its first appearance in the tourney against the winner of the Bank-Lanes game at 7:15 p.m.

Play in the loser's bracket will begin at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday.

The tournament will continue Thursday, July 29, when games in the loser's bracket will be played at 8:00 and 8:30 p.m. and the finals in the winner's bracket at 7:15 p.m.

Games in the loser's bracket will be played at 8:00 and 7:15 p.m. Tuesday, August 3, and the tournament final at 6:00 p.m. Thursday, August 5. If a thirteenth game is necessary to determine the winner, it will be played at 7:15 p.m. August 5.

The men's slow-pitch league will conclude its regular schedule Wednesday, July 28, and conclude the 1982 season with a double elimination tournament that will begin Monday, August 2.

A Northwest Michigan Regional Planning and Development Commission Special Ad Hoc Committee study dated June 18, 1982 tells Charlevoix County and the other nine counties comprising our region that "the year 1981 saw at least $14.6 million in state and federal funds come into the region through organizations such as Regional Planning, Northwest Michigan Human Services, Area Agency on Aging and Northwest Michigan Manpower Consortium. While all these agencies operate under different legal and regulatory mandates, they all have two things in common: (1) they operate under the auspices of LOCAL UNITS OF GOVERNMENT, and (2) they act on behalf of LOCAL UNITS OF GOVERNMENT.
Charlevoix County's vested interest in these agency's programs represent approximately 10.9% or $1,600,000.00 annually.
We need to continue strong legislative representation on these boards to assure and protect OUR interests.

PROTECT YOUR VALUABLE INVESTMENT
What works on one car won't necessarily work on another!
Before any of The Tidy Car formulae are applied to your car's finish, our experts analyze the variables: the type and condition of your paint, environmental hazards, even your travel and parking patterns.
Then the outer paint surface must be chemically and mechanically treated before applying any protective coating. Only then can you be sure that harmful pollutants aren't sealed in with the good paint. This is a job for professionals only.
Next, a special purging solvent thoroughly flushes the surface to chemically prepare the paint for Preserv-A-Shine which is then applied and carefully buffed into the surface. This bonds the protection to the paint. Every edge, every detail is protected.

CITY OF CHARLEVOIX COUNCIL MINUTES
July 12, 1982
8:00 P.M.

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date and time with Deputy Mayor Wood presiding over a Special Meeting called for the purpose of considering a City personnel reduction program as proposed by the City Manager.

Present: Councilmembers Roloff, Wood, Block, Olech, Porter, and Timmis. Absent: Mayor Staley.

The Deputy Mayor called for comments from the General Public present.

Oscar Ward questioned the fact that the Bay Queen Trolley does not have a City carrier license or any proof of insurance coverage on file with the City. The City Manager explained that the City Code only speaks to licensing taxis and that larger carriers are regulated by the State. Council directed the City Manager to find out if the Trolley has complied with all State requirements.

Council discussed the City Manager's proposed reduction in City personnel in order to correct a deficit in the 1982-83 budget for the General Fund. Councilmembers Olech and Roloff questioned the advisability of requiring City Police Officers to continue to take a day off per month without pay during the summer months when the City is busiest. The City Clerk stated that the proposed reduction in her department would result in a total 42% personnel reduction in the Clerk's office since 1979 and asked that she be allowed to implement the currently proposed reduction on a trial basis rather than being locked into a program which the workload would not permit. Bea Parton, Deputy City Clerk, questioned the equitability of the program in regard to City clerical personnel.

Council generally agreed to approve the City Manager's personnel reduction program as presented.

Deanna Balch, City Clerk
Raymond V. Wood, Deputy Mayor

Visitor from England lands interesting summer job on Charlevoix's Bay Queen

by ANNE KELLY

If Paul Langlois had not chosen to work in Charlevoix on a "Work America" visa this summer, he would have been pruning tomatoes in his father's enterprise in Guernsey instead of serving passengers aboard the Bay Queen. Sponsored by long time friends Dr. and Mrs. David Strawbridge, Paul appears to be delighted to have been afforded the opportunity to travel and work abroad.

Paul hails from Guernsey, the 2nd largest of the Channel Islands, just 29 miles off the coast of France. Guernsey, along with the other five major Channel Islands: Jersey, Alderney, Sark, Herm and Jethou, cater as we do to the tourist industry as their major source of revenue. Over a million visitors a year, mainly Brittish vacationers, crowd the isles in July and August. The other main occupation is agriculture, particularly greenhouse grown tomatoes on Guernsey. Paul is concerned that Britain's participation in the Common Market is threatening the tomato industry. Guernsey, as the name would lead you to believe is also noted for cattle raising. Guernsey, Guernsey cows; Jersey, Jersey cows and knitted shirts - - all from the Channel Islands.

Although one of his first impressions of America was that "cars were smaller than he had expected," Paul's main reference of comparison has been in terms of architecture. A second year architectural student at Bristol University in S.W. Wales, Paul was quite interested in seeing New York and Chicago before heading to Charlevoix. Manhatten reminded him of London, while Chicago struck him as what he envisioned as a typical American town.

"I thing English seaside resorts are similar with their yachts and shops and "Le Doggie" stands," Paul commented. "But they are different in their buildings."

English villages and towns seem to have more of a sense of direction he noticed, toward a center. "They seem more substantial," was still another observation. (Probably owing to the vintage of the buildings and durability of building materials used; stone, etc.)

Homes are usually walled or hedged in to enclose a garden. In Guernsey, there are no motels as such. There are hotels, flats to be rented by the day or week, and bed and breakfast accomodations to be had. Other that that, tent camping is very popular. No R.V.'s are allowed in Guernsey for aesthetic reasons.

"I wondered how a young Englishman viewed the most current events on the British scene, namely the Falkland Island crisis and the Royal birth. I didn't realize at the time that because of a centuries-old dispute over sovereignty rights, the Channel Islanders do not always admit to being "Englishmen". In actuality the Islands are ruled by their own parliaments, have their own currency, have the privilege of tax advantages and freedom from the draft. The Channel Islands have been called, Britain's French Channel Islands.

Paul indicated that the feelings about the war in England were more or less patriotic and almost festive until the reality of casualties hit home. As for the new Prince, well that too was a rather peripherial concern, the ballyhoo about which he attributed to a feeling of national pride in English heritage for the royal family.

Music, that international language, was up for more immediate comparison.

Notice
City Clean-up Policy

During the Spring, the City operates a scheduled clean-up effort to pick up unwanted furniture, appliances, junk, brush, grass, leaves, and other refuse. During the Fall, the City operates a similar program to pick up brush, grass, and leaves only.

At all other times of the year, residents should observe the following clean-up practices:

1. Grass, leaves, and garden clippings should be bagged for pick-up by private refuse haulers.

2. Small twigs and branches (2" dia. or less) should be bundled in 3-foot lengths, for pick-up by private refuse haulers.

3. Large limbs (2" dia. or more) should be used for firewood, if possible. If not, they may be bundled in 3-foot lengths for pick-up by the City Street Department, on a request basis, 547-2510.

4. If you are burning leaves or grass, you must not do it on any paved street or sidewalk. Do not burn in dry weather.

5. Debris of any sort swept into a street or otherwise left in the right of way, except as provided above, is considered litter. Violations will be issued as necessary.

Thanks for helping keep Charlevoix clean, neat, and beautiful!

Paul Langlois...

Paul is a musician himself in a performing group. He believes that their music is more related to social problems. American music seems more preoccupied with sound effects than lyric. Youthful dress in England is more directly influenced by the music scene (punk rock, etc.) at least as far as he's seen.

Paul hopes to visit friends in California before heading back to England in the fall. Hopefully he will take back with him the impression that America is more than just big cars, big buildings and Big Macs. One of the best ways to shatter that stereotype is what he's doing right now – geing welcomed into the friendly atmosphere of a small town.

LIGHTING UP THE SKY over Charlevoix Saturday night was a spectacular electric storm accompanied by high winds but not as much precipitation as received by residents downstate where, in some areas, heavy flooding occurred. These photos by Bill Grobbel were taken looking west over Round Lake. The lights of downtown Charlevoix are visible at the bottom. The lightning bolts visible above were photographed in the space of about two to three seconds.

Dusty Rhodes tells Charlevoix Bay Queen visitors about wine uses.

Guests aboard the Bay Queen were treated to a delightful discussion of the ins and outs of the wine world recently as special guest Dusty Rhodes presented a wine tasting for passengers during a luncheon and dinner cruise.

Rhodes will return for a second presentation during the Aug. 15 Sunday brunch cruise that shouldn't be missed.

A wine connoisseur and gourmet cook, Rhodes delighted guests by making strawberry crepes during the luncheon cruise. He arrived on the boat complete with his own crepe pan and strawberries — and prepared enough crepes for all to have a taste. With dramatic flair, he demonstrated the special skills needed for making successful crepes — every time — and urged passengers to give the French speciality a try.

At dinner, he held a wine tasting for guests on the dinner boat promenade, offering a choice of six wines ranging from the Viviano Trebbiano, Italian white wine to Beaujolais Villages, 1978, a French red Monet wine.

An extensive traveler, Rhodes has had a change to enjoy wines in vineyards across the world. The owner of Dusty Cellars, an Okemos gourmet food and wine shop, he now advises people throughout the state on gourmet cooking and wine selection.

During the wine tasting in August, Rhodes will discuss how to select wines, describe what wines go best with various foods and how to get the most for your wine dollar. He also will explain how to start your own wine cellar, where and how to store the bottles and what to buy for your collection.

It will be an evening to remember — a delightful summer's repast.

Exercise Your Way To Health, Beauty

What's the beauty secret of many a top model or star? Exercise! And, although physical fitness experts stress good health as the primary reason you should exercise, they all agree that it will pay off in terms of your looks, too.

Just as one of the side effects of physical inactivity is clearly visible in fat, so are the benefits of regular exercise evident in the way you look.

Aside from controlling weight, exercise is also believed to be responsible for the glow we associate with good health, in balance with the hormone noradrenaline.

What kind of exercise is best for achieving the look you want? Even mild exercise will be beneficial, say authorities -- however, strenuous exercise will also build endurance at the same time that it enhances your appearance.

Aerobics is a popular way to exercise strenuously, both because it is effective and fun, too. Aerobics classes are available where you can learn to exercise to music, but there are also books instructing those who wish to learn on their own.

Dancing is another fun way to exercise yourself to a beautiful body. Tap dancing has made a comeback, if not to 42nd Street, at least to Main Street -- in community classes that teach adults how to tap the blues and bulges away.

Many health clubs offer jazz-exercise classes, and of course there are dance studios that specialize in ballet and jazz dancing for the older student who just wants to shape up.

Disco dancing has been a great boon to the get-fit trend and its demise need not mean an end to the dance craze.

One of the magnificent homes toured on Kappa Sigma's home tour of July 10th was this one owned by the Georgi family

Charlevoix Sorority offered tour of area homes Saturday, July 10.

Everybody and everything – including the weather -- cooperated to make Kappa Sigma's Home Tour a big success.

Although a final count of tourists is not yet available, the sponsors report a steady stream of home-lookers all day long, which means that the Charlevoix Area Hospital, beneficiary of the tour, will be handsomely remembered.

Owners of the five showcase homes on the tour spent days and weeks "prettying up" their houses and grounds for the big day, and they were well rewarded by the approving remarks of those who came for a short visit.

The Tour Committee reports that the Charlevoix Garden Club and Expressions Unlimited and Greenleaf Gardens did "an incredible job" of creating floral arrangements for the houses, one of the many special attractions.

"According to one observer, it is entirely possible that, with the advent of the Fall season, local interior decorators will be asked to "make some changes" or "create a room like this" as the result of the tour. Certainly, ideas were floating all over the area.

Whether or not the homes of the tour-goers will be affected, Kappa Sigma is thanking them all. They are also thanking the homeowners: Tom and Cissy Bickersteth, Mel and Betty Rosenhaus, Ray and Elizabeth Hodgson, Dick and Cheryl Georgi, and Clark "Bud" Matthews.

Others who played an important part in the tour and to whom "thank you's" are due are the ticket-sellers: the Charlevoix and Petoskey Chambers of Commerce, The Apple Tree, Burnsides, and The Tin Soldier in Harbor Springs; those who helped with the advertising: Sue Bolt, Terry Salmonson, and Trevor Wood; and those who made special donations: Gary Zundel, Mettler's, Expressions Unlimited, Greenleaf Gardens, the Charlevoix Garden Club, Tim Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Begrow, and Mr. and Mrs. Gregg Smith.

Although no decision has yet been made, the Kappa Sigma Home Tour may become an annual event.

The answer to your travel troubles — your travel agent

by Bayside Travel

—ECONOMY

The typical question so often asked by John Q Public is "How much extra will it cost me for the service of a travel agent?" and the surprising, and good news answer is, "Nothing. A travel agent costs the consumer nothing more

Virtually all airlines, cruise lines, hotels, motels, and tour companies give the travel agent a commission. These travel related businesses realize that the locally operated travel agencies save them alot of money in acting as the so-called "middle man" in the transaction In essence the travel industry businesses pay the travel agent, instead of the client, having to pay the agent.

Now the next most frequent, question is, "Can a travel agent save me money?" This question does not have a clear cut an answer as the first one. Statistics show that in the majority of transactions, the travel agent does save the traveler money. This is mainly due to the fact that the travel agent knows fares and special rates of various airlines, tour companies, etc

For example, a client by phoning one airline for information usually finds the airline agent knowledgable mainly about that airline's fares The agent may not know that another airline has a lower fare.

Actually the travel agent should be, and in most cases is the shopper for the client It is most important that a client clearly explain the quality of service and accommodations which the traveler desires. Based upon those desires, the travel agent can search out the best buy for the client.

Such a shopping service takes time and research. With deregulation of the airlines, travel agents are finding the job more and more complex There are so many air fares now, that, as we mentioned in our July article, more and more travel agents are purchasing computers which store and display the rates and schedules of airlines

—TIME

If the traveler is an independant do-it-yourself—that's O.K.—but such a traveler should be willing to invest a great deal of time in planning Now planning can be fun, but writing and mailing all kinds of inquiries, or waiting on hold on the phone to get information can be anything but fun. Actually a do-it-yourseller can have the best of both worlds by using a travel agent

The independant traveler can do the planning with a travel agent without investing needless time.

Don't Forget Foot Care!

Good summer foot care does not merely consist of "airing" your feet in a pair of sandals Easy-on-the-feet summer footgear (with lower heels comfortable wedges and lots of cutouts) only emphasize the need for extra attention In fact, most of the 500 various known foot ailments have been proven to be the result of ill-fitting shoes and improper care

Your feet can look good as well as feel good And looking good means properly cut nails trimmed cuticles smooth heels and toes. Your feet deserve special attention at least once a week more often if you wear colored nail polish

Begin a pedicure by soaking your feet in warm, soapy water Gently push cuticles back, using an orange stick wrapped in cotton. Use a pumice stone on rough spots (on the soles too) Dry carefully and apply a lavish coating of moisturizer all over

Nails should be cut straight across File rough edges (on the underside, too) Clip tough nails, file

Wipe nails with polish remover to get off all traces of moisturizer Apply two coats of polish, allowing the first coat to dry for 3 minutes. Seal with a top coat

Here's what you should do to prepare your skin for summer

A lot more than sails unfold when the weather starts getting warm. Feet, enveloped in socks and boots all winter, are suddenly sashaying around in open-toed sandals. Hands stashed in pockets and gloves go bare, and legs encased in pants or woolens are strutting on deck in tennis shorts. And, once you hit the water, there's very little left to the imagination.

It all sounds wonderful —until you take a good look at your skin that's been out-of-sight—and more than likely out-of-mind—all winter long. Neglected skin requires a fast summer shape-up, followed by a quick, but effective top-to-toe maintenance program to keep it glowing all summer long.

• Start with cleansing. Choose a good, mild soap to gently cleanse the skin. Be sure to rinse thoroughly. A good rule of thumb to follow is once you think your've rinsed enough, rinse again— it's imperative to remove all traces of soap residue.

• Follow up your cleansing and rinsing routine with a combination skin astringent/freshener. Splash a bit on a cotton ball and go over your "clean" face, Don't be surprised to notice traces of dirt and grime on the cotton that soap and water didn't remove. The skin freshener double checks your cleansing while it tones and refines your skin and tightens pores.

• Be sure to complete your cleansing/rinsing/toning ritual with the application of a moisturizer meant for dry, normal or oily skin to help nourish cells and keep skin supple.

• Pay special attention to hands and feet — areas that especially withstand winter abuse and need summer pampering. Treat yourself to at least a beginning-of-the-summer-season manicure and pedicure and keep up the look at home yourself.

• No doubt you'll be removing unwanted leg hair through frequent shaving Be sure to apply astringent to any minor cuts, or scratches caused by your razor. And, once you get those sleek legs outdoors, it will also relieve the discomfort of that summer hazard—heat rash.

• Recent medical reports have shown that the "Healthy" tan is not all that healthy after all. Ultraviolet rays from the sun can damage and age the skin. Protect your skin from sun damage by applying a sun screen that allows you to get a bit of color while blocking out harmful ultraviolet rays. But, should you get a mild sunburn, multi-purpose Sea Breeze that soothe and cool the affected area.

• Most skin gets oilier in summer. And, if your skin tends toward oiliness to begin with, summer can be a particularly trying time. Keep your skin scrupulously clean. And, when you can't wash, portable skin care is as near as Breezettes, foil wrapped little complexion cloths moistened with Sea Breeze antiseptic, that you can stash in your purse for clean, fresh skin anywhere, anytime.

• After swimming, don't allow water to air dry on your skin, particularly your face. This starts the evaporation process and tends to dehydrate the skin. If the summer sun has caused your skin to become dry, try applying a moisturizer over damp skin. The moisturizer will help seal the water into your skin and keep it moist.

Summer can be the best time of year. To make the most of every moment, follow a skin care regime that's short on time, long on results Your summer skin's survival depends on it.

Jeweler offers buying advice on gold jewelry

All that glitters isn't gold! John Reusch at Reusch Jewelry in Petoskey, recommends that you look for the karat mark, such as 14k or 18k, when shopping for gold jewelry. Stamped somewhere on each piece, this mark of quality indicates that you are buying real gold.

The karat mark refers to the purity of gold. Gold in its purest state, 24-karat, is generally considered too soft for practical use in jewelry. Normally, it is alloyed or combined with other metals for increased strength and workability, a practice that is thousands of years old.

Most American gold jewelry is marked 14k, which means it is made of 14 parts gold combined or alloyed with 10 parts other metals. Eighteen karat gold (18k), also popular with Americans, is 75 percent pure gold, or 18 parts gold and 6 parts other metals. Nothing less than 10k can legally be sold as gold jewelry in the United States. By comparison, England accepts 9k gold and Germany 8k, while in some other countries, such as France and Italy, nothing less than 18k can be sold as gold.

The alloys can also create color variations in gold, depending on the proportion and type of alloy metals added For example, nickel, silver and zinc are added to create white gold, while the addition of copper produces pink gold, says Reusch. Although yellow gold is the most widely used color, there is a current fashion trend toward tricolor jewelry that combines yellow, white and pink gold.

To keep your karat gold jewelry bright and sparkling, just dip it occasionally into a bath of soap water and brush it with a soft-bristled brush. An old toothbrush is perfect. Then dip it again into rubbing alcohol to remove all traces of soapy or grease before drying it with a soft cloth. Or, you may wish to soak it in one of the prepared cleaners, then rinse it with clear water and pat it dry.

With gold becoming an ever more precious and fashionable metal, the karat mark on a piece of jewelry becomes increasingly significant, says John Reusch. Remember: When considering a piece of gold jewelry, it's a good idea to look for the karat stamp—because only karat gold jewelry is real gold jewelry.

Charlevoix Venetian Festival
July 22-25, 1982

Something for eveyone this weekend

by DAVE KNIGHT

The centerpiece of Charlevoix's summer fun is the community's annual Venetian Festival, scheduled this year to be held Thursday through Sunday, July 22-25.

More than anything else, Venetian weekend in Charlevoix is like one big party. Thus the 1982 theme: Charlebration!.

All the color and gaiety of summer in Charlevoix will be rolled into a fun-packed weekend featuring some tradional events that date back more than half a century and some new offerings as well.

The first order of business each year is the crowning of the Venetian Queen who reigns as Miss Charlevoix for the rest of the year. This year, girls entering the pageant will be sponsored by local businesses providing more incentive through financial and moral support. In previous years, contestants have been on their own.

Another change in the rules will allow contestants whose families own property in the school district but who do not neceessarily live in the area year round. This enables summer residents to participate if they wish.

Interviewing of the candidates by the judges takes place Thursday afternoon while later in the evening, the girls take part in swimsuit, talent and gown competition at the Charlevoix High School gym.

Plenty of musical entertainment accompanies the pageant. The girls themselves will perform a muscial dance number. Other local musicians are also being lined up for the evening.

Friday night is being billed as a "Night of Music" and the focus will be downtown where a community street dance will be held. The band Red Hearts has been booked for the night and will perform dancing music in the vicinity of East Park.

Organizers say the event will be for all ages and invite all area families and visitors to join the fun.

On Saturday morning is the Venetian Street Parade which gets under way at 10 a.m. heading north on Bridge St. from Garfield through the downtown area.

As always the parade will feature bands, floats, clowns, horses and many other entries decorated on the

There's no place like your home town, when you shop at home and bank at home, it's almost like doing business with yourself.

The many community services you receive, your property values, and local taxes you pay are helped immeasurably every time you, or anyone else, shops in your home town. The dollar you spend out of town does buy merchandise, but the fringe benefits of that dollar goes to the residents of that city. And, the quality of life here at home suffers because you took away some of it's dollar vitamins.

Detroit's Stroh Highland Pipe Band to highlight street parade

Anyone who has ever heard the music of just one bagpipe knows that the energetic and sometimes haunting melodies produced by a large group of bagpipe players is sure to draw attention–and produce a crowd of smiling faces.

Thus it is no surprise that the Stroh Highland Pipe Band, although born just two years ago, is rapidly building a large and enthusiastic following of fans, both regionally and nationally.

The Stroh Pipe Band which varies in number from 20 to as many as 40 players, came into being in 1980. John McLeod, Manager of Sales Promotion for The Stroh Brewery, heard the Moslem Shrine Band's bagpipe section play for a national convention held in Detroit. McLeod was so impressed by the group that he subsequently negotiated with the shriners for Stroh sponsorship of the bagpipers, and the Stroh Highland Pipe Band was born.

All of the Stroh band members are Detroit area residents. There is a great deal of Scottish heritage among the group–several were born in Scotland, and many are first generation Americans of Scottish descent. Four of the band are teenagers, the sons of other members of the groop.

In additon to traditional bagpipe arrangements, the group plays several popular American melodies–many with one or two accompanying harmony lines--arranged by various members of the band.

In lieu of pay for the band's services, Stroh makes a donation to the group's charity.

Performances by the Stroh Highland Pipe Band have generated so much enthusiasm over the last two years that the group is building a naional reputation.

This year, the band got off to a flying start with an award-winning performance at the Detroit Renaissance Center's superbowl week "Super Ball," attended by an estimated 20,000 people.

Upcoming bookings for the bagpipe group include performances at the nation's second largest St. Patrick's Day celebration, the St. Pat's Parade in Savannah, Ga.; the Pegasus Parade, "kick-off for the Kentucky Derby, in Louisville, Ky.; the Swedish Day Festival in Geneva, Ill.; and repeat performances in the NFL Hall of Fame Parade in Canton, Ohio, the Port Huron-Mackinaw Yacht Race, and the Traverse City Cherry Festival, among others.

Boat parade, fireworks are a tradition

Charlebration! theme. Parade-goers are advised to find an observation point along the route early - it will be crowded.

At least three big sporting events are planned for Saturday as well. In the morning is the Venetian Foot Race offering amateur distance runners a chance to win prizes for several distances and age categories. The races start and finish at the Charlevoix Elementary School on Division.

Also racing Saturday will be BMX bicycle riders from all over Northern Michigan. The sanctioned races will be held at Charlevoix Township's new BMX course on Waller Road and are expected to attract hundreds of riders with their families and onlookers.

At the city ball diamond, there will be tournament action both Saturday and Sunday as local teams vie for the Venetian trophy.

All day Saturday there will be booths in East Park with service clubs and other groups selling all sorts of food and snacks. Plans are also to bring back the carnival rides for the youngsters.

Saturday's fun is capped off by the traditional Venetian Boat Parade on Round Lake in the evening.

Crafts of all sizes and types compete to see who can best decorate their boat with lights, streamers, flags and any other means available. With the Charlebration! theme to work with, indications are that this year's decroating should be some of the gaudiest ever.

Fireworks over Round Lake provide the perfect end to the evening.

Help for runaways is available locally

by PEG OHLE

When kids run away from home, they like to go to some "nice place". Like Charlevoix?

After hearing stories from mothers of local teenagers about their kids "hanging out" all night in the parks and beaches with "runaway kids", we wondered how many runaways really come to Charlevoix.

"Not that many," says Charlevoix County Juvenile Officer Brad Campell, "although we do have some and they can be a problem."

Campbell does not keep a record of children who come to his attention simply as runaways, because many of them have other problems.

"They have some reason for running away," he explains. "While it may be they are only going through a simple crisis at home, many of them are abused and neglected. That's when we have to intervene. We don't just send kids back home. We sort them out and do what is right for them. Most of them are good kids."

Obviously, it is not easy to tell a runaway from any other teenager in a group. They become recognized as runaways only after being picked up for some offense or after questioning by an officer who has been asked to look for a kid answering a certain description.

Campbell tells of waiting at the dock for the Beaver Islander to come in when he was looking for a runaway teenager. Spotting a boy who matched the given description, Campbell called "Hi'ya, Joe", and when the boy responded, he knew he had the right person.

Sheriff's deputies and local police also have their own ways of identifying runaways. As one officer puts it, "Sometimes they just stand out in a group. They might be younger or dressed differently or even talk differently.

When runaways (they are defined as young people between the ages of 12 and 17) are picked up, they are referred to the Juvenile Officer, who makes the decision as to whether they should be returned home or put

O'Sullivan death ruled suicide

The investigation into the death of Joseph F. O'Sullivan, 47, July 12 in Eveline Township has been completed and Scott T. Beatty, Prosecuting Attorney, and Sheriff George T. Lasater have concluded that there was no criminal activity involved according to a statement issued Friday by the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department.

O'Sullivan's body was found dead of a gunshot wound on the driveway of his home on Ferry Road at approximately 8 a.m. July 12 by a passerby. A small handgun was found nearby. Following a review of the evidence and the result of the autopsy it was concluded that death was self-inflicted.

Funeral services for O'Sullivan, Lt. CDR. U.S. Navy (Ret.) were held at St. Mary's Church July 16. Interment was in St. Mary's Cemetery. He had been a resident of Charlevoix County since his retirement from the U.S. Navy. At that time he joined his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. O'Sullivan, Sr., who earlier had moved to northern Michigan from Detroit.

County Board Primary, District Six

Primary draws four from city

On August 10, voters in Charlevoix County will go to the polls to select County Board of Commissioner candidates for the November ballot. This year's primary has become especially interesting since the reduction of board seats from 15 to six by reapportionment. In today's Courier, staff members Peg Ohle and Dave Knight focus on the candidates in each of the six new districts starting below with District 6, the City of Charlevoix.

Four candidates, three Republicans and a Democrat, have entered the race to represent District 6, the City of Charlevoix, on the new county board.

I. Lee Moerland, 54, 512 Belvedere Ave., has served 16 years on what is now the County Board of Commissioners and waht was previously the Board of Supervisors. He is currently vice-chairman of the board and serves on the Health, Codes and Planning Committee and the Sanitary Board of Appeals.

Moerland is also a delegate to the Northwest Michigan Manpower Consortium and currently serves as chairman of that body. He has been employed for 23 years at Charlevoix's Belvedere Club and is presently warden and assistant secretary treasurer.

The shift of programs from the federal level to the local levels of government is of particular concern to Moerland.

"The federal government created the programs," said Moerland, "But now they don't have the capitol to continue them. Dealing with the transfer of these programs to the local level should be one of the County Board's highest priorities."

Moerland sees regional government on the increase but is not convinced added layers of governmental units is always good.

"I don't neccessarily like regional government," he said, "But I feel the way to improve things is to get involved and that is what I have done."

Jeffrey L. Porter, D.D.S. 38, 109 Prospect, is seeking to use, as a county commissioner, the expertise gained as a Charlevoix City Council member.

S.A.F.E. told to expect social services cutbacks

by ANNE KELLY

The outlook is grim for services offered through the Department of Social Services according to Vasco Zucchiatti, Services Supervisor, explaining cutbacks in staff and services at a recent community meeting of the S.A.F.E. (Sesual Child Abuse Family Education) Committee.

Three out of eight staff members operating out of the Charlevoix County Dept. of Social Services office have been laid off. One of these directly affects already overtaxed caseloads in the area of children's services. Zucciatti reports that there is no relief in sight, that more cutbacks are expected this fall. Along with budget trimming and an increase of mandated paper work, in the situation of escalating problems which seems to accompany economically troubled times.

The priority order for sevices rendered puts child protective services and child welfare at the top of the list, however, and Zucchiatti assored S.A.F.E. committee and attending community members that early referrals and early intervention are still imperative if sexual child abuse is to be curbed.

The S.A.F.E. committee, explained Brad Campbell, Charlevoix County Juvenile Officer, was formed because of a growing concern about sexual child abuse. It has been focusing or makeing the community aware of the problem.

The program, other than Zucchiatti's report, included a film entitled, "Incest, The Victim Nobody Believes", and Shirley Johns from the Women's Resource Center Shelter House in Petoskey, speaking on the incidence of incest among the family's who utilize the W.R.C. She reviewed signs to look for in the incest victim.

The S.A.F.E committee, hopes to initiate some educational programs in the schools this fall as part of their effort to involve the community in a growing problem.

County Board Primary, District Two

DISTRICT 2

District No. 2 is comprised of the townships of Chandler, Hudson, Boyne Valley, Wilson, and the eastern part of Eveline. There are three Republican candidates and one Democrat candidate for County Commissioner.

Incumbent Martin Bieganowski, a Republican, is serving his first elective term, having been appointed to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of the former Commissioner. He is 47 years old, a Boyne City real estate broker, and a resident of Wilson Township.

Presently, Bieganowski serves on the Public Safety & Property Committee of the County Board, with special responsibilities for the Sheriff's office, law enforcement, claims, and the Union contract. He is also the County delegate to the Northern Counties Association and to the Criminal Justice Planning Board.

Bieganowski says he is running for office again because Charlevoix County needs active, working Commissioners. He also believes it will be an esceptional opportunity and a challenge to be part of history as Charlevoix County changes for 15 to six Commissioners. He says the importance of this will become more and more apparent as time pases.

"I have spent the past year visiting the County Departments one by one," Bieganowski explains. "It has been a pleasant experience for them and an informative experience for me. I feel I now have a broad understanding of how Charlevoix County works and I am able to use that information to help get things done. Obviously, I care what is going on or I would not systematically visit department after department.

"Communication is one of our biggest problems, and I have been looking toward improved communication by visiting with the County Departments, the Courts, Law Enforcement, the Road Commission, and the Townships. I have begun to open doors. I am gaining a reputation for listening, and people in and out of County Government are learning that I am very approachable. That is the beginning of communication."

Incumbent Ralph Harmon, a Democrat, is serving his fourth term. He is 52 years old, a building contractor and farmer, and a resident of Boyne Valley Township.

Harmon is on the Equalization Committee, with special responsibilities for township and cities' clerks reports and rejected and charged-back taxes. He also is a member of the County Construction Code Board of Appeals.

Harmon says he is running for re-election because of the challenge created by the Board of Commissioners being cut from 15 to six members.

"I'm always looking for a challenge, even in the construction business," he reports. "If it takes a Republican incumbent Larry Matthew of Welloon Lake is running unopposed in District 1, made up of Hayes, Bay, Evangeline, and Melrose Townships. He is 50 years old, a farmer and has a snow removal business. He is serving his third term on the County Board.

From 1956 to 1968, Matthew served on the County Board of Supervisors, the forerunner of the County Board of Commissioners. He has also been Supervisor of Melrose Township, a member of the Township Board of Review, and a member of the Petoskey Area School Advisory Committee.

Matthew says he is running for re-election because he likes government work. "I like doing it, and when you like doing something you put forth more effort," he explains.

Matthew has a personal government motto: "Your concern is my concern."

Presented with the Bob Miles Awards this year were Dora Saunders, left, and Phila Shanahan.

The annual Historical Society luncheon attracted a full house to the Harsha House meeting room.

Historical Society honors three

Three members of the Charlevoix Historical Society were honored with special awards at the Society's annual Heritage Day luncheon last week.

The coveted Founder's Award was made posthumously to Anne Harsha, who willed her home at 102 State Street to the Society. The house has since been remodeled and is the home of the Harsha House Museum.

A plaque that will be hung in the Harsha House states that Miss Harsha was recognized for "her gracious contribution that made possible the Harsha House Museum".

Two members received the Bob Miles' award, given for their donation of time and effort in Society activities throughout the year. Mrs. Edward (Phila) Shanahan and Mrs. King (Doris) Saunders received these awards.

Following the luncheon and presentation of awards, the "past, present, and future" of the Society was discussed by three members.

W. W. Price, a past president, told how the Society "stacked up" against a set of standards for such organizations. He said it passed with flying colors.

Dale Boss, the guiding spirit in remodeling Harsha House into a museum, told about the preservation and restoration of the house and grounds. "We're going to make it a showcase," was his final remark.

Louis Orlowski, who heads a committee to display museum artifacts and documents, said that "next year the place will really look like a museum." He has designed special display screens and wood-frame panels to show off the historic objects.

County Board Primary District Five

Board chairman faces challengers

District 5 is made up of western Eveline, marion, Norwood, Charlevoix, St. James and Peaine Townships. The incumbent commissioner is being challenged by two newcomers. They are all Republicans.

Clyde Cunningham, 61, is a Marion Township dairy farmer. He has been serving on the County Board of Commissioners since 1968 and before that served seven years on the County Board of Supervisors.

Cunningham has been chairman of the County Board for seven years. He serves on the Statutory Finance Committee and, as chairman, is an ex-officio member of all committees.

Cunningham says he is running for re-election because he has always been interested in county government and he feels he has served his constituents well.

Reporting on upcoming actions, Cunningham points out that the county is in the process of adopting a Solid Waste Disposal program, is working on a Transportation Authority to include the Ironton Ferry and is reviewing the Health Code for possible updating.

Donald Smith, 35, is a resident of Charlevoix Township and teaches high school economics and history. He lives on North Point's PaBaShan Trail.

Smith has served on the Charlevoix Township Board of Trustees for six years and is a member of the Michigan Township Association. He spent three years on the Charlevoix County Planning Commission, is presently on the township Board of Appeals and is a charter member of the Charlevoix Township Fire Department. Smith also served on the Governor's Rural Communities Conference.

Smith has been critical of the County Board's meeting procedures in the past, saying that too much time is taken by lengthy reports which discourage public involvement.

He feels that the Board needs "new blood" and some new ideas to adeqately represent the people, young and old, of the county. Some his suggestions include updating the budget process and improving the area of public safety by completing a county-wide numbering system and forming a central dispatch system.

Smith is opposed to hiring a county manager saying that conflicts would develop with elected officials, the cost would be too high and that people right now are suspicious of too much government bureacracy.

Smith also points out that, "With the Board reduced from 15 members to six, the emphasis will be on experience and availability of time. I think I can offer both."

William Sherman, 39, lives in Boulder Park in Charlevoix

His main interest is in promoting family oriented tourism and he will speak on new developments and planning in the Charlevoix area.

Opinion

Knight on the Town

Epidemic of F.S.

by Dave Knight

Symptoms of future shock are easily detected. The brow furrows, the eyes narrow and stare ahead coldly, palms sweat.

Lately this affliction seems to be making the rounds in Charlevoix.

Last week a local delegation traveled to Lansing to learn how Charlevoix might be able to attract a Federal Aviation Administration flight service station to its airport. Such a facility would employ 125, bring a $4 million-plus payroll to the community and introduce a clean, high-tech operation to an area desparately in need of new directions in industrial development.

The nut to crack? Charlevoix is competing with, as of last week, 34 other Michigan communities who have expressed interest in obtaining the FAA facility that will consolidate all its Lower Michigan operations in one 10,000-square foot building.

By this coming November, a bid package will have to be put together featuring the furnishing of a $600,000 building under the most attractive terms possible. As a not-too-subtle suggestion, the FAA offers as an example the City of Terre Haute which was awarded the Indiana station by offering a suitable building on a twenty-year lease at $1 a year.

Palms starting to sweat?

Members of the ad hoc committee working on this project are now in the stage of developing a feasible financial program. Indications are that Charlevoix County will be the bidding unit. It is important that all county residents and their elected representatives look past the initial shock of this sizeable committment and realize the tremendous opportunity it would provide to usher the area into new era of economic growth.

Strong, vocal public support right from the start may just be the winning factor.

And if future shock has still not set in, city residents are advised to stop in at City Hall to inspect the development plans revealed Monday by master planners Ron Nino and Harry Wierenga.

One-way traffic on Bridge St. downtown? Major hotels in place of Finn Lumber and Wayside Motel? Stop lights at the Bridge St. intersections with Antrim and Park?

These and other dramatic suggestions for the future development of Charlevoix are made in a series of detailed development plans unveiled this week for public scrutiny. They represent months of research and tens of thousands of dollars in grants and city funds.

The ideas are bold. Some are downright radical.

But they represent a realistic approach to development that must be taken if Charlevoix is to preserve its character.

Everyone is invited to inspect the plans and comment. But be prepared for a little future shock in the process.

District 6 primary

Porter is in his fifth year on the council representing the First Ward. The Charlevoix dentist also served three years on the Charlevoix Charter Commission.

"As a council member, I know the problems of the city," said Porter, "And I think many of those problems are the same ones facing the county."

He points out that the city's budget is almost twice that of the county.

As a commissioner, he would push for the return of tax dollars to the City of Charlevoix which, he says, is paying more than its share to the county compared to the townships which benefit more from county services.

Porter would like to see a more cooperative relationship between the county board and other units of local government. He is also in favor of a county job creation program actively engaged in seeking new business and industry.

Drew E. Young, 65, 106 Ainslie, last held county office when he was a member of the former County Board of Supervisors. Retired from his position as a state civil servant, which he held for 25 years, Young now wishes to return to the county board as the third Republican on the District 6 primary ballot.

A native of Charlevoix, Young was also on the City Council, once as a representative of the First Ward and once as a Second Ward representative.

It is this experience that he believes provides him with valuable qualification for the new six-member county board.

"I know the business, I like the business and I think I have the time to take care of it," said Young.

With the board reduced to six members, Young feels it is important that the commissioners spend more time on county business than under the previous setup.

In his state job, Young worked with township and county supervisors, assessors and equalization departments all over Northern Michigan. This background, he says, adds another facet to his candidacy.

Oscar Ward, 63, is unopposed on the Democratic ballot and joins Moerland as the only two incumbents in the District 6 race.

Ward, 308 Clinton St., is self-employed. He, along with the survivor of the Republican primary August 10, will be featured in an in-depth candidate feature in the Courier prior to the fall election.

And on another note...

Successful community events such as the Venetian Festival don't just happen. They are the result of careful planning, close cooperation and many people willing to work hard for little reward other than the satisfaction of seeing a job well done.

Obviously all these ingredients came together again this year.

Of the major objectives set by the Venetian Festival Organizing Committee, all were met. The weekend was safe, fun, attracted thousands of visitors to our town and fulfilled the Venetian tradition of celebrating the summer in a classy style so characteristic of Charlevoix.

I am personally grateful to fellow members on the committee. These individuals made a huge committment of time and responsibility over the past few months. The depth of that committment is directly reflected by the overwhelming success of the weekend's festivities.

This year's committee had a special knack for recruiting good volunteer help. Had Argentina been as well organized, they'd be speaking Spanish in Port Stanley today.

To everyone who played a part, large or small, in Venetian No. 52, goes a sincere thank-you.

Now we turn to No. 53.

This is the time, while impressions of the weekend past are fresh in our minds, that we should think about how to make the Venetian Festival even better. On behalf of the organizing committee, I'd like to solicit new ideas, constructive criticisms and any other suggestions people might have about the festival to aid in the planning process.

The broader the input that goes into the planning, the more effectively we can produce a festival enjoyed by all.

Finally, just because the balloons are sagging and the crepe paper wilted does not mean we have to wait another year to experience the community pride and neighborly spirit of Venetian Weekend.

Why not extend this spirit from four days to twelve months? Charlebration! is a state of mind that can last year 'round.

into the custody of another person, be it a relative or a foster parent.

Recently, a 15-year-old girl and 16-year-old boy were picked up by the Sheriff's deputies at the request of the boy's parents, who thought they were probably in the area because the parents have a cottage nearby. They were returned to their homes.

A Service Agency which works with runaway kids has an office in Petoskey. "Rainbow Runaway Services" provides counseling, supportive services, and crisis intervention to all runaways. They can also provide temporary shelter in a stable environment to young people so they can work out their immediate problems or needs before returning to their families or going to live in foster care homes.

Mary Gass, executive director of Rainbow, stresses that the Agency works with parents as well as runaways, and that parental permission is required to house young people overnight. Rainbow gets referrals from other service agencies, the Department of Social Services, Juvenile officers, and police departments, but many runaways call the toll-free number themselves. It is 800-292-3003.

So, there is help for any runaway boy or girl who finds his or her way to Charlevoix County. They don't have to "hang out" in the parks or on the beaches or associate with older persons who might lead them on to a life of crime.

Clockwise

Best ever?

by Bob Clock

AM I BECOMING senile, or was this weekend's Venetian Festival the best ever?

I know I had more fun than ever before — and I think a lot of other people could say the same thing. So maybe we're all in our dotage.

After a long, hard day at the office, I made six — count 'em — trips downtown Friday night because I was afraid I might miss something. And Friday isn't a big day at the festival.

One of the nicest attractions for my money was the appearance of the Red Hearts in East Park Friday night. A bonafide dance floor was laid on the lawn and if you wanted to dance, you danced — polkas, fox trots, Irish jigs, you name it — they played it.

Of course, I've always had a thing for the Red Hearts, way back to the days when they provided entertainment at Cal's Tavern on the Advance-East Jordan Road in the 1960's.

The street parade was superb, as usual. I didn't even miss the fistfuls of candy that they used to throw at the kids from the floats — or the pranksters who used to spray the spectators with fire hoses, all in the spirit of good fun, of course. Both activities were outlawed this year, I understand, but the parade didn't suffer one bit.

I don't know yet how the parade judges voted, but I think the Scottville Clown Band and the Scottish Drum and Bugle Corps from Detroit were tops. Both groups stayed around to play later in East Park.

The lighted boat parade SaturdayNight was the best ever. I wonder if anywhere in this old world there is a scene as heart-thumping as Round Lake on a summer night — almost rafted-over with lighted boats under a sky exploding with fireworks? I doubt it.

Congratulations to festival chairman Dave Knight, Jacquie Merta of the Chamber of Commerce and all of their talented aides. They did a magnificent job.

And to think there was a time when I thought how nice it would be to get out of town on Venetian Weekend! I'm either entering my second childhood — or getting mellow.

HAVE YOU TAKEN a ride yet on the Bay Rail Express? I haven't — but it's on my list of things-to-do before the summer ends.

The line, incidentally, now runs on Friday and Saturday, rather than Saturday and Sunday — largely because most Petoskey shops are closed tighter than ticks on the Sabbath and travelers from Charlevoix found themselves with nothing to do and no place to go during their lay-over.

I am told the view of Little Traverse Bay from the C&O tracks is spectacular — but I want to see for myself.

Isn't it strange how some Northern Michigan merchants will hang up their shutters on Sundays during July and August when there are tens of thousands of visitors milling throughout the area looking for places to go and things to do — and then complain in February because business is so slow?

Charlevoix retailers, fortunately, are a different breed of cat.

Weddings

Mr. and Mrs. James C. Alger

Wood-Alger

Leslie Ann Wood became the bride of James C. Alger, Jr., at a double ring ceremony solemnized at the First Congregational Church Saturday afternoon.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Barry Wood and Mr. and Mrs. James Alger, Sr.

The Rev. Raymond Giffin officiated at the service in the presence of 300 guests. Arrangements of peach carnations, white chrysanthemums, ferns and baby's breath graced the altar for the service and sprigs of pine, baby's breath and peach bows marked the pews. Mrs. Mona Goshen, at the organ, played a program of traditional music and accompanied Mrs. Maurice Cudd who sang "The Wedding Song" and "The Lord's Prayer".

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride chose a gown of crisp organdy for her wedding. Flounces of flocked organdy outlined the off-the-shoulder neckline, fell from her elbow length sleeves and accented the lower skirt that ended in a chapel train. A Juliet cap secured her floor length veil of bridal illusion. Her bridal bouquet was of white sweetheart roses, peach carnations, ferns and baby's breath.

Mrs. Dan Rogers of Orleans assisted her sister as matron of honor and Teri Wood of Ogden, Utah, and Shelly Wood of Tucson, Ariz., also sisters of the bride, and Mrs. Gordon Block, sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. They wore identical gowns of peach nylon with overlays of white dotted swiss styled with off-the-shoulder necklines and A-line skirts. They carried wicker baskets of peach carnations, white chrysanthemums and baby's breath.

Robert Alger of Coldwater served as his brother's best man. Groomsmen were Gary Novotny of Lansing, Robert Warner and Gordon Block brother-in-law of the bridegroom. Del Wood of Lansing, brother of the bride, and Dan Rogers of Orleans, brother-in-law of the bride seated the guests.

A reception, hosted by the bride's parents, followed at the Charlevoix Rod and Gun Club. Mrs. Del Wood of Lansing, sister-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. Robert Alger of Coldwater, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, served the wedding cake. Mrs. Tim Fisher, sister of the bridegroom, tended the guest book.

After a wedding trip to the Upper Peninsula, the couple will be in Charlevoix until mid-August when they will live in Big Rapids and attend Ferris State College.

A rehearsal dinner at the Grey Gables Inn of Friday evening was hosted by the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Alger, Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. David L. Murray

Taylor-Murray

Roxanne L. Taylor of Midland and David L. Murray of East Jordan became husband and wife at a July 10, 1982 ceremony performed at the United Methodist Church in East Jordan.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Taylor of Midland and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard P. Murray, 938 S. Lake St., East Jordan.

Rev. Phil Simmons officiated over the double ring ceremony held before 200 guests with the church decorated with white daisies.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a white satin gown with long train, bodice of Queen's lace with Queen Anne's neck line, full satin sleeves, and a long veil of matching lace attached to a silk flower ring. She carried a bouquet of white roses and blue carnations.

The maid of honor was Beverly Piteau and bridesmaids were Bonnie Johnson of Midland and Valerie Murray, the groom's sister, of East Jordan. Attendants wore dresses of light blue lace, princess style, with attached bustle. They carried bouquets of white and blue carnations with baby's breath and matching flowers in their hair.

Flower girl was Misty Mae Griffin and ringbearer was Adam Murray.

Best man was Hershal Sutton of East Jordan and groomsmen were Jack Thorsen and Dale Upper, both of East Jordan. Ushers were Joe Piteau and Harry Yale.

A reception at the American Legion Hall given by the parents of the bride and groom was hosted by Bill and Joy Murray. A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the parents of the bride at their cottage in East Jordan on the evening of July 9.

Following a wedding trip to Ohio, the couple will be at home in East Jordan. The groom, a graduate of East Jordan High School, works at Midwest International In Charlevoix. The bride attended Midland High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Eskew

Schorsch-Eskew

Lori Schorsch, daughter of the Reverend and Mrs. Don Schorsch of Huron, South Dakota, and Wayne Eskew, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Eskew, also of Huron, were married June 19 in the First Assembly of God Church in Huron.

The Reverend Schorsch performed the afternoon ceremony.

The bride, who lived in Charlevoix while her father was pastor of the Charlevoix Assembly of God Church, graduated from Charlevoix High School in 1979. She has one year left to complete a degree in behavorial science at North Central Bible College in Minneapolis.

The bridegroom is a 1980 graduate of Huron High School and has two years left to complete a degree in pastoral theology at North Central Bible College.

The newlyweds are at home at 629 East Fifteenth Street, Minneapolis.

This little girl got a bird's eye view of the street parade.

Winners in the Venetian Festival Boat and Street Parades were announced Sunday by Mrs. Jacquie Merta, executive secretary of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the annual event.

Taking first place in the Classic event among the boat entries was an un-named boat owned by Richard P. Stubbs of Flint; second place went to Miss 1937 owned by Harry G. Rogers, Charlevoix and third place to Robalo, Bill Munro, Fenton.

Thirty-five vessels were entered in the four classses according to John Coolman, general chairman of the parade. Judges were Mayor Archie Nemecek of East Jordan, Mayor Kenneth Staley of Charlevoix and Mrs. Julius Gilbert.

The top three entries in each class received a plaque and the top winner in each class in the boat parade received a traveling trophy.

Eighty entries were counted in the street parade according to Marina LaBlance, general chairman.

The Stroh Highland Pipe Band from Detroit was one of the hits of the parade.

Bible Questions Answers

DEAR B, Q & A - IS IT JUST A RUMOR, OR DO YOU TEACH THAT GOD DOESN'T KNOW ALL OF OUR FUTURE THOUGHTS AND CHOICES? - Concerned.

Dear Concerned, To properly understand the Doctrine of God's Knowledge, is to properly understand ALL of God's Doctrines and how they correctly relate to us and in our daily lives.

FIRST, there are approximately 33,000 Verses in the Bible and about 11,000 of these show changes in the mind of God. That is, about one third of scripture shows God making changes in His mind of things that He had planned to do, and then as a result of man's action, God changed His plans.

SECOND, each change or adjustment by God evidences that He does not know what the future free choices of man will be; otherwise these would not be genuine adjustments, changes or responses. God would only be play-acting if everything was certain to Him. Our lives under such an arrangement would be about as exciting to God as watching the same TV program for 20,000 times. Nothing in the TV script could change.

THIRD, believing that God knows ALL of man's thoughts, choices and actions millions of years before man actually makes them, leads to the logical conclusions that:

(1) God can have no new thoughts, because this would imply new facts He did not know before.

(2) God can have no new feelings, because this implied new experiences He has not had before.

(3) God can make no new decisions, because this implies new choices not made before.

(4) God makes no single decision after or before any other, i.e. there is no succession of thought, experience or choice in the Being of God.

(5) God has never really CREATED or BEGUN anything! If everything conceivable existed with Him from all eternity, His own WILL is not free, and He has not originated anything??????

But these assumptions are not only ridiculous but totally UNSCRIPTURAL. The Bible plainly states that God DOES have NEW thoughts, feelings, experiences and decisions to make in regard to His dealings with men. Read Genesis 6:5, 6. Next week: NINE EMBARRASSING PROBLEMS FACING GOD IF HE KNOWS MAN'S FUTURE CHOICES AS CERTAINTY. Please write your questions to: B, Q & A - Box 361, Charlevoix, Mi. 49720.

Yachting Notes

"Wednesday Night at the Races" was quite a spectator sport July 21. The breeze was northwest by north so the Yacht Club Mark (that funny orange-yellow piece of sewer pipe floating upright just off Depot Beach), became both the windward mark and part of the finish line. The specators there, and on an unusual number of spectator boats, had an excellent view of the roundings, the excitement of the spinnaker sets ("Gee Dad, which halyard is the X!:& halyard that skipper's yelling about?") and, finally, the finish (Mr. Fowler to Mr. Schofield, "So what if he beat us by 1.278 inches; a few weeks ago you let the old man beat us by 3 inches!).

If you decide to watch a Wednesday race, the best shore locations are: 1) near the mark on the windward side of the lake; 2) Depot Beach (the finish is always at the Yacht Club Mark unless the race is shortened); 3) any bar.

In response to many requests, here is what we're doing...

1. Start: At 6:00 p.m. the Portsmouth Fleet (in our club, they can only fly jib and main, no "chute") followed at 6:10 by all the rest of us. We all try to figure out the best spot on the line, race madly back and forth for ten minutes, then converge, yelling and screaming on the spot that, coincidentally all 30 of us decided was best, and (somehow!) all get started within 7 seconds after the gun (if you don't believe me, listen to the skippers at the Club, after the race!).

2. Windward Leg: Trying to make a sailboat go to a mark directly to windward is like trying to push a drawstring through a pair of pajamas; so we all go off in different directions and, miraculously, all converge on the weather mark. Here we rig pole, raise "chute", trim guy, trim sheet, drop jib, ease outhaul, ease cunningham, tension boom vang and swear a lot. Very colorful (both sight and sound) and often quite humouous!

3. Reach Leg: Pretty - "chutes" flying, sailing at an angle off the wind, in lighter air sometimes going faster than the breeze!

4. Jibe Mark: Simply turn the yacht and swap sides of both main and "chute" (very colorful!)...then reach at same angle off the wind the other way (It's okay, we're confused, too).

5. Repeat step 2, try to use new words at windward mark.

6. Downwind Leg: Go directly to "Start", do not pass jibe mark, fly "chute", open beer. Strange - but the slowest course for sailboats is directly with the wind.

7. Repeat step 2, use dictionary or Thesaurus as necessary to obtain refreshing and effective commands and adjectives thereto.

8. Finish! Open champagne, fine wine, beer, pop or hemlock as appropriate to position.

WARNING...In my opinion, watching a sailboat race is about as exciting as continuously watching a new lawn from the time it germinates until it needs mowing!

If you thing you would like to participate, call your sailing friend or put a note up at Irish Boat Shop - there are often crew positions open, particularly in the spring and fall.

If you think you'd like to buy a boat and race with us ... stand, fully clothed, near a large drain; have a friend throw buckets of cold water on you every 11 seconds, while another friend occasionally hits you and constantly swears at you as you tear up dollar bills and try to grab a wet line as it is being pulled away from you at incredible speed by an irresistable force. If you like it ... come on sailor!

Last Week Overall: "Hummer", "Indooroophily" (by 2 ~~seconds~~) over "Camouflage".

P.H.R.F.: "Hummer", "Camouflage", "Tigger".

P-26: "Crampt Quarters", "Blazen III", "Tireless".

525's: "Indooroophily", "Razzmatazz" (by 1.278") over "Mas".

Portsmouth: "Cheemaun", "Shadow", "Tegi".

Grandvue Tag Sale day coming up

by PEG OHLE

In 1975, we wrote a feature story about the Grandvue Medical Care Facility, which began:

"There comes a time in the lives of many people when they must place older loved ones in medical care facilities.

"This is often done with feelings of sorrow, apprehension, and guilt."

We said this should not be so, and went on to tell about Grandvue: about the tender loving care Facility employees give to Grandvue patients, about the well cooked and attractive meals they are served, and most of all, about the many services provided by members of the Grandvue Auxiliary.

This story is about the Auxiliary because they are conducting their annual membership campaign, because they recently elected officers for the coming year and because their tag day is scheduled for July 30.

Mary Margaret Geiken of Charlevoix is again membership chairman of the Auxiliary. She is issuing a special call for relatives, friends, and acquaintances of Grandvue patients to join the Auxiliary and spend whatever time they can helping with diversionary activities, entertaining, or giving a bit of special care to someone who once was an integral part of their lives.

Mrs. Geiken is also issuing a call to the general public – both men and women – to join the Auxiliary and contribute through dues and service toward the well-being of Grandvue patients.

Members of the Auxiliary meet only once a month, but many of them volunteer their time "helping out" at Grandvue: They need not be on a regular schedule, just go over there when they can. They may spend their time playing cards with a patient, helping him or her write a letter, taking a patient to a doctor's or dentist's appointment or perhaps for a ride, assisting with religious services, "prettying up" a head of thin gray hair, or doing many other helpful things.

Grandvue Auxiliary membership dues are modest. Active memberships are $2 (these are the persons who spend time helping at the Facility) and associate memberships are $3 a year. Life memberships, paid only once are $50.

Obviously, the Auxiliary does not take in much money in membership fees. That is why it has a Tag Day each year, and, from time to time, other fund-raising events.

With these funds, the Auxiliary has bought many extra items for the patients, including whirlpool bathtubs, beauty shop equipment, patio furniture, rocking chairs, fencing, shrubbery, and dining room tables.

Membership dues and-or other contributions may be sent to the Auxiliary treasurer, Phyllis Malpass, Box 412, East Jordan 49727. Other officers for the coming year are president, Joanna Gunn of Charlevoix; vice-president, Betty Yenni of Boyne City; and secretary, Jean Korthase, Boyne City.

Our State Constitution reads "The legislature shall provide by law for the maintenance of uniform accounting systems by units of local government and the auditing of county accounts by competent state authority and other units of government as provided by law. (Article IX, Sec. 21).
In 1980 the Audit Division of the State Treasury Department who are charged with this activity notified the counties they no longer would provide these audits because of their interpretation of the Constitution. This left Charlevoix County and a great number of other counties without the needed fiscal checks, and the counties have been arguing this point with the state ever since.
I agree the State should be held accountable to the mandate of the Constitution but I also opine that county government can no longer wait on the state and must move forward with fiscal responsibility and develop an orderly audit program of all funds. Charlevoix County Government funnels approximately $5,000,000 through its Treasurer annually and Commissioners, Elected and Appointed Officials cannot be expected to shoulder the fiscal liability without the proper checks and balances provided by scheduled audits. Good business dictates this!
As your County Commissioner I will continue to strive for fiscal responsibility and accountability to protect our interests.

County Board Primary, District Four

Incumbents face each other

Thomas Breakey

Delbert Ingalls

Two Republican incumbents are running for re-election in District 4, made up of the City of East Jordan and South Arm Township.

Thomas Breakey is 62 years old and a resident of East Jordan. He is serving his first elected term on the County Board, having first been appointed to fill a vacancy. He is retired from the Postal Service.

Breakey serves on the Public Safety and Property Committee of the County Board, with special responsibilities for county roads, the Ironton Ferry, and airports. He is also on the Sanitary Code Board of Appeals.

Breakey says he is running for re-election because "it is interesting and I enjoy it. Now that I'm involved, I want to stay involved.

"I never thought much about County government before I was appointed to the Board. I think our Board is doing a good job. We're in a better financial situation than most counties," he concluded.

Delbert Ingalls is a resident of South Arm Township. He is 66 years old, a dairy farmer, and has served on the County Board since 1968. He is a member of the Ways & Means Committee, with special responsibilities for welfare, child guidance, and personnel, and serves as a delegate to the Northwest Human Services Commission.

Ingalls says he is running for re-election because "I would like to be a part of the new, smaller Board when they start out. I think my experience will mean a lot compared to someone with less experience."

About serving the government, Ingalls says, "I think at sometime or another, it is good for anyone to participate in government affairs so they know how it functions and some of the problems when they go to vote."

Lunch at the White House heads list of KCB auction items

Everything from luncheon at the White House to collectibles, household furnishings and dinner cruises on luxury yachts will be auctioned off at the Keep Charlevoix Clean and Beautiful Auction Saturday, August 7th.

The event is scheduled from 1-5 p.m. in Charlevoix's downtown East Park sponsored by Keep Charlevoix Beautiful, Inc.

James S. Rosebush, chief of staff to the President's wife, Nancy Reagan, will conduct a personal tour of the White House prior to hosting luncheon for two as his contribution to the auction. Rosebush, a Flint, Mich. native, formerly served as head of a White House task force to promote voluntaerism in the private sector.

The White House outing would cap a Washington Weekend package being developed by KCB.

Other unusual offerings intended to appeal to all pocketbooks are dinner for two on the Bay Queen, a room for two at the Weathervane Terrace for a weekend, two Dairy Queen cones daily for the balance of August and 10 Big Macs at McDonald's Restaurant. Fine art objects are being donated by the Off Bridge Street Artists and others.

Young couples or cottage owners may find the lamp or chair or antique they've been seeking.

Summer visitors seeking extra fun may bid on tennis, sailing, sailboarding or cooking lessons. Others may prefer to bid on gourmet meals served in the home, a fishing trip, airplane tour of Charlevoix or sailing excursions with dinner afterwards at local restaurants. Sports equipment such as skis and boots are being offered to attract sports enthusiasts.

Proceeds from the auction are expected to provide next year's supply of petunias and to help support the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce Host and Hostess program. That program provides employment for a young man and woman who assist visitors and remove litter from Charlevoix streets.

KCB, organized less than a year, sponsored the planting of 30,000 petunias along US 31. The showy display has attracted much positive comment and financial support. In addition to those who've donated auction items there are a number of patrons and co-sponsors at $100 and $50 each.

A summer visitor family recently held a garage sale and donated the proceeds to KCB in appreciation of the beauty of the flowers.

U.S. Coast Guard wives have volunteered to receive all donations at the south end of the old Erber Garage (behind Staley Hardware). They will be on hand daily August 1 through 6 from 4 to 8 p.m.

Others wishing to contribute time, money or items may call Mrs. William Morrison at 547-6165 or Jeane Heininger at 547-4551. Merchants will be contacted this week by KCB members to assist with the auction.

day or more a week to get the County Board work done, then we'll have to devote that much time to it.

"I have always been close to the townships in my district and the word is out that if the County Board can help them, I am available. I feel I am under obligation to do that because I'm representing them."

Karl Waldner is 60 years old, a Republican, retired from the work force and lives in Wilson Township where he served as Zoning Administrator. He has never held elective office, but notes his involvement in such organizations as the Citizens Information Service, the movement to create a separate state out of northern Michigan, and the Voters of the State of Michigan, which he organized to request that all candidates work toward the lowering to taxes.

Waldner believes that a County Board of six members will be "accountable" and he wants them to give the public a chance to vote on lowering property taxes by at least one mill.

Waldner says that if he is elected, "the people will know their vote counts."

The fourth candidate, Tom Kondrat of Boyne Falls, could not be reached for comment.

Township. He and other family members operate the Sherman Canning Company. A native of East Jordan, Sherman served four years in the U.S. Foreign Service before returning to Charlevoix County and the family business.

Sherman, who is making his first run for public office, decided to enter the race when the reapportionment decreased the number of commissioners from 15 to six.

The smaller board, he feels, will enhance the influence of each commissioner and will allow the board to concentrate more on important policy matters. His decision was also partly due to the fact that the new District 5 encompasses both the area near East Jordan in which he grew up as well as Charlevoix Township where he now lives.

Sherman sees economic development as a top priority of the board.

"I'd like to see the Board of Commissioners move into more of a leadership role in our county's economic growth," said Sherman, "The first concentration should be on job development."

WHEREAS, The City Council finds that vehicular and pedestrian traffic in the downtown area during the summer months is highly congested; and

WHEREAS, The City Council finds that operation of roadside stands or temporary businesses in the downtown area during the summer months aggravates this congestion, and

WHEREAS, such operation therefore creates a substantial safety problem; from the standpoint of automobile safety, pedestrian safety, and fire prevention and control; and

WHEREAS, such operation also impedes the safe and efficient transportation of goods and services, disrupts travel to and from neighborhood businesses, and otherwise impedes the flow of local commerce, and

WHEREAS, such operation directly creates demands for additional parking, and indirectly taxes other public services which are already overburdened in this area during the summer months;

NOW, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CHARLEVOIX, that all new licenses or license renewals for operation of roadside stands or temporary businesses shall be restricted from operating within any right-of-way within 100 feet of Bridge Street or Michigan Avenue, from Hurlbut Street to Dixon Avenue, from the Friday before Memorial Day to and including Labor Day each year;

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that this resolution shall not have the affect of invalidating any license already issued, or renewing for not more than six months under the same fee schedule, any license currently in effect and,

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that City staff is directed to develop a program to allow for a limited number of street vendors in East Park, for consideration by the City Council in Spring, 1983.

RESOLUTION NO. 82-7-3
ESTABLISHING PARK HOURS AT MICHIGAN BEACH

WHEREAS, Section 3.9 of the City Code permits the City Council to establish park hours by resolution;

NOW, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CHARLEVOIX, that the park hours for Michigan Beach shall be 7:00 A.M. to 12:00 Midnight.

RESOLVED, this 19th day of July, 1982 A.D.

Resolution was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Wood, Block, Olach, and Timms. Nays: Councilmembers Roloff and Porter. Absent: None.

Council generally agreed to allow the Keep Charlevoix Beautiful organization to use East Park on August 7, 1982 from 1:00 P.M. to 5:00 P.M. for an auction and to further allow the organization to use the former Erber Building as a collection point for auction items.

Oscar Stroud, Charlevoix Township Supervisor, appeared before Council to protest the large increase in the wholesale water rate to the Township as established last December. Mr. Stroud did not contend that the higher rate is unreasonable but that the magnitude of the increase, approximately ten times the former rate, is unfair. The matter was tabled for further discussion at the Committee of the Whole meeting scheduled for July 26, 1982.

Moved by Councilman Timms and supported by Councilman Porter to accept the bid of $7,301.00 as submitted by Ditch Witch Sales of Michigan, Inc. for a new boring machine contingent upon a successful demonstration of the machine.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Roloff, Wood, Block, Olach, Porter, and Timms. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Ed Gregory, attorney for Michael Gibbons, appeared before the Council to answer questions regarding Mr. Gibbons' request for a lot split and site plan approval which would allow Mr. Gibbons to establish a professional office building at the corner of Bridge and Hurlbut.

Moved by Councilwoman Roloff and supported by Councilman Wood to approve a lot split of Lot 6, Block 2 of Mason's Addition to the City of Charlevoix as requested by Michael Gibbons, descriptions of the new lots to read as follows:

Lot 1

The West 50 feet of Lot 6, Block 2, Mason's Addition to the City of Charlevoix, Charlevoix County, Michigan.

Lot 6, Block 2, Except the West 50 feet thereof, Mason's Addition to the City of Charlevoix, Charlevoix County, Michigan.

And further, to approve Mr. Gibbons' proposed Site Plan for Lot 2 provided that office use is restricted to the first floor and a lease for off street parking is maintained which is sufficient for residential and office uses under the City Zoning Code.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Roloff, Wood, Block, Olach, Porter, and Timms. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Council adjourned to the Board of Appeals.

Following the Board of Appeals meeting, Council reconvened with all members being present.

The Council having examined bills totaling $230,176.40 found them correct and recommended the bills be allowed and orders drawn for their amount.

Council generally agreed to reschedule the Committee of the Whole meeting on July 26, 1982 from 8:00 P.M. to 7:00 P.M.

Council adjourned.

Deanne Belch, City Clerk

Kenneth A. Steley, Mayor

BOARD OF APPEALS
July 19, 1982

The Board of Appeals convened with Councilmembers Roloff, Wood, Block, Olach, Porter, and Timms present. Absent: None.

Moved by Councilman Porter and supported by Councilman Timms to approve a variance as requested by Richard Schwartz to reduce the required front yard setback at his property at 206 Nicholls from 35 ft. to 25 ft. to allow construction of a bedroom and a porch, said variance being granted due to the unique position of the house on the property and the fact that the setback will be compatible with other houses in the neighborhood.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Roloff, Wood, Block, Olach, Porter, and Timms. Nays: None. Absent: None.

The Board of Appeals adjourned.

County Board Primary, District Three

Three vie to represent Boyne City on new County Board

Three Republican incumbents and another Republican candidate are fighting for the County Commissioner's job in District 3, made up of the City of Boyne City.

Marvin Loding is serving his second term as County Commissioner. He is 73 years old and is retired from the Northern Michigan Electric Company.

Loding serves on the Health, Codes and Planning Committee and has special responsibilities for the District Health Department and the Commission on Aging. He is also a member of the Sanitary Code Board of Appeals and chairman of the Substance Abuse Committee.

Loding cites his 16 years of experience on the Boyne City Council and the fact that he is retired and in good health – thus giving him time to do the job that is necessary with a six-man Board of Commissioners – as his reasons for running for re-election.

"The new commissioners will probably get a surprise about the amount of work that they have to do," is the way he explains it.

Loding, who also serves on the Boyne City Planning Board and Zoning Board of Appeals, believes that "progress in the area is becoming stable and we are bound to grow.

"I can help control that progress," he says.

Casimir Toton is serving his second term on the County Board. He is 62 years old and a semi-retired real estate man.

Toton is a member of the County Ways & Means Committee, with special responsibilities for salaries and elected officials. He also is a delegate to the Northern Michigan Health Systems Agency and serves as alternate to the Northwest Michigan Regional Planning and Development Commission.

When asked why he is running for re-election, Toton said, "I think my espertise and knowledge of government and business is helpful. The Board needs somebody who understands both things.

"The way the economy is going, down the line we're going to have to look to Lansing, instead of Washington. I know those people in Lansing. The State Representatives and Senators are going to be the key people.

"It's going to be a critical point in Charlevoix history to set up a new Commission with six members. We need Commissioners with lots of time. It will no longer be a one day and one night meeting a month. It will probably be several.

"I think Boyne City is a unique community, with both resort and industry at the same time. I feel as vice-chairman of the Economic Development Commission I cn add a lot to helping. On the State level, they have put all their eggs in one basket. We shouldn't do it here."

Oral Sutliff is serving his third term on the County Board. He is 45 years old and a Boyne City accountant.

Sutliff is a member of the Ways & Means Committee, with special responsibilities for finance, appropriations, and unanticipated revenue.

A native of Boyne City, Sutliff says he is running for re-election because he enjoys being on the Board and feels he contributes to it.

"We will have our work cut out for us in the coming months with the reduction in State and Federal revenues," he says of the immediate future.

Asked about his philosophy of government, Sutliff replied, "I feel very strongly about accountability. Whether a person is elected or hired, he should be accountable to the public and to the tax payers."

William Underhill wants to return to County government after retiring from the Board of Supervisers in 1956 following 12 years of service.

Underhill is 64 years old and retired from 24 years of employment with the City of Boyne City. He is a native of Boyne City and says, "I sleep in the same bedroom I was born in.

"I quit the Board of Supervisers because I didn't have time. Now I do have time and I'm still interested," he explains.

"I've always felt you have no right to comlain unless you do something yourself. Lots of people in Boyne City know me and will vote for me."

Contest results

Above is the photo featured in this summer's first Shorelines Photo Naming Contest. Contestants are instructed to submit a cutline of either one line, a verse or limerick inspired by the photo. Below are some of the best entries received and the winner.

"Another drink" I say.
"Sorry sir, you're through for the day.
Too much drinkin, I'll have to ban
Or you and I will land in the can!"

Here's to the young, moustached, Randy...
Who prefers clear whiskey to brandy.
He toasts every lass
With a wave of the glass,
And with girls, he's a right handy dandy.

I can't believe I drank it all
It was not my intention
My new diet is on the skids
The calories all won't mention!

And the winner is...

"I'll drink to that.
Fill my glass again.
I always say "Yes
To Michigan!"

Do you mean to tell me that's the stuff you were soaking your wedding rings in? Where are they now??

Bartender, I seem to have a bole in my glass.

There once was a man named Stinkin
Who owned a big flashy Lincoln.
Now Stinkin was thinkin
He'd crack up his Lincoln
If Stinkin kept thinkin of drinkin.

There once was a charmer named Stash
Who sported a fancy moustache.
He drank until bashed
And home he went crashed
With his wet-soggy, beer stained moustache.

Development proposals feature big plans

by DAVE KNIGHT

Development plans presented recently to the Charlevoix City Council and Planning Commission represent one of the final phases of the Master Plan commissioned by the council about one and a half years ago.

Planning consultant Ronald Nino and the landscape architecture firm of M.C. Smith took data gleaned from months of research plus public input from a newspaper survey and at least three workshop sessions to develop their proposals.

The ideas are laid out in a series of maps. Focus has been put on the central business district of Charlevoix along with six other areas most apt to see development pressure in the relatively near future.

Harry Wierenga, vice-president of the M.C. Smith firm, explained the proposals in the development plan to council members and planners at their joint meeting July 26. Following are brief encapsulations of development proposals for each of the sectors featured in the study.

Downtown

The waterfront would be improved and its docking capacity expanded by adding two permanent piers jutting out from the existing yacht basin off East Park. A different mooring location would be sought for the U.S. Coast Guard Cutter Mesquite during the high traffic summer months and a floating pier installed where the Mesquite is tied up now to provide even more municipal dock space.

The band shell would be relocated closer to the waterfront and be completely re-designed. Shuffleboard courts would be removed and the Chamber of Commerce office would be expanded.

An additional 50,000 square feet of retail business space, along with the requisite parking area, would be developed on the west side of Bridge Street by making use of presently vacant properties and exploiting the major traffic flow south on State St. that would be created by establishing one-way traffic on Bridge St. Included in the plans is an anchor store such as a big, well known retailer, located in the middle of the block bordered by Bridge, Mason, Clinton and State Streets.

All downtown stores, said Wierenga, would do away with "back doors" and make entrances from every approach main entrances. City Hall and the library would be expanded and the Post Office moved out of the central business district.

Traffic changes would include making Bridge Stree one-way northbound from Antrim to Park Ave. Southbound traffic would turn right onto Park after crossing the bridge, turn left onto State St. and then, except for trucks, return to Bridge St. on Antrim. Trucks would continue south on State to Hurlbut and then to Bridge St.

Bridge Street downtown would have all angle parking.

Stoplights would be placed at the intersections of Park and Bridge and Antrim and Bridge. The existing stoplight at Clinton St. would be removed.

The extensions of Mason and Clinton Streets east of Bridge to the water would be closed. A building of some sort would fill the Mason St. gap between the Wharfside Market and Parkside Restaurant. East Clinton would become parking. The half block of Clinton Street between the Charlevoix County State Bank and Central Drug Store would be closed to vehicular traffic and converted into a central mall with a fountain or clock tower and landscaped seating areas.

The property on Park Ave. along the south side of the Pine River Channel now occupied by older homes would be converted to mini-conference centers.

Michigan Beach

Shuffleboard courts would be removed to add more beach space. Playground equipment would be added.

A more active use of the DNR fish hatchery would be sought in addition to its reactivation as a hatchery, public tours and an information-education program would be established so it could be utilized as an attraction as well as a research and hatchery facility.

South Shore of Round Lake

The existing marine-commercial facilities on the lake would be protected so that the marine services traditionally available to boaters in Round Lake would be continued.

Properties on the south side of Belvedere Avenue would be developed into low-profile condominium units, built so as not to block the lake view from homes on the higher terrace.

Wayside Motel

A major resort hotel with 100 to 150 rooms and full convention facilties would be developed. Included would be a "major destination" restaurant of such high quality that people would come long distances with it as their major destination.

Railroad trackage could be terminated at the location and special rail service provided between the facility and Petoskey. Full recreational facilities such as tennis courts, swimming pool and high quality beach would be included. Dock space for transient boaters would also be provided.

Ferry Avenue Area

Ferry Avenue would be relocated on the railroad right-of-way to provide a more logical access to Stover Road.

North of Pine River Channel

More motel units would be added along with the neccessary parking facilities.

Finn Lumber-Bay Queen Property

High quality hotel facility would be developed with maximum accessibility for pedestrian, vehicular and boating traffic.

All agree that Art Fair is economic windfall

CHARLEVOIX
ART FAIR

An art fair is a bright economic star on the immediate horizon for this northwestern Lower Michigan resort community.

The 24th Annual Charlevoix Waterfront Art Fair, Saturday August 14, will see a select group of 165 fine artists gathering on the grass of the town's waterfront park to display painting, sculpture, ceramics, jewelery and other works. The fair will attract not only art lovers but people who annually come to Charlevoix to buy art and spend money.

Collectors and buyers for galleries say they hold their buying for this one-day fair because they know there will be a range of high quality art.

Many downtown Charlevoix merchants report the gathering of arts and art lovers results in the single biggest day of business. Some 10,000 people are estimated to come on August 14 for the art fair.

All of this is especially good news in a county with 20 per cent unemployment, more lay offs threatened, and the apparent fact that while people are vacationing in the north they seem to be spending very cautiously this year.

The Waterfront Art Fair is a panoply of color stretching over the terraced park, sloping from Bridge Street (U.S. Highway 31) to the edge of Round Lake Harbor's yacht basin. Sailing and motor cruisers tie up facing the park, where the artists' works are displayed. Beyond, Lake Charlevoix reaches south toward Boyne City. To the north, through the Pine River Channel is Lake Michigan.

Over 700 artists vied this year for the 165 openings. Early every spring a committee of jurors reviews slides submitted by each artist, selecting those whose works meet their standards of quality.

By mid April, motel owners say reservations are filled for art fair weekend, so many people plan summer vacations around the show.

Louis Hollow, President of the First State Bank of Charlevoix, says "Art fair weekend is certainly a boon to Charlevoix." He adds that "It's the one weekend most condominium owners will not consider renting their units."

"Art fair weekend is definitely good for business in town," observes Chamber of Commerce Director Jacqui Merta.

"Art fair is a lovely event," says Jeannine Wallace, owner of gift store Shop of the Gulls. "Art fair people are here to look for unusual and well done art. It spills over to the stores. They spot things and buy some of our more expensive and lovely items," Mrs. Wallace adds.

Waterfront Art Fair exhibitors, such as Henry Benson of Florida, whose impressionistic paintings are displayed around the country and who exhibits from "Main to Milwaukee, Texas to Alabama," calls the Charlevoix show, "Consistent. It attracts quality art. The people who come to buy are knowledgeable and very responsive. It has gotten to the point that I expect to sell at Charlevoix."

Similarly, painter Pat Eberline of Midland, says "Charlevoix is by far the best show I do. It is rated among artists are one of the top shows in the country."

Fair organizers estimate over $200,000 is spent in art purchases at the fair.

Among other notable exhibitors at this year's fair will be: Steve French, watercolorist; Paul Sweeney, watercolorist; Peggy Brown, watercolorist; Lawrence Favorite, sculptor; Verna Hill, ceramic sculptor; Sharon Pellar, glass worker; Harvard Professor Richard Tillebaum, watercolorist; Sandra Marchetti, intaglio etcher; Joseph Romano, sculptor; Dee Knot, painter; Russell and Sue Bolt, painters and ceramicists; Todd Warner, ceramic culptor; and Pat Maybew, abstract painter.

Buyers arrive early Saturday morning as the artisits are setting up their displays.

Kurt Stevens, Manager of International Relations for Dow Chemical, who also buys for the corporation, says, "I often come seeking specific artists' work, such as Fran Larsen or Norman Brumm. One year I spent $2,000 at the Charlevoix fair."

Roger Miller, owner of Galleria Louisa in Grand Rapids calls the Charlevoix fair, "one of the finest in the state because of the high caliber of the artists." Miller observes, "Despite the economy, this year is turning out to be surprisingly good. People are buying art."

Pat Naegele of Midland, another buyer says there is "an esprit de corps at the Charlevoix show. It is such a prestigious group. I'll be here at 8:15 and I'll move fast," Mrs. Naegele adds. "I have to be on top of it.

"It's exciting coming back to Charlevoix, year after year, looking for that special glaze, a new potter, someone from somewhere who's discovered something new.

"The quality of Charlevoix's show makes it a focal point for buyers," Mrs. Naegele explains.

She adds this advice, "One should spend time, speculating, seeing. A lot of commissions develop out of the Charlevoix fair. A lot of discoveries. It's a love affair."

LexaLite to acquire Skokie, Illinois firm

Corporate officers of Charlevoix-based LexaLite International and the American Louver Company of Skokie, Illinois announced Monday that an Aggreement in Principle had been reached wherein LexaLite will acquire the product line and manufacturing facilities of American Louver in exchange for a "significant stock position" in the combined organization.

The agreement was effective August 1 according to a joint announcement by Chairmen of the Boards of the two firms, Arthur Marshall of LexaLite and Walter Glass of American Louver. Shareholder approval is anticipated upon completion of the final details of the transaction.

Josh Barnes, president of LexaLite, will be chief executive officer of the combined organization. According to Barnes, the Charlevoix LexaLite plant will be expanded to include larger equipment in metallizing and coating to accomodate the production of louvers in both the Charlevoix and Skokie plants.

The announcament of the acquisition and expansion came almost a year to the day after a major fire that destroyed the LexaLite manufacturing facilities. The plant has since been completely rebuilt.

Operations at both plants will remain basically the same though some sales and administration functions will be combined.

While LexaLite's product line of lenses and refractors is oriented toward non-fluorescent light sources, the American Louver line of molded lenses and louvers is directed toward the fluorescent market. According to Barnes, the two manufacturers should complement each other well.

LexaLite Signal Products Corporation, a separate firm specializing in traffic signaling devices, is not involved in the transaction.

June unemployment shows little change

The unemployment rate in Charlevoix County for June was only one-tenth of a percent under what it was in May.

Figures released by the Michigan Employment Security Commission show that the rate was 18.8 percent in May and 18.5 percent in June. Of an estimated civilian labor force of 9,600, the report shows 7,825 employed and 1,775 unemployed.

In Emmet County, the unemployment rate dropped 2.1 percent from May to June, due to more seasonal employment in that area, according to the MESC. Emmet County unemployment figures were 13.6 percent in May and 11.5 percent in June.

Work-or-jail program succeeds

by PEG OHLE

Given the choice of going to jail or "working off" a court fine or probation stipulation, what would the average person do?

So far this year, 24 persons have opted to work at one of several work sites set up by the 90th District Court throughout the County. They were persons who had run afoul of the law in one way or another – perhaps simply by exceeding a speed limit – and who had no way of getting the money to pay the penalty levied against them.

These 24 persons worked off their fines at the minimum wage of $3.35 an hour. Some had to work only one day, while others ranged up to 40 days.

They worked for the County Transit System washing buses and readying the System's new building for occupancy. They helped plant and care for the petunias along Bridge and Petoskey Streets in Charlevoix. They tended the animals at the County Humane Society. They cleaned up the Boyne City Cemetery. They shoveled snow from around the fire hydrants in East Jordan and varnished the City's picnic tables for summer. They did typing for the 90th District Court. They helped out at the Indian Outreach Center. They were put on the maintenance staff at Grandvue Medical Care Facility. They did other jobs, too – digging ditches, painting public buildings, whatever was asked of them. . .

District Court Probation Officer Laurie Howell is in charge of this Alternative Community Service Program. She is most enthusiastic about the way it is going and the money it is saving taxpayers.

"The 24 persons on the Program worked a total of 171 days, eight hours a day, at $3.35 an hour. That amounts to $4,582.80 they contributed to the governmental agencies they worked for.

"It would have cost $35 a day to keep them in jail. At that rate, the 171 days would have amounted to $5,985. So, altogether, we figure we have saved County taxpayers about $10,000 so far this year."

Only three of the persons who originally chose the Community Service Program over jail were backsliders. They went to jail for a total of 16 days.

"It's a privilege for them to have the chance to go to work instead of to jail," Mrs. Howell explains. "They can't abuse that privilege."

And, in most instances, the work experience is valuable to the workers. "The change in some of them is remarkable, Mrs. Howell says. "They get the feeling they are doing something important. They develop pride. One young man came to Court all scroungy, but when he started at the work site, he was all cleaned up."

Many of the persons on the Community Work Program are teenagers who have never had a real job, so the training they are receiving on these jobs can be a real help to them, Mrs. Howell points out. "These persons don't need someone to shake a stick at them. They can work on their own in most cases," she says.

Mrs. Howell says that when she first developed the Alternative Community Service Program for Charlevoix County, the cities and other places that might be used for work sites were skeptical.

"There was confusion about Workman's Compensation responsibilities and liability insurance. That has now been worked out. Each person put on the Program signs a statement saying he is volunteering his services and relinquishing any claims to Workman's Compensation. They County carries liability insurance with a $50 deductible for each volunteer worker on the Program."

The agreement each Program worker signs begins with this paragraph:

"The Court, as an alternative to sentencing you to imprisonment, payment of fine, or both, has provided you an opportunity to devote a specified period of time to serving the community by performing work within an agency whose purposes are designed to benefit the community in various ways."

Before the Program could be successful, it was also necessary to sign up work sites in all parts of the County so workers could get to their jobs by walking or riding a bicycle if they did not have other transportation.

While the Alternative Community Service Program is offered only to those deemed eligible by District Court or the Magistrate, it has made a big difference to those assigned to it and to the community at large.

The question has been asked numerous times, "Why has Charlevoix County created an Economic Development Corporation?" It was developed out of a perceived necessity. Three citizens of the County, John Kujawski of Boyne City, Dennis Jason of East Jordan and the writer, I. Lee Moerland, discussed the potential of a County-wide EDC to service all local governments that find it cumbersome or beyond their fiscal or programatic means to initiate. At that time, and to this date, only Boyne City created a development corporation.
Through legislative mechanics your County EDC came into being. I have been very instrumental in initiating the Economic Development Corporation for Charlevoix County. I strived to see (fulfillment of) it (being) properly developed, "as we need certain programs to alleviate and prevent conditions of unemployment and to assist and retain local industrial and commercial enterprises in order to strengthen and revitalize the County's economy." (From County Board Resolution 81-116.)
I have been president of the EDC since its inception and under my leadership, with support of my colleagues and legal counsel, we have developed an orderly procedure to help local business people. It's been a lengthy educational process with guidance coming from knowledgeable sources. The EDC was able to help Lexalite rebuild and expand their operation here, thus retaining local jobs and creating new ones after their August 2, 1981 Holocaust. I recall with satisfaction the comment of Mr. Josh T. Barnes, President of Lexalite International Corporation, "If the Charlevoix County Economic Development Corporation had not been in place, ready to go, Lexalite may have been forced to look elsewhere for re-construction of our plant. It was assuring to be told at the fire scene that day by Lee Moerland the EDC stood ready to assist in anyway within their means to help reconstruction."
Through our Northwest Michigan Manpower Consortium the EDC was able to obtain a $10,500 grant for the purpose of assembling and printing a comprehensive EDC Directory Manual which will be ready for distribution in early October. The book is to facilitate utilization and expansion of manufacturing capabilities already existing in the County and provide prospective businesses interested in our quality of life a word and pictorial graphic of Charlevoix County.
The Nation, State and Local Governments, as well as citizenry, are experiencing extreme depressed economic times but I have confidence if we all work together we will weather the storm and emerge stronger for it.

Knight on the Town

Paradise Lost

by Dave Knight

And on the eighth day, God created Sean Ryan.

He looked at his work and said, "Hmmm...Should've rested one more day."

But what was done was done and Sean went forth and wandered in the Garden.

Before long he happened upon a beautiful woman trying on fig leaves. Unseen by the woman, he inched closer and closer through the lush foliage. Soon she was at arm's length. Quivering, he reached out.

God saw what was happening and, in His allknowingness, forsaw what was coming to pass. It was not pleasing to Him.

But He took pity on poor Ryan and, instead of snatching him from the Garden, He cast His arm and the woman turned into a glistening Martin D-28 six-string. Tuned.

Sean gasped at the sight of a guitar where the woman had been but he reached out and took the instrument into his lap.

He strummed. The guitar sang. He strummed again and the rich tones wafted through the still Garden. Sean smiled. His desire for woman forgotten, he carressed the neck of the guitar as he brushed its strings. This time a different, even more beautiful sound rang out. Sean matched it with his own voice, finding the two sounds pleasantly compatible.

Soon he was singing and playing with reckless glee.

Little furry ears perked up all across the Garden and the woodland creatures cautiously crept toward the enchanting new sounds.

The animals quietly formed a ring around Ryan and they listened as if hypnotized. He began telling stories in his songs. Stories about the trees, the brooks, the stars, the flowers, goodness, happiness and love.

God was so pleased that He immediately created another being in the same image. He called him Denver. But that is another story.

Sitting on a moss-covered stump, surrounded by his enraptured audience, Sean Ryan thought himself the luckiest man on earth.

But as he sang, he did not notice the serpent slowly making its way across a tree limb toward Ryan's ear.

"Ssssssean," hissed the snake as Ryan paused, "Lisssssten to me if you want true happinesssss."

Ryan's eyebrows arched.

"Forget thissss material," said the snake, "Sssssing what I tell you and the whole Garden will be yourssssss!"

Ryan stopped playing and listened.

The snake taught him all new songs with different words and different subjects. Instead of trees and brooks, the songs were about lust and debauchery...sin and avarice...fudge...and, with Sean's curiosity at high peak, Winnebago motor homes.

The snake handed Ryan a frothy glass of golden brew which Ryan drank and asked for another...which he drank and asked for another...which he drank and asked for another...

The serpent retreated, its mission completed. Ryan sang his new songs with vigor as he clumsily teetered back and forth on the stump. He did indeed feel a strange sort of happiness with every new glass of the snake's potion. But the little animals did not like the change. Ryan's blaring new repertoire made them scurry into their little dens, holding their little paws over their little ears.

Some went looking for Denver.

God peered down and frowned.

Ryan had been granted one reprieve. This time God's anger went untempered.

He again waved His arm.

Sean blinked and found himself in the corner of a darkened room with harsh lights glaring in his face. Strange, gray objects were thrust toward his mouth and guitar. The Garden glade had been replaced by an undulating crowd of boisterous humans shouting for him to play. Shouting for songs about lust. Debauchery. Fudge.

Ryan jumped off his seat and ran out the doorway. In the cold night air he came upon a large green and white sign outside the building. It said, "Duffy's of Charlevoix".

Ryan bowed his head. His punishment had been severe.

He walked slowly back inside and took his place in the corner.

But God was not finished. At the front table closest to Ryan appeared a large, bald man whose white stomach peeked out between his striped cotton shirt and plaid polyester pants. Three empty pitchers sat before him.

Ryan winced as his worst fears were realized.

In a bugling, smelly voice, the man roared, "Sing the one about the Winnebagos!"

Looking down from above, God shook his head and wondered why His justice sometimes had to be so cruel.

Snooty Cape Cod has nothing over good ol' Beaver Island

David Broder, a syndicated columnist for the Washington Post, has a summer home on Beaver Island. The following piece recently appeared in the hundreds of newspapers across the country that carry Broder's column.

by DAVID BRODER

BEAVER ISLAND, Mich. - I take a lot of abuse from colleagues back in Washington who spend their summer vacations at fashionable places on Cape Cod, Martha's Vineyard or the coast of Maine. They insist that because they have cocktails with an undersecretary and cookouts with an ambassador, they are more "with it" than we are on this never-heard-of-it island at the top of Lake Michigan.

They are wrong, of course. I have known for more than 30 years that Beaver Island is the center of the real world, and this summer has proved it once again.

The first thing that hits your eye, for example, is the gaping hole in the pole-barn right across from Bud McDonough's gas pump. It is a symbol of the national concern with the problem of drunk driving.

That has not been a serious problem here, not because people don't drink and drive, but because the odds are heavily against a drunk driver finding anything to hit. That did not stop a well-known islander. He clobbered that pole-barn as if he had taken aim - which he might have.

His pickup truck got folded like an accordion, but the driver walked away with three stitches on his forehead and was sent off to the mainland to dry out. What was puzzling about the damage to the pole-barn was that it looked like the point of impact was about 10 feet up from the ground. Someone said he must have been coming down from a tree when he hit, and that seemed to satisfy people.

A spring vacation in Europe kept me off Beaver Island last summer, so this was my first visit in the Reagan era. Naturally, there are changes. The recession has slowed business to the point that Woodrow Wilson at Sears has time to see that the paint you ordered gets on the ferry boat from Charlevoix the same summer you ordered it. In prosperous times, that never happened.

Deregulation - and particularly the change in the Environmental Protection Agency since Anne Gorsuch took over - has helped the island. For a time, under what Interior Secretary James Watt would rightly call the environmental extremism of the Carter administration, the island's dump was threatened with closure. There were rumbles we would have to take our tax money and build an incinerator. Let me tell you, an incinerator would be as out of place on Beaver Island as an all-star player on the Chicago Cubs.

But, thanks to Reagan, the dump is still in business, serving its dual function as a disposal point for old paint cans, etc., and as a place where neighbors can meet late in the day to exchange news and views (the equivalent of those snobby Vineyard cocktail parties).

Speaking of Reagan, we had a splendid example of his impact at the dinner dance marking the 25th anniversary of the Beaver Island Historical Society. Dinner dances are new here but in keeping with the more elegant social tone of the new administration, this one was a formal affair. Formal, in this context, means that T-shirts and shoes must be worn - simultaneously.

The music was to be supplied by Eddie Palmer and the Beaver Island Boys, an up-to-date group with plugin guitars and everything. But it became apparent as they fussed with the amplifiers on the stage of the parish hall that there was a problem. Word circulated that they couldn't get a steady flow of current to the amplifiers.

Well, as luck would have it, our local energy czar, Jewell Gillespie, who runs the electric co-op, is also the piano player for Eddie and the Boys. He disappeared in his pickup, came back in a few minutes, and gave the signal to begin. The music burst forth in all its electronic glory.

In a few moments, the mystery was solved. Skip McDonough, who lives down on Big Sand Bay, where we have our cabin, five miles south of town, came up. "You might as well keep dancing," she said. "He's cut off all the power south of the Four Corners."

So, while two-thirds of the island sat in darkness, us swingers had our hall: self-reliant, not looking to government for any kind of handout, content as can be with our island, our energy policy, our dump, our Sears paint and our elegant dinner dance.

Eat your heart out, Cape Codders.

Clockwise

Spicy summer treat

by Bob Clock

IT'S NOT TOO late in the season to try Campbell's chilled Gazpatcho soup for supper. Or lunch. Or even breakfast — if you're into soup for breakfast.

Although we've had homemade Gazpatcho before, it must be a new commercial offering this summer. At least I had never seen it on grocery shelves until Judy picked up a can Saturday morning at Oleson's and we had it for lunch.

For a spicy Spanish delicacy, it sure cools you off in a hurry.

Like other soups, you just can a can of water and mix well. Then instead of heating it, you put a couple of ice cubes in a bowl and pour the soup over them.

The main ingredient appears to be tomatoes, but there also are tiny morsels of just about every vegetable known to man — and a few that defy identification.

According to the instructions on the can you also are welcome to try it hot. But it is so good cold I can't imagine wanting to tamper with it.

I predict that it will become one of Campbell's best-sellers in time — particularly since it is not nearly so salty as most of the soups prepared by the same canner.

ANOTHER OF MY favorite summer soups is vichyssoise — a puree of potatoes, onions, milk and chicken stock (or chicken bouillon) — which is served cold in summer or hot in winter. Strictly speaking, vichyssoise must be served cold. If it's hot it's plain old potato soup, which doesn't sound nearly so classy. But it's still delicious

LIKE OTHER Charlevoix gardeners, I eyed those rain clouds over the weekend confident that we would get a real drencher. Now it turns out that those weren't clouds at all but smoke from brush fires in Alberta and British Columbia.

According to the National Weather Service, seven states — including Michigan — are under the blanket of smoke, which has dropped temperatures by an average of five degrees during the daytime.

At night, the cloud acts as insulation and temperatures stay warmer than they ordinarily would.

In addition to Michigan, the cloud is affecting the weather in North and South Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin and parts of Illinois, Indiana and Ohio.

Meanwhile, we wait for rain in vain. A good, steady all-night rain is needed to bring on the rest of the raspberry crop and give tomato vines a shot in the arm before the harvest begins.

IF YOU ARE WEARY of ever-increasing taxes, spiraling inflation and high unemployment, think for a moment about the hapless residents of the Mideast who share all of our problems — plus the burden of political and racial wars that defy amicable solutions.

Despite our multiple problems, Americans are a very, very fortunate people.

Letters: Zoning, HS sports

Rights ignored

To the Members of the City Council:

We have been coming to Charlevoix for years and were thrilled two and a half years ago to be able to purchase the Moses home on Michigan Avenue. An architect was selected in the summer of 1981, and remodeling plans were drawn. In May of 1982, a building permit was requested and granted for the house remodeling, but not for the deck. At that time, it was brought to our attention that a variance request was necessary due to a recently-enacted ordinance requiring a 15-foot setback (this ordinance became law after our original plans were completed).

The Zoning Committee approved the variance as we anticipated since the request was a reasonable one, and the ordinance really pertained to new construction since most of the old homes in Charlevoix, and particularly on Michigan Avenue, already have decks.

We then, however, received notification that one objection had been received and would be considered at the next Council Meeting. At this point, our daughter was graduating from high school, and we had a family wedding out-of-town and found it impossible to represent ourselves at the Council Meeting. Although we preferred our original plan, in an effort to be cooperative, we offered a compromise plan which moved the entire deck to a new location. Both the original plan and the compromise were turned down, however, in favor of a plan which is inconvenient and less attractive from the outside, and particularly from the inside of the house.

The objection to the original plan and the compromise plan was not based on any rational reasons, but rather on past history. Our rights as property owners have been ignored, in spite of the obvious fact that we have greatly improved the property.

We and our six children expect to be a part of the Charlevoix community for a long time and hope to make a positive contribution to Charlevoix, as we have in our home town of Flint. We are disappointed as new property owners that the City Council has chosen to treat us with such carelessness. It is the responsibility of the City Council to respond fairly to all of the people. It is of great concern when one person's wishes can so influence a group of elected officials that they lose their objectivity.

Dr. and Mrs. F.W. VanDuyne, M.D.

Keep all sports

To the Editor:

High school golf, tennis and skiing are too important to allow these sports to be discontinued without comment and further consideration. These particular sports offer all of our students, regardless of their size, build or physical stature, to participate in a sport that emphasizes a high standard of personal etiquette, grooming, discipline and sportsmanship.

Charlevoix can be proud of the quality and performance of our high school athletes who have participated in these sports. The young men and women have been examples of excellence while representing the Charlevoix Area. These sports allow the smaller athlete to engage in an activity that relies solely on personal ability to achieve success and, therefore, develops self confidence.

The discontinuance of these sports cannot be justified by the cost to the school, inasmuch as the student furnished all of the equipment needed and other fees are required. We have, in our immediate area, some of the finest accomodations for our student athletes to continue their sports, with excellent tennis courts, ski slopes and golf courses.

The loss to our athletes will be great. Many of our athletes were able to go on to college because of a scholarship in either golf, tennis or skiing. This opportunity will be gone as well as the opportunity to learn a sport in high school in which they can enjoy most of their lives and in all parts of the world.

Therefore, the commitment to discontinue these sports should be reconsidered so we will not be guilty of disadvantaging the students at the Charlevoix High School.

Harry R. Custer, M.D.

Letters: Thanks for great Venetian Weekend

Charlevoix Courier
Dear Sir:

Congratulations to the personnel in Charlevoix who planned, policed, and promoted a super-successful Venetian Weekend.

Though there seemed to be more people here to enjoy "Charlevoix the Beautiful" than in other years, nevertheless each event took place with relative punctuality, and went forward flawlessly.

The shopkeepers and owners in the stores and booths were pleasant and helpful. The police were friendly, yet efficient, even while assisting an ambulance through our curb-to-curb-with-people mainstreet, with no traffic problems.

The morning parade had just enough music, just enough beautiful floats, just enough happy participants, and it lasted just long enough.

The evening boat parade was brilliantly lighted, and the fireworks were equally spectacular.

The fastpitch softball tournament was exciting, and a northern Michigan team satisfactorily came from the losing bracket to win it.

Altogether, a most satisfactory festival!

Two who enjoyed it,
Ellen and Lyla Arvilla

P.S. The maintenance crew should not be forgotten. Sunday morning there was not a piece of paper to be seen in the park. Amazing!

Out of the Blue

Why does Howard
Have to Cosell it?
Why in hell
Can't he just tell it?

Firemens Field Day set for Torch Lake

Upper Torch Lake Association is concluding arrangements for its annual Firemen's Field Day. This event is scheduled for Saturday August 7 at Antrim County Park in Eastport and is a fund raising effort to support the UTLA Volunteer Fire Department.

Fire protection responsibility of this unit includes areas as far north as Norwood Road and as far south as Erickson Road on both sides of Torch Lake, in cooperation with Banks Township and Central Lake Township Fire Departments in certain areas.

Recently a new substation was established in the South Torch Lake-US 31 area to supplement the regular station at Eastport. The fire fighting volunteer force has been increased from 11 to 16 men, all of whom have completed a state approved training course and are in constant readiness to protect home, property and lives in the UTLA fire district.

Firemen's Field Day on August 7 will feature a full chicken barbeque dinner, bazaar, bake sale, children and adult games, and highlight a display of firefighting techniques. A prime event will be a Tug-O-War between UTLA and Elk Rapids fire fighters.

A refreshment stand will be open at 11 a.m. to cover appetites prior to the 4:30-7:00 p.m. barbeque. Bazaar, bake sale, and midway also opens at 11 a.m. A talent show is scheduled for 2 p.m. Children and adult games commence at 12 noon and 1 p.m. respectively. Fire fighting techniques will be displayed at 3:30 followed by the Tug-O-War at 4 p.m.

Prizes donated by various local merchants will be raffled off during the day to those in attendance. Main prizes, consisting of Bay Queen Dinner Cruises, Charmglo Gas Grill and several others will be raffled off at 6 p.m. Raffle tickets are on sale at local merchants and also will be available at the Field Day.

This is a community activity that all area and nearby area residents are invited to support. Call Jack Keggat, UTLA President, for additional details. 599-2622.

Garden Club to visit North Point herb farm

The Charlevoix Garden Club members will make a field trip Tuesday, August 10, to visit an herb farm at North Port.

Members are to call the president, Mrs. Homer Brady, to obtain transportation plans. The caravan will then depart from Charlevoix to the farm where herbs are grown commercially. Members are asked to bring a picnic-type sack lunch to be eaten at a picnic site enroute to Northport. At that time, the club will have its regular meeting. Anyone with questions should direct them to Mrs. Brady. Those making the trip are advised to wear comfortable walking shoes.

At a recent meeting, the club members visited the beach gardens at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Richard Wakulat along Little Traverse Bay. The couple has filled confined beds of top soil on top of the sandy beach, built their own irrigation system and are raising vegetables in these unusual beds.

The luncheon featured a salad made from vegetables from the garden and tomatoes from their hot house, converted from an orchid hot house used by a former owner, and served with a variety of dressings.

Garden club members have been busy helping with the weeding of the petunia beds along US 31 from the north city limits to the intersection of M-66 and US 31 on the south side. Some residents are caring for the flowers, weeding and watering them regularly. Others are located where no one lives or where the residents are unable to care for the beds. The work is done from 7 until 9 a.m. and during the same hours in the evening.

The members report very positive reactions by visitors to the community regarding the petunia plantings.

Local residents are encouraged by the Garden Club in helping to keep Charlevoix beautiful by joining in tending the petunia beds which grow more beautiful with every minute of care given them.

THE SET OF BINGO equipment given to Pine River Place by the Leslie T. Shapton Post No. 226 of the American Legion got its first work out recently.

Louis McKenzie (rt), Post Commander, was on hand to do the calling at the party enjoyed by the residents of Pine River Place, a 62-apartment Senior Citizens complex located at 210 West Garfield.

With McKenzie is Robert Cook of the Charlevoix Housing Commission whose inquiry regarding the equipment resulted in the gift from the post.

Prizes at the first bingo party were solicited from local businesses by Mrs. Edna Woodard and Mrs. Marge Davenport.

EJ Garden Club plans annual flower show

The East Jordan Garden Club will present its annual Flower Show on August 16 from noon to four o'clock.

"The Added Touch" is the theme of the show. Members will display their talents by showing how flower arrangements can provide the added touch to every room of the house. Hanging baskets and plants will provide the added touch for the porch and the entrance, while the patio will have arrangements including a swan, the symbol of East Jordan.

The horticulture section of the show will include specimen of various flowers, fruits, and vegetables grown by members in their own gardens.

The East Jordan Civic Center is located one-half block east of Main Street on Civic Center Lane. The public is invited to attend and admission is free.

The Flower Show committee includes Phyllis Malpass, Polly Sinclair, Deanna Hurwits, Emily Coward, Betty Yemi, Joanne Schenck, and Bernadine Greig, chairman.

Bible Questions Answers

CONTINUING THE QUESTION, "DOESN'T GOD KNOW ALL OF OUR FUTURE THOUGHTS AND CHOICES?". It is impossible to believe that a man has free will and at the same time God knows all of his future thoughts and choices. This is a perfect contradiction! If God has always known mans future choices then it is only sane and logical that man will have to "act out" everything that God knows about him in advance, or else the man will "fool" God by thinking or acting out something God didn't know in advance. But this is absurd and entirely unscriptural.

FREE-WILL from Webster's New World Dictionary "The Human Will regarded as free from restraints, compulsions, or any previous conditions; freedom of decision or choice." Also the Word FREE "not in bondage" not under the control of some other person or some arbitrary power, able to act or think without compulsion or arbitrary restriction, able to choose for itself, not restricted by anything except its own limitations or nature."

If God knows man's choices in advance, then man is CAUSED to act them out. If man is FREE then he could not be CAUSED to do anything by God. A good sane logical and scriptural position to remember is "THAT WHICH IS CAUSED CAN NOT BE FREE, AND THAT WHICH IS FREE CANNOT BE CAUSED." The one main reason that people cling to the "God knows everything" saying is that this type of reasoning and thinking always puts the BLAME BACK ON GOD instead of on EACH PERSON AND THEIR CHOICE, exactly where God wanted the blame to be.

Here are nine EMBARRASSING questions that God must face and answer if He truly knows all things long before they happen.

(1) Did God foreknow the Devil would sin? If so, why did He make him?

(2) If God knew the Devil would sin, why was no atonement make for him?

(3) If God knows what men will choose, why does he "strive" and "plead" with them?

(4) If past, present and future are the same to God, how can He "forget" our sin?

(5) If the future of man is already certain, why isn't it fixed? How can we change it?

(6) If man's future destiny is already certain, why should we bother to witness at all?

(7) If God already knows what I am going to do, why does He give me a choice at all?

(8) If God already knows what I want and am going to say, why should I ask in prayer?

(9) If God created everything, why isn't He responsible for all MORAL and PHYSICAL EVIL?

Indian youths learn more about their heritage at Greensky Hill encampment

by DAVE KNIGHT

As American Indians have dispersed from their original tribes and clans over the past half-century, so has their culture dispersed. Few are left who remember the old ways and the result is that Indian children growing up in the white man's world often have as stilted a perception of their heritage as non-Indians.

"Without other Indians around, Indian children sometimes develop the attitude that they are the only ones," says Dougherty "Sonny" Johnson, dean of the Indian Heritage Camp held last week at the Greensky Hill Mission on Susan Lake.

"Soon they have the same view of Indians held by most white people; that portrayed on television westerns," said Johnson.

Six years ago, the Western Michigan Conference of the United Methodist Church established the week-long summer camp at Greensky Hill to provide Indian children of Michigan with at least a brief exposure to their ancestors' way of life.

Integrated into the sessions on Indian heritage are religious study sessions. The Greensky Hill Mission was established about 130 years when Indian missionary Peter Greensky was assigned by the Methodist-Episcopal Church to spread the gospel among his people living in this area.

Thirty-three Indian children from all over the state took part in the encampment last week. Between sessions on Indian Language, arts and crafts and bible study, campers enjoyed such recreational activities as swimming, archery, soccer and, oddly enough, computerized video games.

Instructions in the Ottawa language were conducted by Gladys Church of the Grand Rapids area and Jay Oliver of Charlevoix.

"The Ottawa language is so comples we cannot hope to accomplish much more than teaching the children a few words," said Oliver who is fluent in the Indian tongue, "While the language is important, what is more important is that the children develop a pride in their heritage."

Those campers who didn't pay attention in language class risked spending the week a little hungrier than the others...to get seconds in the lunch line, the children had to name the correct Indian word for what they wanted.

Counselors for the week, five women and four men, were all volunteers as were the resource people and kitchen staff made up of women of the congregation. Coordinating the camp as business manager and laison between the Greensky and Charlevoix United Methodist Churches was Rev. David Yingling, pastor of the Charlevoix United Methodist Church.

Yachting Notes

An Australian Aborigine, nearing the end of his long walk-a-bout to North America, crouched in the Petunias of Charlevoix enjoying an overview of Wednesday Night at the Races. As he watched, his eyes brightened as they focused on a modest sized, sleek yacht, completely devoid of graphics...and he was hear to esclaim, "Indooroophily!"

How, for those of you who have been so isolated that you seldom converse with Aborigines, "Indooroophily", more or less literally translated, comes out, "Very, very, very swift on (or over) water."

Thus it went...

Overall: "Indooroophily" by 14 seconds under "Hummer" in turn 37 seconds under "Bandit", followed by "Razzmatazz" and "Camouflage".

PHRF Fleet: "Hummer", "Camouflage" and "Tigger".

P-26: "Crampt Quarters;;, "Cygnus" and "Tireless".

525: "Indooroophily", "Bandit" and "Razzmatazz".

A dark horse moving up in position each week is "Phoenecia", up to 10th overall this week, correcting ahead of all the P-26's except "Crampt Quarters" and also ahead of four of the 525's!

Enjoyed having one of the North American 40's race with us..."Mic Jay" sailed a nice race; managed to get out in front only to have a little difficulty in some spinnaker handling (we discussed the appropriate language last week), letting "Hummer" slip by! Hey "Hummer", does it feel 'specially good to be first to finish when there's a "40" in the fleet?

In the Portsmouth Fleet, it's getting to be a routine. The heritage one ton "Shadow" races out to an apparnetly overwhelming lead, only to have the computer corrections move "Cheemaun" to 1st and "Sea Scape" to 2nd. Following "Shadow" were "Tegi" and "Nalicaji". The computer did shed a tear for the one second that corrected "Sea Scape" ahead of "Shadow"; who was actually, first boat across the finish line, but since this fleet starts 10 minutes before the rest of us; we just pretend he doesn't esist!

After a weekend filled with two major yachting events, "The North American 40's Championship" here and the "Little T" (a major local regatta of long standing) up to Harbor Springs; we come down (in size, if not in number of entrants) to the Board Sailing Regatta, sponsored by good ol' G.Y.C.

Board Sailing reduces yachting to its very basics; one man (woman or child), one sail, one totally unstable oversize water ski, lots of skill - but, suprisingly and, contrary to all appearances, - NOT requiring a lot of muscle! Even old "A Nony" has tried it with some success and now fully espects to become addicted. So if you're into it already, register at C.Y.C., Friday, Aug. 6 from 10:00 a.m.-12:00 noon; or at the Club Friday evening. Board refuses to support summer tax collection bill

by PEG OHLE

Members of the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners are in sympathy with the problems local schools are having in being forced to borrow operating funds at high interest rates while waiting for their share of local property taxes.

However, they are not enough in sympathy to support House Bill No. 4150, which would make it possible for twice yearly tax collections. Last month, the Board passed a resolution opposing House Bill No. 4150, noting that dual tax collections would be "at the expense of damaging the cash flows of certain categories of citizens" and would be "prohibitively expensive" for small units of government.

The resolution further puts the County Board on record in "urging the Legislature to develop a better solution to the state problem; such as a single tax collection period for all units of government within the State, coordinated with a standard fiscal year for all units of government within the State."

Copies of the County resolution were sent to State Senator Mitch Irwin, Representatives Ralph Ostling, and Steve Andrews, the Governor's office, the Michigan Association of Counties, and all Charlevoix County school districts.

Kids Corner now holding sign-up

Pre-school children in the three and four year age group are eligible to attend.

Parents wishing to register their children may do so by calling 547-9122 or 547-6874.

Three CHS sports threatened

by FRAN MARTIN

Thirty-four persons, most of them parents of students at the Charlevoix High School met at the high school Monday night with members of the Extra-Curricular committee of the Charlevoix Board of Education to oppose the decision of the board to drop three sports, golf, skiing and tennis, from the list of sports offered.

Dennis VanGuilder, assistant principal, chaired the meeting which he opened by presenting the reasons the decision had been made regarding these three sports; namely, declining enrollment, lack of league competition and the fact that students participating in these sports could obtain competition in them other than through the school.

Vane Smith, high school principal, addressed the issue of declining enrollment stating that during the 1969-70 school year Charlevoix High School had an enrollment of 436 students which reached its peack in 1975-76 school year with 646 students. A total of 505 students is projected for the 1982-83 school year.

He also advised that Gaylord with 812 students, Charlevoix with 539 and Petoskey were the only schools in the eight-team Michigan-Huron Shores Conference to offer a full quota of sports. Gaylord and Charlevoix offer 20 each and Petoskey 19.

The arguments for keeping the sports were many but centered mainly that the dropping of the sports was not for financial reasons; that these three sports were those that a person will continue to play throughout his or her lifetime; that as long as enough students were available for teams the sports should remain in the list of sports offered; that the function of the school was to prepare a person for life and

Hearing set for solid waste plan

by PEG OHLE

It took more than two years of study and work for Charlevoix County to complete a Solid Waste Disposal plan, as required by State law.

The plan was completed about a month ago, a public hearing set for September 30, and submission to the County Board of Commissioners scheduled for October 12 or 13.

The job of preparing a Solid Waste Disposal plan was long and tedious because of the many rules and regulations governing the disposal of solid waste under Public Act 641 of 1978.

Act 641 became effective January 11, 1979, but before that, on December 23, the Headlee Amendment took effect. And thereon hangs a story.

The Headlee Amendment provides in part: "The State is prohibited from requiring any new or expanded activities by local governments without full state financing, from reducing the proportion of State spending in the form of aid to local governments, or from shifting the tax burden to local government."

Act 641, which, as noted above, became law after the Headlee Amendment, reads in part: "A municipality or County shall assure that all solid waste is removed from the site of generation, frequently enough to protect the public health, and are delivered to licensed solid waste disposal areas."

No plans to close says Harbor Industries' Hosmer

by FRAN MARTIN

Rumors that Harbor Industries plant here (formerly Freedman Artcraft) would close later this month were put to rest last week when Max Hosmer, plant manager, said that an undisclosed number of laid-off employees would be called back.

"We expect to have our best months in August and September with orders from Onieda Silver Co. for display cases for silverware and from the Wallace-Berrie Co. for cases on which Smurf stuffed toys will be displayed. These will be open cases on wheels," he said in answer to questions concerning the company's future here.

The new orders combined with the company's normal production of display cases for records and greeting cards have given the company a boost.

"Though it is only slight, I think things are looking up in our industry. The increase may only be slight but it is better than what we faced in the past. We've had some tough months" Hosmer said.

He went on to say that until Harbor Industries, headquartered in Grand Haven, acquired Freedman's, Harbor Industries was the local plant chief competitor in the display case market. Harbor Industries specialized in metal where Freedman's products were done in wood and plastics. "Now they complement each other" Hosmer said. "With wood, plastics and metal we can be more competitive" he added.

Freedman Artcraft is Charlevoix's oldest industry. It was established here in 1947. Among its first wood products was a wooden propellor for aircraft. Since then it has made display cases for cards and records.

John McGoff

Lake Charlevoix property owners hear McGoff

by DAVE KNIGHT

John P. McGoff, owner of the Bay Queen and other related interests in Charlevoix, attracted a record crowd to the Whiting Park pavillion last Tuesday night for the annual meeting of the Lake Charlevoix Property Owners Association, (LCPOA).

His remarks on the economy, government regulations and plans for his Charlevoix holdings were the featured program of the meeting attended by about 200 LCPOA members and other interested people.

Supporting President Reagan's economic strategy, McGoff laid the blame for the country's current financial plight on the lap of the previous administration saying, "We were at the brink of disaster."

He repeatedly emphasized the importance of resisting the growth of the federal bureacracy.

"No one will solve our problems but us," said McGoff, "If we don't organize ourselves, the government will regulate us."

His three steps to economic recovery included the curtailment of government spending, the lowering of interest rates ans the increase of productivity. Basing his philosophy on the lessons of history, McGoff said, "Our nation's history continues to repeat itself and as citizens we find ourselves trying to solve problems that were solved generations ago."

Addressing the future of his local holdings, McGoff revealed that bids will soon be let for construction of a 195-vessel which will take two years to build and which will be utilized in a fashion similar to the Bay Queen dinner cruise boat. He did not specify where the new boat would dock but said it would be headquartered in Charlevoix.

Support mounting for flight station bid

by DAVE KNIGHT

Local support for a proposal to seek location at the Charlevoix Municipal Airport of a Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) automated flight service station grew last week, though not without some hesitation.

Financial pledges of $2,000 each were made by the City of Charlevoix and the Charlevoix Development Corporation toward the $12,000 estimated cost of submitting an official bid.

Charlevoix Township's Board of Trustees voted 3-1 Monday night to contribute $1,000, half of the amount sought from the township by project coordinator Alvin Ranger. The board added the condition, however, that the legality of the contribution be confirmed before the money is actually released. Checks made previously with the Michigan Township Association counsel indicated that there may be a question as to whether public funds can be used for such a purpose.

At their August 2 meeting, the Charlevoix City Council eventually voted 3-2 to fulfill Ranger's request for $2,000 but not before first tabling the matter and then bringing it up again in the late hours of the meeting.

Ranger will appear Wednesday before the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners to request a pledge of $6,000. The ad hoc committee headed by Ranger to seek the FAA facility has designated the county to be the actual bidding agent.

On July 28, the County Board unanimously passed a resolution "vigorously supporting efforts to bring the FAA flight service station to Charlevoix County."

The Charlevoix County Economic Development Corporation also met last week and lent their solid support to the effort.

The flight service station, used to provide weather and other information to pilots, would entail a 10,000 square-foot building leased to the FAA at an attractive rate for a period of 20 years. The facility would employ about 60 people and generate an annual payroll of up to $1.5 million, according to Ranger.

The major benefit to the county, said Ranger, would be the "multiplier effect" of such a locally based facility. Ranger estimates the multiplier to be from 1.2 to 1.8 which means that for every dollar spent by the FAA and its employees in the area, an additional 20 to 80 cents of income will be generated.

The bid package for the station is due November 1. Thirty-four other cities in Michigan have expressed interest in seeking the facility which will consolidate the FAA service for all Lower Michigan and three UP counties.

Water was flowing last week out of Charlevoix Township's new well but it was not up to the standard of quality desired.

Water, water everywhere

But both city and township are having problems finding a drop to drink

by DAVE KNIGHT

Nowhere in the state does Michigan's nickname of "Water Wonderland" apply more aptly than Charlevoix.

Nestled amid the sparkling, blue waters of two inland lakes and bordered to the west by the second largest of the Great Lakes, Charlevoix would appear to be the last place on earth to experience a water shortage.

But such is the case.

With both the city and township dependant upon underground aquifers instead of the lakes for their water supplies, the two units of local government have found themselves as vulnerable as anywhere else to the pitfalls of municipal groundwater use.

It has been almost one year since the City of Charlevoix detected the presence of the industrial chemical and suspected carcinogen trichloroethylene (TCE) in its water prompting a search for either a new source or added treatment.

The two Charlevoix Township wells serving its north side residents collapsed over a year ago and, after three months of drilling, the water struck last week was clouded and of insufficient flow.

Charlevoix Township supervisor Oscar Stroud summed up the irony of the situation saying, "Detroit has better water than us and they pump right out of the Detroit River."

City has four options

If it is any consolation, the City of Charlevoix is by no means alone in its predicament. TCE, a common industrial degreasing agent, has been found in the water supplies of at least thirteen other cities in Michigan including nearby Petoskey.

The chemical's long term effect on humans is still under study but experiments with rats have shown it to cause cancer when ingested in high levels. Testing in Charlevoix have revealed peak levels of over 50 parts per billion earlier this summer though the most recent tests conducted indicate a drop down to about 28 ppb.

No source has yet been pinpointed. Data from ten test wells drilled at various locations last month has not been received by the city.

To date, health department officials have taken the position that although the TCE levels in Charlevoix do not pose an immediate, serious threat to the public welfare, the chemical's presence in city water is unacceptable. In acknowledgment of that fact, the City Council has authorized a $3,750 comprehensive study to begin soon by David Rommelman of Granger Engineering.

The city's options boil down to four basic choices: it can develop a whole new well system, it can modify the present well with filtration equipment, it can build a conventional treatment plant for lake water or it can explore some "non-traditional" methods of treating lake water.

A treatment plant for lake water is all but out of the question because of the prohibitive expense. Estimates for such a plant range up to $2 million.

There is merit, however, in looking at the possibility of "non-traditional" treatment, according to City Manager Robert Hunt, by which the city could take advantage of its unlimited lake water resource without having to invest in the type of facility that has been neccessary to process lake water in the past.

Filtration has been suggested as the most expedient remedy but its long term economic feasibility is still in question. City officials met as recently as last Thursday with representatives of the Calgon Company to find out more about a filtration system marketed by that firm.

The Calgon GAC (granular activated carbon) filter would require an initial outlay of $150,000 to $250,000 for installation and related work plus an additional $50,000 for a building in which to house it. The building could actually be built after installation but would be neccessary before winter. To operate, inspect and maintain the system would then cost $3,000 to $4,000 per month. The actual filters would be replaced yearly.

Drilling a new well, or wells, is not as simple as it sounds. Because of the health department requirement that a new well must be at least 200 feet from any sanitary sewer, possible locations within the city are few. According to Hunt, the municipal airport is "looking more and more attractive" as a potential site.

Based on an estimate of $402,000 to drill three walls, Hunt has begun the application process to seek a $382,000 HUD Block Grant from state and federal sources. This would be matched with $25,000 from

New shining law now in effect

The new "shining" law signed by Governor Milliken last December 19, 1981, went into effect April 1, 1982. The law will be an effective tool in protecting wildlife from poachers according to Conservation Officer Edgar L. Hall of Petoskey.

"Act 181, P.A. 1981 prohibits the casting of spotlights, headlights or any artificial lights for the purpose of locating wild birds or animals, between the hours of 11 p.m. and 6 a.m. We believe the new legislation will help protect the Michigan deer herd and other wildlife, from illegal hunting, and will also reduce the number of rural residents' complaints about shining on their property," said Hall.

"Act 181, amends the previous law which allowed shining as long as the persons involved were not carrying firearms or other weapons. However, too many poachers were finding ways around that restriction. The number of complaints of shining in rural areas increased."

The new law does not prohibit raccoon hunters from carrying lights during their hunting season. Other exceptions include use of lights by law enforcement officers and utility workers in performance of their jobs.

Individuals who just like to drive around observing wildlife still have that option during the dark hours before 11 p.m. However, they should always make sure there are no firearms in their vehicles.

Sorority raising money for intensive care equipment

A special fund has been established at Charlevoix Area Hospital to raise money for new equipment in the Intensive-Coronary Care Unit, thanks to a donation from the Kappa Sigma Chapter of the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority and the organization's successful House Tour in July.

The local chapter of the sorority presented a check for $1,000 to the hospital, earmarked for the Intensive-Coronary Care Unit (ICCU), last week.

"We see this as seed money. We hope others in the community will join us in donating to this fund, so our ICCU can purchase the equipment it needs, now that it is ten years old," House Tour Chairperson Suzi Reis said.

Mrs. Reis explained the sorority chose Charlevoix Area Hospital's ICCU knowing it was celebrating its tenth anniversary this year. They were aware, she said, that as time goes on replacement equipment purchases become necessary as well as new equipment purchases to keep pace with the fast changing technology of the complex monitoring machinery.

"We chose the hospital's intensive care unit because this is one thing that touches everyone's life in Charlevoix, whether they are natives, seasonal residents or vacationers," Mrs. Reis explained.

Hospital Administrator Richard Krueger said that the hospital was very pleased the sorority had taken the initiative with this project. After meeting with sorority chapter president Eileen Heck, vice president Donna McLain-Moore and Suzi Reis the administrator explained the hospital would use donations earmarked for the Coronary Care Unit Equipment Fund "to maintain the high quality of ICCU equipment." Other donors should make checks payable to Charlevoix Area Hospital with a memo attached if the funds should go to this purpose.

Five Charlevoix homes were open to the public during the sorority sponsored House Tour.

Wellman takes message of Small town America's economy to U.S. Senate

Gordon R. Wellman

The worsening economic plight of "Smalltown America", and that of Charlevoix and Northern Michigan in particular, was recently explained first hand to a U.S. Senate task force in an unusual opportunity offered to local banker Gordon R. Wellman.

Wellman, president of the Charlevoix County State Bank, was included in a selected group of small businessmen from across the country to testify on Thursday, July 22 before the Interest Rate Task Force of the U.S. Senate Democratic Policy Committee.

His message was not an optimistic one.

"I advised them (the senators) that we had already lost some of our business and industry in Northern Michigan and many more were holding on," said Wellman, "Something must be done because if our tourist industry were to sag, even slightly, we would experience serious difficulties."

Wellman expanded on his Capitol Hill experience in a recent WKHQ news conference featuring questions from station owner Tim Moore, news director Robert White, Petoskey News-Review reporter Paula Holmes-Greeley and Charlevoix Courier editor Dave Knight.

Emphasizing the crucial nature of Northern Michigan's economic slump, Wellman said that some area business people are walking such a thin line between success and failure that many may not survive another winter. His testimony before the Senate task force thus reflected the urgent need for relief from the legislature.

"The Congress must act soon to bring the economy out of this lengthy recession," he said, "It is the little people all across the country that are being hurt the most."

Members of the task force before whom Wellman appeared included Senators Henry Jackson of Washington, John Stennis of Mississippi, Paul Sarbanes of Maryland and Bill Bradley of New Jersey. The group is chaired by Michigan Senator Donald Riegle.

It was through Riegle's office that the contacts were made that eventually resulted in Wellman's invitation to testify.

According to Wellman, his distinguished audience was all ears.

"All of the senators attending the hearing seemed genuinely concerned that prompt action is necessary to revitalize our national economy," he said.

What that action should be is a question to which Wellman sees no easy answer. He alluded to the ongoing three-way power struggle involving the Federal Reserve Board, Congress and the White House.

The "Fed's" policy under Chairman Paul Volcker of tightening the money supply to control inflation has been a painful approach to the country's economic problems, said Wellman.

While it has helped decrease inflation, it has also boosted interest rates to a detrimentally high level and if that problem is not addressed soon, said Wellman, "the treatment may kill the patient."

He noted that his bank has sufficient money supplies to serve the area's needs but that the prohibitive cost of borrowing that money has been a crippling hardship to the people and small businesses that need it most.

Wellman had some notable company at the witness table. Joining him in testifying at the hearing were J. C. Turner, president of the International Union of Operating Engineers, C. Fred Bergstrom, Director of the Institute for International Economics and economist Michael Evans. Other witnesses included home builders, real estate developers, manufacturers and job shop owners.

"I was quite flattered in that this was a national committee and I was the only banker represented on the program," said Wellman of the experience, "I knew they had plenty of advice from expert economists and tons of statistics about large metropolitan areas. Therefore, I felt it was my role to advise them that Smalltown America was experiencing the same problems of recession and unemployment as Detroit, New York and Chicago."

When and if interest rates come down, Wellman still does not see immediate relief.

"There will not be an overnight recovery," he said pointing out that the economy of Northern Michigan traditionally lags about one year behind the national trends.

Annual fly-in planned

This is similar to the type of fire engine the Volunteer Firemen would like to purchase.

Fund drive begun for new fire engine; seeks $125,000

The Charlevoix Volunteer Firemen announced this week the start of a fund drive for a new fire engine.

According to project spokesmen Jim Elliott and Doug Bergmann, the goal of the drive will be to raise $125,000 from private sources for the new truck.

At present, the Charlevoix Fire Department has three trucks, the oldest of which is over 40 years old and of not much use.

Of the other two engines, according to Elliot and Bergmann, one is 25 years old and outdated in many respects and the other is 15 years old and in good condition except that it does not have sufficient pumping capacity to protect the business and industrial areas od the city.

At a recent meeting of the Volunteer Fire Department, it was decided unanimously to seek funds for a new engine by sponsoring a fund drive to raise the required $125,000.

To kick off the drive, the volunteers have donated $2,000 from funds raised during the Venetian weekend raffle, to the Fire Engine Fund.

The department is now issuing an appeal to all residents, businesses and industries in the area for donations which are completely tax deductible. Checks can be made payable to the Fire Engine Fund and can be deposited in the Charlevoix County State Bank or delivered to the fire station at City Hall.

Proper receipts will be issued for all cash donations.

Opinion

Knight on the Town
Clarification

by Dave Knight

Many people have gotten the wrong impression from my column last week on Sean Ryan. That is a sign to me that it was poorly written; if I cannot communicate my meaning clearly, I am failing in my job.

Sean Ryan is perhaps the most talented musician to ever perform in this area. He certainly has more fans than I ever will have and for me to stand in judgment of his talents anyway is sort of ridiculous. He is an establishment. I have far to go.

My respect for his gift grows with each performance of his I attend. And, being the community-minded and generous person he is, we have seen him play often lately for nothing more than the satisfaction of helping a good cause.

One of his most recent contributions was to our Venetian Festival. He was not only a judge for the Miss Charlevoix Pageant but also performed what was one of the most touching songs I have ever heard.

With the candidates in their gowns sitting radiantly wating for the final results of the judging, Sean sang an arrangement on the subject of growing up. It started with "Where are you going my little one, little one..."

As the father of a nine-month old daughter, I darn near cried. Later, I talked to the father of one of the contestants who said he had a pretty big lump in his throat, too.'

This is so typical of the warmth of Sean Ryan...and the depth of his feeling.

Perhaps one of the most incredible facets of Sean's act is that he can go from a beautiful, lyric ballad and have people near tears to one of his comic numbers and have them in tears from laughing, all within the span of minutes.

I hope this sets the record straight on my attitude toward Sean.

And that's why I am sorry that some people got the wrong idea from last week's column. The songs I referred to are only a small part of Sean Ryan's repertoire.

The column was written in fun, partially because Sean likes to have fun with his audiences. I was hoping our readers, most of whom I am sure have seen Sean Ryan play, would take it in the same spirit in which Sean's audiences take some of his more mischevious numbers.

I actually thought he might set it to music and include it in his repertoire.

Writing humor, especially when it is subtle or sarcastic, is a hard thing to do. Maybe I need a few lessons. Writing a public apology is even harder. But such are the experiences that make us all better people in the end.

I am not so proud that I cannot admit when I've made a mistake. If our readers got the impression from my column that I thought Sean Ryan has really sold his talent to the devil, that Duffy's of Charlevoix is anything less than one of the area's most hospitable establishments and that I don't like good, old bawdy songs, then I have made the mistake of not communicating clearly.

If you are still puzzled after all this, my advice is to go see Ryan for yourself.

His music is actually quite heavenly.

Clockwise
Word from Florida

DON FEAGAN, a former Ironton resident who moved to Florida 30 years ago, has sent us a clipping from the Orlando (Fla.) Sentinel which apparently has recently concluded a hometown contest in which readers submitted the names of their former communities.

Don thinks it would interest Charlevoixans to know that their community is included in the list — along with such other Michigan towns as Colon, Flint, Kalamazoo, Marshall, Mount Clemens, Owosso, Pinckney and Sault Ste. Marie.

The article under the heading "Your hometowns — Central Florida's roots" lists 150 hometowns of Orlando area residents, including such faraway places as Aruba, Netherlands Antilles; Cananea, Sonora, Mexico; Panama Canal Zone; and Guanzama, Puerto Rico.

"I thought you would be honored to be chosen," Don writes. "I moved to Orlando 30 years ago and have lived in the little cowtown of Kissimmee for 42 years. Our...town has turned into a year-round tourist mecca since the advent of Disney World and all the other 'worlds.'

"I used to live just south of the Ironton Ferry. Please give my best to all. I am still a subscriber to the Courier.

Don's address is 961 Shore Drive, Kissimmee, Fla. 32741.

It's hard to imagine being away from Charlevoix 30 years. I get lonesome for the old town when I'm "snowed out" and have to spend the night in Petoskey.

If Don hasn't been back since 1952, what are the main changes he would notice?

The list is so long I wouldn't know where to start. Probably the French fishing village facades on Bridge Street would catch his eye first, followed by the huge cement manufacturing complex at South Point. After that, our fine crop of condominiums might catch his eye, along with the new steel walls of Pine River Channel.

Beyond that, it's anyone's guess.

THE WATERFRONT Art Fair is coming up Saturday — and if tradition holds, it will be a beautiful, sunny day for artists from across Michigan to display their wares.

Of course, that's not exactly true. We've had some windy art fair days that were less than ideal for displaying canvases in East Park. But I cannot recall a fair that was rained out, despite showers before and after.

But if fair weather remains until Saturday evening, most of our major summer events will be behind us. The one exception is Sidewalk Days which traditionally fall between Venetian Weekend and the Waterfront Fair. This year, however, they have been delayed until Aug. 20 and 21 — so hang onto some spending money to start your Christmas shopping early.

RECENT MILLION-DOLLAR rains have proved a boon on the Charlevoix County farm and garden front. Potato vines at the city gardens that appeared ready to give up the ghost a week ago have been given a new lease on life and are greening up again for a few more days of growth.

Water problems plague both city and township the city which has already been earmarked in the 1982-83 budget.

Township keeps trying

Charlevoix Township's frustration is accurately reflected by its most recent attempt at drilling a new well.

Raymer Well Drilling of Grand Rapids has spent about 12 weeks drilling through alternate levels of clay, limestone and shale. When they hit the limestone at 100 feet, which turned out to be the hardest blue crystal variety, drilling progressed at the tedious rate of about five inches an hour.

Finally last week, water was reached at 260 feet but its quality and rate of flow was not acceptable to Township Supervisor Stroud. In early tests, the water contained too much particulate matter - mostly lime - and would have to be filtered by a silicate screen to be usable. Testing at other depths and other rates of flow, however, may yet turn up more positive results, said Stroud.

The water's chemistry has also yet to be tested and there is no guarantee that it will be completely free of the type of pollutants that plague the city. Though the water table is different from the city's source, the geology and land uses in the area are very similar.

After seven years of use, the township's two north side wells (two other wells on the south side continue to operate without problems) collapsed for an unknown reason over a year ago. Since then, the township has bought city water under an rate arrangement that has recently been questioned by the township.

Stroud says he would also like to study ways of using Lake Michigan water without building a $2 million treatment plant and indicated that a study grant may be the first step.

For the time being, residents of both city and township are no longer taking for granted the resource for which this community is known far and wide.

Being surrounded by water is one thing. Getting it untainted to the tap, we are finding out, is quite another.

Letters: Is investment wise?

OPEN LETTER TO CHARLEVOIX CITY TAXPAYERS

At the August 2nd regular council meeting...a strange thing happened; County Commissioners, ad hoc Committee Chairman, business people and others with various vested interests were in support of the raquest for the City of Charlevoix to lead the way by committing $2,000.00 toward the preparation of a proposal to the Federal Aviation Administration to locate a Flight Service Station on or at Charlevoix airport.

Of course the county would be the bidding unit; however, Cities and Townships within the county would be expected to contribute their share to the overall cost of the project IF awarded to this area!!! Total cost estimated at somewhere around $600,000 (give or take a bundle) upon final agreement terms.

First of all the cost of preparing the proposal is vague...$10,00 to $12,000..."more or less". Secondly we have been assured that of the 34 cities who will possibly bid for the Station to be located in their area, that only a few will submit a professional proposal. Detroit, with its large unemployment problem, I assume would be one of this few. Should the award be made to another area, then the taxpayer's money goes down the drain.

However, should this area receive the award, which by the way the proposal will not seriously be considered unless there is a firm guarantee by the bidder that the money to finance the entire project is available. Just what is entailed is also vague as at the Council meeting there was only two copies of the entire Governmental requirements of which most had never had a chance to study in any detail. The promise of a clean, high-tech operation which would possibly afford jobs and added revenues to the businesses of the area seems to be the primary selling feature of this project.

HOW MAY JOBS? Again a vague 100 to 125 with 60 supervisor or HIGH TECHNOLOGY positions being filled by relocated F.A.A. personnel. Opportunities for local people would of course be limited to those who received the required education and specialized training and who pass the required Civil Service tests. However, the filling of these available positions can not be limited to local applicants as that would be discriminatory hiring!

How much added revune would be available to each participating member of the consortium? This also is not known! The County would be the primary beneficiary regardless of where new people decided to locate.

NOW AS TO OVERALL COST...considering this operation is primarily computerized...requiring 10,000 square feet of building with temperature, humidity and dust control. Land must be provided for building and parking facilities. The $600,000 price tag is also ambiguous as the total cost to comply with Governmental requirements will not be known until the proposal is finalized.

HOWEVER, rest assured it will not be cheap! What is the Government's commitment to all of this? A one year lease POSSIBLY reviewable for up to 20 years with added requirements for periodic up grading and maintenance (over and above initial cost). NOW you may ask...how is all of this to be accomplished...specifically how is it to be financed? Naturally by the property owner through increased City, Township and County taxation. ALSO, we must ask the question as to what benefits will be derived by the fixed income taxpayer or others unrelated to business interests? THE ANSWER IS NOTHING! except a higher tax base.

I am not against responsible improvement to the City or County in general. However, I am against any "pie in the sky" proposal which is engendered without adequate investigation and due consideration. If we can not meet our City budget, how can we constantly find money for City development schemes which are based upon making a U.S. Highway a one way street or this proposal which in the long run appears to be another waste of tax payer dollars.

Now as to the strange thing which happened! After approximately 1½ hours (one hour and 24 minutes to be exact), the Council still was absolutely uncertain as to the best interest of the people of the City of Charlevoix and the whole matter was tabled. Strange as it may seem...after the balance of the agenda was completed including consideration of paying bills and the Council was within one minute of adjourning...the subject of the Automated Flight Station was regurgitated. At this time (approximately 11:03 p.m.) the public was approximately ½ dozen hardy souls. Where upon a motion was made, seconded and passed by a 3 to 2 vote (Olach absent) to go ahead with the scheme and initially spend the $2,000 with as the Mayor put it "the assumption that we (the City of Charlevoix) will win the award.

IF SO...WHAT NEXT?!
Paul O. Burlew

Lauds band

Dear Mr. Knight:

Let's hear three cheers for the Stroh Highland Pipe Band. From most folks I've talked with in the past week they were a tremendous hit at our Venetian Festival.

I'm sure most of us saw them in the parade, or at one of the two performances they put on in East Park. But I wonder if everyone knows that these guys performed nearly constantly from 10 AM Saturday morning of Venetian till midnight or 1 AM, either along the sidewalks, the docks, or the many restaurants or taverns in town.

As featured in your story about them in the July 21st Courier, the band members hold down full time jobs, yet travel the country on weekends to entertain, their only compensation being a donation by the Stroh Brewery Company to the Shrine Crippled Childrens Fund.

And let's not forget the Stroh Brewery Company, and their distributors, Petoskey Beverage Company for their part in bringing this fine band to our little town. In just estimating the cost of transportation, meals and lodging for the group, the tab is close to $5,000.00, which is a pretty fine contribution to our festival and our economy.

Let's hope they enjoyed our welcome as much as we did their performances so they'll want to return year after year,
Peter Pace

Parents concerned about cutting three sports

these sports were those a person could always play; that it gives more students an opportunity to compete; that not every student is capable of playing on such teams as football, basketball or the other sports offered; that every student should be given an opportunity to do "his own thing".

Those present were advised, in answer to their question, that seven schools in the conference presently offer golf, six skiing and three tennis.

Many other arguments were presented for keeping the sports in the school and one person offered "why not cut out all sports?"

Steven Smith, Doris Pearl, Kenneth Boss and Smith, as well as Van-Guilder, presented the board's reasoning behind its decision and defended the extra-curricular committee's stand.

No decisions were made. Members of the extra-curricular committee, however, said the suggestions offered by the group would be taken under consideration.

McGoff addresses L.C.P.O.A. annual meeting

As for the Finn Lumber property recently purchased by McGoff, he said he would be meeting with City of Charlevoix officials to determine how any future development would best fit the city's master plan which is currently under development.

"I understand the master plan is very good," said McGoff, "If its suggestions make sense, I will go with it."

The master plan proposals presented to council three weeks ago called for a hotel-conference center development on the property.

To the question of whether Lake Charlevoix is in danger of being over-commercialized by the Bay Queen and other operations, McGoff said, "There is always that possibility. You can't avoid it. Where, there, is commercialization, there is usually over-commercialization."

He pointed to the success of the Bay Queen as being beneficial in a general sense to the area and added that business on the dinner cruises is up 22 percent this season.

Wedding

Boss-Priess

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Priess

The garden of her parents' home was the setting for the marriage of Diane Marie Boss to Dennis Priess on Saturday afternoon, July 31.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale E. Boss of Charlevoix, and the bridegroom is the son of the Reverend and Mrs. E. Priess of Booneville, Missouri.

The Reverend Priess performed the double-ring ceremony before approximately 350 guests. For the occasion, the Boss garden was laden with flowers. Summer flowers surrounded a bridge-covered pond with a waterwheel. The bridal arch was decorated with pink and white roses and ivy, and matching plant stands held wicker baskets with arrangements of pink and white summer flowers. The floral arrangements were created by Dee Janz.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white Victorian gown featuring a high neckline, fitted waist, and sheer Bishop sleeves. Delicate satin ribbon accented the neckline, sleeves, and waist. A deep V-shaped lace ruffle on the bodice and the ruffled flounce at the hemline were also trimmed with satin ribbon.

The bride's headpiece was a picture hat with attached veil adorned with lace and tiny pink and white silk flowers which she designed and made. Her bridal bouquet consisted of miniature pink roses, lillies of the valley, Chinese silk flowers, and baby's breath.

Laura Staublin served as maid of honor. Three sisters of the bride – Kathy Castelein, Sharon Elzinga, and Pam Beatty – served as bridesmaids, in addition to her sister-in-law, Debbie Boss, and Cindy Streur.

The attendants' costumes were similar to the bride's gown, fashioned from a pink and white rosebud print fabric in a Victorian style. They were made by Pam Beatty. The attendants carried bouquets of miniature pink roses, lillies of the valley, and baby's breath, with pink satin streamers. They wore arrangements of pink roses and baby's breath in their hair.

Rachael Streur was the flower girl. She wore a dress of white satin with a ruffled scooped neckline, fitted waist, and ruffled flounce at the hemline. A lace apron overlay with a pink sash was attached at the waist. Pink and white barretts secured tiny flowers in her hair. Caleb Streur was the ringbearer.

Dwight Boss, an uncle of the bride, served as best man. The bride's two brothers, Bo and Jim Boss, served as groomsmen, along with Paul Preisinger and Steve Ewert, brothers-in law of the bridegroom, and Bill Streur.

Two brothers-in-law of the bride, Rob Castelein and Lane Beatty, were ushers.

Contemporary music for the marriage ceremony was furnished by organist and soloist Gina Mitchell, who sang "The Theme from Ice Castles" and "We Are One in the Bond of Love".

Following the ceremony, the bride's parents hosted a dinner reception at their home. Activities included swimming and games, and Jimmy Boggs provided dinner music. Dean and Pauline Boss, uncle and aunt of the bride, acted as master and mistress of ceremonies; Linda Boocher was in charge of the guest book; Joyce Boss, an aunt of the bride, served the wedding cake; the Reverend and Mrs. James Terry, uncle and aunt of the bride, served the coffee; and David Terry, Jennifer Terry, and Melissa Boss, cousins of the bride, were in charge of popcorn and pop.

The rehearsal dinner was held Friday evening at the home of Dwight Boss, hosted by Reverend and Mrs. Priess.

Later in the year, the newlyweds will take a trip to Hawaii. They are presently at home on the Marion Center Road. The bride is a teacher at the Charlevoix Elementary School, and the bridegroom is employed by the Northern Michigan Substance Abuse Service in Gaylord.

Voisin to seek 11th crown at Marathon Nationals comingup

Ten-time national champion Don Voisin of Charlevoix will be out to seek an eleventh crown Saturday and Sunday, August 14 and 15 when the Stock Outboard Marathon National Championship races are held on Northern Michigan's Inland Waterway.

The 41-mile course starts at the Inland House on Crooked Lake in Conway and winds its way eventually to Mullet Lake via the Crooked River, Burt Lake and Indian River. It is a loop-type course in which racers turn around at Mullet Lake and head back to the starting area.

Voisin will be racing in Class "D", one of several classes featured in the championships including "A", "B", "C", "35 SS", "25 SS", "15 SS" and "20 SS". Classes are determined by the boats' length, weight and engine size.

Voisin expects from 75 to 100 racers from all over the country to participate in the Nationals. A native of the Cheboygan-Mullet Lake area, Voisin is the defending Marathon National champion. The race is returning to Northern Michigan after a two-year absence.

Issuing an invitation to all area people interested in attending the races, Voisin said one of the advantages of the local course is its accessibility to observers.

"There are hundreds of spots from which people can watch the racing but the best locations are probably along the rivers," he said.

With some boats heading out and faster ones coming back, the two-way traffic makes for some exciting action, added Voisin whose own boat is capable of reaching speeds up to 65 miles an hour.

"Sometimes the only way I can tell if another boat is coming around a bend is to watch the people along the bank," said Voisin, "If I am heading downriver and they are looking upriver, then I know there is an oncoming boat."

The start at Inland House is a LeMans-type start in which, at the gun, racers run to their boats on shore, start their engines and head out. There will be up to 30 boats involved in each race.

The Marathon Nationals are sponsored by the Top O' Michigan Outboard Racing Club. Additional financial support this year was donated by Huron Distributing (Budweiser) of Cheboygan.

Racing starts at 1 p.m. on both Saturday and Sunday.

Yachting Notes

Who knows what evil lurks in the heart of man? the SHADOW does...

"That SLY BANDIT, MELVIN, was TIRELESS in making its NIGHT MOVES on the ELUSIVE MARANATHA. When, during a LULL, he recognized the SPECTRE of the FOXY LADY through the CAMOUFLAGE, his plan began to function like CLOCKWORK. KAGAN told BABE to pull the TIGGER (Oh no...) but "FAT CHANCE" was CHEEMAUN's response, as he yelled "(MUD) DUCK" to TEGI and NALICAJI who were in the APOTHECARY.

After all the RAZZMATAZZ, they sailed into the CRAMPT QUARTERS of WIN HAVEN as MAX had an OBSESSION for a HUMMER topped with COOLWHIP. (SAN SUE)SHE had a SWALLOW of MINT JULEP, as they watched the YELLOW BIRD and the CYGNUS on PHONECIA pond while enjoying the SEASCAPE and listening to the WINDSONG accompanied by an occasional 'RIBIT, RIBIT, RIBIT'."

Now 38 of you who say you never are mentioned herein can rest easy. Apologies to PEREGRINE (couldn't fit), INDOOROOPHILLY (see last week) and BLAZEN (can't translate in a family newspaper) but most of all, to the poor reader...promise we'll never do it again.

I'm impressed; now 41 yachts sailing regularly (all listed or apologized to above) plus 5 or 6 semi-regular! Assume an average of 4 per vessel (probably low) that's close to 200 solid citizens out there each week. Almost time for a sail-in fast beer shop at one of the marks.

Portsmouth Fleet..."Shadow" by a mile over the entire fleet (darn that 10 min. head start) followed by "Seascape", "Cheemaun", "Lull" and "Nalicaji".

The others...Overall "Hummer" by a bunch, "Indooroophilly", by 10 seconds under "Peregrine", 16 under "Camouflage" followed just 6 seconds later by "Swallow".

PHRF - "Hummer", "Peregrine" and "Camouflage".

P-26 - "Fosy Lady" (how about that!), "Tireless" and "Blazen III".

S-525 - "Indooroophilly", "Razzmatazz", and "Bandit".

Good thing the Starting Line was out of ear shot from shore; everybody read that column of mine about starting in the same place and tried it! The air was blue, the flags were red, the LOBO's howl filled all with dread. (He cut a Big Row through the fleet).

Medusa vs. Kwikie in womens finals

Medusa will square off against Kwikie Duplicating at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the finals of the double elimination tournament that will close out the season in the Charlevoix Women's League.

Medusa had reached the finals by sending Townhouse to the loser's bracket by a score of 12-1 in action early in the tournament.

Kwikie had made it through the loser's bracket by knocking off Townhouse by a score of 15-3 on Thursday night behind the pitching of Lisa Hilton who had held Townhouse to eight hits. Sue Barta, the losing pitcher, had given up 15 hits.

Earlier Thursday, Kwikie had won by forfeit over Michigan National Bank North.

The tournament opened with Kwikie Duplicating defeating Erber Auto 22-0; Medusa shutting out Charlevoix Hospital 15-0; Michigan National Bank North winning over Paul Bunyan Lanes 13-8 and Townhouse, making its first appearance in the tournament, winning over Michigan National Bank North 21-5.

In the next rounds of play, Medusa tripped up Kwikie Duplicating 7-5 and then defeated Townhouse 12-1.

County solid waste plan ready for hearing

Charlevoix County does not have a "licensed solid waste disposal area", and the County committee which wrote the Solid Waste Disposal plan wrestled hard and long to devise a means of solid waste disposal that would meet Act 641 specifications yet not bankrupt all the cities and townships in the County.

The best the Solid Waste Planning Committee could do still left governmental units with prospects of spending several hundred thousands of dollars for facilities to get rid of their solid waste.

But will the County and or the cities and townships have to pay for the facilities mandated under Act 641?

The Michigan Court of Appeals recently ruled that, as of now, they do not, because of the Headlee Amendment.

In the case of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (the enforcement agency for Act 641) against Delta County and several cities and townships within the County, the Appeals Court upheld the decision of the Circuit Court of Delta County, which, in part, said:

"Until monies are disbursed by the State to pay for the same, (this injunction) shall prohibit (1) The collection of fees provided by Act 641, (2) The necessity for posting a surety bond, (3) The enforcement of any of the 31 conditions which have been used as guidelines in issuing permits under Act 641."

However, it was stated this does not mean Delta County or any of its subdivisions can pollute or contaminate the surface or ground waters.

It was estimated that the cost of a landfill in Delta County built under Act 641 specifications could be as much as $400,000 more than under the previous law.

County Planner Lawrence Sullivan, under whose guidance the Charlevoix County Solid Waste Disposal plan was written, believes the DNR will take the matter to the Michigan Supreme Court, and if ruled against there, Act 641 will be re-written.

"Removing the phrase which says the County and municipalities are responsible for the disposal of solid waste would solve a lot of problems," Sullivan says.

"They also may ease up on landfill closure procedures and go back to previous closure procedures practiced before the Headlee Amendment went into effect, so the State will not have to pay."

Sullivan does not think the Appeals Court decision will hinder consideration of the County Solid Waste Disposal plan by County and municipal officials.

School board acts on staff changes, strengthening curriculum

by FRAN MARTIN

Staff changes, the need to strengthen the math-science curriculum, the appointment of committees for 1982-83 and the attendance of a delegation of parents questioning the dropping of three sports highlighted the regular meeting of the Charlevoix Board of Education Monday night, August 2.

Supt. Gordon W. VanWieren told the board that an anticipated decline of approximately 30 students would be expected in the enrollment at the high school that was 539 students at the close of the school year. He advised that with the request for a year's leave by Sandra Fassett, her classes would be taken over by Doris Robinson and Barry Anderson and that other teachers would be taking over additional classes as reassignments were made in some areas. James Jinsky has been reassigned to the middle school to teach science. He added that with the declining enrollment, it was difficult to keep the same number of classes.

David Smith, principal of the middle school, said that Kathy Gowell was going from his school to the elementary school as a half-time teacher at her request. He also said be was anticipating approximately 20 more students but added that the school would suffer a sharp decline when the present eighth grade goes to the high school next year.

Ralph Rayer, elementary school principal, said that with a decline in kindergarten enrollment and other anticipated changed he expected the enrollment to drop from 560 to 530 students.

With Mrs. Fassett leaving the school system, an Adult Education Director is being sought Mr. VanWieren said. Mrs. Fassett had been in charge of the program for several years.

Mrs. Doris Paarl reported that the roof project at the high school is well underway. Renovations in anticipation of insulating the building are nearing completion, she reported, and lights in the rooms will be installed and the company installing the insulation will complete its work this week. The steel for the building is to arrive next week and the roofers are expected by Aug. 6.

Mr. VanWieren addressed the area of math and science, the need to strengthen the area so that Charlevoix graduates would be able to compete when they continued on to college and the difficulty of getting good teachers in these subjects. Industry is taking these college graduates and those who planned to go into teaching are often deserting the profession for industry be said. He added that the shortage may mean in-service for present teachers or retraining them in order to have teachers to head the classes. He said it was also important for parents to encourage their students to enroll in these classes instead of easier classes to keep their point average up. He suggested adult education classes to teach parents regarding high school scheduling.

The election of members to the board of the Michigan Asociation of School Board was discussed. Novak was appointed to head a committee of his chosing to vote for members.

The need for a policy relating to fund-raising projects by students was discussed briefly. A policy will be drawn up and adopted at a later meeting.

A delegation of approximately 15 parents and two coaches were present to question why golf, skiing and tennis were dropped from the list of school sports. Following a 45 minute discussion during which those present aired their views, it was decided that those present appoint a committee to meet with the extra-curricular committee to discuss the issue further.

Charlevoix Council Minutes

AUGUST 2, 1982
8:00 P.M.

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date and time with Mayor Staley presiding.

Present: Councilmembers Wood, Block, Porter, Timms, and Roloff. Absent: Councilman Olach.

The Minutes of the July 19, 1982 regular meeting were approved as presented in writing and as recorded in the Council Minutes Book.

The City Manager outlined a proposed permanent Amendment to the City Zoning Ordinance which would create a Motel Hotel Zoning Classification in the City and the changes in the Amendment from its adoption in emergency form as recommended by a joint session of the Council and the City Planning Commission on July 26, 1982. Councilwoman Roloff asked that the revised ordinance be returned to the Planning Commission for their review of its final form as requested by Planning Commission Member Fels. June Cross representing the Planning Commission, stated she felt the majority of the Commission had agreed to the changes at the joint session.

The following Ordinance was offered and moved for its adoption by Councilman Porter and supported by Councilman Timms.

(See Ordinance No. 408 published elsewhere in this edition of the Courier)

Ordinance was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Wood, Block, Porter, Timms, and Roloff. Nays: None. Absent: Councilman Olach.

The following Resolution was offered and moved for its adoption by Councilman Porter and supported by Councilman Wood.

(See Resolution No. 82-8-1 published elsewhere in this edition of the Courier.)

Resolution was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Wood, Block, Porter, and Timms. Nays: Councilwoman Roloff. Absent: Councilman Olach.

Alvin Ranger appeared before Council to request $2,000 in City financial support toward the preparation of a proposal to the FAA to locate an automated flight service station at the City Airport. He stated that the Charlevoix Economic Development Corporation had already pledged $2,000 to the project and that he would be meeting with the Charlevoix Township Board and the County Board of Commissioners to ask for pledges of $2,000 and $6,000 respectively. He further stated that the entire project would die for lack of support if all contributors do not agree to pledge the requested amount. Mr. Ranger pointed out that the site for the flight service station would be selected by a bidding process and that the initial funding would be a gamble but potential economic impact on the Charlevoix area could be enormous as the annual payroll for approximately 80 persons scheduled to be employed at the flight service station would be over two million dollars. Council and members of the General Public present discussed the matter at length with Councilmembers expressing concern regarding the City's long range financial commitment involved in providing a facility for the flight service station if the Charlevoix site is selected. As no motion was presented at this time, the matter was tabled.

Council generally agreed to donate a season ticket at the Municipal Golf Course, a season ticket at Mt. McSauba Ski Hill, a week of dockage at the City Marina, and a week at Mt. McSauba Day Camp for one child to the Keep Charlevoix Beautiful organization Operation Petunia Auction.

The City Manager asked Council for clarification of their policy regarding Commercial enterprises in East Park. Council generally agreed that no commercial operation shall be allowed in any City park downtown. Council also advised the City Clerk that solicitors for locally recognized religious, civic, and charitable organizations will be allowed to operate downtown but that such organizations must conform with the City Resolution 82-7-2 banning operation of roadside stands and temporary businesses within 100 feet of Bridge Street and Michigan Avenue from Hurlbut Street to Dixon Avenue.

Moerland, Smith win Chx. area County Board primaries

by PEG OHLE

The six-man Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners which will take office next January will consist of five incumbents and one newcomer.

Five Republican incumbents survived last week's Primary Election, as did two Democrat incumbents who had no opposition, so the General Election in November will see only two contests, with incumbents facing each other in both contests.

In District 1 (Hayes, Bay, Evangeline, and Melrose Townships), Republican incumbent Larry Matthew had no opposition but received 286 votes. There were no Democrat candidates.

In District 2 (Boyne Valley, Chandler, Hudson, Wilson, and eastern Eveline Townships), Republican incumbent Martin Bieganowski outpolled two newcomer opponents, Tom Kondrat and Karl Waldner. The vote was Bieganowski, 130; Kondrat, 76; and Waldner, 32. Incumbent Democrat Ralph Harmon ran unopposed and will face Bieganowski in November.

In District 3 (Boyne City), Republican incumbents Marvin Loding, Oral Sutliff, and Casimir Toton, and Republican newcomer William Underhill squared off against each other, with Sutliff emerging the winner. The vote was Sutliff, 99; Loding, 76; Toton, 43; and Underhill, 27. There were no Democrat candidates.

In District 4 (East Jordan and South Arm Township), Republican incumbents Thomas Breakey and Delbert Ingalls opposed each other. Breakey, with 174 votes, was the winner against Ingalls and his 143 votes. There were no Democrat candidates.

In District 5 (western Eveline, Marion, Norwood, Charlevoix, Peaine and St. James Townships), two Republican newcomers, Donald Smith and William Sherman, challenged Republican incumbent Clyde Cunningham. Smith, with 373 votes won the contest, the only newcomer to unseat an incumbent. Sherman received 158 votes and Cunningham 132 votes. There were no Democrat candidates.

In District 6 (City of Charlevoix), Republican Incumbent Lee Moerland was challenged by Republican newcomers Jeffrey Porter and Drew Young. Moerland was the winner with 314 votes. Porter received 215 votes, and Young received 55 votes. Moerland will face Democrat incumbent Oscar Ward in November. Ward had no opposition in the Primaries.

The new County Board, which will serve from January 1, 1983 through December 31, 1984, will be the first six-man Board to serve the County. Last spring, through reapportionment which created fewer districts, the number was cut from 15.

Weathervane expansion site plan sent back to city planners

by DAVE KNIGHT

Plans to expand the Weathervane Terrace motel will be taken up next week by both the Planning Commission and the City Council following Monday night's council meeting at which developer Richard Georgi was told to modify the building design from two stories to three.

Thirty-six additional motel units in a two-story structure were featured in the site plan presented by Georgi for council approval. The site plan also designated parking for 15 cars in front of the units facing West Dixon Ave.

Council member Jeffrey Porter objected to that parking scheme saying it would result in the paving over of too much area now covered by grass along W. Dixon. Georgi pointed out that plans call for the use of "paver blocks" which, he said, had the appearance of real grass.

Georgi told the council that he was willing to modify the site plan by adding another story, thus allowing for more parking area on the interior of the lot which is just north of the existing Weathervane motel units. He added, however, that approval for either a two-story or three-story structure would have to be forthcoming soon to accomodate building plans for this fall.

A motion by council member Clement Olach to force Georgi to comply with recently developed motel-hotel zoning requirements failed for lack of support.

Said Porter, "They (the developers) have been working on this project for five years. It is unfair to change the rules for them now."

Georgi agreed saying there was no way the project could be done under the new zoning requirements. Council instructed Georgi and architect Jack Begrow to address the points of greenery preservation, on-site drainage, parking and screening. The Planning Commission will take up a revised site plan at their 5:30 p.m. meeting Monday, August 23 and council is expected to then take up the matter at their work session later that evening.

In other action, the council:

-Amended the city code to allow for regulation of garbage collection fees and passed a resolution setting a license fee of $10 for any new refuse haulers and a $25 minimum charge for hauling by the city of refuse left on the public right-of-way.

-Deleted all provisions of the city code on regulation of taxi cabs.

-Appointed James Willis to a three-year term on the Recreation Commission.

Voters say no to county transit system

by PEG OHLE

Charlevoix County voters decided last week by a vote of 1,799 to 1,332 that they didn't want to pay millage to support the green buses of the Charlevoix County Transit System.

The ballot proposition as presented to the voters called for a millage levy of .29 mills for the next three years to make up the difference between Federal and State funding and cost of operation.

The System began operation in the summer of 1980 fully subsidized by Federal and State monies. Beginning on August 1 of this year, the funding was cut to 75 percent, and on August 1 of next year, the funding is scheduled to be cut to 50 percent. To tide the System over until the referendum vote could be taken, the County Board of Commissioners last March appropriated $8,500 from the gewneral fund. That will be spent by January 1, and unless new State legislation provides more money, the Charlevoix County Transit System will go out of business.

Voting returns indicate that lack of support for the Transit System was County-wide, with only five of the 23 precincts showing more "yes" than "no" votes. The greatest support for the System came from Boyne City, where the System is headquartered. The vote there was 95 yes and 53 no in the first precinct and 114 yes and 81 no in the second precinct. Evangeline Township, which adjoins Boyne City, voted for the Transit System, 60 to 35. Another adjoining township, eastern Eveline, also supported the System, 85 to 78. The remaining support came from the second precinct of Charlevoix, in which the senior citizens housing development, Pine River Place, is located. The vote there was 115 yes and 93 no. In other precincts, the voting went:

Bay Township, 45 yes and 80 no; Hayes Township, 43 yes and 82 no; Melrose Township, 29 yes and 50 no; Boyne Valley Township, 52 yes and 95 no; Chandler Township, two yes and 18 no; Hudson Township, 33 yes and 53 no; Wilson Township, 49 yes and 95 no; East Jordan, first precinct, 60 yes and 73 no; second precinct, 61 yes and 65 no; third precinct, 79 yes and 91 no.

South Arm Township, 51 yes and 88 no; Charlevoix Township, 94 yes and 149 no; western Eveline Township, 63 yes and 75 no; Marion Township, 57 yes and 102 no; Norwood Township, 30 yes and 62 no; Peaine Township, 4 yes and 46 no; St. James Township, 13 yes and 49 no; (It should be noted that the Transit System provides no service for either Peaine or St. James Township on Beaver Island).

Charlevoix, first precinct, 61 yes and 120 no; third precinct, 99 yes and 108 no.

County Commissioner Lee Moerland, who proposed the $8,500 appropriation to the Transit System last March, said after last week's vote that, as far as he knew, there were no plans for another Transit System millage vote. In fact, the defeat of the millage was not mentioned at the Commissioners' meeting.

The Roen Co. crane drags the beached sailboat into deeper water.

Grounded sailboat recovered

by DAVE KNIGHT

Heavy seas and disorientation led to the grounding in Lake Michigan south of Charlevoix on Monday night, August 9, of the Sally, a 40-foot Bristol sailboat from Chicago with three aboard.

The Sally ran aground just yards off the shorelide of the Clipperview subdivision south of Charlevoix.

The Charlevoix Coast Guard rescue station received a distress call at 11:10 p.m. from the vessel which had run aground on rocks only thirty yards off the surf at the Clipperview subdivision.

Owners of the boat, Mr. and Mrs. George Billhorn, and crew member David Williams apparently thought they were north of Charlevoix and in deep water when the boat hit. Seas of six to eight feet and northwest winds of up to 20 knots contributed to the beaching of the boat.

The Coast Guard dispatched its 44-foot rescue boat after receiving the distress signal but it could not approach the grounded sailboat in the shallow water. A Coast Guard vehicle was sent by land and rescuers were able to wade to the Sally with a line to help the three people off.

The Billhorns and Williams were evacuated from the boat at about 1:45 a.m. with no injuries reported.

Salvage efforts by the Irish Boat Shop commenced on Friday and involved the use of the Roen Salvage Company's barge and crane which has been working the past year on the Charlevoix pierheads for the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

After tipping the Sally toward the lake and temporarily patching the damage done to the hull, the crane was used to haul the craft into deeper water where it was floated and eventually towed to Irish Boat Shop.

Irish's Cliff Biddick reported this week that work on the hull was underway and that the Sally is expected to be completely repaired.

School board restores high school golf, tennis and skiing

by FRAN MARTIN

The Charlevoix Board of Education, after hearing the recommendation of the Recreation and Extra-curricular committee, voted to return golf, skiing and tennis to the list of sports offered at Charlevoix High School.

However, coaching assignments will be reviewed now and again at the close of the season. In giving her approval to the recommendation, Mrs. Doris Pearl said that since these sports were those that participants will enjoy into adulthood, she felt they should be made available to all students.

Mike Bonello, former ski coach, said that if the school chose to go this route, he was sure there were people who would contribute equipment and time to teach the students. Arthur Ranger also said that willing people could be approached to help the programs.

In other action, the board certified the tax levy for 1982, adopted a policy regarding solicitation by students, granted a leave of abscence and accepted bids for several projects.

The tax levy for 1982 as set by the board will be a total of 27 mills including 9.10 mills allocated, 16.15 mills voted for operation, .50 mills for public library operation, .40 mills for 1959 debt retirement, .55 mills for 1968 debt retirement and .30 mills for 1979 debt retirement.

The policy relating to student solicitation spells out the course each group must take to conduct a fund drive. The purpose of the fund drive must be explained to both students and their parents, must benefit the students enrolled in the school and the profits used to enhance school programs by providing money for expeditures not currently funded by the school district.

The request by Tori Fisher for a two-month leave of abscence without pay or benefits was granted.

Ardeth Wieland of the board was named by President Max Novak to represent the Board of Education on the Char-Em Intermediate School Board executive committee.

A number of bids were awarded. Among them was one for the work on a 60 by 170-foot area at the bus parking lot. The bid was awarded to Manthei Development Corp. whose bid was for $2,798, the lowest of four bids received.

The insurance bid was awarded to the Charlevoix Agency whose bid was $17,735, the lowest of three received.

Glaucoma screening clinic to be here

One out of every 50 Americans has glaucoma and doesn't know it. In an effort to detect glaucoma in its early stages, two free glaucoma screening clinics have been slated for Charlevoix August 18 and 19.

According to the National Society to Prevent Blindness, glaucoma is one of the leading causes of blindness. If glaucoma is detected in its early stages, however, the malady can be stayed and blindness prevented.

The clinics are sponsored free to the public by Christian Record Braille Foundation of Lincoln, Nebraska. Glaucoma screening is just one of the services offered through this organization that has been serving blind persons since 1899.

The clinic in Charlevoix is slated for the Oleson Shopping Center. It will run from 10 to 7 p.m. Wendell Carpenter, Christian Record's coordinator of reading services, will conduct the clinics.

Information about screening can be obtained by contacting Mrs. Lloyd Kuebler at Route 3, Box 302 Charlevoix or by calling (616) 547-2752.

Christian Record is a non-profit organization supported from gifts from the general public. Services are offered to the visually-impaired regardless of race, creed or economic status.

County Board reluctantly grants $2,000 for flight station bid

by PEG OHLE

Members of The Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners were not over-enthusiastic last week when asked to approrpriate funds to seek location of a Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) flight service station at the Charlevoix Airport.

Alvin Ranger, chairman of an ad hoc committee trying to raise funds to prepare a proposal to the FAA, appeared before the County Board to explain the financing proposition and report on funds already received.

Ranger indicated that the Charlevoix Development Corporation and the City of Charlevoix had each pledged $2,000 and Charlevoix Township had pledged $1,000 (although the original request to the Township had been for $2,000). With a budget not to exceed $12,000 for the project, the County was asked for $7,000 to make up the difference.

A resolution appropriating $7,000 was read by Commissioner John Haggard, another member of the ad hoc committee, but before a vote was taken, several questions from Board members indicated it might not pass, so a recess was called for a "conference" with the Ways & Means Committee.

At the end of the conference, a new resolution requesting "$2,000 initially" was presented and passed, with Commissioners Oscar Ward, Delbert Ingalls, and Larry Matthew voting against it. Matthew explained his vote by saying he couldn't "bring myself to spend public money on a gamble".

Several other communities throughout Michigan are working to bring the flight station to their environs, including Emmet County. Estimates are that the facility would employ about 60 people and generate an annual payroll of up to $1.5 million.

Gallagher, Gels, Tollas to present program

A program of romantic music will be presented at 8 p.m. Monday, August 23 at the Community Reformed Church in Charlevoix by clarinetist Mark Gallagher, soprano Fran Tollas and pianist Carol Gels.

Works of composers Schumann, Brahms, Chopin and Spohn will be featured.

Gallagher, a Charlevoix native, is a graduate of the Interlochen Arts Academy and studied with Frank Kowalsky. He received a Bachelor of Music degree in clarinet from the Oberlin Conservatory of Music and will begin study towards a Masters degree this fall at the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, New York.

Mrs. Gels is a student of Flavio Varani, artist in residence at Oakland University, and has been enrolled at the Bay View Conservatory for the past two summers. She has also attended several special piano workshops.

Mrs. Tollas is presently studying at the National Music Camp with Beverly Rinaldi of the University of Michigan. She is also working with Kelly Hale at Bay View on an artist-apprenticeship program, a program supported by the State of Michigan through funds fro artist services, Michigan Council for the Arts.

County Extension to hold canning and freezing demonstration

The Charlevoix County Cooperative Extension Service will be offering a free, hands-on canning and freezing demonstration, Wednesday, August 25, from 7 pm to 9 pm, at the Boyne City Hall auditorium.

Sheri Rhoads, Extension Home Economist, will talk about pressure canning versus water bath canning, high-acid versus low-acid foods, and cover the basics of blanching and freezing vegetables.

Participants will learn-by-doing, have questions answered, and become acquainted with modern methods of food preservation.

If private or community groups of ten to 15 persons are interested, Ms. Rhoads will go to their home or community center and do a similar lesson.

Space is limited for the August 25 class so please call the Charlevoix County Extension Office to register at 582-6232 by August 24. Be confident that your preserved foods are safe, healthy and wholesome!

Township hears views on model home

A proposal to establish a "teaching family model home" on Old U.S. 31 fashioned after Father Flanigan's Boys Town was aired Monday night, August 9 at the Charlevoix Township Board meeting.

According to Alexis Kaczynski, associate director of the Northern Michigan Community Mental Health Board, the home would house up to six boys, ages seven to 17, who would be supervised by a specially trained husband and wife team. Boys selected for the program would have emotional difficulties or troubled family backgrounds and would be chosen by the mental health board to participate.

After presentation of a movie on the model home concept, property owners in the neighborhood of the proposed home voiced objection to the idea.

Those opposing the establishment of the home included Larry Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Loudenslager and Robert Mousseau.

Mrs. Marie Rabach questioned the starting of a new program while the Bergmann Center and its exsiting program is facing financiel difficulties.

In regular session the board:

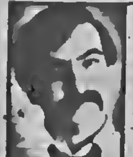
Opinion



Knight on the Town

Potential problems

by Dave Knight

One of the reasons Charlevoix enjoys the reputation of being a unique resort community is that, over the years, its people have had the foresight to control certain trends which, had they been allowed to continue, would have made this just another tourist trap.

This is why the city's recently stengthened policy to control street vendors was a good move.

When these types of operations are attractively designed, perform a legitimate service and are located so they don't disrupt pedestrian traffic, they can be a nice addition to the summer scene.

If allowed to proliferate, however, with no restraint other than how much business the market will bear, the street businesses would mean trouble.

A downtown cluttered with all sorts of carts, transient merchants and other street vendors would soon become a congested mess. Much effort and expense has been devoted to beautifying the central business district in recent years. Uncontrolled street businesses would only detract from that effort.

So now that the street vendor issue has been addressed, the next topic on the agenda should be the placing of leaflets on cars parked downtown.

This should not be allowed.

I think people who park their cars in public places have the right to expect that nothing will be stuck under the windshield wiper or in the door handle.

Besides the tackiness, (one expects this type of promotion at Cedar Point, or Wall Drug, or the Soo Locks), the mass distribution of leaflets on cars downtown presents a monumental litter problem.

What do people do? They pull the sheet out from under the windshield wiper, scan it and throw it away. If a garbage can is not nearby, the curb or sidewalk is the usual recipient. And this does not include the sheets that blow off on windy days.

After a mass canvass of the downtown by automobile leafleters, the literature can be seen all over the sidewalks and streets. While the downtown merchants have initiated an agressive litter-clean up program this year, the leaflets only compound the problem.

If this practice is allowed to continue, can we logically assume it will be used more often? Will the downtown drown in a sea of leaflets? Are bumper stickers next?

If we're really interested in preserving Charlvoix's image as one step above average, banning distribution of promotional literature on parked cars in public places might be worth considering.

Clockwise

I won't sign

by Bob Clock

I'M AFRAID I may have irked a few kids and their parents the other night when I refused to sign a petition demanding that the Charlevoix Board of Education reinstate golf, skiing and tennis in the school curriculum.

The board, as you know, has announced its intention to terminate all three programs for a number of reasons, including — but not limited to — a rather tight budget.

Which is fine with me. I am not particularly fond of frosting without cake, and until Charlevoix is in a position to offer a complete, top-drawer academic and vocational curriculum I think it is downright foolish of anyone to insist upon the teaching of such personal sports as golf, skiing and tennis.

"But all the school is interested in is football and basketball," one parent told me. "And not all kids are interested in or capable of playing football and basketball."

Of course she is dead right. But unlike to golf, skiing and tennis, football and basketball are "team" sports and in today's highly complex, highly industrialized society learning to play as a member of a "team" could be considered an educational experience of sorts.

Furthermore, both football and basketball help pay their own way through gate receipts.

What I would really like to see is a group of indignant parents and kids going from door to door with a petition demanding that Charlevoix reinstate Latin in its high school curriculum.

For my money, Latin is basic to a good academic education and I shudder at the thought of my own kids ever trying to wrestle with the language of a highly technical college textbook without a solid foundation in the mother tongue.

But Latin has not been taught at Charlevoix High School for many, many years and it is unlikely it will ever be taught again unless parents and students hit the bricks.

Furthermore, I do not think it is right to ask the Charlevoix School District to tax __________ (Insert the name of your favorite taxpaying senior citizen) in order to teach my kids how to spend their leisure hours. Unless I'm badly mistaken, the whole idea behind public education is to train kids in useful pursuits so that they will not become burdens on society when they grow up. I further feel that society as a whole sharex in this responsibility.

But I do not think it is proper to pick the pockets of taxpayers at large to teach my kid how to play golf. If he wants to play golf, that's his problem and my problem. Not your problem.

One last word: I think it is unconscionable for any group of citizens to try to strong-arm their duly elected representatives on the board of education into spending tax dollars unwisely.

Anyone sincerely interested in dictating school policy should run for the board of education next June.

If I have offended anyone, I'm sorry. But those petitions should be deep-sixed.

Letters: McGoff, water, fudge

Is this progress?

To the Editor:

After attending the L.C.P.O.A. annual meeting and hearing the featured speaker treat us to a history lecture reather than discuss the concerns of the area I would like to ask why Mr. McGoff didn't stay on for the "working" part of the meeting.

Mr. McGoff successfully dodged questions concerning the future of the Finn Lumber site. The topic to be discussed was new developments and planning of the Charlevoix area, yet Mr. McGoff (a 20 year summer resident but interestingly enough a new comer to LCPOA) preferred to let us know how he pulled himself up by his bootstraps and would like the gov't to keep their $1800 monthly Social Security check.

Some of us in the audience live on less than that. Perhaps Mr. McGoff did not stay on the additional hour because he is not interested in the blue of Lake Charlevoix water - only the green.

One does not preserve the charscter of the area by building conference centers and proposing that a major department store chain locate in downtown Charlevoix.

"Concerned about the over commercialization of Charlevoix"

A solution

To the Editor:

I have been reading articles for some time about Petoskey and Charlevoix's water problems. Charlevoix with a 25" well and Petoskey with an 8" well!

In 1968 my wife and I flew to Goteburg, Sweden to visit her relatives at Nol, Sweden, twenty seven miles from Goteburg on the Guta Canal which runs from Goteburg across Sweden to Stockholm. The canal is about three hundred yards wide.

The canal is polluted with mercury and the water is not fit to drink. My wife's relative across the Canal pumps water from the Canal to the top of a high hill and it filters down through the hill and at the bottom he has pumps. He pumps the water to a town twenty miles away and sells water to the whole town.

I was thinking of Mt. McSauba north of Charelvoix, which the City of Charlevoix owns and is all sand which is a good filter. Maybe this same system could be used for Charlevoix's source of water. There is an unlimited supply of Lake Michigan water that could be pumped up the Mountain. Charlevoix Township is drilling wells with no success and if this system worked out, they could get their water there too.

Sincerely,
Gordon N. Neff

Reaganomics

To the Editor:

Liberals would tax the rich for the benefit of the poor. Conservatives would tax the poor for the benefit of the rich. Complicating this simple definition are the practical politicians who would tax everybody for the benefit of practical politicians.

A practical politician is someone in the private sector who is willing to spend a campaign fortune to gain public office, and after getting elected, complains about how little he earns as a public servant and how much more he could earn in the private sector.

The federal administration claims that the truly needy need a safety net, but there are too many cases where individuals who do not need help take advantage of laws to enrich themselves at the expense of the taxpayers. The conservative president of the United States of America is very conscientious about citing specific examples of such excesses.

There is a case of the individual who was liberal when he was poor, and then became rich despite the liberal tax and spending policies that he came to protest. As a wealthy conservative spokesman he became a very successful practical politician. Now he is entitled to these transfer funds, a social security pension, a military officer pension, a California governor pension, and soon, a presidential pension.

Meanwhile Reaganomics is turning a trickle of candidates for the safety net into a deluge, and conservative practical politicians are reforming the safety net into a trap net.

Ode to fudge

Gentlemen:

I am a summer visitor and have been hearing of "The Fudgee".

So I put together this little poem. I know you don't have a "Poet's Corner" but I couldn't resist.

It was fun writing and, of course, I love your city.

Fudgers are Fudgees who favor fudge;
they rate fudge first and refuse to budge.

Fudgees fudge daily from morning to night and won't pass a day withoug a fudge bite.

Fudgees favor fragrance and fudgy taste;
they won't let fudglings
go to waste.

Fudgees eat squares and fudge bricks;
they may even fudge up on fudgicle sticks.

Fudge is simple and easy to make;
Fudgees mix their own
into cookies and cakes.

Fudge is vanilla and chocolate sweet;
it's also a maple or peanut butter treat.

Calories mean nothing to a lover of fudge;
you can yell "fat"
but Fudgees won't budge.

Fudging is fun for fudgers of fudge;
so, let them enjoy
and don't be a judge.

Ray LaVoie, pitcher for the Charlevoix Slow-pitch Association championship team, Erber Auto, was the 1982 recipient of the Larry McBride Sportsmanship trophy.

The trophy is given annually to the ball player in the men's league best exemplifying the qualities of the late Larry McBride.

McBride was an outstanding pole vaulter at the Charlevoix High School and a popular player in the summer slowpitch league. The award was established in his memory following his death in 1967 in an automobile accident at the age of 21 which also claimed the lives of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl O. McBride.

The trophy has been given annually since 1967 in recognition of the qualities of good sportsmanship exemplified by McBride.

Since that date managers and game officials have named the players to receive the award.

Medusa beats Kwikie

Medusa salvaged the title in the Women's Slowpitch tournament that climased the season in the league by defeating Kwikie. Duplicating 14-12 after losing to Kwikie 14-4 earlier in the evening.

In the first meeting Tuesday night, Lisa Hilton who allowed nine hits, pitched her team to the 14-4 won over Medusa. Teri Wilson, the losing pitcher, gave up 21 hits.

In the final game of the tournament, Wilson pitched her team to the title, giving up 12 hits to 14 for Lisa Hilton, the losing pitcher. Lisa Sandahl had a home run for the victors.

Yachting Notes

The calendar gets crowded as the days of August dwindle down...

The Junior Yacht Club Race series runs the next two Fridays at 5 p.m. If you're a kid that likes to sail, or if you're the parent, guardian or servant of one, its high time you called Gary Gleason (547-4600) and take that first step in becoming a part of all this.

Speaking of first steps, hearty congratulations and many thanks to Bruce MacArthur and his helpers for putting on such a successful and professional sail training program. A reminder, too: Thanks again to those local manufacturers who donated the "Puffers" that make the Junior and Sail Training programs possible. It was quite a few years ago but, as I recall, American Mold, Huffords, Medusa and LexaLite each donated one with the fifth being purchased by the Club (probably with some very attractive financing from one, or both, of then two local banks). From these programs come the yachtsmen of tomorrow!

We'll also be using the "Puffers" in the wam-bam double elimination match race (one against one) series around a very short but very complex course that we call "The Hot Dog Races". The "Best Damn Skipper of the Year" trophy and position flags are awarded to the survivors of this event, which is to be held Saturday and Sunday August 28 and 29 starting at 10 am sharp. All Club Members are invited and, if the breeze is good, members and non-members alike will find its a great spectator event (totally unlike most sailing races).

That same weekend is the annual C.Y.C. Mackinac Island Rendezvous for cruising yachts, power and sail. Let's make this the biggest one ever because you participated! Call the Donaldsons, 547-9950, now!

Two big events this Sunday, August 22: The annual Single Handed Race and the Pig Roast. The PHRF and Portsmouth fleets combine into one and race around the bouys with only one person on board! The winner gets - for the year - the most beautiful (and heaviest) of all C.Y.C. trophies...the copper and brass delicately detailed lighthouse donated years ago by Todd Warner and then mounted by LexaLite. Only racing-cruising yachts with auxillary power and head are eligible. Call Gene Steele (547-4411) to register.

The Pig Roast follows, starting about 2 pm. Chef Bob Schofield requests that you bring a dish to pass, to serve about 10, and your own place setting. Don't miss this annual feast.

Wednesday Night at the Races...

Overall: "Hummer" (by a mile), "Indooroophilly" by 9 seconds on "Bandit", then "Razzmatazz" and "Swallow".

PHRF: "Hummer", "Swallow", "Camouflage".

P-26: "Crampt Quarters", "Blazen III", "Foxy Lady".

S26's: "Indooroophilly", "Bandit" and "Razzmatazz".

Portsmouth: "Sea Scape", "Cheemaun", and "Lull".

Remember, September 3, 4, and 5, the big ones! Budweiser Olympic Triangle and Red Fox Regatta.

Springfield concert brought back memories of bobbie sox, Frankie

by ANNE KELLY

In was 1958, Cleveland, Ohio. I hopped into my bobby sox, saddle shoes, midi (sailor) blouse, pleated skirt and was off to my very first big time concert at the Arena. On the playbill - Frankie Avalon and an up-and-comer, Bobby Darrin who would be the pre-show singing the yet unheralded "Mac-The-Knife."

In seventh grade I had perspired during every Pat Boone show and clipped full-page spreads from the Dick Clark yearbook. But now I was in the ninth grade, a freshman in high school and this was big-time hero worship.

I can still remember the electric current, the screaming fans beside themselves with anticipation. They, and I along with them, pressed nearer and nearer the stage for a glimpse, just a glimpse of Frankie Avalon– the star we had all come to swoon over. When he finally appeared, well, that was ectasy of the kind that finds you mouthing every syllable of every favorite song right along with the performer. I sang along, and probably gasped for breath right along with all my star-struck friends.

And so it was only natural that I should accompany my nearly seventh grade daughter and her friends to Castle Farms when Rick Springfield came to town last week end. We hopped into our jeans, turtlenecks, crew neck sweaters and topsiders (recorded for posterity) and were off to their first concert. I had been primed for this event by being called in to catch all the T.V. promotionals and a few segments of General Hospital in which Rick walked and talked. But it was not until the concert that I saw him "sweat for success". Could he have perspired more than his fans who clamored for just a sprinkling from the water cup which he periodically sloshed over his already damp body? I don't know. There was a lot of prespiration on both sides.

In the heat of it all, Amy leaned over to ask, "What's wrong with Jenny?"

"She's transfixed, Amy," I replied. "It's kind of like being in love from a distance."

Jenny was standing with her hands clasped to her heart and her mouth open. She didn't respond to external stimuli.

Still on the periphery of the fan-club segment of her life, Amy was able to enjoy what she observed around her nearly as much as the jumping and throbbing on stage. It also gave me someone to talk to.

There were bevies of fans sporting General Hospital shirts (the green ones that hospital surgeons wear coming out of the operating room). There was a group in front of us half clasping their Canadian flag to themselves, half thrusting it stageward. There was the chorus responding to the performers invitation to sing along with "Don't Talk to Strangers" and "Jessie's Girl." There was the beat pulsating from the speakers, reverberating through our bodies. There were the signs and placards waving in mute salute from behind.

In short, there were all the trappings of an experience Amy will doubless remember with relish someday when she has a twelve year old daughter of her own.

Mrs. Curtis tells of 25 years with Chicago Club

Rather than reviewing the history of the Chicago Club, one of the community's oldest summer resorts, Mrs. Ruth Ann Curtis relayed her experiences of the 25 years she and her husband, the late Franklin Curtis, enjoyed during the period of the 1950s through 1959. Mr. Curtis, during those years, served as warden of the Chicago Club grounds and she as office manager of the club.

She said that at that time the club was strongly restricted by religion, color and political beliefs. However, that is now all in the past.

There are 25 cottages on the club grounds located north of the channel between Round Lake and Lake Charlevoix. The property also fronts on both lakes. All the summer homes were built between 1900 and 1905. Five are presently privately owned and the remainder by the club proper.

Because of fire restrictions and insurance, the clubhouse is no longer used as a hotel. It was later occupied by counselors, and a few meals served. At one time, the hotel had its own chef and complete kitchen and dining room staff.

Many descendants of original members of the club which was formed in 1878 still occupy homes and visit regularly during the summer season. A changing trend finds many cottages being winterized and occupied during the ski season.

Mrs. Curtis highlighted her review with many humorous anecdotes relating to her work and to that of the guests.

Among those who attended the meeting were members of the Chicago Club.

Butler's poetry now in published form

by DAVE KNIGHT

It should come as no surprise to anyone who knows him that Percy J. Butler has now become a published poet.

It was one of the few remaining careers that the 80-year-old former Charlevoix resident had not already tried.

A hardcover collection of Butler's poems entitled "Portals to Peace" (Vantage Press, $5.95, 65 pages) will soon appear on the shelves at local bookstores. This Saturday, August 21, Butler will be on hand from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. at the Volume I Bookstore in Petoskey for an Autograph Party. In Charlevoix, the book will be available at the Literary News bookstore.

School teacher, woodcutter, electrician, carpenter, plumber, builder, handwriting analyst, yoga practitioner, outdoorsman...Butler's rich and varied life has taken him from the Emmet County countryside to the cement valleys of Chicago and back again.

It was his deep seated love of the northwoods that prompted him to settle and raise his family in Charlevoix. It is that same love of nature, in tandem with a devout faith in God, that resulted in the "Portals to Peace" collection.

"I first read poetry when I was a kid," said Butler, "But at the time, I didn't think I had the vocabulary to write any myself."

As a student in the Pellston school system, which he attended while living with his parents in the Burt Lake area, Butler remembers poring over the works of Whittier, Longfellow, Lowell and Whitman. These great American poets, he says today, have influenced his style of writing the most.

Butler finished high school in Pellston and matriculated to Mount Pleasant to attend what was then the State Normal College. He studied to become a school teacher and, after graduating, found work in that profession.

But it was not to his liking.

"I got disgusted after about three years," he says, "Teaching was not exactly a well-paying job back then."

Back into the woods he went and worked as a woodcutter for a few years until wanderlust struck again, sending him to Chicago and the Chicago Engineering Institute for training as an electrical engineer.

For a native of the northwoods, adaption to life in the big city was too difficult so eventually Butter moved back to Northern Michigan where, during the long winters, electrician jobs may have been scarce but the peace of mind was well worth the hardships.

Butler branched out in the building trades. Trained as an electrical engineer, he went on to learn carpentry and then plumbing. With his varied talents, he could build an entire house.

"Back then we went all the way," he remembers, "From laying the foundation to carpeting the inside."

He lived in Charlevoix and worked as a building contractor for 35 years, from 1944 to 1979. Butler, his wife Evelyn and his three daughters lived on the far south end of State St. His daughters, all married now, include Mrs. Allen Hanson of Petoskey, with whom the Butlers now live, Mrs. Paul Miller of Armada, Michigan and Mrs. Dale Lyons of Elkhart, Illinois. The Butlers also have nine grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

It was about the time he moved to Charlevoix that Butler wrote his first poem entitled "I'll Follow You." The poem is included in "Portals to Peace."

For the nest 40 years or so he wrote many poems but few people other than friends and family ever got to read them. One day not long ago, however, one of his daughters showed his work to an educator in the area in which she lived. He was so impressed that he suggested Butler publish his work.

Butler's daughter Joyce Miller began looking for a publisher and found one, Vantage Press, in New York. A granddaughter, Jeanne Hanson, who teaches deaf and blind children in Green Bay, Wisconsin, designed the book's jacket and provided illustrations for the inside.

Percy Butler's poems come to him in many ways. Sometimes he spends days on one poem and other times he can finish one in minutes. Sometimes inspiration comes when a pen and paper are not right at hand.

"I wrote the poem 'Destiny' (also included in the book) when I was out on a walk," said Butler, "I had it memorized in about half a mile."

"Portals of Peace" may be only the beginning for Butler. He is working on Volume 2 of his works and says he probably has as much material as went into "Portals" already on hand for the next volume.

Big Rock workers set safety record

Employees at Consumers Power Company's Big Rock Point Nuclear Plant have set a company safety record by working five years without suffering a lost-workday injury.

The length of time involved, August 3, 1977, to August 3, 1982, sets a record for safety among Consumers Power's electric generating plants. Employees at Big Rock Point worked 1.166 million manhours during those five years without one on-the-job injury that caused an employee to miss a day on the job.

The Big Rock Point plant employs approximately 135 employees. The plant is located on Lake Michigan about 4 miles northwest of Charlevoix. The 75,000-kilowatt plant is observing its 20th anniversary this year. Big Rock Point was the fifth commercial nuclear power plant in the nation.

Fall '82 season ahead gives new concepts to an exciting fashion message

Fall 1982 will be an exciting season in tops because there is a tremendous amount of diversification The two over-riding lifestyles are Casual and Dressy (for "wear to work clothing) Under the casual category Preppy is a part of Fall, 82 for the classic and traditional lifestyle The look is basically the same every year and varies only with the introduction of some new fashion colors (in addition to basic colors) Oxford shirts, cotton turtle necks shetland sweaters, and wraggwool sweaters are abundant The designer market is showing a lot of traditional looks for fall, so not only is this a basic look, but it also has a degree of fashion importance

Rugged, a casual way of dressing is a relaxed dressdown look that includes "countrified" prairie to the rugged "outdoorsy look" It includes cotton blouses as well as pullover sweaters, vests and cardigans

The "rugged" shirts are mostly all cotton blends and are broken down into categories of: woven shirts and woven feminine blouses. The overall fashion trend in these cotton tops are Flange shoulders, puff shoulders, very wide cuffs and full sleeves, high necks, turtle necks, bow ties and ruffle front

The woven shirts are more tailored and are solid, plaid or stripe Most of them have great shoulder and sleeve interest which makes them strong enough to stand on their own with a corduroy pant, or would look sensational with a vest Some of the shirts you will find for fall have bow ties which carries the tuxedo influence into the country,

The fashion part of the rugged sw[illegible] is shown throu[illegible] the vests and cardiga[illegible] The fashion trends here are leather [illegible] vests fringe cardigans great tweed p[illegible]chos and sweeps, [illegible] poncho sherpa [illegible] cardigans and [illegible] cardigans

Taffeta [illegible] a major fashion trend [illegible] the market. Important [illegible] know is that this fabri[illegible] be worn for day [illegible] well as evening

Shape marks the newness in clothes for all A [illegible] and cleaned-up look that skims the body with streamline precision The straight look is narrow, but not stark The fashion look is the new slimmed down [illegible] skirt

The clothes seek their drama through their simplicity There's a [illegible] a new proportion with narrow [illegible] short, short ove[illegible] The looks are cle[illegible] uncluttered [illegible] generous withou[illegible] overblown they [illegible] their fashion im[illegible] from the very [illegible] of their structure

A few trends [illegible] to watch out for •Treat a watch like a piece of jewelry and mix it with studded bangles and chunky link bracelets. Now's the time to track down that ID bracelet from junior high.

•Jewels are back but only those made of colors glass. Best when mixed with black metal or dull gold.

•More old is new. Pin a broach at the collar of an ascot-tie blouse, add a hat pin to your suit, mix a strand of pearls with a gold chain studded with colored stones.

•And if there is one item to buy this year -- provided you have the cash -- it's something in leather or suede. Leather has been around for enough consecutive seasons to be more than just a fad. But if your budget can't handle a big oversized blouson or a suede skirt, one option is a leather miniskirt. You'll be up to date on both texture and length.

Plaids: A Quick Rundown

Plaids are bigger and better than ever for fall 82 menswear. Among the perennial favorites enjoying renewed popularity:

•Tartan — Named after various Scottish Highland clans, basically they are designs of check over check with smaller patterns forming larger ones.

•Houndstooth check — An irregular broken check almost diamond shaped, regularly arranged in rows and columns.

•Tattersall — Perhaps the most regular of

All new for fall is this mohair cocoon wrap coat shown from The Cottage in Petoskey. Mohair very popular this fall is fiber shorn twice annually from the beautiful Angora goat. Long, soft and strong mohair gives a rich lustrous appearance while contributing to easy care and years of usefulness.

Perms Do It All For Hair This Fall

Few of us are born with the hair we want to have. But a professional perm can remedy styling problems as no other hair treatment can.

Perms are more popular than ever this fall, and there are many reasons why.

Fall hair fashions emphasize soft fullness. For hair, that look requires volume, with waves and layering. Good style support from a perm keeps hair looking full and in place, to complement fall clothing.

Easy manageability is a big reason why women opt for perms. Limp, fine hair holds a style better and longer when it has the support and body of a perm. Coarse hair is easier to control with permed style and direction.

Natural-looking permed hair is just a matter of technique, and a good stylist can create a look of natural, real waves instead of a completely curly style that's obviously permed.

Frosted, bleached or streaked hair used to be a problem when it came to perms but no more! New perm formulations available from salon stylists, are specially made to work on color-treated hair.

A perm can compensate for less-than-perfect facial features—a plus for working women who need to look their best. A round head shape achieves an oval look when there's extra permed fullness at the crown, cowlicks, high forehead and other problems "disappear" with a perm, say experts.

For control over cowlicks or unruly locks, for new styling options you never thought possible and for an updated fashion look, pick a perm. It's the perfect answer.

Women's Dress

Psychologists say that the old idea that women dress to impress other women is not true. Women dress to please their own unconscious images of themselves, say experts.

Patch It Up!

No need to toss that jacket in the scrap heap just because the elbow's worn out. Suede or leather patches, available at notions counters, are decorative and will add to the life of a good jacket.

Are You A Sweater Girl?

Then you may be wondering how to get rid of those sweater "pills" that make your favorite top look old and frumpy. Just shave them off with a straight-edge razor for a like-new look.

Run into a Snag?

Sooner or later, that garment is going to develop a snag, especially if there's a playful cat around. Fortunately, there are handy gadgets available for pulling such snags to the underside of the garment, out of sight.

The British television series "Brideshead Revisited" has sparked a renewed interest in the fashions of the 20's and 30's. In this fall's ready to wear both waistlines and hemlines have dropped to create a long, tubular effect. To coordinate with today's "Brideshead Look" shoe manufacturers have introduced a collection of period foot wear.

Building A Basic Gold Jewelry Wardrobe

Just about everyone these days appreciates quality, value and versatility With today's higher prices, wise shoppers look for these attributes when building their basic clothing wardrobe. The same holds true when building a basic gold jewelry wardrobe A woman should begin by choosing 'classic' gold items, appropriate for many different occasions -- basics that can be mixed and matched clustered and stacked or simply worn alone Then, once she has acquired these basics (usually in 14k gold) she can gradually add more substantial or "trendy" pieces, perhaps in 18k gold The beauty of real (or karat) gold is that it adds a lustrous finishing touch to any outfit, whether casual or formal, for doing your shopping or doing the town!

What basics should comprise a karat gold jewelry wardrobe? Consider these guidelines, suggested by John Reusch at Reusch Jewelry Begin building your framework of gold basics with one to three items from each of these following categories: neckchains, earrings, bracelets, pins and rings

Neckchains:

The gold items in this category range from slender, lightweight "whisper" chains to heavier, bolder basics, e g a tailored herringbone chain or a strand or two of real gold beads. Start by purchasing a short or "choker" length (15"-16") strand and one in a medium length (18"-20"), fitting for nearly every neckline Wear them individually or together No, says Reusch, it's not necessary that they match In fact, combining different lengths, widths and textures can give you a variety of looks

Another alternative Purchase one long length of gold chain or beads, up to 50". It will give you the option of several multi-strand looks when looped 2-3 times around the neck. Later a 24" to 30" length can be bought to "round out" your basic neckchain collection, to be worn alone or with a pendant

Current leaders among gold neckchains are the "bright cuts," especially nice because they reflect light beautifully Several popular examples the cobra chain and the serpentine or "S" chain Other gold chain basics range from box chains, ropes and foxtails to the simplest curb and cable chains.

Note these new "basic" trends for the neck First, the add-a-bead idea, where you buy one or several gold beads on a chain. Later, extra beads can be added, one or more at a time -- a great gift idea Also, personalized gold pendants, e g initials, engravables (such as plaques or lockets), and collectibles, charms usually worn dangling from a longer chain, often suspended from one of the new charmholders.

Earrings:

A woman's basic gold jewelry wardrobe should include several earring styles, wearable for day or evening Begin with a gold stud, a simple button or geometric Add a classic gold hoop, in whatever size is most flattering A gold drop is another choice, as is one of the classic fluted or feathered shapes so popular today And, for extra wardrobe mileage gold "jackets" that can be added to give tiny pierced earrings a totally different, bolder gold look.

Bracelets:

Basic bracelets of karat gold should include at least one slender, delicate style and, if possible, one of the wider cuffs. Begin with a slim bracelet, perhaps a dainty I.D., a serpentine chain or a basic gold bangle Later, you might add several more bangles for a stacked effect or collect several lightweight chain bracelets to wear in multiples. Another great look: a soft, single gold chain teamed with your wristwatch.

A gold watch can be a major expenditure One alternative is to purchase one with a gold case and a leather strap; add a gold strap later

Pins:

Pins have made a major comeback recently with the return of the suit Every woman's jewelry wardrobe today should include one or two pins or brooches, to accent jacket lapels and collars and ascot ties

While the precise origin of the blazer is highly disputed, our favorite theory traces back to the year 1860. Appalled by the disorderly appearance of his crew, the captain of the HMS Blazer commissioned a tailor to construct for them identical blue serge jackets. Thus the term "Blazer". One supposes that the crew of the HMS Pinafore enjoyed a somewhat less propitious fate.

Tips on Looking For Quality in Buying Clothing

At a time when clothing costs are soaring and the dollar is shrinking, it is more important than ever before to recognize quality before you buy, Not only do we want to be right in fashion, we also want to know that the new outfit which gobbled up last week's paycheck won't fade, shrink, stretch or pull apart at the seams after a few washings or wearings In short, the garment must live up to the toughest standard around: the daily "Stress Test" of our busy lives

According to Dr. Robert Springborn, special consultant to BanLon, the alert consumer can learn to detect quality by performing a few simple tests while the garment is still on the rack or the counter.

Since economists predict that we will purchase fewer garments and wear them longer, Dr. Springborn points out that developing a keen eye for quality will insure that the garment you've selected can live up to the "Stress Test" and promise good value for your clothing dollar.

Remove the garment from the hanger or counter, unfold it and hold it up in good light. Check to see that there are no tiny pulls, snags, tears at the seams, or stains.

Are you satisfied with the evenness of the color? Does the pattern match up at the seams? Do seams match up under the arms?

Read labels. By law, care instructions must be clearly printed on a label that is permanently attached to the garment. (Do you really want to invest in a garment that is labeled "dry clean only"?)

Every garment is also required to carry content information on the sewn-in label. Read this information carefully Does the garment contain materials which would irritate an existing skin condition or cause an allergic reaction?

Now, you're ready for

The Inside Story:

Turn the garment inside out. How are the seams finished? They should be sewn with an overstitch or pinked to prevent unravelling.

At the end of the seam, stitches should be retraced to be sure that threads don't hang from the garment or unravel

On pants, skirts, dresses and particularly children's clothing, are seams even and wide enough to resist pulling at stress points -- seat seams, arm holes, side-seams?

If it is a knit top with a button opening, how is the placket finished off? Is the stitching neat? Are there any rough edges, loose threads? Does the material bunch or pucker around the placket?

Check cuff and sleeve seams Do they match? Do cuff seams pucker?

"Stress Test"

Gently stretch the garment at the underarm seam, collar and hem Does the stitching seem loose? Generally speaking, the smaller the stitch, the more pull and longer wear the seam can withstand The larger the stitch, the greater the chance of snagging and breaking

If the garment has a turtleneck, gently stretch the collar Is there enough "give" to fit easily over the head without permanently stretching out of shape?

Learning the basic checkpoints of good garment construction is an exercise in quality buying Remember: get a good fit, make certain your garment will stay in shape, don't forget check-ups on all those finishing touches, and get acquainted with label information.

With fashion designers telling us of the resurgence of the 20's and 30's mood could this be a sample of what is to come in the fashion world?

Gold Jewelry

Bar pins and stickpins are versatile and affordable, as are small scatter tacks Favorite motifs include hearts, flowers, pets, geometrics and bows Another suggestion, a real gold safety pin for your cowl neck sweater or your kilt

Rings:

Besides a gold wedding ring, at least one other gold ring is a must Stackable or wide-banded, wire or dome, the choice is yours. In terms of practicality, says John, the stackables are most versatile because they are really several rings worn together. For variety, you can vary the "stacks" or wear just one of the rings alone. And because they are narrow, the price is right, enabling you to buy them one or more at a time or acquire them as gifts. Some other gold ring favorites include interlocking "rolling rings," signet rings, initial rings and the ever popular heart motif.

NRC board okays changes in nuclear emergency pamphlet

by DAVE KNIGHT

In the first decision resulting from a week-long hearing in June held at Boyne Mountain, the Nuclear Regulatory Commission's Atomic Safety and Licensing Board has endorsed several changes in a brochure on nuclear emergency procedures distributed in Charlevoix County last year. The Board also called for a new, more effective means of distributing the brochures.

To comply with NRC regulations, Consumers Power Company last year developed a brochure on how people living in the vicinity of Consumers' Big Rock Point nuclear plant should react to a nuclear emergency at the plant. The brochures were then turned over to the Emergency Services offices in both Emmet and Charlevoix Counties for distribution.

Intervenors in a current request by Big Rock to expand its spent fuel storage capacity, headed by Christa-Maria of Charlevoix, criticized the brochure for not explaining clearly enough the potential dangers of a nuclear accident. It was also revealed at the June hearing that from 60 to 70 percent of the brochures printed last year were not distributed.

The ASLB order dated August 6 approves the content of a revised brochure submitted by Consumers which is scheduled to be printed this month. Among the changes agreed to by Consumers are stronger warnings about the potential dose of radiation area residents would be exposed to from a bad accident at the Big Rock plant, more accurate graphics such as maps and illustrations of the plant, the clear naming of Consumers as owner of the plant and a specific warning to women of childbearing age and children.

"The overall tone of the (revised) pamphlet is objective, the level of language is direct and communicative and there are no glaring omissions or inaccuracies," according to the ASLB finding, "In general, this pamphlet seems to be a substantial improvement over the pamphlet that was originally distributed."

The order also directs Consumers to distribute the brochures to all residents within five miles of the Big Rock plant in two mailings - one in the summer and one in the winter - so that no seasonal residents are missed. Verification will also be required that pamphlets are being distributed to transient individuals at motels and other tourist-related facilities.

Last year's brochure was distributed by local Boy Scouts because the county Emergency Services offices had no funds to mail the materials. Charlevoix County Emergency Services Director Earl Muma testified at the June hearings that there was no way of knowing what areas the Scouts may have missed and that it was doubtful transients were getting the information.

Christa-Maria expressed satisfaction with the ASLB decision saying, "I am very delighted that they (the ASLB) went along with the changes we asked for. Now it will be much easier for the public to understand. It is especially important that women understand the potential danger to a pregnancy."

Other issues adressed by the ASLB at the hearings held June 7-12 will be dealt with in seperate, "ensuing" decisions according to the order received last week.

Bid for flight station progresses despite shortfall of pledges

by PEG OHLE

Although only half of the hoped-for funds have been pledged, the ad hoc committee which is seeking the location of a Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) flight service station at the Charlevoix Airport has decided to go ahead with its solicitation for the facility.

The ad hoc committee, which is chaired by Alvin Ranger, met with the Charlevoix County Economic Development Corporation (EDC) last week to formulate plans. The EDC has assumed the responsibility of being the legal entity to collect and disburse money pledges and present the County's proposition to the FAA.

A budget prepared by the ad hoc committee calls for funds not to exceed $12,000 for expenses involved in engineering and administrative coordination, legal services, and travel involved in preparing the solicitation.

To date, Charlevoix County, the City of Charlevoix, and the Charlevoix Development Corporation have each pledged $2,000. Charlevoix Township earlier pledged $1,000 but there now is a question as to whether a township can appropriate funds for such a project. It is expected that the ad hoc committee will go back to the County Board of Commissioners this Wednesday evening (August 25) with a request for an additional $5,000. If the request is granted, the committee would be in a working position with pledges of $11,000.

The FAA is seeking a building of at least 10,000 square feet, equipped to specifications, at or near the airport, which it could lease over a period of years for a nominal sum, perhaps as little as $1 a year.

In addition to Charlevoix County, some 30 communities in the State, including Emmet County, are vying for the flight service station. The facility will be located somewhere in the State and will provide weather information and other services for the entire Lower Peninsula and the eastern part of the Upper Peninsula.

Estimates are that the facility would employ about 60 people and generate an annual payroll of up to $1.5 million.

Construction of a new building, or renovation of an old building of the size required would cost somewhere between $500,000 and $1 million, according to Lawrence Sullivan, Charlevoix County Planner. The County would issue bonds for the necessary funds and redeem them with monies derived from voted millage. That millage could be as much as two mills, but would probably be levied at different rates in different parts of the County, Sullivan says.

Since the City of Charlevoix and surrounding townships would receive greater benefit from the facility than the eastern part of the County, millage levies would probably be higher here than there.

The EDC will also be soliciting private funds for the venture, hoping to collect as much as 15 to 20 percent of the total cost. Of course, whatever comes from this source would decrease the amount needed from public sources.

An EDC subcommittee has been set up to handle details of the solicitation. It is made up of Richard Sayward of Charlevoix, Charles Shenk of East Jordan, and Casimir Toton of Boyne City.

Bergmann Center unhappy with share of funds

by DAVE KNIGHT

The question of whether Charlevoix's Bergmann Center is getting its fair share of funding from the Northern Michigan Community Mental Health Services Board (NMCMHSB) was the main topic of a special meeting held at the Center last week.

Concerns of the Bergmann Center Board of Directors and Administrator Kenneth Brill were aired at the session attended by members of the CMH Board and the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners.

There is some degree of immediacy to the matter, according to Brill, because of an impending budget shortfall which may leave the Center without adequate funds to cover expenses for the last two months of its fiscal year.

Under a contract tendered by the CMH Board in April but never signed by the Bergmann Center, the Center is to receive a total of $78,956 in fiscal 1982 whichs ends September 30. If that amount is not supplemented to reflect the actual number of CMH-referred clients served, says Brill, the Center may have difficulty coming up with the funds needed to cover up to six of the last two-week pay periods in the fiscal year. Each pay period expense totals $2,806.

The Bergmann Center, established almost 25 years ago in Charlevoix as a facility providing work activities for the handicapped, now provides contracted services to clients referred by the CMH board. How many CMH clients are contracted and how many are actually served, however, is a bone of contention between the Center and the CMH board.

In the contract submitted by the CMH office in April, the CMH board agrees to pay a $14.40 per diem cost for each client with a maximum of "22 to 25" clients and a budget ceiling of $78,956.

Brill contends that the Center is currently serving 28 clients referred by the CMH board and that 5,483 client-days in fiscal 1981-82 owed to the Center by CMH will not be paid for if additional funds are not allocated. By Brill's estimate, the Bergmann Center should rightfully receive $8,885 more in CMH funding this fiscal year.

In a similar budget shortfall last year, the CMH board "bailed out" the Center with a supplementary $4,200 above the budgeted yearly total. No decision has yet been made by the CMH board as to whether additional funds shall be granted to the Bergmann Center this year.

Alexis Kaczynski, associate director of the CMH board, said the matter will be taken up by the board's budget committee but did not know when or if a decision would be forthcoming.

"We establish the amounts budgeted for each work activity center according to money allocated by the state," said Ms. Kaczynski, "We have a budget ceiling, too."

She pointed out that fluctuations in the number of clients needing services from year to year can make budget projections difficult. According to Ms. Kaczynski, the maximum number of 22 to 25 clients set by the CMH board is based on the maximum number the board can pay for with the funds allocated to them by the state.

And even those funds, she added, are endangered by the budget-cutting climate in state government right now.

In a report on work activity center funding prepared by the CMH staff for last week's meeting, the background of the board's budgetary process is explained.

"The budget ceiling (for each center) is established at the beginning of the fiscal year and is determined by the amount of money available to the Mental Health Board from the State for work activity programming," according to the report, "Enrolling more clients, or providing more hours of service, beyond those originally contracted for won't help increase a budget, since the budget represents a ceiling amount."

At the heart of the problem is the Bergmann Center's longstanding policy to provide services for any and all clients who need it. That policy, says Brill emphatically, will never change.

"We are not going to turn anybody away because we are over the maximum number of clients contracted for," said Brill.

Of the four work activity centers that provide services for the CMH board (Lamplighters in Cheboygan, Little Traverse Enterprises in Petoskey, the Gaylord Opportunity Center and the Bergmann Center), the Bergmann Center's per diem allocation of $14.40 per client-day is the lowest. Other per diem figures include $20.94 for Little Traverse Enterprises and $15.45 for the Gaylord Opportunity Center.

Brill questions why the Bergmann Center's per diem allocation is not on a par with the other facilities and wonders if the Center is being unjustly penalized for its own efforts to generate income. In 1980-81, the Center's work activity program contributed almost $34,000 to the Center's total budget of about $124,000. Thousands more dollars were raised by various other fund-raising projects in the community.

Ms. Kaczynski cautions against comparing per diem figures of the four work activity centers saying that costs vary greatly from community to community.

Historical Society to arrange train trip

Friday, September 3, is being heralded as "Charlevoix Day" on the Bay Rail Express.

Members of the Charlevoix Historical Society have arranged a group trip to Petoskey and return that evening. They will board the train at 6 p.m. and return to Charlevoix at 9:30. The train will stop at the Little Traverse Historical Society Museum in Petoskey, where the group will view the exhibits and eat their own picnic lunches.

Tickets for the ride are $8.50. Reservations may be made with Marilyn Boss at 547-6401 or Mary Margaret Geiken at 547-6719.

Past High Priestesses to hold luncheon

The Past High Priestesses and Past Watchmen of the Shepherds will meet at the Bavarian Inn at the Antrim Dells resort at Atwood for its next luncheon meeting at 1:30 p.m. Sept. 8, it was announced following a recent meeting. Mrs. William Roy of Torch Village will host the luncheon meeting. Reservations must be made with her.

Mrs. Herbert Gould of Boyne City will preside at the business meeting in the absence of Mrs. Henry Erber who will be in Oregon on vacation at that time. Mrs. Robert Richards of Charlevoix was named to serve as chaplain.

The recent luncheon meeting of the group was held at the Horton Bay home of Mrs. Gould. Mr. and Mrs. Emory Nyman of Petoskey won the traveling gypsy prizes. Mrs. Harold Hamlin of Walloon Lake present the devotions. A note from the Roys was read acknowledging the plant sent on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary.

An invitation from the Hope Shrine No. 63 at Marquette inviting all members to the First Supreme Visit and Ceremonial on Sept. 24 was read. Further information may be obtained by contacting Viola Roseveare at 210 Graham in Ishpeming, 49849.

Gunn to display solar heating unit

Charlevois energy consultant Carl Gunn, who is associated with Jordan College in Cedar Springs, has been invited to display a solar water heater at the Seventh Annual Passive Solar Conference in Knosville, Tenn., August 27 through September 2.

In addition to commercial energy eshibits, non-profit organizations and schools will have a special display atop the Arts and Architecture Building at the University of Tennessee, adjacent to the World's Fair site. Exhibits will be open to World's Fair attendees and the general public beginning Sunday, August 29.

The Passive Solar Conference is sponsored jointly by the American Solar Energy Association, the Tennessee Solar Energy Association, and the Tennessee Valley Authority. Gunn is a member of the American Solar Energy Association.

In his role as energy consultant with Jordan College, Gunn, together with energy student assistants, conductedx 16 energy surveys of solar heaters which are now in use in Michigan and other midwestern states. Jordan College sponsors the Camp Consortium for Energy, which Gunn coordinates.

This educational model shows the thermo-siphoning process. Heated water rises from a solar collector box to the storage tank above. Cooler water falls through pipes to the bottom to be re-heated. Temperatures as high as 165 degrees Fahrenheit have been achieved in less than six hours of sunshine.

Senior Fair planned for Whiting Park

Three hundred Charlevois County senior citizens and their friends and relatives are expected to attend the Third Annual Charlevois County Senior Fair on Saturday afternoon, September 4, at Whiting Park.

The program calls for a picnic dinner featuring barbecued chicken, entertainment, door prizes, and a flea market.

Tickets are now on sale at $3.50 each at the senior centers and meal sites. They will be $4 at the door. Dinner will be served beginning at 12 noon.

Transportation to the picnic may be arranged by calling the Charlevois County Transit System at 582-6900.

Clarification on alternative service

In a recent Courier story about the Alternative Community Service Program of the District Court, we seem to have left the impression that offenders may work off their fines at the minimum wage rate of $3.35 an hour.

This is not so. Persons in tha Community Service Program who have been "ticketed" are credited with $10 a day, a sum set by law. Those who have appeared in District Court are credited with $25 a day, a sum set by the Judge.

The minimum wage figure was mentioned only to illustrate what it would have coat agencies using Community Service workers if they had to have their work done by regular employees.

Original cantata by Elizabeth Humphrey to make debut here

The premiere performance of the cantata, "The Prophecy" composed by Elizabeth Humphrey, best known in Charlevois as organist at the First Congregational Church, will be presented at the church at 8 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 29.

Miss Humphrey was commissioned to compose the cantata in observance of the centennial year of the First Congregational Church which will be formally observed in mid-September. The presentation will be the last of several special musical events presented during the summer months in observance of the centennial year.

Miss Humphrey has had a varied background in the world of music. A native of Springfield, Ill., she was graduated from McMurray College in Jacksonville, Ill., where she majored in piano and minored in voice. She was awarded a fellowship to the Juillard Graduate School where she studied both voice and piano. She also studied composition with Vittorio Giannini, the well known composer.

Her performance experience ranges from being soprano artist-in-residence at the Bay View Assembly for six seasons to touring extensively in recital on the Community Concert series and appearing as soloist in the Cleveland, Indianapolis, Chicago and Detroit Symphony orchestras. She also taught voice and piano for 25 years and often did some composing "because it was easier to compose the material I needed then look for it". It was after this that she took courses at Mercy College in Detroit to become certified as a teacher as well as an organist and choir director.

Speaking of the cantata, "The Prophecy" which tells, in music and voice, the gospel of "Jesus' Ride into Jerusalem", "The Upper Room", "The Crucifixion" and "The Ascension", she said "I have a feeling for choral writing because of my own singing. I have done service music and find it easy to write."

Appearing in the solo roles in the cantata will be Fran Tollas, soprano, singing the role of Mary; Mark Puchala, tenor, who will be singing the role of the narrator and John; Irving Prescott, popular baritone at the Bay View Assembly, the role of Jesus, and Gerald Staublin, bass and section leader of the Congregational choir for many years, the role of Judas. A moving background of organ music will be played by the composer herself. Ellen Addington will direct the cantata.

Mrs. Tollas who is singing the role of Mary is well known in musical circles in northern Michigan. A graduate of the University of Michigan School of Music, she was granted a degree in vocal performance at Grand Valley College recently and is presently studying under an Artist Apprentice Grant given by the Michigan Council for the Arts which has allowed her to study with Berverly Rinaldi of the University of Michigan and a member of the staff at the National Music Camp at Interlochen.

Puchala, as narator and John, is a Central Michigan graduate. He has completed work on his master's degree at the University of Michigan and has been choral director at the Traverse City High School for the past fiva years. He has been heard throughout the north in recent oratorio roles including "The Messiah", Dubois' "Seven Last Words", "King David" and Bach's "Magnificat".

Prescott, baritone, who will be singing the role of Jesus, is in his twenty-fourth year at the Bay View Assembly. A graduate of Northwestern University, he was soloist and member of a quartet at the Chicago Temple as well as guest soloist in numarous oratorio performances in the Chicago area and throughout the midwest and east. More recently he has performed in Florida. He was formerly supervisor of music at the Ludington High School and director of the Ludington Chorale.

Staublin, bass, will have the lines of Judas in the cantata. He has long been a member of the choir at the First Congregational Church.

Ellen Addington, director of music at the First Congregational Church, will direct the cantata which will also feature the choir of the church.

The premiere performance of the moving cantata will be open to the public when it is performed at the First Congregational Church at 8 p.m. Sunday Aug. 29.

County 4-Hers enjoy summer camp on Beaver Island

1982 Beaver Island 4-H Camp is now history. It was held July 25-30. Twenty-seven Charlevoix County 4-H members attended either the two night or three night sessions! In the first session they were: Pat Russell, Teri Finley, Mike Horton, Sara Chase, Cliff Russell, Cheryl Boyer, Renee Reynolds, Dean Alger and Lisa Winhusen.

Attending the second session were: Dave Reinhardt, Scott Peck, Heidi Gaunt, Heath Green, Ricky Brooks, Dawn Brock, Dan Clock, Aaron Brock, Jon Sumner, Jennifer Clock, Michelle Mailloux, Krista Sumner, Rhonda Dowson, Eve Reinhardt, Shannon Olstrom Eric Green, Steve Reinhardt and Shawn McKay.

They were joined by 22 Emmet 4-Hers. 5 4-H youngsters from Antrim County were also able to share this really beautiful camp and fun time. It is hoped that everyone learned a little about themselves, their environment and met some new folks or renewed old acquaintances as a result of our unique 4-H camp.

Federal Sea Grant Agents John McKinney (Session I) N.W. Region and Steve Steward (Session II) S.E. Region taught twica a day classes in environmental habitats; Jackie Krieg, Emmet County, had classes in crafts (yarn, salt dough and plaster casting; Penny Lewis, Charlevoix CES office taught fabric painting, charcoal and water colors; Kyle Scott and Cristin Allen both of Emmet County assisted by Sheila Swaby of Emmet County 4-H Youth Programs taught sand candles; Nelsoo Green, Charlevoix County volunteer headed up crews of campers who produced two picnic tables for the campground as a 4-H service project and Pam Parsel, WSI, Charlevoix County CES Office held swimming classes and oversaw twice a day free swim. Area 4-H Agent, Elizabeth Horrocks led campers in a treasure hunt. Volunteer leaders and Cahrlevoix 4-H Council Pressident, Nancy Brooks assisted with various classes and camp planning. Claudia Grutsch, Charlevoix County volunteer was in charge of meals. Games, contest, campfire skits and songs and typical tent and outdoor living chores completed the round of daily activites. In addition youngsters were able to visit the Historic Beaver Head Lighthouse to view far out over Lake Michigan and expanses of the Island itself.

Charlevoix County 4-H campers involved with this esperience have the unique opportunity to become part of an ambitious adventure without ever leaving the county. They travel by boat for over 2 hours and by van down the length of Beaver Island to reach a primitive campground - and have the feeling of being far away.

A return to Beaver Island for camp in 1983 is anticipated and many Charlevoix County 4-H members are looking forward to it already.

Special school bus run planned for kindergarten students-to-be

The special bus run for the benefit of children entering kindergarten for the first time has been scheduled for Tuesday, August 31, Vincent Otach, business manager at the Charlevoix Public Schools, has announced.

The buses, following their assigned routes, will leave the bus garage at 9 a.m. on this date and will stop at the home of every child who is register to begin school in September.

Parents are asked to be present at the time the children meet their bus driver who will take each child on a tour of the bus, esplain bus etiquette and answer any questions the child or parents might have.

Starting school can be a traumatic experience for a child even though it is something he or she has been looking forward to with pleasure. By acquainting the child with the new mode of travel, we feel it will help make the experience a happy one Supt. Gordon W. VanWieren explained.

September devoted to Indians at McCune Art Center

The Crooked Tree Arts Council has announced that it will present a special series of programs during the month of September, 1982, to honor the many contributions of local American Indian culture to present day community life.

The series of programs will be called the "Nishnabe Arts Festival", drawing its name from the Indian word which identifies members of the Three-Fires alliance of tribes indigenous to the Northern Michigan area: The Ottawa, Ohjibwa, and Potawatomi tribes. Some of the important features of the festival will be:

A gallery exhibition of American Indian Art of the Northern Great Lakes dating from ancient times to the present: September 4 to 29; Gallery opening - September 4, 7 to 9 p.m.;

A special educational theatre presentation of native music, dance, and legends to be performed by members of the Haskill Indian Junior College from Lawrence, Kansas; September 10 at 8 p.m., September 11 at 2 p.m. (matinee) and 8 p.m.; Tickets are $3.50 for adults, $2.50 for students;

A series of demonstrations in which local Indian artisans will demonstrate traditional crafts, including Quill Box construction, beadwork, and basketry; September 11 and September 18, 1 to 5 p.m.;

On September 18, Tri-County Indian Cernter will host a sale of Indian Arts and Crafts at the McCune Arts Center, beginning at 7 p.m.

A community banquet featuring foods prepared according to native American techniques and recipes will be held September 25 at 7 p.m. The dinner will be followed by Indian legends.

The Nishnabe Arts Festival, which will be presented in the McCune Arts Center in Petoskey, is being planned by a committee appointed by the Crooked Tree Arts Council. Mr. Dewitt "Bucko" Teeple of the Tri-County Indian Center of Petoskey and Dr. Kirk Osonlach of Cross Village are the Co-Chairmen of the event. This festival is funded in part by the National Endowment for the Arts.

Knight on the Town
Life of a house

by Dave Knight

It is the summer of 1909.

From atop the ridge, the young man looks east across the hills of Eveline Township. He can see the turquoise of Pine Lake's South Arm cradled in the valley. Thanks to the recently departed loggers, his view of the lake stretches for miles north and south. A steamer loaded with coal and bound for East Jordan wheezes its way down the lake.

A farmhouse sits on the ridge. Surrounding the back porch is a sturdy wall of fieldstone and mortar. It bears testimony to countless spring days spent by the former owner, a farmer, clearing the rugged land for his crops. Perhaps it was the one of the reasons he finally gave up.

This house will now be a home for the young man's family.

He turns to the northwest. A friendly breeze meets his face. This breeze, he reckons, will change its tune come November.

He takes an axe handle and marks in the soil where pine pine seedlings shall be planted as a windbreak.

Looking back to the meadow he plans in his mind the planting of more trees - cherry trees. And between the rows, gooseberries.

It shall be called the Eveline Orchard.

It is the summer of 1940.

A young man, standing on the stone wall behind the house, shades his eyes as he scans the trees - now apple trees covering hundreds of acres of the valley. He has hired hands to pick apples. The house on the ridge shall be a home for his family but only until after harvest. Then he will ship off to boot camp and she will take the children back home to Texas.

As the sun beats down, he moves into the shade of the pine trees. Their crowns almost touch the shingled roof.

It is the summer of 1975.

The panorama of the valley beckons but the young man and his wife focus their attention on the house on the ridge. It is void of life. Years of vacancy and neglect have allowed weeds to grow as high as the first floor window sills. The windows themselves are but shards of glass. Wooden siding is cracked and gray. Boards hang from doorways not used in a generation.

But this is not what the couple sees.

They see a yellow house with green shutters to match the green lawn. They see a new roof, a new porch, glass doors to the east and huge bay windows from which to view the splendor of the valley. They see a crackling fire in a huge stone fireplace. They see their children playing on the ageless stone wall.

He bends over to pick up a hammer, unknowing of the rude fates that will prevent him from enjoying the fruits of his labor.

It is the summer of 1982.

The young man can barely see the South Arm, even from the huge windows on the second floor of the house. Blue water is visible only through one or two notches in the nearest treeline. The Eveline hills are lush. Closest ones are forest green, while those farther away take on a greyish cast in the August haze.

Some limbs of the apple trees, laden with thick clusters of fruit, almost touch the ground. This, his first crop, will be a bumper crop, he thinks.

The house, yellow with green shutters and dominated on one wall by a huge stone fireplace and chimney, will be a home for his family. A swaying hammock is stretched between the massive trunks of two pine trees, two of nine that now dwarf the house.

The young man sits on the stone wall. He wonders what some farmer 90 years ago would have thought if he'd have known a newspaperman, who had never spent a day rockpicking in his life, would someday own the house on the ridge.

Letters: Right to know

Dear Mr. Knight,

I appreciate as a local citizen the Courier's news stories on the Charlevoix area's TCE contaminated water and the local Government's programs to clean our water supply. There is, however, no report of the source of the industrial chemical TCE (cleaning solvent which is being dumped into our water supply. What information came from all the test drillings in the area as to the source? Rumor about the Charlevoix City Manager's office is that all information may not be made quickly and readily available to the public. It is necessary that City Government make such information available fully and promptly to Charlevoix citizens.

I believe we have a right, as citizens of this community, to know the sources that are polluting our water with chemicals and that we need to be informed so that we can bring intelligent pressure on our government to keep our environment safe and beautiful. I urge the Courier to continue its search for information and to report it.

I chose this place because of its reputed clean beauty and friendly people. I am becoming disillusioned by Medusa dust and smog and TCE polluted water.

Senior Power underlined in legislative scorecard

by PEG OHLE

Senior Power, sometimes called "Grey Power", is emphasized in a review of state legislation pertaining to senior citizens' interests.

A recent issue of "Aging Alert" notes that of eight key bills brought before the House and Senate during the last session, seven became law by large vote margins.

In the House, 666 votes were cast on seven bills, with 665 votes being "yes" and one "no".

In the Senate, 266 votes were cast on eight bills, with 260 votes being "yes" and six "no".

As an example of how the Area Agencies on Aging (for which "Aging Alert" is the house organ) keep track of legislators' votes, the publication indicates how every individual House member and every Senator voted on each bill.

All three of Charlevoix County's legislators had good records in voting on senior citizens' bills. Representative Ralph Ostling of the 103rd District and Representative Steve Andrews of the 106th District voted "yes" on all bills. Senator Mitch Irwin voted "yes" on five of the Senate bills but missed roll call on three others. He sponsored three of the Senate bills.

Among the bills passed at the last session, one provides for a three-year continuation of the Home Heating Tax Credit Program, one allows a senior millage vote at any election, one clarifies the Insurance Commissioner's authority over Blue Shield rates, one liberalizes pension fund investments, one provides for free ID cards for seniors, and one sets standards for Medicare supplemental insurance.

Two other issues – property tax relief and transportation were debated but set aside because of the State's financial problems. Legislation to ban mandatory retirement was stalled in the House Civil Rights Committee.

Clockwise
City lights, barren nights

by Bob Clock

THE MUCH TOUTED celestial display of shooting stars recently was a total eclipse so far as Clockwise is concerned.

I tried to catch the extravaganza — but I only saw one meteor, and I would have missed that one if I had blinked.

The problem is not with Mother Nature, who usually does her best to keep us entertained, but with all of the man-made lights that outshine her heavenly fireworks.

On Aug. 10 — the first night of the big shooting star display — Judy and I decided to walk down to the foot of Dixon Avenue for a front row seat. But we soon discovered that few stars were visible thanks to street lights, lights from LaCroft condominium, lights on the pierheads and the flashing strobes on the Medusa silos.

The night had turned chilly and Judy decided to return home. But I was determined to see my shooting stars, so I walked north to the first beach stairway on Michigan Avenue and picked my way through pitch darkness to the beach — which was brilliantly illuminated by lights from The Dunes condominium and the aforementioned lights on the pierheads and at Medusa.

However, I did catch one streak of light out of the corner of my eye before a heavy cloud cover moved in.

All of which made me marvel at the increase in man-made lighting since I was a kid. In the 1930s and 1940s, summer skies before the moon rose invariably were inky black and studded with millions of quartz flecks from horizon to horizon.

If you wanted to venture forth at night — particularly at the summer cottage — you were compelled to travel by the light of a flaming cattail torch saturated with kerosene. We always kept a tin pail of them outside the back door to light our way to the beach, the pump, the john or neighboring cottages.

I suppose the flashlight had been invented by that time, but you seldom saw one. Cattail torches did the job just as well and they didn't require expensive batteries.

The proliferation of artificial lighting is one of the miracles of the late 20th Century. On our streets we have incandescent lamps, mercury vapor lamps, sodium vapor lamps, gas lamps, neon lights, traffic lights and brilliantly lighted shop windows.

Our cars are equiped with headlights, taillights, sidelights, dashboard lights, trunk lights, map lights, glove compartment lights and dome lights.

Our homes and businesses are ablaze with fluorescent and incandescent lights of every description — floor lamps, table lamps, ceiling lights, wall lights, night lights, bed lamps, counter lights, candles, oil lamps and TV lights, not to mention the friendly glow of the TV screen itself.

Barnyards — which were once enveloped in darkness after the sun set — are now flooded with high-standing safety lights visible for miles around.

Don't get me wrong. I'm not yearning for the dear old dim days of yesteryear. But I do miss an occasional glimpse of inky black sky filled with quartz flecks from horizon to horizon.

Bergmann Center

depending on the type and location of facilities available and other factors.

Questions have also been raised about the wisdom of initiating a new program in the Charlevoix area, a "Teaching Family Model Home" for up to six emotionally disturbed children, while the Bergmann Center cannot get the funding it needs. The home has been proposed for a Charlevoix Township location.

According to Ms. Kaczynski, funds are allocated for the Teaching Family Home at the state level and have no bearing on money available for work activity programming such as provided by the Bergmann Center.

"The issues have no relationship," she said.

One underlying fear of the Bergmann Center's Board of Directors is of eventual takeover of the Center by the CMH board. The CMH board has direct control over Little Traverse Enterprises in Petoskey and recently took over Lamplighters in Cheboygan as well.

"This has always been a locally run and locally supported facility," said Brill, "I think the our board and people of Charlevoix would like to see it remain that way."

Ms. Kaczynski acknowledges the recent change in philosophy of the CMH board from contracting services to direct operation saying that it represents a change in "management style" and that direct operation of work activity centers can provide some economic advantages.

"Any change in management policy toward the Bergmann Center is the perogative of the (CMH) board, however," she said, "I cannot speak for them."

Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Walter D. Lott

Moerland-Lott

Karrilee Ruth Moerland and Walter Daniel Lott were married on Saturday afternoon, August 14, at the United Methodist Church in Charlevoix.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Lee Moerland of Charlevoix, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Philip Lott of East Lansing.

The Reverend David Yingling performed the double-ring ceremony before approximately 150 guests.

Matching candelabra on each side of the altar, a large floral centerpiece on the altar, and a unity candle with tapers provided the decorations.

Mr. and Mrs. Moerland gave their daughter in marriage. She wore a gown fashioned with off-the-shoulder neckline, fitted bodice, double-tiered skirt with princess seams, and attached cathedral-length train made of antique white rosebud lace and matching lace trim. The gown was trimmed in pearls. The matching floor-length crown cap bell was made of rosebud lace, and trimmed in satin ribbon, and the bouquet was composed of daisies, carnations, and stephanotis with a touch of baby's breath and statice [illegible] greens.

[illegible] J. Holmes of Charlevoix designed and fashioned the wedding gown and veil.

Camilla Kaups of Charlevoix served as maid of honor. Karen Lemon, Mary French, Brenda Luigibihl, and Karen Schmidt, all of Charlevoix, served as bridesmaids. The maid of honor wore a sleeveless lilac gown fashioned with gathered bodice, flowing skirt, and capelet. She carried a crescent of daisies and carnations. The bridesmaids wore lilac gowns with tunnel sleeves, gathered bodices, and flowing skirts. They carried crescents of daisies.

Lisa Hooker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hooker of Charlevoix, served as flower girl. She wore a pink pinafore fashioned with three layers of lace, and carried a lace-trimmed basket decorated with satin ribbon from which she tossed rose petals.

David Wilcox of East Lansing served as best man. Lester Lott of East Lansing, Dean Farmer of Minneapolis, Paul Chudelmelka of Lincoln, Nebraska, and Tim Moerland of Oldtown, Maine served as groomsmen. Tim Moerland and Lester Lott also served as ushers.

Traditional music for the ceremony was provided by organist Elizabeth Humphrey. Irving Prescott sang "The Lord's Prayer", and Tim Benedict sang "Morning Has Broken" and "Eternal Love and Perfect Love".

Following the ceremony, the bride's parents hosted a reception in the garden of their home at the Belvedere Club. They were assisted by members of the Methodist Church's women's group. Grey Gables catered the food and Bogg's Bakery supplied the five-tier wedding cake. Jimmy Coggs provided piano music.

On Friday evening, the bridegroom and his parents hosted a rehearsal dinner at the Weathervane Inn.

The newlyweds will reside in Quantico, Virginia, where the bridegroom will be stationed with the United States Navy for two years.

The bride is a graduate of Charlevoix High School and attended Eastern Michigan University. The bridegroom is a graduate of East Lansing High School and attended Lansing Community College.

Bear sale prompts charges

Every once in a while the culture and traditions of another part of the world become entangled with American law.

So it was last week when Suk Wha Seo, a Buddhist monk from Detroit, appeared before Judge Harvey C. Varnum in Charlevoix District Court. The charge against him ws that he had "bought bear" from a hunter who had legally killed the animal.

Specifically, Suk Wha Seo had bought the gall bladder of the bear, which he explained he would grind up and use in religious rites.

Breaking the law that says parts of hunted wild animals cannot be bought or sold cost Suk Wha Seo $405.

Color consultant can suggest most flattering clothing, makeup shades

by PEG OIHLE

If you have red hair and brown eyes, Mary McCardel would probably call you an "Autumn" and suggest that you could wear a brown suit with an oyster white and navy blouse and orange accents.

You could also wear rusts and greens with yellow undertones as well as golds and orange-reds. All blues except teal are "no-no's", and so is black. Your lipstick and blush should have rust undertones.

Mrs. McCardel is in the business of teaching women how to select colors that are best for them. She is a representative of "Color Me Beautiful", the registered name of a color consulting business created and promoted by Carole Jackson of New York and Washington.

"Color Me Beautiful" categorizes women by season -- Winter, Summer, Spring, and Autumn – based on their skin, eyes, and hair coloring, each with a palette of 30 colors.

"We use these categories only because we think women will remember them more easily than if we just said, 'You are a No. 1 or a No. 2'", Mrs. McCardel explained.

Mrs. McCardel, who has a summer home on Lake Charlevoix, has been consulting with groups of women in Charlevoix and Emmet Counties all summer.

"We like to work with groups of four to six women," she says, "because that way they support each other. It means a lot to have a friend say, 'You look great.'"

During most of the year, Mrs. McCardel consults with women at Hudson's Department Store in Lansing. While in Northern Michigan she has also done some work at Country Casuals in Petoskey. On Tuesday evening of this week (August 24), she is conducting a "Color Evening" there.

As part of the "Color Me Beautiful" consultation, each woman is given swatches of material in 30 different colors (her palette) and a make-up guide. The idea is that these swatches can be carried in the woman's purse and referred to when buying clothing.

But Mrs. McCardel does not recommend that you throw out your present wardrobe. "You can blend palette colors into your wardrobe as items of clothing are replaced," she suggests.

There are now 103 "Color Me Beautiful" consultants in the United States, according to Mrs. McCardel, who recently returned from a convention of the group in Washington. There are six consultants in Michigan – two in East Lansing, one in Bloomfield Hills, one in Midland, and two in Traverse City.

There is a "Color Me Beautiful" book on the market, written by Mrs. Jackson, who, according to Mrs. McCardel, has been brave enough to start writing a color book for men. That will be on the market in the near future.

"Color Me Beautiful" consultations take about three hours and cost $50. Spending money that way can be well justified because "it gives a woman an upbeat feeling in these days of depression", Mrs. McCardel believes.

A thoroughly modern woman, Mrs. McCardel returned to college after raising four children and graduated from Michigan State with a degree in interior decorating. She will be in Charlevoix, and available for consultations, through the first week in September. Her phone number is 547-2442.

TWO NEW AMERICAN FLAGS were presented to Charlevoix Mayor Kenneth Staley last week by Mrs. Joseph Seidel, president of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 1153. The local Auxiliary donated the flags, to be used in East Park, as part of its loyalty and Americanism program this year.

V.F.W. plans 'hard times' dance party

Plans for a "hard times" party to be held at the V.F.W. Post Home Saturday, Sept. 18, were made at a recent meeting of the V.F.W. Auxiliary.

Mrs. John Gilding will chair the committee planning the event. Committee members will be Mrs. Clifford Johnson, Mrs. Jack Warner, Mrs. Gerald Burke and Mrs. Kenneth Staley. Music for both round and square dancing will be by Jasper and his Tag-Alongs. The evening's entertainment including refreshments will be $5.00 per person or $8.00 per couple. Those attending may dress in "hard time" clothes if they wish. Tickets will be available from Auxiliary members or at the door.

It was announced that the theme for Loyalty Day would be "Get Into Americanism that Freedom Might Live". Phyllis Goosen, state president, has chosen as her project for the year the devastating Huntington's Disease. The Michigan State Auxiliary has already contributed $10,600 to the University of Michigan Department of Neurology for research.

The auxiliary voted to send a contribution to the annual Jerry Lewis Telethon for Muscular Dystrophy. The group also voted to pay all district, state and hospital quotas for the year.

Mrs. Staley announced that the auxiliary had 70 paid memberships this year and that 1983 dues were now payable.

Members attending the recent district meeting hosted by the Emmet County Post were Mrs. Joseph Seidel, Mrs. Clarence Goldstick, Mrs. Thomas Hodgkinson and Mrs. Gertrude Holt.

At the recent meeting, National General Orders were read and information given on the national V.F.W. convention to be held in Los Angeles.

Sept. 2 was announced as the date for the next meeting of the Auxiliary. There will be no social meeting this month.

Women's Club completes book sale, holds membership tea

The Charlevoix Women's Club held its annual two-day Book Sale, the club's major fund-raising project for the year, at the Charlevoix Public Library recently.

Held in connection with the event was the club's annual membership tea on Friday. Mrs. Julia Baer presided at the tea table. Greeting the guests were the president, Mrs. Ray Wood, and vice president, Mrs. Edmund Leedy. Mrs. Robert Martin was in charge of memberships.

Recipients of funds from the club during the past year have been the following: Ship Counseling Center, Charlevoix Area Hospital, Charlevoix Public Librarty, McCune Art Center at Petoskey, Campus Life, Keep Charlevoix Beautiful, Inc., Women's Resource Center in Petoskey, Charlevoix Historical Society and Little Traverse International League for Peace and Freedom for the "Ground: Zero" Educational Week. A contribution was also given to the CHICO Indian Fund for the Indian Summer Camp at Greensky Hill where Indian children study their heritage and learn Indian crafts. The club also helped three Indian children finance the purchase of musical instruments at school.

Mrs. Robert Murray will host a "get acquainted" potluck luncheon at her Norwood home at 12:30 p.m. Sept. 21. Any woman in the community wishing to join the Charlevoix Women's Club is invited to attend this meeting, learn about the club activities and meet the membership. Everyone is asked to bring a dish to pass and their own table service. Mrs. Arthur Wexstaff will present the program "The Old Dixie Highway".

Yachting Notes

The final race of the Summer Series is upon us. Next week we'll (hopefully) give you the list of the winners and the hardware they have earned. It's really down to the wire on all positions with the possible exceptions of First Place, Overall and First Place, 525's which "Pine River Hummer" and "Indooroophilly" respectively, seem to have well in hand.

This weekend, don't forget the Red Hot Hot Dog Series, both on Saturday and Sunday, August 28 and 29. Just be at the C.Y.C. dock by 10:00 sharp (or you've automatically got one loss against your two allowed)! Mike Miller could use some help getting the course set...call Mike at 547-6167.

Cruising Yachts - still time to make the Mackinaw Island rendezvous but call Donaldson's today (547-9950).

All Sailors, don't forget to get your registration in for Budweiser Olympic Triangle and Red Fox Regatta by August 30! Call Tom Bickersteth (547-4602) or Warren Totter (582-6526) or better yet, pick up and fill out your registration at the Club Wednesday or Friday evening.

Trophy return time for all you 1981 winners. Please, please, please drop them off at Village Car Care by September 10th!

I'm surprised by the interest (and general lack of knowledge) in becoming a Club Member. If you're one of those who are interested, or just curious, stop in and talk to Commodore Mike Carland at Village Car Care. Info. and applications could also be found by visiting Jacquie Merta at the Chamber of Commerce or Lou Hollow at the First State Bank. It's inexpensive, it's fun, you don't have to own a yacht and don't even have to be an ol' salt. If you're good company and-or have an interest in the water - join us!

Wednesday Night at the Races...

Hey, a great battle between "Camouflage" and "Bandit" resulting in the former being first-to-finish, (quite a feat when you consider the hot shot bigger yachts out there) but failing to save his time on the latter.

Overall..."Bandit" by 12 seconds on "Camouflage" with almost 2 minutes on "Indooroophilly", then "Max" and "Hummer".

P.H.R.F...."Camouflage", "Hummer", and "Oh Baby". (Welcome Bill Adams!)

P.26..."Tireless", "Foxy Lady", and "Blazen III".

525's..."Bandit", "Indooroophilly", and "Max".

In the Portsmouth Fleet, "Cheemaun" corrected out over 6 minutes ahead of "TeGi" followed by "Stalworth", (Hope we finally have the name right, Scott!)

Well, the word's out, so we'll admit that A. Nony has enjoyed writing this column and also enjoyed the above mentioned first overall! Let the Courier know if you enjoyed reading this report of the positions and a few of the impositions we've added now and then. If there is some support we'll keep it up through the fall series...provided the Editor agrees!

Jack Uhrick, a member of the General Public present, questioned the City's intent to leave the lot on East Dixon adjacent to The Lodge zoned as R-1 when the individuals preparing the City Master Plan have proposed that it be zoned C-1. The City Manager explained that all citizen input to date had been in favor of the R-1 zoning and that the City Council can still give the planners direction regarding zoning if they wish to make changes in specific areas.

WHEREAS, Section 2.11 of this Chapter provides for a minimum charge for City pick-up of trash, garbage, or other refuse which has been left along the public rights-of-way in violation of this Chapter;

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the minimum charge for City pick-up of private refuse left along the public rights-of-way in violation of this Chapter shall be $25.00.

Moved by Councilman Block and supported by Councilman Timms to appoint Jim Willis to the Charlevoix Recreation Commission for a term of three years commencing August 20, 1982.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Councilmembers Block, Olach, Porter, Timms, Roloff, and Wood.

Nays: None.

Absent: None.

Council discussed the wholesale water rate being charged Charlevoix Township as requested by Oscar Stroud, Charlevoix Township Supervisor, who had previously voiced an objection that the increase in the rate effective December, 1981, was too large an increase at once. Mayor Staley questioned whether or not the Township had received sufficient notice of the increase and Councilman Timms suggested the Township be charged the new rate but that it not be doubled as is the current practice for sales outside the City. Council generally agreed to retain the present wholesale rate as recommended in a study of City water rates as conducted by Granger Engineering.

Proposed regulation of the U.S. 31 bridge was tabled for discussion at the Committee of the Whole meeting scheduled for August 23, 1982.

Dick Georgi presented a site plan for the proposed Weathervane Terrace expansion. He stated that this plan was basically the same as the one approved by Council a year and a half ago with minor revisions as recommended by the City Planning Commission and the Fire Chief. Councilmembers questioned the plan's proposed head-in private parking along West Dixon which would eliminate the grassy strip between the sidewalk and curb and would also eliminate the present street parking adjacent to the site. Mrs. Mervin Beyers, a West Dixon property owner, also voiced her opposition to the proposed loss of street parking. Councilmembers expressed further concern regarding the high density of the project and lack of an on site drainage system.

Moved by Councilman Olach and supported by Councilman Wood that the Weathervane Terrace site plan be returned to the Planning Commission and that they devise a plan which would be compatible with the City's new Motel-Hotel zoning and that the owner be directed to apply for a rezoning of the property from C-1 to M-H.

Following further discussion, Councilman Wood withdrew his support of the above motion which died for lack of support.

Mr. Georgi stated that it would not be economically feasible to build the proposed project under the M-H zoning restrictions but he would agree to present a new plan for a three story rather than a two story building which would allow more open space and green area.

Moved by Councilman Timms and supported by Councilman Wood to refer the Weathervane Terrace site plan back to the Planning Commission with instructions to work with the developer in preparing a plan that does not eliminate as much on street parking, provides more greenery, particularly between the street and the building, provides on site drainage plan, and accomplishes screening between the project and adjacent properties.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote

Yeas: Councilmembers Block, Olach, Porter, Timms, Roloff, and Wood.

Nays: None.

Absent: None.

The Council having examined bills totaling $214,566.34 find them correct and recommend the bills be allowed.

Council adjourned.

(2) Depositing and Scattering. No person shall deposit or scatter trash, garbage or other refuse on any public street, alley or public property in the City

(3) Cleanliness. It shall be the duty of every owner, tenant, lessee or occupant of any building, residential or commercial, having trash, garbage or other refuse to provide for and have proper storage containers as defined in this Chapter, of sufficient size and number to handle the accumulation of trash, garbage or other refuse on the premises. There shall be no undue accumulation of materials and the buildings and premises shall be kept in a clean and orderly condition. Should any person violate this provision, the City shall notify said owner, tenant, lessee or occupant by personal service of a written notice or by first class mail to correct the violation within twenty-four (24) hours from the time of notification. However, this provision does not mean the City must approve, own or operate a sanitary land fill site.

2.9 Collector's License. Every person transporting trash, garbage or other refuse over the streets or alleys of the City or collecting trash, garbage or other refuse on a commercial basis, shall obtain a license so to do, and upon the issuance of such license shall agree and provide that they shall pay all fees necessary for the disposal of such trash, garbage or other refuse to the owner of the site where disposed of, which site shall be approved by the City. VANCE WALSTAD

Funeral services for a former resident, Mrs. Harry (Vance) Walstad, 82, who died August 18 at a Phoenix, Ariz. hospital, were held Saturday at Memory Lawn Mortuary in Phoenix. Interment will be in Phoenix.

The former Vance Swartout was born at Cross Village Aug. 12, 1900, and attended schools in northern Michigan, including the Petoskey High School, before coming to the Charlevoix area with her family. On Nov. 25, 1925, she was married to Mr. Walstad in Charelvoix where they lived until going to Phoenix in 1953. For a number of years they returned to Charlevoix for the summer months. She was a member of the Fist Baptist Church here and the Immanuael Baptist Church in Phoenix; a life member and past matron of Charlevoix Chapter No. 72, Order of the Eastern Star and a member and past president of the American Legion Auxiliary here.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Lois Hoover of Pheonix with whom she had made her home for the past 18 months; a son, Don Gordon Walstead of Seattle, Wash.; four grandchildren; a brother Lloyd Swartout of Cheboygan and a sister, Mrs. Elouise Senneker of Wayland.

Walloon Lake Assn. holds annual meeting

H. Jerome Noel, longtime Walloon Lake resident, was re-elected President of the 550 plus member Walloon Lake Association at the Association's 21st annual meeting held last Thursday at the Walloon Lake Country Club. Other officers elected were: Leon H. Fish, Vice President; Howard C. Weber, Treasurer; and Tom L. Walenta, Secretary.

Named to a three-year term on the Board of Trustees is Allan M. Cameron, Jr. Elected to the unexpired three-year term of Dr. Alan Damschroder, is Joseph E. Lunghamer. Re-elected to the Board of Trustees for three-year terms are incumbents William A. Heisel, D.D.S., Leon Hall Fish and Peter R. Rentschler. Leaving office after a three-year term is John J. Devine, Jr.

Fish reported that the recently constructed dry hydrant prototype in Resort Township is working and will be demonstrated to the public on Thursday, August 26, 1982, at 8:00 p.m. The prototype is located at 6272 Lake Grove Road. The dry hydrant makes it possible for fire trucks to pump water out of the lake year round. The Association will not be involved in any further construction of these dry hydrants around the lake, but will make the specifications available to local governments wanting to construct them.

Walenta introduced Sheriff Geroge T. Lasater, Charlevoix County Sheriff, and recognized his department's cooperation in maintaining law and order around the lake. A special award was presented to Deputy Dave Burris of the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department and Tom Rigg of the Emmet County Sheriff's Department for recovering the largest amount of stolen property and for making the most follow-up arrests.

President Noel presented lifetime membership awards to the following persons making substantial contributions to the Walloon Lake Trust: Dorothy Munson Krenrich, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph A. Graham, Dr. and Mrs. Raymond C. Hausbeck, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Lincoln, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Lotspeich, Mr. and Mrs. E. Curtis Matthews, Mrs. Cynthia W. Ottaway, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Pohl, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Wolf, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Wilson, Jr., Mr. Joseph L. Brubaker, Mr. Hugh E. Brubaker, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald J. Wright and Mr. and Mrs. William B. Hargreaves.

Lotspeich, chairman of the zoning committee, noted that the Emmet County Zoning and Planning Commission recently amended their zoning ordinance to include restrictions on the use of private and semi-private land as a lake access site. The Association opposes the use of lakefront property for "funnel" subdivisions and working with local zoning boards to restrict this type of development has been a major concern of the Association for several years. Lotspeich said this recent ordinance amendment offers a good measure of protection against "funnel" developments.

Walenta reported that the Association has been instrumental in continuing the annual lake trout plantings by the Department of Natrual Resources, with 35,000 planted every year since 1972.

Trustee Homer Golden reported that the 1982 Garage Sale-Auction was very successful, with all monies raised going to the Walloon Lake Trust.

Walloon Lake Trust President Dr. William A. Heisel said the Trust would be funding ongoing programs to monitor water quality of Walloon Lake and to protect the watershed. He also recognized the recent donation of 80 acres to the Walloon Lake Land Conservancy lands in their natural and explained the benefit of keeping these state.

Posse to benefit from collected cans and bottles

Returnable Michigan beverage cans and bottles picked up by members of the Sheriff's Department will be turned in for deposit fees to help support the Sheriff's Posse.

Martin Bieganowski, chairman of the Sheriff's Committee of the County Board of Commissioners, last week received permission from the County Board for this use of deposit funds.

It was pointed out that in the course of everyday operations, the Sheriff and his deputies come into contact with persons illegally possesing or transporting alcoholic beverages, which is one source of the containers they collect.

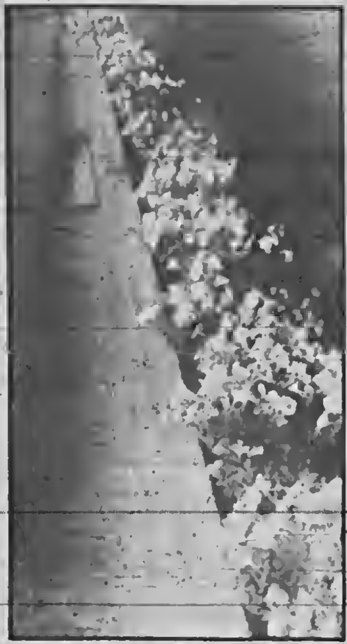
Operation Petunia: A Bloomin' Success



by DAVE KNIGHT

Okay, all you skeptics. Stand up and repeat after me: "The petunias look nice. Planting them was a good idea."

Charlevoix's petunias, all 30,000 of them lining Highway 31 from one end of town to the other, have survived an unusually dry summer, vehicle exhaust fumes, a flash flood, sewer line digging, a marijuana raid and countless other indignities.

Perhaps the most imposing hurdle the petunia project overcame, however, was the ridicule that greeted Dale Boss and the Keep Charlevoix Beautiful (KCB) organization when the idea was conceived last January.

"Who's going to water them?"

"Who's going to pinch them?"

"Who's going to prevent some kid from ripping them up with his car?"

"Craziest thing I've ever heard of."

These were typical of the reactions to Boss's proposal to plant petunias the length of the city limits on both sides of the highway. The magnitude of the project - planting and maintaining a flower bed four linear miles long - was simply overwhelming to most Charlevoix residents.

But even the most cynical detractors of the project when it first started are now shaking their heads and dining on crow as the raves pour in from all over from travelers who have been awed by the floral extravaganza.

It was in January that Boss persuaded the KCB Board of Directors, headed by President Bruce MacArthur, to back the project. By mid-February, detailed plans were underway. The first order of business was fund raising. Marilyn Boss, Dale's wife, came up with a design for a Charlevoix license plate. With an interest-free loan from the First State Bank, an order was placed for 1,000 of the plates. On February 25, volunteers from 23 local organizations went door-to-door in the city and township to raise the neccessary $3,500 for the flowers. Plates were also sold at the First State Bank, the Charlevoix County State Bank and Olesons grocery store. They are still available at the banks.

Goldstick and Zednicek are shown wearing specially designed petunia-planting helmets, part of the uniform of the day for the block captains.

The first vehicles to bear the custom license plates sold to raise funds for the petunias belonged to the City of Charlevoix. Here, from left, Dale Boss, Mayor Kenneth Staley and Street Superintendent Leonard Dubey attach the first plate to a city truck.

The sand and salt deposited on roadsides by snowplows over the years resulted in levels way above the curb in many stretches.

The drive was successful. Six hundred flats of multi-colored petunias were ordered from the Renalda Nursery in Harbor Springs. A mailing went out to property owners along the route and secured permission to proceed from 134 out of the 137 commercial and residential parties involved.

Twenty years or more of snowplowing on Charlevoix's main thorofare had resulted in a build-up in some areas of sand, salt and debris over two above the curb.

Late in April, the chore of grading these stretches and digging the beds began. While a grader contracted at a low rate from Hodgkiss & Douma of Petoskey skimmed about 1,600 cubic yards of earth off the roadside, trucks donated by the C.H. Smith Co., Manthei Development Corp., Tri-City Asphalt, Dawson and Barney Way and a limited number from the city made over 200 trips to haul the earth away. After the initial grading, a custom blade was welded onto the grader in the parking lot of Olesons that enabled it to dig a ditch for the flowers with one more pass.

For the next five weeks, daily from 7:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., Boss supervised a crew of from 12 to 20 workers receiving public assistance from the Charlevoix County Department of Social Services, (the DSS program requires able bodied persons receiving assistance to work on assigned jobs when possible). The crew worked down the beds with shovels and hoes loading more soil on trucks donated by Boss and Oscar Ward.

Further preparation involved the application in the beds of liquid manure, courtesy of the Tom Wieland farm, and the hydroseeding of the graded areas, which was done for only cost of the seedand Site Planning Development.

By Pride Day, Saturday, May 22, everything was ready. Three truckloads of the flowers were delivered to the LaCroft Condominium carport the night before and stored overnight. At 4:30 a.m. on planting day, directional signs and pylons were placed on the highway closing off the outermost lanes. By 5:30 a.m. flats of petunias were being placed at designated spots along the route.

Volunteers of all ages starting showing up at daybreak and by 9 a.m., an estimated 500 people had their sleeves rolled up and were busily planting, alternating red, white and blue colors. Amazingly, the job was done three hours ahead of schedule. The last petunia was planted at 10:13 a.m. and the volunteers retired to East park to enjoy a picnic prepard by Verna Swanson and Bev Boss.

Just because they were in the ground, however, was no guarantee the flowers would grow. After the Charlevoix Volunteer Firemen made the first watering run, Dale and Marilyn Boss assumed that all-important task

Here is what visitors to Charlevoix are saying about the flowers

Letters have been pouring in the past few weeks to the Chamber of Commerce, the Courier office, and other individuals, from travelers who passed through Charlevoix and were impressed by the petunias. Some enclosed checks, some indicated that they stopped for a meal or to do some shopping just because of the beautiful atmosphere created by the flowers. Following is a sample of some of the comments received to date.

Charlevoix Courier
Dear Sir:

It has been interesting to follow the articles about the petunia planting, in the Courier. However I couldn't imagine what it looked like and what a happy surprise when we drove through Charlevoix in July to see the petunias lining the main street.

I am a former resident of Charlevoix having graduated from High School there. I too would like to be a part of the plans for next year and am enclosing my check. Would you kindly see that it reaches the proper persons. Thank you.

Eleanor Ecklund Bright
Mount Dora, Florida

To Whom It May Concern:

We drove through Charlevoix last year from California to Indiana and were impressed. We decided to drive this way again and were delighted with the beauty of the rows of petunias, carefully weeded and tended.

Congratulations for a job well done. You made our day - so we stayed an extra day!

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lamb
Hemet, California
P.S. The food was good too!

Dear Friends,

Flowers to you! We had to take time out to tell you how impressed we were with the appearance of your petunia lined streets as we passed through on vacation last week. Your harbor was as neat and picturesque as any I've seen, and your civic pride was definitely in view. I just wonder what else (good works) your town has accomplished. We were sorry we were between meals and only needed to get gas in C., but you can be sure when next we go north we'll stop longer. If your folks care that much about their town streets, they must care a lot about the tourist.

Best wishes from some "big city" dwellers with tired eyes.

Mr. & Mrs. Steve Pavlovic
St. Louis, Missouri

Chamber of Commerce
Dear Sirs:

Coming back from Petoskey, after visiting my daughter, another daughter and I drove through Charlevoix on our way home, and what a beautiful sight it was, to see the petunias all along the curbsides. I shall never forget it. Whoever is responsible for the thought and effort, should be congratulated.

I have told many of my friends and I think it has prompted them to go and see for themselves.

Mrs. Agnes Klang
Muskegon, Michigan

An endless battle was been waged, successfully in most stretches, against weeds. Different crews of volunteers gather on weekday mornings to tackle the job. The Monday morning crew included, clockwise from front left, Captain Nancy Fowler, Judy Williams, Joyce Davenport, Caroline Klooster, Rosalyn Goldstick, Arla Staublin and Mary Helen Riggle.

Friday night, May 21, all 600 flats of petunias were trucked to Charlevoix and stored overnight in the carport of the LaCroft Condomonium.

Thanks for letting us be a part "of making" Charlevoix the Beautiful!

Dear Flower Lovers!

Indeed your whole town must love flowers and most especially petunias!

Today my husband and I spent several hours in your lovely town. We enjoyed your charming shops, ate a picnic on a nice grassy spot near your drawbridge and delighted in a boat ride on the lake. All that was fun!

But the thing I will remember about Charlevoix - the absolutely riotous display of petunias from one end of town to the other. What a smashing idea! What a happy idea! (I can't help but think an expensive idea!)

Anyhow, I want to commend you, one and all, for your endeavor! I also want to thank you for giving all those who pass through such a lift!

From one flower lover to another----and another! Thanks again!

Dear People of Charlevoix;

Just wanted you to know your sign "Charlevoix the Beautiful" as you enter Charlevoix is certainly true.

My husband and I had an occasion yesterday to drive thru your town on our way to Carp Lake. I noticed your beautiful petunias in endless line and mentioned it to my husband. On our way back we enjoyed the endless color again.

They are lovely, such a nice thing to do.
A friend from Traverse City."

Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce

Please send tourist information for your beautiful city. Also, we are interested in the trip to Beaver Island.

We hope you have the gorgeous petunias every year. We drove through recently and could stop for only a couple hours. We want to come back.

Chamber of Commerce
Dear Sirs:

Recently my husband and I had the occasion to travel through your city, and I want to compliment you and the good people of Charlevoix for the flowers planted along your city streets.

The petunias planted along the curbs, from one end of trhe city to the other, were a beautiful sight to see, and you can well be proud of them! Super!! In this day and age, when most cities cannot afford to - or will simply not cut the grass, much less plant flowers, you are to be applauded.
Mrs. Jack A. Reiter
Kalamazoo, MI.

Chamber of Commerce
Gentlemen,

Last week I had the pleasure of visiting your city. My object in writing this letter is to tell you how much I enjoyed the beautiful plantings of petunias along the roadside. It was a real joy to behold and should make everyone feel that Charlevoix is the most beautiful city in

Once the flower beds were dug, liquid manure was applied along the entire route from a tank truck.

The massive grading project to prepare the flower beds left city roadsides somewhat disheveled for a few weeks.

A grader leveled off the roadsides and, with a special attachment welded to the blade, dug the four-mile flower bed on a second sweep.

Chamber of Commerce
Gentlemen:

Recently we drove through Charlevoix on our way to the summer Sheriff's Convention in Marquette, Michigan.

I don't know who is responsible for the petunias that line both sides of the road from one end of the city to the other, but we must compliment you on such a fine project. Charlevoix is such a beautiful city and the streets lined with flowers just enhances its beauty. We're hoping we can drive through Charlevoix in late summer or early fall when they will be at their peak.

Thank you for adding to our enjoyment.
Mrs. Forrest L. Jewell

Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce
Gentlemen:

As we drove through your town we "oohed and aahed" over the miles of beautiful petunias along the curb. We wondered who panted them - and cared for them, it certainly is a big plus for you and we hope to return someday.

Thank you for a bright spot in our day.

Chamber of Commerce
Dear Ms. Merta:

A Manistee County Chamber member had the pleasant experience of passing through your fair city and was simply awed by the flowers along your roadway.

Out of pure curiosity, we would like to know who plants the flowers and who maintains them. It may be the type of project that can be started in Manistee.

Any information you could supply would be greatly appreciated.

Jerome R. Kiscorni
Manistee Chamber of Commerce

Entire families joined in the planting which was finished three hours ahead of schedule; the day turned out to be as much a social outing as a work project.

Over 500 people turned out on Pride Day to plant petunias; it was all the block captains could do to keep everyone supplied with flowers.

Once the flowers were in the ground, the City Volunteer Fire Department gave them their first drink; here, Jerry Pease does the honors.

A regular convoy of Operation Petunia trucks, all donated, went into action on planting day distributing flats of flowers along the route.

for the summer. Dale mounted a water trough on his truck and rigged a hose and sprinkler fitting to it. For the first three weeks, Dale and Marilyn arose at 4:30 a.m. every other day to spend 4½ hours watering the petunias. Now, with the plants established, they make the rounds every fourth or fifth day. But now the flowers are taking more water, too, - about 7,000 gallons each time - and the run takes some seven hours.

The Rapid Gro fertilizer company donated some $800 worth of its product which was applied through the watering system in the first and third weeks of July.

All the liquid manure, Rapid Gro and grass seed applied over the summer created a monumental battle against weeds. This is another area in which volunteers took over. Besides the organized groups who got together on a weekly basis to work on special problem areas, literally hundreds of other people - sometimes people just walking down the street - have stooped to pick weeds from the petunia beds at one time or another.

Not all the weeds were of natural origin. In one of the more bizarre offshoot stories of the project, marijuana plants were discovered to be growing in profusion in some stretches of the petunia beds. Apparently someone took advantage of the fertile beds to raise his crops. Before the harvest could be made, however, the police moved in and did the job.

As raves about this year's petunias continue to come in, plans are already being made for next year. On August 7, KCB held an auction in East Park that raised $7,500 toward the last of this year's costs and toward the purchase of next year's flowers.

Boss envisions a double row along the entire route next year - requiring 15,000 more flowers - and foresees even planting petunias at the bases of the trees downtown.

Absurd idea, you say? Could never be done? Let's see now...when have we heard that before?

In a way, Charlevoix's petunias are like people

by DALE BOSS

At dawn, the other morning, as I was watering the petunias, I though of the many similarities between the lives of the flowers and our lives. At 5:30 in the morning, it is quiet and there is time to think. When the sun began to come up, we were coming around the 15 M.P.H. curve at our speed of ¾ mile per hour, and its rays were touching the tips of the flowers. The view coming around the curve, made me think, that as in life, we don't know what is coming around the next curve, but God does light the way, inch by inch. The sight was so beautiful, I was thinking that the streets here are only asphalt, but that the Bible says that the streets of heaven will be of pure gold. As I let my thoughts roam, I realized these flowers have a lot to tell us about our lives, and that we are like the many different kinds there are along the road of life.

To start with, a lot of people didn't have the faith to believe the final result. The most common comment made is, "I didn't know they were going to turn out like that". We planted a good grade of petunias in several colors, which represent the various people and denominations on earth. Because of the good plants, the watering, the weeding, the feeding, and the sunlight, we got a good crop of petunias. Each one was essential to the final product. If you go through life and allow the thistles (hate), thorns (jealousy), and weeds (greed) to grow, you can't expect to blossom and be the best example of the person God would like you to be. We do reap the harvest of what we sow. In order to have a good crop of petunias (life on this earth), it is necessary to pull the weeds out of our lives daily. I think it is hard enough to struggle along, without deliberately planting weeds to choke our our best efforts and energy in what we have to do.

Our journey through life is similar to the journey down around the curve of petunias. Some of the flowers were run over and killed early in the season. Some became diseased and died along the way. Some were choked out by grass and weeds, as no one saw the need to do anything about it. Some were drowned by the flood from a storm. We have watched time after time, the bruised and battered plants begin again, and grow up to blossom, even when every branch was cut off. Others received too much abuse, and couldn't rally, but they really gave it all they had. Many are bright and beautiful, and will continue to be so, until maturity. Our lives can be the same if we will let God have a place in them, and continue to nourish our minds daily.

Some people are in such a hurry to get somewhere, they don't have time to enjoy the flowers of life. This means to spend time with your kids, your mom or dad, your husband or wife, or someone less fortunate than you. These flowers have a beautiful fragrance, and so can we. If you feel down in the dumps, go out and do something nice for someone. We are not all alike, and God did not intend it that way, no more than the petunias are all the same, but we can be more helpful to each other in many ways, and the people of Charlevoix could show others what living is all about. Wouldn't it be nice, if our visitors would see us all as friendly, compassionate, loving and helpful? What a town this could be. An old friend of mine, Rev. Don Swinton, who has gone home to glory, said to me once, "Charlevoix is the next best place to Heaven."

The Bible says your works will follow after you. The late Walter Henley, former caretaker of the municipal golf course, used to plant petunias from Mercer Boulevard to Duffy's on the north side of the street for years. He tended them so carefully, and they were beautiful. yesterday, Marilyn counted 42 plants which had grown from seed which lay dormant in the ground there for at least 17 years. The are various colors, and really point up the fact that the seeds we sow can still come up and bloom even after we have left this earth. Our influences can still affect lives for years to come.

Lets all make life more beautiful in Charlevoix The Beautiful! We can do it!

A Message From

Keep Charlevoix Beautiful

August 16, 1982

Dear Friends,

Charlevoix's "beribboned" curbs (as described by "Darling" in Detroit Free Press) have inspired numerous letters of praise and thanks to City Hall and Chamber of Commerce. Some even contained checks to Keep Charlevoix Beautiful, Inc.

Every day we hear yet another amusing account of visitor reactions to the bountiful and beautiful petunias. One such was the incredulity expressed by a tourist telling a friend that "we were casually driving about the area when we came to this little town with miles and miles and miles of petunias!"

The nicest letter to date was one from Rabbi Samuel Karff of Houston, Texas who sent a donation in honor of Glen Kenney "who's shown us many kindnesses and to keep Charlevoix Beautiful ... the petunias have added so much to the scenic splendor of our town." Alvin Ranger was similarly honored with a contribution in his name by the Mihaly's of Cincinnati. Bella Mowrey sent a donation because her many houseguests had enjoyed the flowers so much.

So Operation Petunia will continue next year thanks to this kind of support and to the success of the August 7th Auction.

The Auction was a fun event also -- Jack Begrow took some good-natured kidding from Jack Malpeli who bid $120 not to go on Jack's luxury cruise. That cruise, by the way, through a series of such 'bids' and a donation by Stirling Berman ended up netting $420. Jack reported that he and the Duane Doggett family had a grand time sailing and enjoying a gourmet picnic basket packed by the Yellow Submarine washed down by champagne from the Wharfside.

The highest bidder for the Washington Weekend package was Capt. Gene Bridge who will fly to Washington with wife Ginny to celebrate their 29th wedding anniversary with lunch at the White House and dinner at the Capitol Hill Club. Republic Airlines and Regency Hyatt will provide an unforgettable anniversary.

There were 190 registered to bid on 150 items ranging from used tires to eight gourmet dinners served by the Grey Gables new catering service. There were some real bargains -- a used sailboat went for $100 and an upright piano went for $60. Farmer Clayton Smith brought in seven dozen fresh ears of corn.

We also had patrons, sponsors and cosponsors who donated cash instead of items or services and this money covered promotional and other auction expenses. We appreciate the many large and small donations. If they keep coming in, Dale Boss's idea for a "double row" next year might be possible.

Acknowledgements are being mailed out as quickly as possible to the many stores, businesses and individuals who contributed. There were many exceptional volunteers who helped so much that its almost impossible to single them out, but Bev Eby did a super job with the fashion show and the auctioneers, Carl Miller, Clarence Goldstick and Tom Duke were great. We will accept donations now for next year's auction on the first Saturday of August.

Dale Fisher's 'heliphotos' to be shown

by DAVE KNIGHT

You won't find "heliphotos" defined in Webster's. Not even, probably, in the most innovative photographic journals.

That is because they are just now in the process being established as an art form by Dale Fisher of Grass Lake, Michigan whose aerial photography is a unique blend of high technology and an artist's eye.

Fisher's white helicopter has been seen often in the skies of Charlevoix in recent months. He is in the process of compiling a set of Charlevoix scenes and has been engaged by the Chamber of Commerce and Economic Development Corporation to provide aerial photos for an informational brochure on the area.

This Saturday, September 4, Fisher's work will be displayed at a special marine photo art show from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. at Fairport Marine Electronics on Belvedere Ave. in Charlevoix. Those wishing to attend the show are asked to park on the street since the parking area will be used for the show.

A native of Ann Arbor, Fisher first developed an interest in photography in high school and before graduating had set up his own business in the field. A later stint in the Air Force exposed him to many of the special techniques involved in aerial photography.

Since getting out of the service, Fisher has refined the art of shooting photos from a helicopter to such an extent that his work is becoming nationally recognized. He was featured earlier this summer along with several of his photos in Michigan Natural Resources magazine.

Dry weather isn't helping, says Themm

Medusa dust again draws area complaints

by DAVE KNIGHT

Lack of rain, not malfunctioning or insufficient filtration equipment, accounts for a summer that many Charlevoix area residents claim has been spoiled by too much cement dust, according to Medusa Cement Company plant officials.

The Medusa plant, operating on Charlevoix Township's South Point, has been periodically criticized in past years for tainting local air quality with the dust that is a byproduct of the cement manufacturing process. Concern is being voiced again this summer by several area residents who feel the problem is worsening.

At least two local environmental organizations have indicated special interest in the matter. Concerned Citizens of Charlevoix, a group associated with their opposition to nuclear power in the past, has lent their support to efforts to improve air quality. The executive board of Keep Charlevoix Beautiful announced last week that it is establishing an Air and Water Quality Committee to investigate the dust problem.

Whether there is a problem, however, depends on whom you talk to.

"From a plant standpoint, dust collection has been very good this year," said Medusa plant manager Thomas Themm this week. "We have more dust collection units in operation now than we had last year and plan to add another large unit during the winter shutdown."

Data from air samples collected by the Department of Natural Resources at two locations in the city tend to support Themm's claim that the plant's dust collection has not been less effective this summer. Though dust levels rose sharply in July, they were similar to levels recorded last summer and remained below levels considered by the DNR to be unacceptable.

Air quality monitors are located at the school bus garage on Charlevoix's south side and at the County Building downtown. Dust filters in the monitors are exposed for 24 hours every six days and are then analyzed to determine how many micrograms of particulate matter exists per cubic meter of air.

The National Ambient Air Quality Standard establishes 150 mg per cubic meter as the maximum allowable level before a human health hazard exists and a violation can be cited.

At the County Building, the highest level recorded in 1981 was 138 mg, the second highest 122 mg and the third highest 118 mg. The annual mean at that location was 31 mg. The highest reading recorded so far this year at the County Building has been 100 mg and the average for 1982 to date is 32 mg.

At the bus garage, the three highest readings last year were 94 mg, 93 mg and 91 mg per cubic meter. The annual mean was [illegible]. This year, the highest reading has been 95 mg and the average reading is 32 mg.

DNR air quality specialist Richard Alexander points out that the annual mean readings taken in Charlevoix are among the very lowest in the state.

Medusa officials met with DNR regional staff members three weeks to appraise them of the plant's dust collection efforts following complaints to the DNR by local citizens.

According to Themm, a higher priority is put on dust collection at the Medusa plant than many other cement plants because of the delicate relationship of the plant to Charlevoix's history as a vacation mecca.

"We do not operate the plant when our dust collection is substandard," said Themm, "If I have a problem with one of my dust collection units, I shut down and fix it. We have not been operating with anything less than fully functional dust collectors."

Themm also said that new equipment this year includes dust collectors with especially large

Classes at the high school will begin at 7:50 a.m.; the middle school at 8:05 a.m. and at the elementary school at 9 a.m. Classes will be dismissed at 2:20 p.m. at the high school; 2:35 p.m. at the middle school and 3:30 p.m. at the elementary school.

While students will not be returning to the classroom until Wednesday, administrators, teachers and all other personnel will return on Tuesday. Administrators and faculty will meet at the high school at 8 a.m. for coffee. A general meeting for the entire staff will follow at 8:30 a.m. with a luncheon at the high school cafeteria at 12 noon for all school personnel. Members of the Board of Education and other invited guests will join them at the luncheon.

Principals and teachers will return to their respective schools following the luncheon.

With the declining enrollment there are no major changes in the faculty though there are several changes in assignments.

Kathy Gowell has transferred to the elementary school where she will teach second grade part-time. She formerly was a full-time sixth grade teacher. Janice Raecke, a part-time teacher last year, will return as a full-time third grade teacher this year, succeeding Charles Wright who resigned to accept a position outside the school. Other assignments will be within school because of enrollment changes Ralph Raymer, school principal, said.

At the middle school James Jinsky, formerly at the high school, will succeed Mrs. Gowell as sixth grade science instructor.

The only other change will be in the seventh grade math classes where Suzanne Dahl, former substitute teacher, will take over Tori Fisher's math classes while she is on a two-months leave of absence.

Only changes at the high school level will be in the area of typing and the accounting lab where Barry Anderson will step into the vacancy created by the departure of Sandra Fassett who is on a leave of absence.

Request fulfilled for flight station bid

County chips in $5000 more

by PEG OHLE

The Charlevoix County Economic Development Corporation (EDC) is now assured of sufficient funds to proceed with the task of securing location of a Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) flight service station at the Charlevoix Airport.

Last week, the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners pledged $5,000 to the EDC so the solicitation could continue. Previously, the County had pledged $2,000, as had the City of Charlevoix and the Charlevoix Development Corporation.

With pledges now totalling $11,000, the EDC will proceed with engineering plans for a building of at least 10,000 square feet, equipped to specifications, which it could lease to the FAA for 20 years at a minimal sum.

Charlevoix County is one of 30 communities in Michigan soliciting the flight service station, which will serve all of the lower peninsula and the eastern part of the upper peninsula. The station will provide weather and flight information, communication services, search and rescue service, and similar information.

Joe Morris is dead at 60

Former Charlevoix City Council member Joseph G. Morris, 60, died late Monday night at the Grandvue Medical Care Facility following a long illness. Morris, a Cincinnati native and longtime local businessman, represented the Third Ward on the Council before being felled by a stroke in March. He had only recently been transferred to Grandvue after hospitalization in Traverse City. Services will be held at 11 a.m. Thursday at the Christ Episcopal Church.

Meadow Brook to hold open house

On Sunday, August 29 between 2:00 p.m. and 5:00 p.m., area residents are invited to attend an open house at Meadow Brook Medical Caré Facility, Bellaire, to see the newly expanded Facility.

The expansion is replacing 63 beds and adding two day rooms and dining room, x-ray and nurses station, administrative offices and a gift shop operated by Volunteers.

The approximate cost is $2.5 million and includes 31,098 square feet.

The last addition was in 1968, which added 50 beds, and all stainless steel kitchen, laundry, 2 day rooms, a large physical therapy and treatment room, patient bathroom, beauty shop, medicine room, nurses station and employees dining room.

Grabeck, Bell, Kline and Brown of Traverse City are the architects and Tezak Company of Traverse City, the General Contractors for the new addition.

These additions are to replace the 1927, 1958, and 1962 buildings, which do not conform to the present-day standards. The two new single story wings are integrated with the 1968 section.

Receptionists will be available at the open house to answer any questions and escort guests through the new additions.

A membership table will be set up to sign up new members in the Auxiliary or to renew dues for 1982-83. Dues are $1.00.

Refreshments will be furnished and served by the ladies of the Meadow Brook Medical Care Facility Auxiliary and their friends.

The Auxiliary was started in 1965 and is a very active county-wide group, who have contributed over $95,000, which has been used solely in helping to furnish equipment and refurbish the Facility, adding to the comfort of the residents.

Also tables will be set up in one of the rooms in the new addition with art and crafts items, which because of a rain storm at the Fiesta in July, are for sale. Diversional Activities also will have many items for sale made by the residents.

NMH nursing conference, "Primary Nursing in the 1980s", to be held on Bay Queen

"Primary Nursing in the 1980's" is the title of the NMH 1982 Fall Conference to be held this year on Friday, September 24. The one day conference is designed to update the professional nurse's knowledge of current trends in primary nursing.

Slated to be held on Charlevoix's Bay Queen excursion boat, the conference will feature Susan Bowar-Ferres, R.N., B.S., M.S., assistant director, Loeb Center for Nursing and Rehabilitation in New York. At the Loeb Center she has worked as a staff nurse, senior staff nurse and currently serves as assistant director. The Center is affiliated with Montefiore Hospital and Medical Center in Bronx, New York.

Objectives for the conference include indentifying trends in primary nursing for the coming decade, examining the impact of current realities in the economy, staffing and education on primary nursing, determining methods of avoiding and dealing with drawbacks in the primary nursing system, and developing a plan to integrate the current trends into actual nursing practice.

The converence schedule calls for two morning sessions, an afternoon session and a panel discussion. Panel members will include: Ms. Bowan-Ferres, Mary Gruler, R.N.,B.S., Nursing Education North Central Michigan College, Ange Oleszek, R.N., B.S.N., clinical coordinator, Renal Unit, Northern Michigan Hospitals, Robert Urman, G.N., staff nurse NMH, and Susan Jones, R.N.,B.S., staff nurse NMH.

Cost for the all day conference are: $35, students (carrying 12 credit hours), $20. This includes the cruise, lunch, a.m. coffee and program materials.

Continuing education credits of 5.0 contact hours have been applied for from the Michigan Nurses Association and will be awarded upon completion of the program.

Registration information is available from the NMH nursing Inservice Education Office. Early enrollment is encouraged as participants will be limited to the first 125 registrants. For more information call 348-4248.

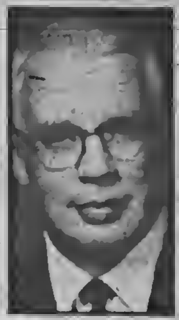
County's role in judges' salaries debated

by PEG OHLE



Judge John T. Murphy

Judge Harvey C. Varnum

Judge Martin B. Breighner

Members of the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners do not agree about the meaning of the resolution, but the three judges who serve the County believe the language is clear.

On July 14, The County Board passed a resolution resolving that "Charlevoix County cease to provide salary supplements for judges of the Probate, District, and Circuit Courts at such time that each office shall be up for re-election."

The only local judge who is up for re-election in the November General Election is Probate Judge John T. Murphy. He is the only candidate for the six-year term. It would seem the resolution applies to him.

District Court Judge Harvey C. Varnum is running for office in November, but only for election, not re-election. He is presesntly serving an appointed term which he began on July 27, 1981. That term will run for six years, and if Judge Varnum seeks re-election at the end of that time, it would seem the County's July 14 resolution would apply to him then.

Circuit Court Judge Martin B. Breighner will not be on the ballot in November because his term does not expire until the end of 1984. However, it would seem that if he runs for re-election two years hence, he, too, would be subject to the resolution.

All three judges serve both Charlevoix and Emmet Counties and are paid specific sums by each county to supplement their salaries, which are paid by the State. Currently, Judges Murphy and Varnum are receiving $5,015 and Judge Breighner is receiving $8,665 annually from Charlevoix County.

For some time, members of the Charlevoix County Board of Commssioners have been asking themselves the question, "Since the County has no control over the offices of the Judges, why should the County supplement the Judges' salaries?"

The Commissioners have also been critical of actions taken by the Judges on different occasions. "Last year they complained about the small fines meted out by Judge Breighner to persons arrested in the drug raids. The raids [illegible] County several thousands of dollars and the Commissioners had hoped to recoup the money through the fines levied. That was not so. Also, Judge Murphy has been under fire by the Commissioners more than once for not submitting budgets and reports on time. Apparently Judge Varnum has not been in office long enough to run into trouble.

The preamble to the July 14 resolution is less specific, citing the burden being placed on locally-raised revenues to "continue funding state-mandated programs."

The resolution was precipitated by a similar resolution passed in Gladwin County, with copies sent to all Boards of Commissioners in the State. As chairman of the Charlevoix County Resolutions Committee, Commissioner Oscar Ward edited the resolution to apply to Charlevoix County and presented it to the Board. It passed by a unanimous vote of those present.

When asked later what the resolution meant, Ward said, "It shows them they can't force us to pay supplements. We don't have to."

Since the resolution says Charlevoix County (shall) "cease to provide salary supplements for judges..", does that mean they are forbidden to do so? Some Commissioners believe it does, while others think they can vote on individual supplements each year.

However, there is a law that forbids the County to reduce a Judge's supplement during his term of office. Once a supplement is established, it can only be maintained at that level or increased during the Judge's six-year term.

Sooner or later the July 14 resolution by Charlevoix County will have to be interpreted. Perhaps it will be when the 1983 budget for Probate Court is formalized (which should be within the next three months), but, again, the question may surface before then.

CHARLEVOIX KIWANIS President James Corbin met with Charlevoix Area Hospital Administrator Richard Krueger in the hospital's new solarium last week to present another $500 check on behalf of the Kiwanis Club. It was the fourth year the Kiwanians have presented such a check to the hospital, meeting their pledge of $2500 to the Building and Renovation Project, which made possible the new wing and remodelling, dedicated last summer.

Knight on the Town

We don't know what hate is

by Dave Knight

Sometimes we members of the community press think we know hate.

We cover meetings at which some people appear to hate others or at least the ideas of others. We sometimes think we see hate in courts of law when a person thinks himself wronged by another. Even at high school sports events, it appears to be hate that prompts some of the reactions by fans to officials.

A group of us learned last week, however, that we really know nothing about bona fide hate - political hate.

This revelation was made at a meeting in Charlevoix of the Northwest Michigan Press Club by guest speaker William McWhirter. McWhirter is a veteran reporter of 19 years for Time and Life magazines and currently Time's Caribbean Bureau Chief.

McWhirter has a special perspective on political hate having covered major wars in Viet Nam, the Middle East and, most recently, the Falkland Islands.

People thought of the Falklands war as a grand naval battle in the old style, he said, as depicted in oil paintings of two gallant men-o'-war exchanging cannon blasts with sails billowing amid frothy waves. It is almost a romantic image.

The actuality is that the fighting between Britain and Argentina was bitter, bloody, impersonal and far from romantic. The pilot of an Argentinian jet firing a missile at a British ship may not have ever seen his target. Almost the entire naval combat, pointed out McWhirter, was fought on radar screens.

But what the war did have in common with other wars was the political hate that causes people to kill each other.

It is a deep, abiding hate that is propigated by revenge and is passed from generation to generation, from parents to children. Sometimes the real reason for the hate, that which first caused it, is lost.

In Northern Ireland, in Iran, in Beirut, children are taught to hate and for them it becomes a way of life. More often it becomes a way of death, though.

McWhirter aptly observed that the dispersement of PLO guerillas from Beirut represents no victory for the Israelis or the rest of the world. In fact, he said, their fragmentation throughout a dozen or so other countries will only mean the spread of terrorist activities to the host countries and the continuance of insidious guerilla attacks in those countries.

It is very hard to relate to political hate in America. Perhaps the last time this country developed strong, united political hatred was during the Korean War. Feelings toward the Ayatollah Khomeini, when the American embassy was seized bordered on hate but most people regarded that episode as an isolated act of insanity.

Until we confront the reality of political hate in the world, distinguish it from that which we know as hate and realize how it makes people do what they do, we will have trouble understanding why wars are fought.

Letters: TCE, petunias, flight station

More coverage

Dear Mr. Knight,

Prompted by Jeanne Heininger's letter in this week's Courier I am writing to echo her plea for more information about Charlevoix's water issue. Last year the Courier revealed the fact of our contaminated water with headlines. Since then, the follow up articles have become few and far between. Your weekly reporting of the situation could help to bring about some further action towards a solution. Until a new well is pumping unpolluted water, the story should remain on the front page.

In the meantime your reading public might be helped by some informational tips on how to cope with our predicament. Could you find an "expert" to interview who would thoroughly discuss the health risks and answer questions such as whether TCE can be boiled out of the water or whether we'd be advised to drink bottled spring water?

I consider a clean water supply to be Charlevoix's No. 1 goal, ahead of further beautification projects. The petunias are thriving. Let's hope our children will also.

Please resume your coverage of the progress being made towards finding a safe source of water. I, too, want to be informed. And if no progress is being made, I think the Charlevoix residents need to know. Hope you'll do some more investigative reporting soon.

Sincerely,
Jennifer Wright.

Ed. note: The Courier has learned that a summary report by the Department of Natural Resources is to be released this week on the findings of test wells dug in July at various locations in the city and township. Officials from the health department declined requests by the Courier to discuss the test well results until the report was released.

Congrats

Dear Citizens of Charlevoix:

While representing the 37th Senatorial District, I have visited Charlevoix on many occasions. I have always considered it one of the most beautiful towns in Michigan.

This summer I had the pleasure of visiting Charlevoix after the beautiful petunias had been planted along US 31 through town.

I felt the petunias greatly added to the special enchantment of Charlevoix and I would like to congratulate the Keep Charlevoix Beautiful Organization and the people of Charlevoix for their successful operation Petunia project.

It is very apparent that the citizens of Charlevoix take a great deal of pride in their community. The city has demonstrated that people can work together in making their community a nicer place to live. These are indeed qualities that make Charlevoix the Beautiful.

Mitch Irwin
State Senator

A big con?

To the Editor:

The new flight service stations are being reorganized all over the country by the use of work saving automation at the expense of labor and consumer. The Federal Aviation Administration has created a condition that will cost the people of each State a bundle. The Con Artists have their hand in your pocket by holding out a candy stick of prosperity for the County that will be fortunate enough to win a Federal Government Contract. The F.A.A. requires each County participating in the bidding to furnish a standard building contract which has an average cost of $12,000.

There are said to be 30 Counties that are going to bid. Now do a little arithmetic and multiply $12,000 by 30 and you have $360,000 to fill the pockets of standard bid writers by the State of Michigan tax payers. The County that wins this contract will then have the cost of furnishing a million dollar building at the County tax payers expense for the next 20 years. I don't know who the lawyers or bid writers are, working on the F.A.A., but they sure know how to pull the wool over the heads of some local politicians.

James Novotny

Defense wisdom

To the Editor:

The conventional wisdom is that the first responsibility of a national government is to defend their citizens from foreign aggression, and that means to provide the strongest military force that money can buy.

The conventional wisdom is wrong.

The function of a national military force is to defend the national government from foreign national military forces and civil disorder. National military forces are a part of national government, and when they feel neglected by the rest of the government they have been known to take over the government in a coup de tat because they have the power to accomplish a government take over.

National governments often sacrifice an unreasonable amount of lives and property of their citizens to preserve the national government. National governments prize patriotism highly because patriotism is the peculiar quality that enables citizens to give their lives for a government that they would not vote for.

Ray E. Peltz
Charlevoix, MI.

We need a choice

To the Editor:

It's very disappointing the the struggle over whether L. Brooks Patterson's petition to have the Capital Punishment issue on the Fall ballot has clouded a most important issue. That is "Whether the people of the State are going to have a say about the issue".

Mr. Patterson's petition drive is only to put the issue before the people and to let them decide with their vote.

The C.L.U. and other individuals the "Great Protectors" of the people, are spending huge sums of money to prevent the issue from appearing on the ballot. These organizations and individuals are attempting to deprive us of our rights at the ballot box.

I am not saying I'm for or against the amendment but I feel I have a right to have the opportunity to decide.

County Republican Committee

Clockwise

Ma Bell, the bully

by Bob Clock

OK, I ADMIT IT. During the press of summer expenses, I neglected to pay my July telephone bill.

I didn't intend to, honest. The money just wasn't there and I figured I'd pick it up in August.

Then one day last week, someone from Michigan Bell called my house but I wasn't home. When I tried to reach the long "800" number the caller had left with the kids, I got a recording.

The next day I took my last telephone bill to work with me. I figured the company wanted money and I intended to write a check. But it was one of those days without a break and the check never got written.

The next afternoon my dentist's receptionist called me at work to change the time of Katie's next appointment.

"I tried to call you at home," she explained, "but I got one of those recordings saying your phone had been disconnected."

As soon as she hung up, I tried the number myself. I got the same recording. "The number you have just dialed...has been temporarily disconnected..."

My heart sank. Judy and I both work in Petoskey during the summer and the kids are left to fend for themselves. Of course they are old enough, but it is nice to know that the telephone is there in case of an emergency. Like the day a couple of weeks ago when Danny cut his thumb with a jackknife. I hurried home on my lunch hour to decide if stitches were needed (they weren't), but a 10-year-old kid can get pretty upset at the sight of all that blood.

Of course I got mighty hot under the collar thinking of my kids alone at home without a telephone in case something went wrong. So I called one of those long "800" numbers under Michigan Bell in the phone book, and after much shuffling around I was connected with a gentleman in the accounting department who informed me that my bill was overdue since June. Which is somewhat puzzling since I sent Michigan Bell a check on June 26.

I guess what upset me most is that I have been a customer of Michigan Bell for about a quarter of a century and I have never missed a payment by more than a few days. Most of the time my payments are made early and I think I should have a pretty good credit rating with the company. Now all of a sudden the company decides — without even making sure I was aware of what was about to happen — that I am not going to pay any more telephone bills.

It's enough to boggle the mind.

In any event, I let the gentleman know I wanted phone service restored immediately. He agreed only after I promised to put a check for the amount due in the mail that day.

In fairness to Michigan Bell, I will say that service was restored in about a half hour.

However, this little episode started me thinking. What if I were an elderly widow living alone in a farmhouse far removed from other habitations. I awake at 2 a.m. and hear a burglar working with a pry-bar at one of the downstairs windows. I reach for the telephone to call for help — only to find it has been disconnected without warning.

Or I am a teenage babysitter taking care of several small children in an upstairs apartment. Suddenly I smell smoke and realize that my only exit is blocked by flames. I reach for the telephone only to find the line has been disconnected on orders of a faceless operative in Saginaw.

Or I am a middle-aged housewife who awakes in the pre-dawn hours to find my husband in the grips of a cardiac arrest. I reach for the telephone to call for an ambulance — only to find the line is dead.

Such arbitrary actions are fraught with the gravest of consequences for Michigan Bell's millions of customers throughout the state:

The Republican-controlled Public Service Commission a few years ago did adopt a so-called "Bill of Rights" for utility users. But it is obviously ineffective or Michigan Bell would not have been allowed to disconnect my telephone without notifying me in person. (In a subsequent conversation, Michigan Bell insisted that I was warned of its impending shutoff by mail, but I did not see the letter.)

In November you will have an opportunity to decide whether the Public Service Commission should be elected or appointed as it is now. I think it is fairly safe to assume that an elected PSC would never allow Ma Bell to act as capriciously as she did last week when she disconnected my telephone without notice.

Furthermore, it is time the state Legislature looked again at the question of allowing monopoly franchises in the public service arena. If I had a chance of doing business with more than one telephone company, I wouldn't feel so intimidated by Michigan Bell.

Medusa dust draws complaints

capacities added to the plant's two finishing mills. There has also been regular application of the dust control liquid "Flambinder" to the Medusa grounds to control dust from heavy vehicles and machinery.

"Our stack opacity (amount of dust expelled from the smokestack) has been extremely good," said Themm, "There are many days when we are operating at full production and you cannot see a thing coming from the stack."

Then why the rash of complaints?

"I would attribute the majority of the problem this year to the extremely dry weather we've had," said Themm.

He explained that the dust problem can appear to worsen quickly when high winds follow a period of relative calm. If the fugitive dust from the plant is allowed to settle for a long period of time and a wind blows from just the right direction, he said, all the dust that has settled is blown around and becomes more evident.

Themm strongly denied allegations that dust collection efforts at Medusa were being eased in anticipation of an early winter shutdown. He also discounted rumors that there would be a shutdown and layoff before the yearly winter shutdown.

"When I go down, it's going to be for the winter," said Themm, "But the exact date of the shutdown has not been determined. It will depend on two factors; sales projections for the next few months and our expected ending inventory."

Because of the volatile nature of the industry right now, he said, the decision on when to shutdown will be made only about two weeks before the actual date.

During the winter shutdown Medusa will reactivate a large dust collection unit taken out of service in 1979, according to Themm. The unit will be put in service at the klinker discharge area, one of the dustiest areas of the plant, he said.

To further ensure that their monitoring systems are accurate, DNR personnel are reportedly studying the possibility of finding new locations in the area for their sampling equipment.

Although there would be practically no lease revenue, and the facility would be tax free, Charlevoix County is interested in securing its location because of the steady payroll it would provide over a period of at least 20 years.

The flight station would provide approximately 60 jobs with an annual payroll of about $1.5 million at first, with the possibility of a larger operation as time goes on.

If Charlevoix County is successful in its bid for the flight service station, it would have to find a means of paying for the building, estimated at somewhere between $500,000 and $1 million. Private funds would be solicited, with the hope of raising one-fifth to one-fourth of the cost, but the rest would have to come from public sources.

Schools to start

A declining enrollment has resulted in the discontinuance of distributive education and marketing formerly headed by Anderson.

Faculty members will take over the study halls previously staffed by Jinsky.

Though World History is being added to the curriculum as a required subject, present instructors will continue to teach the subject for all incoming freshmen and any other student who might care to enroll in the class.

St. Mary's Parochial School will open for the 1982-83 school year at 9 a.m. Wednesday according to Sister Agnes Mary Wojtkowiak, school principal.

Any new families in the community who have not registered their children for classes may do so by calling the school or the convent and making an appointment to do so. However, most children have been registered Sister Agnes Mary said.

One new teacher, William Neis of Grand Rapids, a 1981 graduate of Nothern Michigan University, will be joining the faculty as second grade teacher.

Other techers who will be returning are Jeanne Dubey, first grade; Sister Agnes Mary, third grade and principal; Jack Gebott, fourth grade and John Gagnon, fifth and sixth grades.

School will be dismissed at 3:10 p.m. daily.

Weddings

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Duree

Mann-Duree

Tami Jean Mann became the bride of James E. Duree on Saturday evening, August 7, at the United Methodist Church of Charlevoix.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Mann of Charlevoix, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Parsell, also of Charlevoix.

The Reverend David Yingling performed the double-ring ceremony before 200 guests.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her parents, wore a Victorian-style gown with high neckline trimmed in Venise lace, and an English net yoke outlined with a ruffle of Wedgewood lace. The Victorian sleeves were also fashioned of English net, with wide cuffs of Chantilly lace, and a chapel train hung from a sunburst pleated skirt of Chantilly lace. The veil was waltz-length, of bridal illusion, and was attached to a wreath of silk flowers. The bride's bouquet was made of fresh button chrysanthemums, baby's breath, and small blue silk flowers.

Sally Dishong of Charlevoix was the maid of honor, and Linda Colasanti of Royal Oak and Irene Cutler of Charlevoix were bridesmaids. They wore matching apricot-colored floor length gowns with ruffled necklines and pleated skirts. They carried single white roses with baby's breath.

Brian Holm of Charlevoix served as ringbearer.

Vincent Brewster of Charlevoix was the best man, and Ed Mann, Jr. of Charlevoix and Michael Hendricks of Charlevoix were groomsmen. Michael Mann and Keith Mann served as ushers.

Mr. and Mrs. Mann hosted a reception after the ceremony at the VFW Hall. They were assisted by Connie Whaley and Betty White.

The bridegroom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner on Friday evening.

Following a wedding trip to Cedar Point and Kentucky, the newlyweds are at home in Charlevoix. The bridegroom is employed by the Medusa Cement Company and the bride by Glen's Markets.

Mrs. Dennis D. Carter

Carey-Carter

Christine Ann Carey became the bride of Dennis D. Carter on July 31 in ceremonies at College Hill Presbyterian Church in Cincinnati.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Carey of Charlevoix, and the bridegroom is the son of Dean Carter of Frankfort, Ohio.

Dr. Jerry Kirk and Dr. Ron Rand officiated at the double-ring ceremony before over 300 guests.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a sleeveless gown of white chiffon with high mandarin collar, beaded Venise lace bodice, and wataback train. Her bouquet was a single white orchid with white stephanotis, ivy, and baby's breath.

Bridesmaids were Jean Carey of Grosse Pte. Farms and Ellen Carey of Traverse City, sisters of the bride; Marilee White, Libby Krugman, and Chris Stiling, all of Cincinnati; and Marianna Peipoh of Salisbury, Maryland. They wore sleeveless pale orchid chiffon gowns and carried bouquets of a single purple orchid, ivy, and baby's breath. Groomsmen were Dan White, John Krugman, and John Carter, all of Cincinnati; James Carter of Frankfort, Ohio; Ross Carey of Charlevoix; and Steve Sparks of Ft. Thomas, Kentucky.

Greg Wilson sang the prelude, "I Will Sing New Songs of Gladness", accompanied by organist Rodney Barbour. Other soloists were Barbara Linder, who sang, "God's Love", accompanied by Tom White on the piano, and Ron Reider, who sang, "The Lord's Prayer", accompanying himself on the guitar.

The bridegroom is currently a lay pastor at Elmwood-Carthage Presbyterian Church in Cincinnati, and the bride is employed by The Cincinnati Reds. They will continue to reside in Cincinnati until the end of the year, when they will make their home in Boston, where the bridegroom will attend Gordon-Conwell Seminary.

NCMC combines experience, training

There is a way around the no experience, no job dilemma, even in these tough economic times when entering a new and competitive field can be difficult.

North Central Michigan College has devised a unique program that provieds classroom instruction and on the job training in many marketable skill areas.

Called the contracting program, students are involved in two semesters of concurrent on-site job training and classroom instruction. Upon completion of the program, the student has documented job training, classroom instruction and references to aid in landing a job. And college credit for two full-time semesters is given for completing the contracting program.

"It's designed to give people a leg up on a job over others," said NCMC Cooperative Education Director Tony Dunaske. "We attempt to get people beyond the no job - no experience dilemma."

Areas of study are far reaching and flexible. Each course is tailored to the individual student's needs and interests and most often reaches into areas where NCMC doesn't routinely offer courses.

"We try to find job training for skills the student wants," Dunaske said.

Currently the contracting program, which focuses on highly marketable skills, covers biomedical technician training; the newspaper industry including classified advertising sales, retail advertising sales, darkroom and press operation; printing; hospital material management; teller proof operator and customer service representative.

Students are not espected to be a productive member of the company. They are more observers with the emphasis on training rather than working.

How does this aid the employer-instructor? In many ways, Dunaske emphasizes. "The contracting program pre-screens employees for employers and gives them access to a labor pool they may not have been aware of in the past. It is a low cost, low risk way of looking at potential employees.

"Employers are unaware of their capabilities are trainers and educators," Dunaske said. "They may be reluctant at first, but if they just realize how important they are to the community, their attitude about the program would change quickly."

Employer-instructors are paid by NCMC to provide the training. Students are not paid for the training.

"It's a cost effective way to screen employees," Dunaske said.

Employers interview and select the student they want, giving them the freedom to choose the kind of person they want to work with. This gives students some practice at the all important job interview.

Said Dunaske, "The student sells himself to the employer as a highly motivated, interested, eager individual.

Employer-instructor Brian Barker, who taught biomedical electronics at Northern Michigan Hospitals, found his instructing a rewarding experience. "I enjoy this kind of a thing," he related. "Dan (his student worker) seemed to learn quite a bit - he felt the program was very valuable. When he left, he said he wanted to stay in this career. He went downstate to look for a job."

Chx. resident gets second artificial hip

Ten years ago, Allen Damschroeder, M.D., Burns Clinic Orthopedic Surgeon, performed Northern Michigan's first total hip replacement on Mrs. Elizabeth Pierce. Last week, Dr. Damschroder performed the same operation on Mrs. Pierce's second hip.

"The surgery has progressed remarkably in the last ten years," states Mrs. Pierce, a resident of Charlevoix. "The first time, I was in the operating room for eight hours and spent 30 days in the hospital. This time, the surgery took only two hours, and I expect to go home after only 10 days in the hospital."

Dr. Damschroder describes the changes made in the procedure in this time. "In the past ten years, we have performed several hundred total hip replacements at Northern Michigan Hospitals. While the surgical technique has not changed much in that time, some design changes have been made in the artificial joints used. These have resulted in a prosthesis which is stronger and restores a greater range of hip function. And, as Mrs. Pierce's case shows, our experience and success with the procedure have allowed us to reduce the time involved in both surgery and recovery."

Total hip replacement is generally performed on older patients who are experiencing severe pain and disability due to arthritis, other diseases, or injury. In the procedure, the patient's natural hip socket is replaced with a cup made of a plastic called high density polyethylene. The patient's femoral head (the ball at the top of the thigh bone) is also removed and replaced with a highly polished stainless steel ball. The ball is connected to a stem which is cemented into the thigh bone.

While the operation is very successful in relieving pain and restoring hip function, it is not appropriate for all patients. Candidates for hip replacement must be in general good health with no history of previous infections. The procedure is usually performed only on patients over 60 years of age.

"Follow-up of cases performed over the last ten years indicates that for older patients, there is approximately a 90 percent chance of its effects lasting 10-15 years. In younger patients, there is a much lower success rate due to the greater use that these patients make of their hips," Dr. Damschroeder explains.

Physical therapy is an important part of postoperative care. Mrs. Pierce began receiving treatments in Northern Michigan Hospitals' Physical Therapy Department three days after surgery. After five days, she was able to walk with the aid of a walker.

"A hopsital stay of two weeks and walking with crutches or a walker after four to five days is common for today's total hip replacement patients," says Dr. Damschroder.

Mrs. Pierce moved to Northern Michigan from Rochester twelve years ago. For several years, she was a partner in the Grey Gables and later operated a ceramics shop.

On erosion...

The following informational article on shoreline erosion was distributed by the Army Corps of Engineers.

The general trend of the Lake Michigan-Huron shoreline is one of erosion. The lakes are trying to spread, and some eroded material is being lost offshore to deeper parts of the lakes. The erosion is a natural process which has always existed and will always exist. Shoreline property owners are faced with a constant battle with nature if they desire to slow down or control erosion of their property.

Shore erosion increases when high lake levels occur and the foot of the bluff or dune becomes subject to increased wave attack. High water levels can also occur during severe windstorms, when water piles up on the downwind shore of the lakes.

Erosion is caused, principally, by wind-induced wave action and associated longshore currents. Waves break near the shore, producing a great deal of turbulence, stirring up material from the shore bottom or eroding it from the beach or bluff. Most waves arrive at an angle to the shoreline and setup a longshore current moving suspended material along the shore. The transport of materials along the shore is called littoral drift. The zone through which littoral drift is transported is called the littoral zone.

The predominant direction of littoral drift, referred to as downdrift, is important to know when designing a shore protection structure. Any structure which interrupts littoral drift will favor erosion on the downdrift side since material is locally denied there. Thus, attempts by the property owner to reduce erosion or build up a beach on one property may result in erosion elsewhere. The erosion may occur at extremely slow or insignificant rates or make dramatic changes in the shoreline within a short period of time. Federal, state, and sometimes local permits are required prior to the construction of shoreline structures to insure minimal adverse affects to adjacent properties.

The east shoreline of Lake Michigan and west shoreline of Lake Huron consist primarily of erodible bluffs and sand dunes. Various low cost shore production methods used singly or in combination may help slow down or control erosion when properly applied to the characteristics of the site.

1) Vegetation is an inexpensive method of stabilizing dunes. Roots and stems of the plants trap fine sands and soils, making the dune surface more resistant to erosion.

2) Beach fill, used to replace lost beach or increase the existing beach width, is often both an effective and economical method of shore protection. Gently sloping beaches cause incoming waves to break and use up their wave energy before reaching inland areas. Where an existing beach is shrinking, there is increased danger of shoreline damage. Combining a beach fill with breakwaters or retaining structures can substantially reduce or eliminate refilling cost. Beach fill is often used in combination with construction of a perched beach or groin field. These combinations may minimize potential damage to downdrift beaches since filled structures will not effectively trap natural littoral drift.

3) Perched beaches are beaches formed at a slightly higher elevation than the natural beach by trapping sand behind a low retaining sill. Perched beaches are appropriate where a beach is desired and sand loss from a beach fill would be too rapid for convenient or economic replacement. Filling the perched beach with fill can limit the structure's erosive effects on neighboring properties and provide a beach for protection and enjoyment sooner than wave-carried fill would.

4) Breakwaters are structures placed offshore to dissipate the energy of incoming waves. Reduced waves in the lee of the breakwater allow drift material to settle out and build up the beach. If the breakwater is too high, it may seriously interfere with littoral drift; too low, and the shore will be inadequately protected. Breakwaters can be constructed of many different materials, such as bags filled with sand-cement mixture, anchored rubber tires or stone, and should be strong enough to remain in place during the usual local storms.

5) Groins are structures used to trap and retain sand. Groins extend fingerlike, perpendicularly from the shore and are frequently constructed in groups called groin fields. These structures are most effective where littoral drift is predominant in one direction. Beach fill used in combination with groins can minimize undesirable downdrift erosion and provide a beach sooner that would occur by drifting materials.

The groins can be built of various materials such as wood and steel piling, rubble or stone, stone-filled wire baskets, or stacked bags filled with sand or a sand-and-concrete mix. A good rule of thumb for groin design is that the structure should be no higher that a reasonable beach elevation and individual groins in a groin field should be spaced 2 to 3 groin lengths apart.

6) Revetments are normally stone structures that cover the bank or bluff and absorb the incoming wave energy. Most revetments do not interfere significantly with littoral drift; however, beaches in front of steep revetments are prone to erosion due to reflected waves.

7) Bulkheads and seawalls construct of wood or steel sheet piling protect the bluff by separating land from water. Bulkheads act primarily as retaining walls, keeping earth or sand behind them from crumbling or slumping. Seawalls primarily resist wave action. The structures protect the bluff or dune behind them but may actually accelerate beach erosion due to redirected wave energy. Such structures are more appropriately used where fishing and boating are the primary recreations, and sunbathing and shallow water for swimming are not essentials.

When several property owners share a waterfront, it often makes good sense to build a single continuous filled or perched beach, breakwater, bulkhead or revetment. Cooperative efforts can often be more economical and effective in controlling erosion.

For those interested in further information, the Corps of Engineers has prepared a free brochure entitled "Low Cost Shore Protection", as part of a program to demonstrate low-cost erosion measures. The brochure may be of interest to shoreline property owners, community leaders, local government officials, contractors, and engineers involved in erosion control. A copy may be obtained from the Corps of Engineers, Grand Haven Projects Office, 307 South Harbor Street, Grand Haven, Michigan 49417, or the Saginaw Projects Office, 2445 Weadock Rd., Essexville, Michigan 48732.

Applications for permits for any of the above mentioned structures from the Department of the Army of Natural Resources can be obtained at these offices."

School Board accepts bid on tax anticipation notes

By FRAN MARTIN

The Charlevoix Board of Education received a low bid of 7.39 percent interest rate for the $1,155,000 in tax anticipation notes it was offered it was announced following a special meeting of the Charlevoix Board of Education Monday Noon.

The bid, one of six received, was submitted by the Charlevoix County State Bank. The notes will be due March 31. The bids ranged from the low bid of 7.39 percent to 9.8629 percent, all lower than the 10.98 rate paid in 1981.

"We were, indeed, fortunate to receive such a low rate at a time when most interest rates are as much or more than double the 7.39 percent we received." Vincent Olach, business manager, said following the bid opening. "It was far below what we had anticipated when the board voted earlier this summer to borrow this amount," he added.

The borrowing will cost the school district $50,027 in interest Olach said.

At the same meeting, hot lunch prices for the school year were approved. Prices will be 90¢ at the elementary school, an increase of five cents; $1.00 at the middle school, an increase of five cents and also $1.00 at the high school, a decrease of five cents. The cost of tickets for adults will be $1.50, an increase of 15 cents. The cost of an adult ticket is supposed to meet the cost of the meal Olach said. "We have tried to hold our prices down but have found it necessary to raise them this small amount." Olach added. There will be no discount for buying a week's tickets. The tickets for five meals will be $4.50, at the elementary school and $5.00 at the middle and high school.

This applies only t the hot lunch program at the high school.

Milk will remain the same as last year or 15 cents per half pint carton.

Kenneth Bartley, a member of the high school faculty since 1974, has been named director of the Adult Education program to be offered during the 1982-83 school year. He succeeds Sandra Fasset who is on a leave of absence from the faculty. Bartley teaches computer programming and plane geometry at the high school.

In other action, the board of education voted to offer the Building Trades houses on Old US-31 South for sale at a cost of $52,000. Local realtors will handle the sale.

Agreement was made to join the Adult Education Consortium administered by the St. Ignace School System.

Rayder CC team to make debut

The Charlevoix Rayder Cross Country team will open its season Saturday when the group travels to the White Cloud Invitational meet.

This meet traditionally opens the season for a host of western Michigan teams according to Coach Peta Spieles whose team is spending this week at a training camp on Beaver Island in preparation for the season.

The Charlevoix team will be the defending Michigan-Huron Shores Conference champions and, with a number of regulars from last year's squad, will be out to hopefully successfully defend their title Coach Spieles said. The team finished third in the Class C regional meet and ninth in the state.

Returning as the nucleus for this year's squad will be three seniors, Matt Peterson, Bill Dohm and Jon Spieles who ran as a sophomore but was not out last fall, along with three juniors, Bill Taylor, Lee Allard and John Tunison.

Other candidates will be Tim Young and Steve Young, both seniors, Steve Umlor, Matt Landon, Rick Gallant, Craig Glass, Mike Ford and Leo Chase, juniors; Doug Sloan and S.J. Greenway, sophomores and four freshmen, Tim Pfagge, Chuck Hastings, Jason Brindel and Sandy Wanek.

The Sept. 4 invitational at White Cloud will officially open the Cross Country season during which the Rayders will participate in four triangular and six invitational meets including their own Claire Martin Invitational meet scheduled for October 8.

Yachting Notes

Lots of news this week...

Summer has seasoned, pigs are roasted and singlehanders all survived.

The gib overall Summer Series...that old Aborigine was right; the Santana 525 "Indooroophilly" is fast on water. Missing the final race and therefore not being able to drop that 8th place in the first race, the J-30 "Pine River Hummer" comes in second best. One of the welcome new additions to the Fleet, the J-24, "Camouflage" is a solid third. The rest of the best...4th "Bandit", 5th "Razzmatazz" and 28th "Coolwhip" (John, it's just the rating!). And all of us sit here and look at the point scores and think back... but for (insert your own) I would be there!

The Portsmouth...that spinnakerless group who refuse to add those flimzy nylon undergarments to their foredeck - captured in a very close contest by "Cheemaun" over second place "Seascape". "Te-Gi" back a bit but good enough for a 3rd and (we hope), a flag.

PHRF Fleet... The "Hummer" chased (very closely) by "Camouflage" and then "Crampt Quarters" in by one point in a late move on "Night Moves"; "Tigger" in a very solid 5th.

From the above you can figure "Crampt Quarters" as number one in P-26's; well ahead of "Tireless" who sneaks into a neat second because of one first place finish that breaks a tie with "Blazen III". Wow, talk about close!

Gee, you guys need to quit thinking you've got it made. In the 525's two absent yachts lost one position each in the season by missing the last race. Final for the Season; "Indooroophilly", "Bandit" and "Max".

Best dining of the previous weekend was at the Annual Pig Roast, thanks to both Chef "Pierre" Bob Schofield and to all those who prepared a delightful "dish-to-pass". Despite the weather, which some described as inclement but which, nevertheless, didn't seem to hurt the appetites of the singlehanders...the affair was enjoyed by a full house!

Remember the one about "standing in front of a large fan while friends throw cold water at you while you tear up dollar bills"? That was the singlehanded race. I can only assume that the beauty of the trophy is justification for that bunch of nuts enduring the elements to prove they can singlehand a several ton yacht faster and better than someone else. The rain was so dense that "Mint Julep" actually floated up above the lake surface and completely missed the first mark. The frowned upon shortcut gave Jack Begrow a heck of a lead but a score of D.N.F. The next across the finish line was "Sonar", beautifully sailed by John Osterberg but also not counted (not registered ?...or ?), still a neat job! So first-to-finish was Bob Haverman sailing "Elusive" in his first Singlehanded event, a very impressive job and without a crew, no need to swing from the boom. "Bandit" came home next with no life line and a couple rather large holes plugged with tiller cover, protest flag, etc., followed closely by Cliff Biddick looking very comfortable at the helm of "Hagan". As the others finished to the smell of roasting pork, the rain quit, the winds quieted a bit and the Judges gave "Bandit" a 2 minute allowance for its close encounter of the worst kind with "Spectre". That turned out to be just enough for ol' A. Nony to capture the prize.

Singlehand Final Resluts..1) "Bandit", 2) "Elusive", 2' "Blazen III", 4) "Hagan" and, because of the penalty of two positions, 5) "Spectre".

Last years winner was a Mr. Hollow on "Phonecia" but a somewhat older appearing Mr. Hollow, on the same yacht, barely squeezed out sixth over Mike Miller in "Obsesion". Could it be...? Oh yeah, all of us who were in that race want to express our thanks to a very wet, cold and subdued Race Committee. Those two are the key to a successful event and they're sure becoming professionals: Chairman Brian Jurlex and Assistant Kelly Kenifeck.

Last call for Budweiser Olympic Triangle and Red Fox...you still might be able to register tonight, September 1 at the Club after the first race of the Fall Edition of "Wednesday Night at the Races".

The "Final Standings" as shown, are unofficial! There has been a lot of quick calculating and if you think something's wrong...call Miller or Carland, not me! There may yet be some protest rulings that would change these positions.

Thanks for all your support and the nice note from the Editor, both are appreciated. So we'll be with you through the fall, but would welcome someone who would like to take over as A. Mouse next year. I'll help!

Foster wins silver medal

Robert M. Foster, former Charlevoix resident and a 1966 graduate of Charlevoix High School, recently won a silver medal in the National Restaurant Association's hot food competition in Chicago.

Foster, who is executive chef at the Amway Grand Plaza Hotel in Grand Rapids, was one of 24 chefs from across the country who were given a box of raw ingredients to use in preparing their dinners to serve 15. They had 30 minutes to inventory the food products and set a menu and another three and a half hours to prepare the menu with 15 servings of each course.

The menu Foster created consisted of pickled mushrooms served on a bed of greens, a creamy fish chowder, spinach salad dressed with fresh citrus juices, veal chop in croute with mushroom-shaped potatoes, a zucchini boat topped with a medley of vegvetables, and a lemon-flavored souffle with sauce anglaise and poached sliced apples.

Foster learned his trade at the Culinary Institute of Cooking Arts in New York City and has been the head chef at several restaurants, including the Pinestead in Traverse City. He has been at the Amway for over a year.

Foster's parents are former Charlevoixans Maurice J. and Doris Foster, who now live in Traverse City.

JOINING THE SEARCH for three Beaver Island youths last Thursday was the Charlevoix Coast Guard Rescue Station's 44-foot cruiser shown here on its way out of Round Lake. Several Coast Guard vessels and aircraft from Northwest Michigan stations were involved in the search.

Search called off for drowning victim

ST. JAMES — The search for the body of a Beaver Island youth, John Paul Kenwabikise, 17, who drowned with two of his brothers Sept. 2, was called off at nightfall Monday, according to a spokesman at the Michigan State Police Post in Petoskey.

The bodies of the two younger brothers, Kenneth David, 16, and Dennis Michael, 13, were recovered at approximately 2:50 p.m. Saturday by Michigan State Police and Michigan Department of Natural resources divers in 45 feet of water approximately three-quarters of a mile southeast of the Black Can buoy, which marks the entrance to St. James harbor.

The brothers are the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Paul Kenwabikise, long-time residents of Beaver Island and well-known family of fishermen. (Obituaries for the two younger boys are on page 9.)

Both bodies were found near their 16-foot, twin-engine outboard boat, which had been modified for use as a gill net fishing boat.

Searchers believe it is possible the oldest of the trio, who was known to be an excellent swimmer, might have tried to swim to shore following the accident, which apparently swamped and sank the small boat.

The accident is believed to have occurred shortly after the trio left the harbor enroute to lift their gill

Plan Comm. to assume new role with more authority

by DAVE KNIGHT

As many property owners in the City of Charlevoix have discovered in the past three years, obtaining a zoning variance, or a sign permit, or site plan approval for a development project is not a simple matter.

As city government has discovered, the process of reviewing and acting on those requests can be rather time consuming, too.

In an effort to streamline the whole process, joint discussions held this summer by the City Council and City Planning Commission have resulted in a new relationship between those two bodies designed to ease the bureaucratic chores of planning and zoning.

A major thrust of the mutually agreed upon procedural changes will be to shift more responsibility - and authority - from the City Council to the Planning Commission.

In the past, all requests for zoning variances went first to the Planning Commission for a recommendation and then to City Council for public hearings and final action. This meant at least two review sessions for an applicant to attend and, in most cases, more than two when complications developed.

Under the system proposed to be adopted when the council officially amends the city code, the Planning Commission will have full authority to grant zoning variances for fences, decks and signs.

Also, all public hearings on planning and zoning matters will be moved from council meetings to the Planning Commission.

City Council review of all variance actions will be on an appeal basis only with no provision for automatic appeals. If a variance request is turned down by the Planning Commission, the council will take up the request only if the applicant files an appeal.

Although the three measures

High school student handbook will go to parents too this year

by FRAN MARTIN

A Student Handbook has been made available to all students at the Charlevoix High School for many years.

However, for the first time, the school has published a "Parent-Student Handbook" which will be distributed to every student in the school this week. Upon receiving the handbook, it will be the obligation of every student to take the book home in order that his-her parents-guardian may acquaint themselves with the contents.

"The purpose of making this a Parent-Student Handbook is to make parents-guardians fully acquainted with the policies under which their students live and learn together. There have been too may times when parents-guardians have not been aware of the rules and regulations and when disciplinary action has been taken have not understood the reason for the action. By sending the handbooks into every home, we hope to better acquaint

First Cong. Church has big centennial plans

by PEG OHLE

September 19 in 1882 fell on a Sunday, just as it does in 1982.

There is special significance to this coincidence for members of the First Congregational Church of Charlevoix, for it was on that September 19 Sunday 100 years ago that the Church Council held its first official meeting, and it will be another September 19 Sunday this year when the Church celebrates its centennial.

The five women and two men who made up the Council met at 3 p.m. in the parlors of the Methodist Church under the guidance of ministers from Traverse City, Banks (in Antrim County), St. Ignace, and Lansing. After adopting a constitution, the Council disbanded to emerge as a Congregational Society and Church.

Mrs. Carl F. (Benona) Kohler, who has written a history of the Church, names the original seven members as Mrs. P. S. Dixon, Mrs. Caroline Nicholls, Mr and Mrs. E. M. Clark, Mr. Brice Suffield, Mrs. Elizabeth Suffield, and Mrs. A. J. McLeod.

First Minister

The first minister of the new Congregational Church was the Reverend C. F. Van Auken. He was vacationing in the area at the time, and like so many vacationers since then, remained here when tempted with a way to earn a living. His annual salary was $1,000.

The Reverend Van Auken was among the many who found Charlevoix an ideal vacation spot in those years. The Belvedere Club (started as the Charlevoix Summer Resort) had been established in 1879, and the Chicago Club (Chicago Resort Association) was complete with a clubhouse and "five or six cottages" by 1881.

Vacationers came by boat then, since the first train did not reach Charlevoix until 1892. The early 1880's was a period of great activity. Lumber was king, and all around the lakes and rivers, lumbermills supplied the materials to keep abreast of building needs. Recognizing the need for protection against fire in a wooden community, the Charlevoix Fire Department was established in 1883. The same year, the first swing bridge was built across the Pine River Channel.

The First Congregational Church soon became part of this bustling community. Following establishment of the Church, a Sunday School, Ladies' Aid Society, and Missionary Society were started. During 1883 and 1884, services were held in the school house, above a store on Bridge Street, and in the Charlevoix Opera House.

Begin Church Building

The need for a church building became obvious, and in 1883, the congregation purchased the lot on the corner of State and Main Streets (now Park Avenue) for $800. Construction began immediately. Among the early gifts to the new church was its first silver communion service, from the Charlevoix Resort Association. It was used until 1901 and is now on display in a cupboard in the church, according to Mrs. Kohler. Other gifts included a "$10 library" from the Young Peoples Missionary Group of the Park Street Congregational Church in Boston, and a "very handsome lamp" from the ladies of the local Baptist organization.

Mrs. Kohler reports that construction of the church "must have been difficult for everyone as money was very short.

"Men gave of their labor, gave stone and also delivered it for the foundations. They also hauled sand and gravel for cement. Store owners donated tools to be used, nails, screws, hardware, etc. Sawmill owners cut and delivered lumber, painters gave their labor and much paint. All of these gifts were credited to the donors' accounts with the church. No pledges were made as such at the time, but accounts were kept.

"Our first regular envelopes were printed in October of 1884 by the C. E. Strang Printing Company. Incidentally, C. E. Strang, was the son of King Strang of Beaver Island fame. He had left the Island and abandoned the Mormon faith. He returned to Charlevoix, opened a printing office here and joined our church. Later he became a preacher and had a church in Torch Lake in Antrim County."

Old church records indicate that the women also did their share in raising money for the new Church building, with "necktie parties, box socials, and religious sings where we passed a collection box".

Building Cost $5,541.71

Records also indicate that complete costs of this Church building were $5,541.71, with members credited for the goods and services they donated, as noted above.

The new building of the First Congregational Church was finally dedicated on January 18, 1885. The pulpit and pulpit furniture had been given in 1884 by a "group of Chicago Congregationalist ladies from Charlevoix's north side". The pews were trimmed in "handsome mahogany rails" which had cost $320. The pump organ which had been purchased in 1883 was used in the dedication. And the Charlevoix Sentinel reported on the occasion of the dedication, "A fine gilt weathervane stands handsomely on our spire. It cost $40 but is a glorious addition".

The Church bell was hung in 1886. It was imported from France at a cost of $200 and weighed 1,100 pounds.

This zucchini recipe is safe

by SHERI RHOADS
Extension Home Economist

It's here at last - a new, safe and reliable zucchini-pineapple recipe.

Most of you know that last year a scare hit the media involving "pineapple" made with zucchini. The recipe called for pineapple extract or oil of pineapple, and had a processing time for low-acid foods. There was not enought acid in the pineapple oil-extract to turn the low-acid zucchini into high-acid food, however. This increased the chance of botulism toxin poisoning to such a degree that consumers were urged to throw away any zucchini-pineapple they had made.

The new, revised and safe zucchini-pineapple recipe has been released by the USDA. This recipe is based on research performed by Dr. Jean Howe, Food and Nutrition Specialist at Purdue and many other Food and Nutrition Specialists.

Use this new recipe instead. Follow directions carefully, throw away old recipes and defineately throw out any zucchini-pineapple made the old way.

ZUCCHINI-PINEAPPLE

½ quarts zucchini, grated or diced
1½ cups bottled lemon juice (standardized acidity)
1 can (46 oz.) unsweetened pineapple juice
3 cups sugar

Coarsely grate or cut small cubes of zucchini after removing peel. Mix all ingredients thoroughly and simmer for 20 minotes. Stir frequently. Fill clean jars with hot zucchini mixture, leaving ½ inch headspace. Be careful to distribute evenly the solids and liquid among the various jars. Process 20 minutes for pints and 25 minutes for quarts in boiling water bath. If there is a desire to add pineapple flavoring it may be done in the mixture before simmering.

This recipe has been proven to be entirely safe and the processing adequate. By recommending this recipe, you may be able to head off the use of danderous and borderline recipes.

Childrens' auditions for "The King and I" to be held

The Little Traverse Civic Theatre has scheduled childrens' auditions for its fall production of the musical "The King and I" for Wednesday, September 8 at 7 p.m. at the McCune Art Center in Petoskey.

Eighteen youngsters of all ages are needed for the production which is being directed by Little Traverse Civic Theatre president Pat Stedman. Participating as musical director will be Steven Stargardt, vocal music instructor for Charlevoix public schools and, as assistant choral director, Fran Tollas, well known Charlevoix vocalist. Diana Mason of Petoskey will be choreographer.

According to Ms. Stedman, the script calls for a set of twins however brothers or sisters close in age and appearance will be considered.

Dance auditions for those 14 and older will be held at 9 p.m. the same night, September 8, at the Art Center.

"The King and I" will open at the McCune Art Center on Thursday, Nov. 11. The popular Rogers and Hammerstein musical was a long-running Broadway hit as well as a movie. It is based on the memoirs of Anna Loenowen who was an English governess to the children of a Siamese king.

Technical volunteers are also being sought for the production. Anyone interested in working on either costume or construction crews is asked to call Ms. Stedman at 526-5553.

ONE OF THE MOST IMPRESSIVE vessels to visit Charlevoix this summer was Odyssey, a 93-foot ketch out of Chicago owned by A. A. Antoniou of Oak Brook, Illinois, which spent some time in the harbor last week. It is shown here in the Pine River Channel on its way to Beaver Island.

KCB sets agenda for Saturday meeting

The Executive Committee of Keep Charlevoix Beautiful announced this week that it will bring the issue of dust in the Charlevoix area air before the KCB Board of Directors as a whole after hearing input from the general membership and the public at the KCB September 11 meeting.

The meeting is scheduled to be held at 9 a.m. at Leutheusers Restaurant in Charlevoix. Other topics on the meeting's agenda include the organizations plans for 1983 and a buzz session to be held after the business portion of the meeting.

Hospital meeting to be on home emergencies

How to handle home health emergencies, general first aid tips and when to come to the emergency room, will be topics covered by Dr. Mitchel Carey in a free public presentation at Charlevoix Area Hospital, Tuesday, September 14, at 7:30 p.m.

The first in the fall series of Community Health Education Meetings, Dr. Carey's talk is part of Charlevoix Area Hospital's observance of National Emergency Medical Services Week.

Dr. Carey will cover such basic first aid questions as home emergency treatment of poisoning, injuries, broken bones, splinting, burns, heart attacks, abdominal pains, and fevers. After his presentation the physician will answer questions.

"Parents are particularly concerned about when to call the doctor or come to the emergency room when a child has a fever," Dr. Carey notes. "We will discuss when a child's fever does require immediate medical attention."

The question of when to call or come to an emergency room or wait to see a physician in his office will also be discussed.

Most insurance companies will not cover non-emergency use of the emergency room. Medicare, Medicaid, and Blue Cross, in particular, have strict guidelines about what is covered and what is not covered for emergency rooms.

Dr. Carey will explain what sorts of problems require emergency room attention.

Charlevoix Area Hospital is anxious to help patients understand the appropriate use of the emergency room. Hospital staff encourages people in doubt to first call their family physician. A call to the emergency room ahead of arrival can also help determine whether or not the situation is an emergency.

Often patients think they must rush to the emergency room for a tetanus shot if they have stepped on a nail, for example. However, physicians agree, that would not be an emergency situation unless the wound was serious. The foot can be soaked and the patient should try to see a physicain in his office. It will mean a savings to the patient because emergency room treatment would not be covered by insurance in most minor puncture wound cases.

Kathy Boss, R.N., Manager of Patient Services, also pointed out that patients should understand that when they do come to the emergency room, they will be seen as quickly as possible on a priority basis. For example, she explained, a patient who comes in with chest pains and a suspected heart attack will be seen ahead of a patient with a broken arm.

Dr. Carey will cover such questions in detail, as well as basic home first aid, in his Tuesday night presentation.

These public meetings at Charlevoix Area Hospital are part of the continuing program of monthly Community Health Educations meetings. The free-to-the-public gatherings are held in the classrooms in the lower level of the wing by Lake Michigan.

County unemployment down 3.1 percent in July

Unemployment in Charlevoix County during July was down 3.1 percent from the June figure.

The Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC) reports that of the 9,750 available workers in Charlevoix County, 8,250 were gainfully employed during July, leaving 1,500, or 15.4 percent unemployed during the month.

Nearby Emmet County showed a .9 percent decrease in unemployment in July, bringing the percentage down to 10.6 percent, while Otsego County showed a .2 percent decrease, to 12.3 percent.

Statewide, unemployment rose from 14.3 percent in June to 14.7 percent in July, according to the MESC.

Fund raising drive for new fire engine gaining momentum

The campaign to raise fund for a new fire engine for the Charlevoix Volunteer Fire Department has swung into full gear according to fund drive organizer James Elliott.

As of last week, 400 letters seeking community support had been mailed and another 600 were expected to follow.

The proposed new engine would have a pumping capacity of 1,500 gallons per minute, twice as much as either of the two pumpers currently in use by the department.

The volunteer firemen have set a goal of $125,000 for the new engine and have decided to seek the necessary fund entirely through public donation. The volunteers have already contributed $2,000 of their own funds to the cause.

A pancake breakfast is scheduled to be held during the Apple Festival as part of the fund raising project also.

Those wishing to contribute can deliver checks payable to the Fire Engine Fund at the fire station. All donations are fully tax deductible.

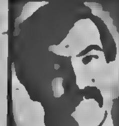
Opinion



Knight on the Town
Will Jim McKay be there?

by Dave Knight

Leave it to the Grey Gables' Dave Phillips to come up with a, well, different way to observe the end of the summer season in Charlevoix.

This Saturday, September 11, East Park will be the site of the First Annual Charlevoix Bar and Restaurant Olympics, (apologies to the ancient Greeks).

Waiters, waitresses, busboys, dishwashers, cooks, et. al. from 27 local establishments will converge on the park with all the pomp and glamor that befits such an auspicious occasion.

At 2 p.m. Saturday, the contestants will kick off the games with the Parade of Restaurants. The representatives of each bar or restaurant will march through the grounds behind banners or signs for their respective employers. As of press time there was no plan to light an Olympic chicken flambe to dedicate the games...but give Phillips time.

Team members are also encouraged to wear matching outfits to further class up the afternoon.

Events include shrimp peeling and deveining, adding figures without calculators, pizza spinning, napkin folding, potato peeling, table setting, patty making (that's hamburger, guys), accuracy pouring, pie eating, sack race carrying drinks, obstacle tray racing, food preparation relay and tug of war.

What does a tug of war have to do with restaurants? Maybe that's for management.

"We have tried to include events which will utilize the talents of those employed in all aspects of the restaurant and bar business," explains Philips, "The idea is fun. Any event may be entered by anyone even if it is not directly related to their job."

That means busboys can try their hand at adding and waitresses can spin pizzas, if they wish.

Each participating restaurant is asked to provide a prize such as a $10 gift certificate, free banana split, or such. Stroh's will be providing additional prizes which will go the event winners. I hope somebody wins a Jello salad ring just so I can see it draped around their neck on the winners' stand.

As in every Phillips Production, full media coverage, including television, is planned. An official theme song has even been written and will be sung by all participants during the intermission. Here's a sample:

(To the tune of "I've Been Workin' on the Railroad")
We've been workin' in the restaurants
All the summer long,
We've been workin' in the restaurants
And we sing this silly song.

'Nuff said on that.

Anyone wishing to compete in the First Annual Charlevoix Bar and Restaurant Olympics may sign up from noon to 1:30 p.m. Saturday. Certain events require contestants to provide some materials so check with Dave Phillips at the Grey Gables in advance for further details.

"The purpose of this Olympics," says Phillps, "Is the celebration of the end of a successful summer and to build a sense of unity for all of us working in the same business."

Besides, it will be fun watching an Olympics and not have to worry about the Russians winning anything.

Clockwise
Garden gloom

by Bob Clock

I WOULD LIKE a dime for every green tomato I have languishing in my two vegetable patches on Dixon Avenue and at the city gardens. I would retire and move to a climate more agreeable to Early Sues, Beefsteaks and Big Boys.

The weather simply has not been warm enough to ripen tomatoes.

Some gardeners who planted smaller varieties such as Pixie and Roma tell me their crops ripened early. But the same is not true for the larger specimens. They are plentiful, mind you, but they are still Kelly green.

Corn also has been disappointing, thanks to the cold weather. Ears have developed, but they won't fill out until we get a few good hot days.

Of course, inland growers have had more success than those of us with gardens close to Lake Michigan, where even the warmest days still have a bite to them.

Other crops have done fairly well. Cucumbers, which thrive in cool weather, are plentiful. So are green peppers and beans. I have dug a few hills of potatoes and they appear excellent. Onions, too, are filling out nicely and with any luck we should have enough to see us through the winter.

Bot our Table King winter squash are about half the size they should be and I'm afraid they've stopped growing.

The weatherman tells us that high and low temperatures for August in these parts were well below last year's temperatures — and that probably has made all the difference. A few more summers like the present and we won't have to spend a great deal of time worrying about the ice caps melting.

MY FRIEND Sid Hausding from Consumers Power thinks I'm an old grouch for opposing the expenditure of tax dollars for such personal sports as golf, tennis and skiing.

Sid, who still cuts quite a figure on the slopes, didn't actually call me a grouch. He says I'm a "stuffed shirt" — but I think grouch sounds nicer.

Sid points out that the city of Charlevoix already has a considerable investment in all three sports, through the Mt. McSauba Ski Area, the Municipal Golf Course and the tennis courts. He believes our youngsters should be coached in how to use them.

Of course he has a good point.

But I still don't think taxpayers at large should be billed to teach my kids how to fill their leisure hours.

Frankly, I was a little surprised at the response to that particular column, which appeared in the Courier Aug. 18. Most of my callers agreed emphaticaly that the Board of Education should eliminate all three sports from the high school program. Sid was one of the few dissenters, but he did present some of the best arguments for the opposition.

AT THIS WRITING, the search is still under way for the three Kenwabikise brothers from Beaver Island.

We pray for their safety and hope that their seafaring skills have led them to a snug harbor.

Lake Michigan — even on her better days — can be moody and treacherous. It is a body of water that should be challenged only by experienced sailors under the very best of conditions — a lesson too many neophytes learn too late.

Letters: Burlew opposes flight station

Open Letter to Charlevoix Voters, City and County

It is strange and somewhat amazing that during a time in which Cities, Counties and School Districts are experiencing difficulty in balancing or operating within budget confines, and especially when City employees have been asked to tighten their belts to help erase our City's budget deficit, that the City Council could find $2,000 for the Flight Station Proposal. Furthermore, the County Commissioners managed to increase their portion from $2,000 to $7,000. Of course, in both instances these are taxpayer dollars. The Question arises as to what extent elected officials can use tax dollars for speculative ventures??? Could this be a contributing factor to our High Property Taxes?

We need considerate, responsible and responsive representation in all areas of Local Government. Therefore, I urge all responsible citizens to do the following: 1) make certain you are legally registered to Vote in November, and 2) review the past actions of all current elected office holders, as well as the qualifications of new candidates. Last, but most important, Vote...do not leave it to someone else!

Paul O. Burlew

Petunias

To the Editor:

I have been hearing about the beautiful petunia plantings in Charlevoix so my husband and I made a special trip to Charlevoix to see them.

They indeed are very lovely and Charlevoix has every right to be very proud of the beauty which everyone may enjoy. Those persons who initiated the project and those other persons who helped in planting, care, etc., all deserve a big "thank you".

"Charlevoix the Beautiful" really lives up to its name.

Search

nets at 4:30 a.m. Thursday.

When they did not return at the appointed time — approximately 7 a.m. — their father asked a plane owner at the Beaver Island airport to take him up in an effort to locate the boat. When he could find nothing, the U.S. Coast Guard was alerted. A helicopter from the Traverse City Air Station was dispatched to the island and the 44-foot patrol boat from the Charlevoix station left for the island at noon. Aircraft on the island along with boats of all descriptions joined the search and planes flying to and from the island from the mainland assisted.

On Friday an all-out search that brought in 44-foot patrol boats from Charlevoix and St. Ignace; the Biscayne Bay, a 140-foot ice breaker from St. Ignace; helicopters from Traverse City and Chicago; and an air-rescue plane from Scifridge Air Field joined island residents in the search. All islands in the area were checked for debris and the shoreline on the mainland from Little Traverse Bay to Waugoshance Point was covered by the Emmet County Sheriff's Department.

When nothing was found, the Michigan State Police and the DNR brought in divers who examined the area and at mid-afternoon Saturday, located the boat and the two bodies.

Intermittent squalls which brought rain and changing winds up to 17 knots hampered the search.

The search was resumed Monday when seven State Police divers and three from the DNR returned to the scene. However, because of high winds, they were unable to begin work until about 2 p.m. Monday afternoon, a spokesman from the Petoskey State Police post said.

Student handbooks

parents-guardians with the operation of the school" Dennis VanGuilder, Assistant Principal, said of the new publication.

In the Foreword which appears in the handbook for the first time, it states further that "parents and students must recognize their responsibility in helping make these policies effective in improving the attitudes and opportunities for learning." Parents are aksed to study the handbook and discuss its significance with their students. It is felt that if this is done, discipline (which is really self-control in a person's relationship with others) will become a vital part of the total learning process both at home and in the school.

In order that school officials may be assured that both students and parents-guardians have studied and understood the contents of the handbook, an acknowledgment sheet to be signed by both the students and parents-guardian and returned to the school is included in the handbook.

The handbook includes general information as well as a detailed outline of athletic, extra-curricular and student codes, attendance policy, student trespass ordinance, graduation requirements plus the acknowledgment sheet.

Additions to the handbook this year are daily class hours and daily school hours along with other general student information.

The book also advises that any student dropping a class after the first two weeks of school will receive an "E" for the course. This will appear on the student's permanent record.

Another addition relates to job placemenia. The handbook states that the list of job placements are posted merely for the convenience of the students and that the school assumes no liability for injuries or damages that might result from the placement.

In another new policy, only upper classmen, i.e. juniors and seniors, will serve as student aides.

Student detention will now be confined to two days each week, Tuesday and Thursday. Detention, it is explained, is a time period after regular school hours (2:25-3:05) to which students may be assigned for disciplinary and-or attendance problems. A student has three days, under the policy, to make up a detention. If it is not made up within that period, it will result in suspension from school.

Under the revised Athletic Code, which includes cheerleaders for the first time, offenses for which legal action could be taken are included; i.e., it is not necessary that the student is charged with the offense. The code also states that "students are subject to the regulations in the code between training and competitive seasons for all sports. The only time the regulations do not apply is during the summer recess when training for a fall sport is not underway. This year the training period for fall sports began Aug. 16.

For the first time, an Extra-Curricular Activities Code has been adopted. It parallels the Athletic Code and will apply to students in debate, forensics, vocal and instrumental music and school-sponsored clubs.

Requirements for graduation will now include 20 credits. Beginning with the class of 1986; i.e. the class entering high school this fall as freshmen, World History will be a required subject.

The final change relates to the mechanics of operation as it applies to a student returning to school following an absence. The policy now states "A phone call does not automatically mean that the student will receive an excused absence".

"The rules, regulations and codes included in the Parent-Student Handbook were set up so that the school may be operated in an efficient and disciplined manner for the benefit of all students. We are asking all parents-guardians to acquaint themselves with the contents of the book which includes the guidelines by which the Charlevoix High School operates" VanGuilder said in conclusion.

Planning and zoning

mentioned above have the tacit approval of both the council and Planning Commission, action by the council to revise the city code will be neccessary before they can be implemented. The appropriate ordinance amendments are currently being drafted.

Several other procedural changes were agreed upon, however, that do not require ordinance revision and have already been adopted as policy.

For instance, on all planning matters that come before them, the council will be limited to three options: they can approve, disapprove or refer the matter back to the Planning Commission. Whenever the council does refer something back to the commission or when a commission action is reversed by the council, specific reasons for the council's decision will be required.

Likewise, all Planning Commission recommendations will be accompanied by "detailed conditions for approval of any development project, and reasons for approval or denial of any variance, which conform with criteria established in Zoning and Sign Codes."

Communication between the council and Planning Commission was one factor identified in their joint meetings as being essential to the success of the proposed changes. Maintaining a regular dialogue, it was decided, will help prevent delays caused by misunderstandings and unclear information. Therefore, from now on the council and commission will hold joint work sessions, similar to the one held this past July 26, on a quarterly basis.

The work sessions are also designed to keep each body better informed of the other body's past and future directions.

Of all the types of planning requests that are filed with City Hall, zoning variances have tended in recent years to be the most time consuming and controversial. Some have even drawn the city into litigation.

In an attempt to reduce the number of variance applications, the Planning Commission has begun a review of the city zoning code to find out from which sections of the code variances are most often sought. The commission's recommendations on possible amendments to the code will then be made to the council.

Perhaps the most important factor in making the new system work, however, is additional staff support which the Planning Commission will need if it is to take on more duties.

According to Hunt, ways of providing such support are currently being studied. Hunt added that by providing the commission with its own staff support, the load of planning items that is presently occupying up to 40 percent of the City Manager staff's time could be more efficiently processed.

And that, he says, will be good news for the City Council, the Planning Commission and the applicants.

Weddings

Mr. and Mrs. Jeffery R. Resch

Juilleret-Resch

Rebecca Ann Juilleret and Jeffery Robert Resch were married Saturday afternoon, August 28, at the Charlevoix Community Church of God.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Juilleret of Charlevoix, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. John Resch, also of Charlevoix.

Approximately 150 guests witnessed the double-ring rites performed by the Reverend Walter Hastings before an altar decorated with candelabra and bouquets of pink roses and white carnations.

The bride was given in marraige by her parents. She wore a gown of chiffon with alencon lace on the bodice, a V-neckline, and double angel sleeves edged with lace. A chapel-length train was attached to the full skirt and a mantilla veil edged with alencon lace and seed pearls hung from a Juliet cap of the same lace. Her bouquet was of pink sweetheart roses, white carnations, baby's breath, and ivy in a cascade style.

Janeen Boal served the bride as maid of honor, and Jennifer Juilleret, sister of the bride, Debbie Resch, sister of the bridegroom, and Kim Jones served as bridesmaids. They wore pink gowns with ruffled necklines and tied at the waists with white satin ribbons. Their hairpieces were rings of baby's breath and pink roses, and their flowers were arm bouquets of white carnations, pink sweetheart roses and greens.

Heather Resch, daughter of the bridegroom, was the flower girl. She wore a long white eyelet dress tied at the waist with a pink bow. Andrew Hilliker, cousin of the bride, was the ringbearer.

Dan Juilleret, brother of the bride, served as best man, and Don Resch, borther of the bridegroom, Gene Drost, and Carl Towaley served as groomsmen and ushers.

Organist Alice Bellinger and vocalist William Purdy provided music for the ceremony. The latter sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "The Wedding Song".

Mr. and Mrs. Juillerett hosted a reception in the church parlors, assisted by women of the church. Judy Mabee and Kelly Mathews were in charge of the cake, Linda Resch presided over the guest book, and Betty Schroeder helped serve the punch.

Mrs. Resch hosted the rehearsal dinner in her home on Friday evening.

Following a wedding trip downstate, the newlyweds will be at home in Charlevoix. They plan a trip to Florida in the fall.

Dance Slimnastics offers classes

Dance Slimnastics Ltd., a nationally recognized aerobic fitness club, will offer area residents the opportunity to shape up for fall in a 7 week series of aerobic dance classes scheduled to begin in Charlevoix the week of Sept. 13.

The new fall session, titled "We Got the Beat" will give individuals the chance to work out acrobically as many times per week as desired.

Under the club's unique Open Class Policy, members can attend class as many times per week as desired. The class fee covers the cost of two one-hour sessions per week. Participants may also attend an unlimited number of additional class sessions at no extra cost.

Students enjoy the freshly-choreographed routines which are an important facet of each session. A noncompetitive spirit prevails, and class members are encouraged to dance at a level that is comfortable.

The routines are set to a variety of musical tempos. During the "We Got the Beat" series, for example, students will stretch to a classical theme, bounce to a disco beat, gyrate to rock and swing to 1950's Golden Oldies.

STANLEY M. SWINTON

Charlevoix native Stanley M. Swinton, 62, died Sunday, August 29, following a long illness. Mr. Swinton was vice-president of the Associated Press and director of its World Services division in New York City. He traveled to more than 100 countries during his career with the AP which spanned more than four decades. He spent 17 years as a foreign correspondent and held posts at the agency that included bureau chief of Southeast Asia and the Middle East.

He was born Sept. 1, 1919 in Charlevoix, the son of Roy L. Swinton and Jane Mitchell Swinton. The family later moved to Ann Arbor where the senior Swinton was a University of Michigan professor. Mr. Swinton wrote his first news story at the age of 15 for the Detroit Free Press and received the Avery Hopwood Fiction Award for a short story at age 16. He was city editor of the Michigan Daily at U-M and a regular broadcaster on the Michigan Radio Network before joining the AP in 1940 on the day he graduated.

After a four-year military leave, during which he wrote for the U.S. Army publication Stars and Stripes, Mr. Swinton rejoined AP and went to Southeast Asia where he was named AP bureau chief in 1947. He later was bureau chief in Cairo and Rome, where he married Helen Rhodea Meek of Scarsdale, N.Y.

He was promoted to director of World Services in 1960 and added the titles of AP assistant general manager in 1964 and AP vice president in 1972. He served twice as president of the Correspondents Fund of America.

He is survived by his wife, three sons, Donald, Scott and Neil, a sister, Barbara Swinton Mordy of Ann Arbor, and a cousin, Lillian Swinton, of Charlevoix.

Memorial services were held last week in New York.

Rayders face challenge as Northmen arrive for home opener

The Charlevoix Rayder football team's moment of truth comes early this year.

In an unusual scheduling move, the Rayders not only face a conference foe in their first outing this week but find themselves lining up against a potentially strong Petoskey Northmen squad bent on revenge.

The only thing for sure going into the game is that Petoskey remembers well the 42-8 drubbing dealt them last season by the Rayders and they will be looking to even the score.

Charlevois's team, with only two starters returning from the 1981 lineup, is inexperienced in varsity competition but brings to the Friday night scene a host of players who have had great seasons on the junior varsity and freshman level.

Running the offense will probably be junior Tim LaBlanca who quarterbacked the JVs last year. LaBlance, who runs the option well and has a good passing arm, could keep defenses guessing enough to open up the Rayder attack for a few surprises.

Anchoring the line will be returning starters and this year's co-captains Jon Supernaw and Al Bergmann. Both Supernaw and Bergmann have played on affense and defense and are expected to be the team's leaders in the trenches.

Matching or bettering last year's 7-2 record (6-1 in the conference, good for second place behind Cheboygan) should be tall order for Charlevoix this season. The conference features considerably more balance this time with Petoskey, Gaylord and Rogers City all fielding experienced and potentially strong teams. And then, of course, there's always Cheboygan which is expected to be as strong as ever.

Charlevoix takes off for an extended road schedule after hosting Petoskey this Friday night (kickoff is at 7:30 p.m. at Kipke Field) with games at Benzie Central, Rogers City and Boyne City the following weeks. After hosting Cheboygan, they then take off again for Gaylord's home turf before playing their last three games at home against Onaway, Grayling and St. Ignace.

The JV squad also debuts this week playing Thursday at Petoskay. That game will start at 6:30 p.m.

Girls open basketball season with non conference game Sept. 14

The Charlevoix High School girls basketball team will open its 1982 season in a non-league game at Central Lake Tuesday, Sept. 14, Coach Henry Wagner has announced.

The team will play at Elk Rapids on Thursday and host Ellsworth the following Tuesday before beginning its league schedule.

"We will have a young team but we should be competitive" Coach Wagner said of his squad.

In preparation for the season, the team has been practicing twice daily, at 6:30 a.m. and 8 p.m. Wagner said.

A total of 27 candidates are out for the team including four players who saw Varsity action last season. These are Laura Kemp, 6' senior center who was the team's leading scorer and rebounder last year; a second senior, Connie Borths; two juniors, Rhonda Buchanan, a point guard and Mary Lenhart, rebounder, and sophomore guard, Ann Wagner, who was the leading assist player during the 1981 season.

Other candidates are Kim Bolduc, a senior who has not played since her freshman year and three players up from the JVs, Amy Sell, a junior, and two sophomores who showed promise last season, Sue Raginia and Angie McClanaghan.

Other players will come from the remaining 18 players presently with the JV squad coached by Van Greene.

Both the Varsity and JV teams will play a 17-game schedule which will end November 12. The district tournament will open November 18.

Rayder golfers open season

With the opening of the fall sports season, the Charlevoix Rayder golf team will take to the fairways Monday, Sept. 13, when the squad, under the coaching of Glen Taylor, travels to Boyne City for a meet.

The meet will be played at Ye Olde Nine Hole Course on Ferry Road at 4 p.m.

There will be a sign-up for the team when school opens this week Coach Taylor said. However, in preparation for the forthcoming season, players have already advised Coach Taylor of their intentions of trying out for the team.

Coach Taylor said he has only two returning members from last year's squad. All other varsity team members will be determined by qualifying for the team. The returnees are Steve Keller, a senior, and Bill Joy, a junior.

Other candidates are Mike Fels, a senior; Chris Gibbons, a junior, Dave Gagnon and Scott Keller, sophomores.

Filling out the list of present candidates are three freshmen, Denny Curtis, Andy Stewart and Pat Gibbons.

Coach Taylor emphasized that berths on the varsity will be determined by qualifying scores prior to each meet thos bearing out his statement that varsity assignments have not been made at this time.

Coach Taylor said that Charlevoix should have a competitive team. "Petoskey, the defending champions in the league, will probably be our toughest opponent but other teams could be tough. However, we should have a good season" Taylor said of the season.

Flag Football begins Sat.

The Flag Football program is in search of players as well as coaches and officials Dwight Boss, City Recreation Director, has announced.

The Flag Football draft is scheduled for 10 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 11, at the Crpenter Ave. softball field and will be open to sixth, seventh and eighth grade students.

However, unless coaches and officials are found there can be no flag football program Boss added.

Anyone interested in coaching or officiating is asked to call Boss at 547-9098.

Yachting Notes

Gee, Mr. Typesetter, it sure would have been better if you had missed any other position in the last week's Summer Series Results! Dear Commodore Carland: I'm sorry, I do know your yacht "Tireless" was second in the P-26 Fleet, I even said so in the article on the previous page...may I please be reinstated?

Nice to see Mike Miller win the "Best Damn Skipper of the Year" trophy. The Hot Dog Series is a chance to compete in two identical "Puffers" in head on racing and the double elimination combined with the swap of boats really makes it a test of the Skipper. Bob (Chef) Schofield has practically owned that cup the last few years since he learned to sail a boatfull of water faster than A. Nony. Mike has been runner up, or close to it, every year. Be fun to look over those trophies, the night of the awards, and see just who did what, when. Seems like a young man called Chris Begrow has his name thereon, beat out a lot of us old timers when he was maybe 18 or so. I suspect that's the oldest trophy that's still active. Sorry that I, and some other regulars, missed this year's series...but Next Year!!!

Wednesday Night at the Races, first of the Fall Series...

Good but variable, breezes under a threatening sky at the start of the race sent yachts in every direction, and the early leaders soon became the followers and vice versa. This continued throughout as the breeze quieted and the color of the "Chutes" gave way to the gleam of the running lights. Only "Ribit" in the Portsmouth Fleet, "Hummer" and "Elusive" in the later starters, maintained their leads throughout. The full moon racing the remaining cloud patches and the beauty of the evening helped console the late finishers (I hope).

With a tremendous lead of almost 11 minutes, "Hummer" easily saved its time on "Elusive". The 525's "Max", "Bandit" and "Indooroophilly" followed in 3rd, 4th, and 5th overall.

That obviously also gave "Max" first in 525's for a sweet victory over the Spring and Summer Series Winners "Bandit" and "Indooroophily".

Equally obviously "Hummer" and "Elusive" locked up 1 and 2 in PHRF with "Mint Julep" a very distant 3rd on corrected time.

The P-26 "Blazen III" by 8 minutes over "Foxy Lady" with "Tireless" close astern.

In Portsmouth Fleet "Ribit" saves its time, correcting out in 1st over 2nd place "Cheemaun", with "Nacaliji" in a solid 3rd.

Please, return the perpetual trophies to Village Car Care!

To whomever sent the nice letter, which included the suggestion that we use more people's names...we'll try, but we don't want to use them in regular results: 1) we don't know who was skipper in many cases; 2) the yacht is really being sailed by all her crew, and we don't have room to list that many names; 3) the owner might find out somebody's sailing his boat. We will, and do, use names where there is little chance for error; as in who is sikpper in a Singlehanded Race. (On the subject of names, if you had signed yours, you would now be seeing it here in a "thank you".)

The much published water balloon contest has evolved into a serious engineering challenge in the P-26 Fleet. Last week's introduction of a power operated pump as an on-board weapon is equivalent to the invention of the crossbow in earlier times. The arrival of the bow mounted water cannon is anticipated with awe by the rest of the fleet.

Need more input from the cruising yachts, the "Puffer" program, the various committees, etc. And, if YOU would like to be a member, 1983 memberships start (and are due, for "old" members) NOW; pick up an application form at Village Car Care.

Centennial

The First Congregational Church of Charlevoix became active in the Women's Christian Temperance Union (WCTU) in 1884. It is reported that "Saloons were rapidly springing up on Bridge Street", and apparently some form of saloon control laws had been enacted. However, in 1901, Pastor James Hyslop presented a petition signed by all Church members to the Village Council. The petition asked for more active enforcement of all laws regarding saloon control. To the "distress and astonishment" of the Church members, the Council chose to "completely ignore our petition".

First Parsonage

The first parsonage was purchased in 1906. It was located at 311 Michigan Avenue, at the approximate present location of the Dunes Condominium, and was used until 1912, when it was sold for $3,000 and the property at 205 State Street was bought for $3,000. That house was used as a parsonage until 1956, when the parsonage on Park Avenue was purchased. In 1957, the next lot west of the parsonage was given to the Church by Mr. and Mrs. Julius Gilbert. The Park Avenue parsonage was torn down in 1977, and now the minister arranges his own housing.

Through the years, many exterior and interior changes have been made on the Church building. Mrs. Kohler points out the "wings" that were added in 1904. A comparison of the pictures of the original Church building and the present building shows how the "wings" changed the front entrance, making an extra room on the southeast corner now called the "bride's room". Also in 1904, a hand-pumped pipe organ was installed, creating jobs for any number of organ boys until it was motorized in 1912. The organ cost somewhere between $800 and $1,200.

The latest musical addition to the Church was made in 1978, with the installation of the carillons. They were initiated by a gift from Maxine Brown in memory of her husband, Carl.

As early as 1884, there was a vested choir which wore robes and stoles made by members of the Ladies' Aid Society. However, with the installation of the pipe organ in 1904, the choir became a more imortant part of the Church. For many years, the organist directed the choir and was listed as "Minister of Music" in Church bulletins.

Mrs. Kohler notes that singing was a very great part of the early worship of the First Congregational Church of Charlevoix.

Singing

"They sang at Church meetings, Ladies' Aid meetings, committee meetings and prayer meetings, vesper services, and most assuredly at morning worship, at all Church suppers – before and after – and any religious meetings held in homes" she writes.

"They loved their hymns and their music. Singing seemed almost an outlet for these early people. The hymn they opened almost every meeting with, and always on Sunday, was hymn 216 in the old Plymouth Hymnal, and it was, 'I Love Thy Kingdom, Lord'. In reading the old records and seeing where a meeting was called to order, it invariably opened with 'I Love Thy Kingdom Lord'. They must have memorized every verse just from repetition."

Centennial Services

There will be singing at the centennial worship service on Sunday morning, September 19, 1982 and during the informal celebration on Sunday evening. Pastor Raymond Giftin says that "I Love Thy Kingdom Lord" could be one of the song selections.

The worship service, at 11 a.m., will feature a sermon by Dr. John Rogers, executive minister of the Michigan Council of United Churches of Christ. The Sunday evening celebration will begin with a dinner at 5:30 and will continue with a three-part drama depicting church history, performed by Eleanore Carson, Jean Giftin, and Beth Strawbridgew. Long-time members of the Church will also be recognized, including Mrs. Kohler, who joined the Church in 1917 as a teenager.

The celebration will also be an occasion to honor the 25 ministers who have served the Church through the years:

25 Ministers

C. F. Van Auken, A. G. Waterman, A. O. Downs, John S. Rood, Wm. H. MacPherson, F. J. Estabrook, John McCallum, John Allsworth, James Hyslop, H. A. Putnam, C. E. Taggart, Harold Van Kirk, James Smith, Clarence W. Long, B. G. Mattson, G. Russell Parker, Donald Evans, Jackson Turner, Harold Kohn, Kenneth Mitchell (Associate), James Sherman (Associate), Robert Harrison (Associate), Lawrence Tenehopen, Gordon Mitchinson, and Raymond Giffin.

The Reverend Giftin will retire in October, after nine years of service. He and a committee of Church members, headed by W. W. Price and Mrs. Kohler, have arranged activities of the centennial celebration. A special cantata composed by Elizabeth Humphrey was presented on August 29. The women of the Church held a County Fair earlier in the year, and the young people of the Church constructed a centennial float for the Venetian Festival parade.

Those seven original members of the First Congregational Church of Charlevoix have grown into a congregation of several hundred which is an important part of a vital city population. Much has changed and much is the same as it was 100 years ago. There is still the Belvedere Club, the Chicago Club, Round Lake, the Pine River Channel bridge, and Bridge Street (paved since 1908). And there are city streets bearing the names of old settlers, many of whom were members of the First Congregational Church.

The centennial slogan of the Church appears on a banner made and donated by Kristin Schaperkotter, a Church member "Forward Through the Ages".

One hundred years should be a good part of "the Ages" and the First Congregational Church has, indeed, gone "Forward".

Apple crop could be best since turn of the century

Apple harvest is in full swing throughout the state and nation. The U.S. harvest is forecast at 204-million bushels - almost as large as the 1980 record crop and 11 percent above last year's crop. Five major apple-producing states (Washington, New York, Michigan, Virginia and West Virginia) are expected to exceed their 1980 crops this year.

The Michigan apple crop will be the largest since the turn of the century, according to the Michigan Agricultural Reporting Service. Production is forecast at 22.6 million bushels, a 44 percent increase over the 1981 crop.

Growing conditions for Michigan apples and other fruits have been ideal this year. Generous rainfall means apples will be larger than normal for most varieties. Quality will also be superior, as is usually the case when the crop is large.

The cool nights and sunny days bring on the red color, so highly prized by shoppers. Of course, an apple doesn't have to be red all over to be ripe and good. Patches of green are likely to be found on the side of the apple turned away from the sun. Often, a closer look reveals the green area is the shape of a leaf, proof that it grew in the leaf's shadow. This is how Mother Nature grows apples in America's heartland. So that apples can be picked at just the right stage of maturity, university horticulturists issue harvest dates for each apple variety in each locale.

Apple growers must be doing something right, because apple popularity is increasing. A recent study conducted by the U.S. Department of Agriculture shows 1981 per capita consumption of fresh apples at 20.8 pounds. That's up nearly 3 pounds over the 1980 per capita consumption of 17.9 pounds. (Overall fresh fruit consumption gained 5 pounds per capita during the same period.)

Apples have many pluses which are contributing to their popularity. A good source of dietary fiber, potassium and pectin, apples are low in sodium. Eaten at the end of a meal or as a snack, apples are also excellent tooth cleaners.

Michigan offers a wide selection of apple varieties. This is desirable because some varieties are best for eating fresh, while others are superior for pies, salads or other uses. When choosing apples at the supermarket, purchase the variety best suited to the use you have in mind.

McIntosh, Jonathan and Idared are considered all-purpose apples. All-purpose means that a given variety is good for eating out of hand and for pies, salads, sauce, baking - or whatever. Another variety may be better for one thing, such as pies, but all-purpose varieties are acceptable for all uses.

McIntosh apples are generally sweeter than Jonathans. Idareds are harvested after Macs and Jonathans. A relatively new variety and an excellent keeper, Idareds are the apple for those who want to put a few apples away for winter in their own basement storage.

The Spy variety, considered the premium apple for pies, is still produced in Michigan, though in smaller quantities than in past years. Shoppers may have to search out Spys in farmer's markets rather than relying on the supermarket. The same is true for Romes (top choice for baking) and Stayman (related to the old-fashioned Winesap).

Regardless of the variety, apples should be stored in the refrigerator for best quality. Keeping them in a plastic bag or closed container helps to minimize moisture and flavor loss.

Lexalite may expand in city

by DAVE KNIGHT

LexaLite Signal Products Company, a division of the Charlevoix-based LexaLite International firm, has tentative plans to expand and may choose a site in Charlevoix's north side industrial park for a new facility according to an announcement made before the Charlevoix City Council Monday night.

Former Charlevoix County planner John Hess, now employed by LexaLite, told the council that the firm is running out of room at its present Hayes Township location on U.S. 31 North and is considering construction of a new building, possibly within the city.

According to Hess, plans are to provide an additional 20,000 square feet of space for manufacturing, storage or research and development use for the Signal Products division plus another 1,500 square feet of office space. The site would ideally be able to also accomodate a 10,000 square foot expansion "in a couple of years", said Hess.

Requisite for the new building will

'Valley' may join First Ward

The "valley" portion of Charlevoix, now known as Second Ward, could become a part of First Ward under reapportionment.

City clerk Deanne Balch reported to council last week that the population in the three wards is unequal and boundaries need to be redrawn to assure that each council member represents the same number of people. According to preliminary census data, 825 people live in First Ward and a total of 2,378 people or an average of 1,189 live in Second and Third Wards.

The Home Rule Act requires three wards be as nearly equal in population and that each ward is contiguous and compact. City council will begin redrawing the boundaries for the three voting wards as soon as census data is available.

Under federal law, political boundary lines must be redrawn every 10 years following the completion of the census. The one-person, one-vote ruling requires each district to have as equal a number of people as possible. Up to a 10 percent differential is allowed.

However, the home rule cities act never envisioned the complication of a federal census, according to Jim Chapman of the Department of State Elections Division. There are no specific guidelines in the act about how reapportionment should be conducted. In addition, the specific census data cities need rarely is available in time for cities to complete redrawing ward boundaries at the same time the county, state and federal representative districts are redrawn, Chapman said. Cities need block by block information as opposed to general census district data.

The elections official said the idea is to complete reapportionment in time for the off-year election. But the final census data is rarely available in time, Chapman said, so most reapportionment is not finalized until the even-year election.

There is no set deadline by which home rule cities must complete reapportionment except that it must be completed and approved at least four months prior to the next general, municipal election.

Mrs. Balch had no idea when the census data would be available, but said it is being sent from the Washington, D.C. census office. Council directed her to place reapportionment on the work session agenda as soon as the information arrives.

The final reapportionment plan must be filed with Mrs. Balch and is subject to review by Circuit Court if any registered voter in the city petitions the court within 30 days after the plan has been filed with the clerk.

Olympians compete in East Park

The skills and sense of humor of true Olympians were on display Saturday during the first Restaurant Olympics in East Park.

The representatives of nine city eateries were asked to wash dishes which had been baked in the oven, peel potatoes in record time and to light candles in a breeze which would have defied a blow torch. But they went at it with great gusto, all for the honor of their employers — and themselves.

The "Olympics" was organized by Dave Phillips of the Grey Gables and drew a crowd of more than 100 during the afternoon competition. The teams, representing the Argonne, Bay Queen dinner boat, Fireside Inn, Great Lakes Whitefish and Chips, Grey Gables, Judy's, McDonalds, Topside Cocktail Lounge, and Village Inn Pizza, were dressed in T-shirts promoting their employers and wildly cheered their entries on.

There were some predictable winners; the Bay Queen team captured the cocktail waiters and waitresses obstacle course competition, the Grey Gables won the table setting event and McDonald's took the potato peeling contest.

No overall winners were named, just individual events were awarded. The various events and the first three winning restaurants were: Diswashing — Fireside, Topside second and third place; Table setting — Grey Gables, Topside, Great Lakes; Figure adding — Topside, Grey Gables, Fireside and McDonalds tied for third; Pizza crust spinning — Grey Gables, Argonne, Topside; Potato peeling — McDonalds, Fireside took second and third; Shrimp peeling — Bay Queen, Argonne, Grey Gables; Tray carrying — Bay Queen, Great Lakes, Judy's; Pie eating — Landings, Great Lakes second and third.

The competition was inspired by the Detroit Free Press annual tray race held in Hart Plaza in downtown Detroit.

"My wife and an employee suggested we try something like that," Phillips explained. "Then we started to think about how we could improve on what they did and we came up with contests that would involve all restaurant employees."

Phillips was delighted with the turnout and said he and other participants have had several calls already asking what the events will be next year.

"They want to start practicing," he laughed.

Resolution on judges reworded

by PEG OHLE

Last July 14, when the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners passed a resolution relating to payment of supplements to the Probate, District, and Circuit Court judges, they apparently used stronger language than they intended.

The resolution, as passed, read, "Therefore be it resolved that Charlevoix County cease to provide salary supplements for judges of the Probate, District, and Circuit Courts at such time that each office shall be up for re-election."

Last week, the County Board rescinded that resolution and passed another one which included the word "may". The new resolution reads, "Therefore be it resolved that Charlevoix County may cease to provide salary supplments," etc.

The new wording gives the County Board a chance to exercise its judgement in individual cases following the re-election of all judges.

Commissioners John Haggard and Casimir Toton voted against rescinding the original resolution.

Third Kenwabikise brother found

by FRAN MARTIN

The body of a Beaver Island youth, John Paul Kenwabikise, Jr., 17, drowned in Lake Michigan east of the Island September 2, was found at approximately 2:15 p.m. Saturday on Grape Island, a small island located between Hog and Garden Islands. The body was found by Beaver Island resident Dick Burris who had been involved in the search from the time the boys were reported missing and who had searched Grape Island unsuccessfully as late as Friday.

The body was taken to the Otsego County Hospital at Gaylord for an autopsy.

Funeral services for the youth were held Monday at Holy Cross Church. The Rev. Gabriel Fox, O.F.M., officiated. Interment was in Holy Cross Cemetery.

Born at Petoskey June 10, 1965, John Paul Kenwabikise had always resided on Beaver Island. He had attended the Beaver Island Community School. He was a commercial fisherman. He was a member of Holy Cross Church.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Paul Kenwabikise, Sr., of St. James; three brothers, Jesse, Erick and Simon and two sisters, Wendy and Rose, at home; his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kenwabikise of St. James and his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Moore of Oden.

The Winchester Funeral Home was in charge of arrangments.

The accident in which the three brothers were drowned occurred early the morning of Sept. 2 when their 16 foot twin engine outboard motor boat modified as a fishing boat was apparently swamped during a squall that hit the area as they were enroute to fishing grounds to lift gill nets.

The bodies of the brothers, Kenneth David, 16, and Dennis Michael, 13, were recovered by divers near their boat in 45 feet of water east of the island on Sept. 5.

The search for the third victim was continued by the Charlevoix County Sheriff's deputies and island residents until it was successfully completed Saturday.

Immediately following the accident, Coast Guard vessels from Charlevoix and St. Ignace, helicopters from Traverse City and Chicago, a rescue plane from Selfridge Field and as many as ten Michigan State Police and Department of Natural Resources divers were involved in the search which resulted in the recovering of the bodies of the two younger brothers.

Tests are inconclusive in search for source of TCE

At least four more test water wells must be drilled to aid scientific sleuths in their search for the source of pollution in the city water supply.

A dozen wells were drilled earlier this summer, but results were inconclusive, Michigan Department of Natural Resources and Public Health officials say.

Health department tests found a suspected cancer-causing agent, trichloroethylene (TCE), in the city water system nearly a year ago. The water supply was tested following the discovery of TCE in the Petoskey municipal water supply. The two supplies are very similar — both are shallow wells near Lake Michigan in the path of ground water flows.

The amount of TCE in water samples from the Charlevoix system has ranged from 14 to 55 parts per billion. The levels dropped this summer because of high usage, which involved the pumping of more water including ground water sources from Lake Michigan, which is free of the pollutant.

"We tried to find the source (of pollution) the easy way" by going to industries who used or were using the chemical, said Thrasos Eftaxiadis, geologist with the Water Quality Division of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. Test wells were then drilled at those spots to determine the amount of groundwater pollution.

"Now we are limited in the way we can pick up clues. We have to do it the hard way — and the more expensive way by using test wells."

He says the additional work is important to the city because "you've got to know where the pollution is coming from to avoid it." He also believes the additional wells could lead to an elimination of the chemical in the water, although health department officials say it is doubtful the city well could be cleared up enough to satisfy their requirements.

City council has contracted with Granger Engineering to complete feasibility studies on alternative means of removing the chemical from the municipal water supply ranging from drilling new wells to installing a filtration system on the current well.

Since the first tests confirmed TCE polluted city water, health department and DNR officials have located about a half dozen suspected sources of TCE contamination through soil borings, information from city residents and a review of area industries which are, or were, using the solvent.

One site was located on the north side of the city through citizen information. However, it has been ruled out as a potential source of pollution.

Here are some ways to avoid TCE contamination

Although the level of trichloroethylene (TCE) in the city water supply is very low, some people may not want to risk a long-term exposure to the suspected cancer-causing agent.

District 3 Health Department officials recommend several alternatives including: obtaining water from other sources, purchasing bottled water, buying a home distillation unit or boiling water.

Boiling water for three minutes reduces the TCE concentration by 86 percent, for five minutes — 93 percent, and 10 minutes — 99 percent. The person boiling the water should not stand over the pot and a range hood or vent should be used so the person will not inhale the vapors.

Health department officials say the risk of getting cancer from drinking water with TCE in it is very low. Assuming a 155-pound

DNR technician Thrasos Eftaxiadis and Health Department specialist Larry Levengood take more samples from test wells in the ongoing search for where TCE is entering the Charlevoix city water supply.

First day enrollment is down from last year as expected

Youngsters scurry onto the school bus for the first day of classes last Wednesday.

by FRAN MARTIN

First day enrollment figures at the Charlevoix Public Schools followed the anticipated decline from 1,432 students at the time of the official count on the fourth Friday of September in 1981 to 1,406 on the first day in 1982, Superintendent Gordon VanWieren said.

The K-5 enrollment showed a decrease of 11 students, 546 to 535, the middle school a marked increase of 23, from 347 in 1981 to 370 last week and the high school a loss of 37 students or a decrease of 539 to 502.

In accounting for the increase in enrollment at the middle school, David J. Smith, school principal, said that a large number of the incoming students were children registered in the school district for the first time, families new to the community, and most of the others were students transferring from St. Mary's Parochial School. He added that of the new students in the community, 12 are in the sixth grade, 18 in the seventh and seven in the eighth grade. Transfers from St. Mary's were students who normally come from St. Mary's into the seventh grade plus others who entered the fifth and sixth grades. These gains were unanticipated.

At the high school level, Vane H. Smith had projected the enrollment at 505 students, basing his estimate on the size of the graduating class, the freshmen class entering the ninth grade and students leaving the school district. He missed it by four students. The first day enrollment was 501 students.

The elementary school enrollment was about the number projected, basing the estimate in the number of kindergarten students enrolled prior to the opening of school and the number of students going into the sixth grade, Ralph Raymer, principal said.

In commenting on the enrollment, Supt. Gordon W. VanWieren said it was "about what we anticipated". He went on to say that school principals do an excellent job of keeping track of possible transfers from the community and of new people entering the community so projections are pretty accurate.

Enrollment at St. Mary's School is also down this year

St. Mary's Parochial School which has classes for students in the first through the sixth grades showed a decrease in enrollment from 88 in 1982 to 78 on opening day this September Sister Anges Mary, school principal said, following the opening of school.

The majority of children entering the first grade are those who attended kindergarten at the public school. Following the national trend, there are fewer children born so kindergarten classes are smaller and thus, the enrollment continues to decline.

This year's enrollment in the first grade is 14 compared to 19 in 1981. Enrollment in the second through the fourth was fairly stable. However, the transfer of students in the fifth and sixth to the public schools has accounted for the major reason for the decline.

The first day enrollment figures for 1982 and the official fourth Friday enrollment for 1981 are as follows: First grade - 14 in 1982, 19 in 1981; Second grade - 17 in 1982, 19 in 1981; Third grade - 18 in each; Fourth grade - 14 in 1982, 10 in 1981; Fifth grade - 9 in 1982, 11 in 1981; Sixth grade - 4 in 1982, 11 in 1981.

Eleven students completed the sixth grade in June and entered the seventh grade at the public school.

The dates for the annual color cruises sponsored by the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce have been announced by Jacquie Merta, executive director of the Chamber.

They will be the weekends of October 2 and 3 and October 9 and 10.

On those days the motorship, Beaver Islander, will depart the municipal dock near the bridge at 1 p.m. sharp for the two hour cruise along the shoreline of Lake Charlevoix where the spectacular colors of the season are at their loveliest.

Prices will be $8.00 for adults and $4.00 for children under 11 years Mrs. Merta said. Beverages and snacks will be available aboard the motorship at an additional cost. Tickets are being sold in advance on a non-refundable basis. Tickets purchased for a particular cruise will be honored only on that date. "Paid in full" reservations will be held for the buyer. Tickets paid for in full will be forwarded on request.

In the past, cruises have been sell-outs and there have been people standing on the dock to pick any uncalled for tickets. For this reason, persons are advised to order tickets well in advance to avoid disappointment.

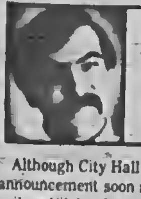
Opinion



Knight on the Town

RR property on the block

by Dave Knight

Although City Hall is mum on the subject, expect an announcement soon regarding the acquisition of C&O railroad right-of-way property through Charlevoix.

Exhaustive negotiations between the Chessie System and the state over the past year have failed to produce a purchase agreement whereby the state would assume ownership of some sections of trackage. The result is that the railroad is now prepared to sell some of the right-of-ways along the 127-mile stretch between Manistee and Bay View which was abandoned last year.

Unwilling to deal with individuals owning small portions of property adjoining the right-of-ways, the Chessie System has indicated that it will negotiate with organized groups of private citizens, corporations or local governments.

In Antrim County, for instance, three individuals are in the process of organizing 240 property owners along 7½ miles of right-of-way between Bellaire and Central Lake in hopes that the group can cut a deal with the railroad to purchase that scenic stretch which runs along Intermediate Lake.

Both the Village of Central Lake and Antrim County have also espressed interest in buying sections of right-of-way. Central Lake has already entered negotiations while Antrim County would like to use Kammer trust funds to develop the right-of-way running through the Grass River Natural Area into a recreational trail.

Other groups are being organized in the Torch Lake and Alden areas.

In Charlevoix's case, the Chessie System's trackage through town is potentially prime property. The right-of-way runs along the northern shore of Lake Charlevoix, an area that is being eyed by planners and developers as some of the most desirable property for future growth.

Also involved is the depot property, the building on which is presently leased by the Charlevoix Yacht Club. The adjoining beach is the north side's only public swimming area on Lake Charlevoix thus making a city purchase of the depot all the more logical.

Letters: We love your town

To the Editor:

As my husand and I and our young grand daughter passed through your city going up North last month, we could not help but see what a lovely and clean town it is and how much work and caring went into all the flowers through the town. In fact, it was so inviting that we stopped on our way home and shopped, also had our lunch.

We will go North again in Ocober to see the colors, and you may be sure we will stop in your town again. When the citizens work so hard to beautify their town, it is worth it to know people notice it and enjoy it.

We love your town.

be electricity, water and sewer, added Hess, utilities not currently in place at potential industrial development sites on the north side. Hess encouraged the council to consider improvement of those potential sites.

City Manager Robert Hunt added his encouragement also saying, "I think this is an excellent opportunity not only as an addition to our industrial park but also as a means to get the utilities into the park which may draw other industries."

Hess said that LexaLite is looking at several options but that the decision to build may be made within the next two or three months. The expansion would add approximately 20 jobs to the LexaLite work force.

adult drinks two quarts of water per day with 45 parts per billion of TCE for 70 years, the increased risk of cancer is 1 in 100,000.

The levels of TCE in Charlevoix's water supply have ranged from 11 to 55 ppb. The levels have dropped this summer, apparently due to increased use of the water system.

Since the discovery of TCE in the city water supply in October, 1981, the city council formed a Water Quality team to review what measures should be taken. Council recently contracted Granger Engineering of Gaylord to conduct a feasibility study of a variety of alternatives for removing TCE from the city water supply and to provide a cost comparison.

The engineering firm will be looking at: upgrading esisting wells, drilling new wells, building a filtration system and drawing water from Lake Michigan, a new location for the water pumping system and filtration of the existing system combined with chlorination.

City manager Robert Hunt expects the results of the enginnering study within 60 days, which should coincide wth a determination by the Department of Commerce on Charlevois's application for a small cities block grant to help fund construction of whatever alternative is chosen to rid the city's water supply of TCE contamination.

Hunt said competition for the grant funds is very stiff, but the health department believes the city has a good chance of qualifying for the funds.

Clockwise

Good weather arrives; visitors leave

by Bob Clock

ISN'T IT IRONIC that our nicest, hottest weekend of the summer came a full week after most of our resorters had packed their bags and departed for the far corners of the earth?

Both Saturday and Sunday were idyllic, with temperatures hitting 80 degrees or more. On our front porch Sunday, the mercury skyrocketed to 82 degrees shortly after noon and stayed there the rest of the day.

The kids, of course, wanted to go swimming, but I declined the invitation. I am sure that Lake Michigan, which never did really warm up this summer, is still mighty chilly — despite the air temperature.

However a week of 80-degree weather could make a difference — so keep your swimming suit handy.

SPEAKING OF SWIMMING wear reminds me of the old days when most bathing suits was made of wool — a dietary staple of moth larvae.

Sometimes in the spring my mother would unpack our bathing suits only to find gaping holes in the most embarrassing places.

Then she read somewhere that bathing suits should be dusted with moth crystals and stored in sealed Mason jars.

Ma, of course, took the suggestion to heart — but I never could figure out why she insisted on storing our bathing suits in the fruit cellar with other Mason jars filled with peaches, cherries and chili sauce.

I suppose she figured Mason jars belonged in the fruit cellar and that's where she kept our bathing suits.

I wish I had a nickle for every winter night I was dispatched to the unlighted fruit cellar for jar of peaches or cherries — and returned with a jar stuffed with my sister's yellow bathing suit or my red trunks.

Synthetics certainly have made life easier for little boys.

I DON'T SUPPOSE a great many tears are being shed for poor Ronald Reagan whose Republican stalwarts deserted him in droves last week and voted to override his veto of a $14.2 billion supplemental-funding bill.

The veto — if it had stood — would have delivered a body-blow to college kids and the elderly.

I am not bleeding for Reagan — but it is frustrating to see both sides of an issue.

Reagan says the additional spending will play hob with his budget and he's probably right. He has set his sights on cutting back on the god-awful amount of money the federal government takes from your pocket and mine every pay day. And I stand behind him four-square in this respect.

However, Reagan's priorities are askew. Any further cuts must come from his stupendous military budget — and not from programs affecting the welfare of either the young or the old.

The young are our hope for tomorrow; the elderly are the jewels in our crown.

TCE test wells inconclusive

for the city water supply because the groundwater flow is separated from the city well by Pine River Channel. The discovery could narrow possible locations for a new well.

Currently, the number of pollution sources has been narrowed to three potential spots.

A dozen test wells have been drilled around Charlevoix, but Eftaxiadis said tests on samples taken from the wells were inconclusive.

Eftaxiadis was in Charlevoix earlier this week taking additional samples from the wells to confirm the previous results.

"Some of the results don't make much sense," Eftaxiadis explained. "The patterns of the tests are different from what we expected. We had some suspected sources and we put wells where we should have registered some TCE, but we didn't."

Eftaxiadis said the test wells should have been deeper. Apparently, the chemical, which is heavier than water, is deeper in the groundwater pool than first suspected. Most of the wells are drilled just to the water table level — the top of the groundwater pool — and very little contaminant has been found. However, deeper wells show as high as 330 ppb TCE in the groundwater, well over accepted "safe" levels.

"When you're dealing with groundwater, which you can't see, and contaminants that you don't know where they're coming from, you have to place the wells based on an educated guess," he explained. "Ideally, the work should be done in phases but because the funding was coming from the EPA (Environmental Protection Agency) we had to do all the wells at once."

The Water Quality Division geologist has requested use of the DNR drilling rig for additional wells, but "it is reserved for like three years and we can't wait that long."

He believes there is "quite a bit of TCE moving through the ground, but we haven't been able to locate the source."

The additional wells will help the geologist "fine tune the direction of the ground water flow and pick up the conatminants as they move through" the ground water pool.

Weddings

Mr. and Mrs. Timothy J. Gonyeau

McDonough-Gonyeau

Kathie Marie McDonough of Charlevoix and Timothy John Gonyeau of St. Clair Shores were married at St. Mary's Church Sept. 4.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence McDonough of Charlevoix and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gonyeau of VanNoys, Calif.

The Rev. R. Dale Magoon, assisted by the Rev. James Trent, officiated at the double ring service during the nuptial mass. Readers at the mass were Alvin LaFreniere of St. James, godfather of the bride, and Thomas Gonyeau of Detroit, brother of the bridegroom. Organist Jeanne Lignell played a program of traditional music and accompanied Wayne Conti of Rochester, soloist.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, chose a gown of white chiffon for her wedding. Fashioned with a Queen Anne neckline, fitted bodice of re-embroidered Chantilly lace accented with seed pearls and double bouffant sleeves secured by cuffs of the same lace, the gown featured a draped skirt accented with a diamond insert of lace, sequins and seed pearls and a chapel length train. A Juliet cap of lace secured her fingertip veil trimmed with Chantilly lace. Her bouquet was of pink and white wildflowers.

Pamela McDonough served as her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Susan Kane-Johnson of Sauk Village, Ill., Mary Delamater of St. James, Kay McDonough, sister-in-law of the bride, and Laurie McDonough, niece of the bride, both of Grand Rapids, and Linda McDonough, sister-in-law of the bride, of St. James. They wore identical gowns styled with Victorian-style white bodices and seaspray green voile with a floral pattern at the hemline. They carried baskets of wildflowers.

Erin and Keri McDonough, nieces of the bride, were flower girls and wore seaspray green gowns with white bodices and white pinafores made by Linda McDonough and carried baskets of wildflowers.

Robert Griffith of Los Angeles, Calif., assisted the bridegroom as best man. Joe Zelenak of St. Clair Shores, Joe Sierzinga of Owosso, Wayne Conti of Rochester, Kenneth Lamberti of Mt. Clemens and Thomas Gonyeau, brother of the groom, of Detroit, were groomsmen and assisted Joseph Cusamano of St. Clair Shores seating the guests.

A reception, hosted by the bride's parents, followed at the VFW Hall on the Harbor-Petoskey Road. Master and mistress of ceremonies were Mr. and Ms. James Elms, uncle and aunt of the bride. Debbie McDonough, niece of the bride, tended the guest book.

Following a wedding trip to Mackinac Island, the couple will be at home at 22019 Grove Pointe, St. Clair Shoes. The bride is a registered occupational therapist and the bridegroom is prodcution supervisor at the Bunding Tubing Co., of Warren.

A rehearsal dinner, hosted by the bridegroom's parents, was held at the McDonough home on Friday evening. (Photography by Mick Smith)

Mr. and Mrs. Tad M. Malpass

Smith-Malpass

Kelly Jo Smith and Tad M. Malpass were married Sept. 4 at the East Jordan First Presbyterian Church.

White carnations tipped in blue and white roses graced the altar as Rev. Milton G. Walls, Jr., performed the double ring ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. David L. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. F. Bruce Malpass, both of East Jordan, are parents of the couple.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of satinette over taffeta accented with appliqued alencon lace. The net bodice was trimmed with a lace collar and capelet sleeves and the skirt ended in a chapel length train. Her walking length veil edged in appliqued alencon lace was attached to a Juliet cap and she carried a bouquet of white carnations tipped in blue, white roses and baby's breath.

Traditional wedding music was supplied by organist Bob Bryan.

Katherine Smith, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmades were: Angela Skop, Candy Bayster, Stacey Chipman and Cathy Mentzer, sister of the groom. They wore light blue gowns of polyester knit with sheer nylon jackets trimmed in lace and carried bouquets of carnations, roses and baby's breath.

Flower girl was Sara Malpass and ringbearer was Michael Mentzer, niece and nephew of the groom.

Attending the groom was his brother, Tracey Malpass. Groomsmen were: Tim and Todd Malpass, brothers of the groom, Arnold Smith, brother of the bride, and Richard Mentzer. Ushers were John Strehl, John Lloyd and Danny Lee Spence.

A reception, given by the parent of the couple, was held at Corwith Township Hall. The wedding cake was made by Sharon LaVanway and music was offered by Aurora Borealis. A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents at the Jordan Inn on Friday evening.

The newlyweds are honeymooning in Chicago and then will make their home in East Jordan. (Photography by John Imel)

Tax hearing

The Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners will hold a public hearing on Wednesday evening, September 22, at 8:30 p.m., in the County Building Annex to consider a proposed increase of .7063 mills in the County's operating millage rate to be levied in 1982.

The increase, if adopted, would raise the County's operating millage to 4.55 mills, the same as it was in 1980.

The public hearing is necessitated by the "Truth in Taxation" law, which became effective this year.

Charlevoix 4-H to sponsor CPR classes

Charlevoix County 4-H Youth Programs in conjunction with the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department will be offering CPR (cardio-pulmonary resucitation) classes for young people aged thirteen and over. The class will be complete in two evening sessions September 28 and 29, from six to nine p.m. Classes will be held in the EOC room at the Sheriff's Department on Garfield St. in Charlevoix.

The instructor for both sessions will be Officer Bennett, who is a certified Red Cross CPR instructor, having taken her instructor's training through the Lansing State Police Academy.

Leah Green, 4-H staff in Charlevoix County, noted that CPR has not been offered locally before specifically for young people. Any young person who is thirteen or over is welcome to take the six hours of instruction. The two sponsoring agencies agree that teens are just as much in need of this instruction as adults.

CPR training has particular value for teens who work as baby sitters or who hold jobs. They come into contact with children for whom they have total, even if temporary, responsibility, or large numbers of the general public.

The CPR course for young people will cover one man CPR, two man CPR and CPR for infants. Officer Bennett will also teach the Heimlich Maneuver and what to do in the case of bleeding coupled with a situation where CPR might be used. The introductory movie "Breath Of Live" will also be shewn. Participants will practice the CPR breathing techniques they learn on the Resuci-Annie and Resuci-Baby figures.

On completing CPR instruction a test will be given and cards issued to those who qualify. The cards are renewable annually.

Green says that even though 4-H ordinarily operates on a club basis and that many county events are geared to those already in the 4-H program, 4-H tries to serve all young people through age nineteen. This is accomplished by periodically offering programs of general interest. 4-H clubs and events are also open to anyone who wishes to participate, and cover a wide range of subject areas. The Charlevoix County 4-H Program is willing to work at any time with other public agencies and schools in order to promote informal education for children.

County youth may register for the CPR program by calling the Cooperative Extension Service at 582-6232 between 8:30 and 4:30 by September 24th.

County GOP to meet

Charlevoix County Republican Party will meet September 16, 7:30 p.m. at the county building. Guest speaker will be John Anderson, Republican candidate for the 37th State Senate District. Richard Headlee will also make a brief appearance. He is the Republican candidate for governor. Everyone is welcome.

Yachting Notes

The big weekend is now but a basis for old sailors' tales...."Hey, Crandson, you think it's wet today, why I remember the second day of Red Fox back in '82! It rained so hard, and for the entire race, that we were wearing life jackets just to stay afloat in the cockpit....the thunder so loud we had to use sign language to tell the crew when to tack....the lightening so fierce that static made the tell tales stick straight out!" Cary Gleason has given us permission to use his "Great Lakes Scanner" article to tell you how it really went, and save ol' A. Nony from having to admit to a much less than perfect performance on "Bandit".

Wednesday Evening at the Races...

A beautiful night, but again those crazy shifting winds. At 25 minutes before the gun, the Race Committee had set a perfect start line, square to the breeze and with bouy "F" dead to windward. By the time we started the wind had veered a full 20 degrees and it was a mad dash to the bouy!

In overall, corrected times were so close that a rating revision (from Red Fox Ratings back to C.Y.C. ratings) reversed the order of the first two positions bringing in "Hummer" ahead of "Camouflage", "Mint Julep" in 3rd, followed by "Sly" and "Indooroophilly".

PHRF..."Hummer", "Camouflage" and "Mint Julep", just as in overall.

P-28..."Foxy Lady", "Tireless" and "Blazen III".

525's..."Sly" by a country mile, "Indooroophilly" by less than a second ahead of "Bandit"!

The Portsmouth Fleet..."Ribit" by 10 minutes over "Seascape", and "Heineken" (Welcome!).

Short column this week to leave plenty of room for Gary...

by A. Nony Mouse

Labor Day Weekend finds most sailors in Northern Michigan competing in the Red Fox Regatta. This popular end of summer race was started over 10 years ago and originally had an overnight stop in Horton Bay. The Red Fox Inn is no longer in operation, but the regatta has grown and normally has 60-80 boats competing in four classes under the PHRF rule. On Saturday the boats race to Boyne City and on Sunday beat back up the lake to Charlevoix and the awards ceremony. Eighty boats rafted together in Boyne City's small marina makes for some close partying!!

This year the fleet was greeted with brisk southwest winds on Saturday morning. A few of the larger boats missed the second mark and had to beat back against fellow class boats with chutes!! The smaller boats (which started first) managed to stay in front all the way to Boyne City as the winds fluctuated between 10 and 20 mph. Ned Lockwood's J-24 was first to finish and won Division II corrected by over 6 minutes! The Pine River Hummer a J-30 made it two for J-Boats as it swept Division III. Five year old Merengue, a Peterson 34 managed to stay in front of the one tons and won Division IV. In the smallest fleet (Division I) Paul Hoadley sailed a near perfect race and earned a nice dock in Boyne City.

Some sailors consider the party at Boyne City more important than the race since everybody gets all the beer and corn they can

Penalties, safety spoil opener

A safety scored early in the game Friday was the margin of victory for the Petoskey Northmen as the visitors edged the Charlevoix Rayders 8-6 at Kipke Field Friday night.

"The penalties killed us" a spokesman for the Rayders said following the game in which, Charlevoix had 157 yards rushing and 132 yards passing compared to a total of 209 for Petoskey including 166 on the ground and 43 through the air.

The game was a costly one for both teams. The visitors lost quarterback Tedd Goodrich for the season with a knee injury. For Charlevoix, Jon Supernaw, playing in the backfield, suffered a dislocated shoulder and will be benched for at least two games.

The Northmen got on the board early in the game when a bad pass from center went into the end zone and a Petoskey player fell on it for two points.

Petoskey scored in the second period after taking a Rayder punt on their own 41 and, in six plays, moving the ball to the 20 yard line where Goodrich got off a pass to Tom Newton who went in to score.

The Rayders' single scoring play came with 1:23 minutes remaining in the half when Tim LaBlance hit end Mark Oostmeyer with a 25 yard pass.

Late in the game Charlevoix had a touchdown called back on a penalty as time ran out.

LaBlance connected on nine of 21 passes for 132 yards. On the ground he picked up 63 yards in 10 carries. Pat Mitchell had 60 yards in 18 carries; Jeff Trimper 34 yards in two carries and Shawn Hartnett, four for 12 yards.

Thad Morgan and Mike Martin each had a pass interception.

Top defensive players were Morgan, Dave Batdorff and Oostmeyer.

Charlevoix will take on non-league rival, Benzie Central at Benzie at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

JV team successful in debut

The Charlevoix Junior Varsity got off to a great start last week when they racked up a 20-2 win over the Petoskey JV's at Curtis Field.

The young Rayders did all their scoring early in the game, scoring all 20 points by halftime on a 40 yard pass interception by John Pearl and two shorter runs by Chris Havens, one for four yards and a second for 10 yards. Havens' TDs followed long concerted ground drives. Havens also ran the ball in for the conversion following his first touchdown.

The second half was a defensive battle all the way with Petoskey never offering a real threat. The young Northmen's safety came late in the game when the ball from center was thrown over the kicker's head and a Petoskey player fell on the ball in the end zone.

Kyle Smith carried the ball for 82 yards to lead the offense according to Coach Brian Certa. He also named Brent Cole, Smith, Jim Martin and Brill Center as standouts on offense and Havens, Pearl and Pat Hamlin on defense.

Certa commented that he was pleased with the team's showing this early in the season.

Charlevoix will host Mancelona here Thursday.

eat! This year the grills were started early and most people were enjoying steaks, corn and beer by 6 P.M.

Sunday dawned warm, cloudy and it looked a little like rain. Dave Strawbridge started the race right on time and 3 minutes after Division IV (the big boats) started the rain settled in for the remainder of the day. The fleet was becalmed for 30 minutes west of Horton Bay with the wind filling in from the south. Merengue again sailed a nice race and won, Orion, a Rodgers 33 sailed by Tom Hallberg beat out the Hummer for Division III, Ned Lockwood got some competition from John Baer's Camoflage in the J-24's with John placing first. Paul Siegel sailed with about 18 people and finally taught them all to sail with a first in Division IV and fleet on Sunday.

Karl Jurries sailed a great race with his Pearson 26 and earned himself a first overall for Division 1. Orion, the Rodgers from Traverse City won Division III. And the Coal Pile Express, Ned Lockwood's super fast J-24 from the Black Mountain Yacht Club won Division II. Merengue easily won overall in the big boats with 1st on both Saturday and Sunday. After the last boat finished the crews retired to the Charlevoix Yact Club to drown their sorrows and await the presentation of trophies.

Berean Bible teaching center to start classes Monday

The Berean Bible Teaching Center of Charlevoix announces that it will start its third year of daily Bible classes on Monday, September 20. The classes will be held five days a week from 9 a.m. to noon, with vacation periods of one week for Thanksgiving, Easter, and spring break, plus a three-week break at Christmas.

The day classes will run to May 27, with a diploma in "Bible and Theology" being given to each student upon completion of the course. Approximately 600 hours of classroom study will be required, but because many of the students work, very little homework will be assigned, except for some light work at the very start.

The classes are open free of charge to anyone 18 and over who wants to study the Bible, according to school poersonnel. This is the first year the classes have been offered free of charge.

The Berean Bible Teaching Center has had a night class in operation since August, 1980. It meets every Wednesday evening at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Doug Way on Beatty Road. The Center also has a class that meets on Sunday mornings at 10 a.m. at the Charlevoix City Hall.

Karen Reid will teach the day class this year. Further information may be obtained by calling 547-6343.

Resolution 82-9-1
NOTICE OF INTENT RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, the City Commission of the City intends to issue limited tax general obligation bonds for the purpose of defraying part of the cost of funding a drain special assessment entered against the City;

AND WHEREAS, notice of intent to issue bonds must be published at least forty-five (45) days before the issuance of the bonds in order to comply with the requirements of Section 5(g) of Act 279, Public Acts of Michigan, 1909, as amended.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED THAT:

1. The City Clerk shall publish a notice of intent to issue bonds in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper of general circulation in the City, as a display advertisement prominent in size.

2. The notice of intent so published shall be in substantially the following form:

OFFICIAL NOTICE TO ELECTORS OF THE CITY OF CHARLEVOIX OF INTENT TO ISSUE BONDS SECURED BY THE TAXING POWER OF THE CITY AND RIGHT OF REFERENDUM THEREON

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the City Council of the City of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, Michigan, intends to issue limited tax bonds of the City, in total principal amount of not to exceed $170,000 for the purpose of defraying part of the cost of drain improvements assessed against the City. The bonds shall mature serially in not to exceed 4 annual installments with interest payable on the unpaid balance at a rate of not to exceed 12.8% per annum, or such higher rate of interest as may be authorized by law.

SOURCE OF PAYMENT OF BONDS

THE PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST OF THE BONDS shall be a first budget obligation of the City payable primarily from the proceeds of a 1 mill levy approved by the City's electors on November 3, 1981 and secondarily, to the extent necessary, from the first taxes collected each year, not limited by law to other purposes, or from any other funds of the City lawfully available for such purposes. The levy of taxes for payment of the general obligation bonds is subject to applicable charter, statutory and constitutional limitations.

In case a petition requiring an election with respect to either series of bonds is filed, as described below, and issuance of the bonds is approved by vote of the electors, the obligation of the City to levy ad valorem taxes, if necessary, for payment of those bonds shall be without limitation as to rate or amount.

RIGHT OF REFERENDUM

THE BONDS will be issued without vote of the electors unless a PETITION requesting an election on the question of issuing the bonds, signed by not less than 10% OF THE REGISTERED ELECTORS in the City, is filed with the City Commission by depositing the petition with the City Clerk WITHIN FORTY-FIVE (45) DAYS after publication of this notice. If such a petition is filed, the bonds affected cannot be issued without an approving vote by a majority of electors voting on the question.

THIS NOTICE is given pursuant to the requirements of Section 5(g) of Act 297, Public Acts of Michigan, 1909, as amended. Further information concerning the matters set out in this notice may be secured from the City Clerk's office.

Deanne Balch
City Clerk

3. The City Council determines that the foregoing form of notice of intent to issue bonds and the manner of publication directed is adequate notice to the electors of the City and is well calculated to inform them of the intention of the City to issue the bonds, the purpose of the bond issues, the security for the bonds, and the right of referendum of the electors with respect thereto under all of the circumstances and does hereby ratify its publication.

Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. John Rajewski

Rajewski-Ralph

After a wedding trop to northern Michigan, Mr. & Mrs. John Rajewski are at home in Williamston, Michigan.

Linda Susan Ralph and John Edward Rajewski were united in marriage at the Greenville United Methodist Church on August 7. The Reverend George Fleming of Sodus, Michigan, cousin of the bride, officiated.

The parents of the couple are Dr. & Mrs. J. Allan Ralph, Greenville, and Lt. Colonel & Mrs. Robert Rajewski, Charlevoix.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a long sleeved organza gown trimmed with point d'esprit lace and simulated pearls. Her fingertip length veil was edged with pearls and held in place by a coronet of pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses, white daisy mums, baby's breath and ivy.

The bride was attended by her sister, Laura Ralph, and bridesmaids Theresa Williams, Kathleen Murray and Cynthia Hansen. They wore identical floor length dresses of chalk mauve taffeta and carried bouquets of white, pink and lavender mums and baby's breath. Their wreath headpieces were fashioned of lavender and purple ribbon and baby's breath.

The best man was Chris Sklut. The groomsmen were Robert Rajewski, Paul Rajewski and Richard Rajewski, brothers of the groom. Guests were seated by David Ralph and Peter Ralph, brothers of the bride. The acolytes were Patrick Rajewski, brother of the groom, and Kenneth Hugan, cousin of the groom.

Music for the ceremony was provided by L.J. Nickerson, organist, Chris Hansen, trumpeter, and Linda Hansen, soloist accompanied by Jeff Greunke on the guitar.

The bride's wedding band had been given to her by her great-aunt, Mary Miller. The ring was a gift to Mrs. Miller from her great-great grandfather.

Punch was served by Theresa Cole and Barbara Hammond and rice was distributed by Molly Hugan, cousin of the groom. Masters and Mistresses of Ceremonies were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hansen and Dr. and Mrs. Ronald Hammond. The wedding cake was baked by the groom's mother and served by Eleanor Budge and Marylin Salisbury.

Hospital Guild seeking new members at tea this week

Charlevoix Area Hospital Guild, an organization of men and women, is seeking volunteers and members.

The Guild, which assists hospital staff and patients through a variety of services, is holding its Annual Membership Tea, Tuesday, September 14, from 2 to 4 p.m. in the lower level of the Lake Michigan wing of the hospital.

The service organization which has some 200 members provides volunteers to help patients and staff by delivering mail and lunch trays, helping write letters for patients, visiting patients to see if they wish the chaplain service, working in the Showcase Gift Shop, decorating the hospital on holidays and performing myriad other helpful jobs.

A new Guild project for this year is a telephone reassurance service, through which people who are living alone will receive daily calls from volunteers. The callers will provide a friendly contact for people who might not have anyone else to check on their welfare. The Guild is seeking volunteers for this project.

The Showcase Gift Shop, in the hospital's front lobby, is the Guild's main source of income. Money raised by the Guild is donated to various hospital funds, for equipment, nursing scholarships and other projects.

Recently the Guild presented Hospital Administrator Richard Krueger with a check for $2,000 which will be applied to the equipment fund to purchase major new surgical equipment. In addition, the Guild this year completed payments on a $15,000 pledge to the Hospital's Building and Renovation Project. The organization had made the pledge for over five years but was able to complete it in just over three years.

Guild President Joanna Ounn emphasizes that the Guild "is a service organization. We work more then we spend.

"Our volunteers are wonderfully dedicated people. And they do feel they are doing something helpful for the hospital."

Building permits decline

The Charlevoix County Department of Building Inspection issued 41 permits during August, down from 44 in July and 59 in August.

Included among the permits were nine for new residences, eight for additions and remodeling of residences, ten for residential garages, five for residential outbuildings, and two for decks and porches.

In the commercial category, the Department issued one permit for a new building. In other categories, the Department issued one permit for a building demolition, and five permits for mobile homes and mobile home additions.

Construction costs of the 41 building projects for which permits were issued in August are estimated at $579,503. Construction costs of the nine new residences is estimated at $359,270, for an average of $39,882 per house. It should be noted, however, that the costs of plumbing, heating, and electrical work are not included in these figures.'

Dixon's cycling odyssey was also an educational experience

by ANNE KELLY

Remember the old back-to-school composition assignment that came like clockwork each September? "Write a one page essay entitled 'What I Did Last Summer?'' And remember how had it was to embellish the mundane details of the trip to Grandma's, or worse yet, to try to find something interesting in long summer days filled with lawn mowing jobs and hanging around with the kids at the beach?

If Matt Dixon, 13 year old 'middle school student gets that question tossed at him this fall, he won't have to search aimlessly for an interesting essay topic. Matt attended a one week session of the summer youth program offered out of Michigan Technological University July 25-August 1.

"I had heard about it a couple of years ago when a neighbor, Joey Hayes, attended," Matt explained. "It's called Bicycling Biology and Geology. I wanted to go because of the bicycling but I ended up liking the geology best of all."

The course in which Matt was enrolled is one of many selections offered during July and August at Michigan Tech each summer. "The Michigan Tech Summer Youth Program includes a wide spectrum of explorations to provide opportunities to learn about academic fields not usually studied in junior and senior high schools; to explore the opportunities, challenges, and activities of certain career fields; to learn about life on a college campus; and to develop the more cosmopolitan viewpoint one gains from association with persons from all parts of the United States." (brochure information)

The Biking expedition was in fact a 125 mile bike trip which made a loop through some very geolotogieally interesting territory in the Copper Country of Michigan's Upper Penninsula. There was some fairly challenging terrain for bikers, Matt discovered. "I have a twelve speed bike," he remarked humorously. "I could have used about 18 gears on some of those hills."

The dual purpose of the expedition in the spirit of the explorations in careers and knowledge for which the program is noted, was to explore plant and soil samples. Each participant was to come back at the end of the week-long trip with a plant and rock collection in which he would be able to identify at least 10 rocks, 5 flowering and 5 non-flowering plants and 5 trees.

Matt's group of 15 bikers along with two counsellors and an accompanying van of supplies and provisions, left campus on Monday morning after a bike safety inspection and receiving the low down on the rules of the road. The plan was to make stops about every seven miles and to bike about 20-22 miles a day. At these stops, students and counsellors explored the land and rock formations and learned to recognize and identify local rocks and flora. The routine varied when they happened upon one of several waterfalls or stopped to take a dip in Lake Superior. Luckily the weather was pretty good with temperatures averaging 70-75 degrees in the daytime. Only one day of the five was miserable, the last day on the road. "It was raining so hard you could barely see the bike in front of you," Matt recalled. The expedition returned back to Houghton the following Friday, the only mishaps along the way, a few minor injuries most of which were related to blown out tires on some of the gravel roads. "Somethimes you'd feel like you'd like your tire to pop so you could have a ride in the van until the next stop."

But "Did you like it and want to go back?"

"You bet," replied young Mr. Dixon. Next time Matt wants to take the course entitled Mineralogy and Field Geology. "We explored a lot of mines and mine pits," Matt recalled. Their trip took them through forests, wetlands, shorelands, pine forests. They experienced sandstone formations, rocks made from lava flows and abandoned copper mines. "I found 2 agates which I've had polished and a couple pieces of copper ore."

The cost this year for the week? $215.00. Then there's the small matter of transportation to Houghton. But according to Matt and his parents, the experience and maturity gained as a result was well worth it.

Elm Point drill helps hospital prepare for disasters

Emergency crews responding to a call at Elm Point Sunday morning were greeted by a grisly scene. Teenagers, blood-spattered and moaning, were found lying in and around an upstairs meeting room in which ostensibly there had been a natural gas explosion.

Some were trapped under furniture, some had been badly burned and some had apparently been blown right out of the building; all had serious injuries of some sort from compound fractures to internal injuries.

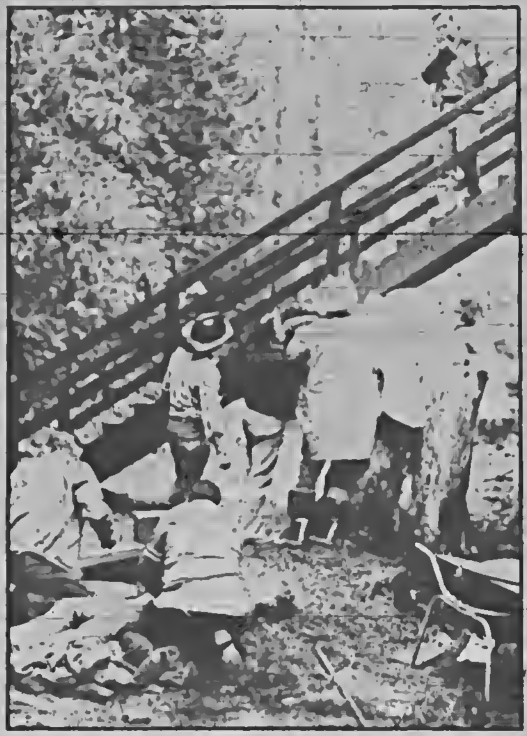
The one thing they all had in common, however, was that they were all faking it.

Sunday's activities were actually part of a disaster drill staged by the Charlevoix Area Hospital in conjunction with the ambulance services of East Jordan, Charlevoix and Boyne City, the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department and the East Jordan Fire Department.

The scenario - an explosion during a family reunion at Elm Point - was written by Berend Roeters of the Charlevoix Area Hospital's Safety Committee and Sheriff George Lasater. Emergency Services Director Earl Muma also participated.

The disaster drills, which are required by the Joint Commission on Hospital Accreditation, occur twice a year. They test the emergency services of the county and the hospital, enabling all participants to critique their ability to carry out their disaster plans and be fully prepared in case of a real emergency involving many injured people.

One of the crucial activities employed at the hospital is the organization of the triage system where the injured are quickly assessed and assigned appropriate treatment with the most seriously injured victims being treated first.



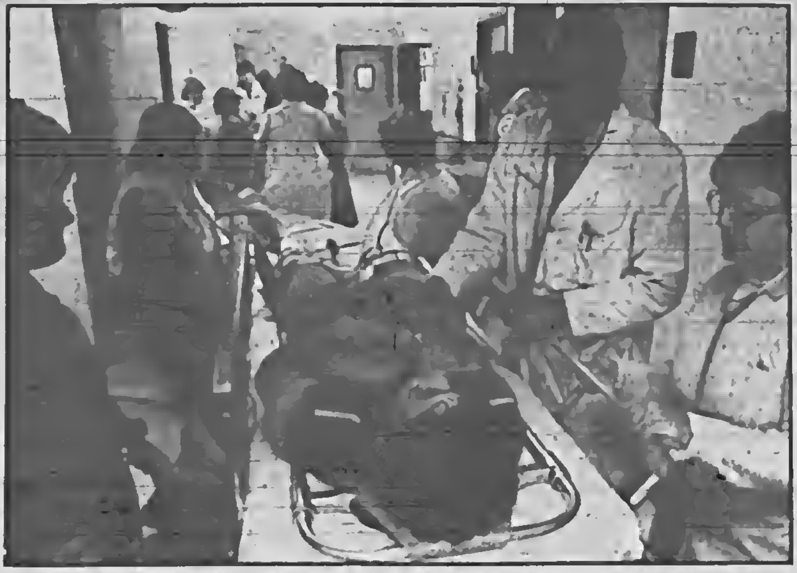
The wounded are treated at the scene of the mock disaster by emergency crews.

Injuries in Sunday's mock disaster involving 14 victims included severe head injuries, multiple injuries to a pregnant woman, several fractures, lacerations, serious cuts and shock.

Each victim, played by students from East Jordan, acted out his or her role, including the predictable hysteria at the scene of such a tragedy.

Ambulance crews, in constant radio contact with the hospital, stabilized the victims before bringing them to the hospital. At the hospital, where physicians, nurses, laboratory and X-ray personnel had been called in when the first word of the disaster came from the Sheriff's Department, the emergency room was put to the full test of its ability to handle multiple patients under difficult circumstances.

Sheriff George Lasater and observers at the hospital agreed afterward that the drill had been the most successful to date. During the coming week, a complete critique will be conducted by representatives of the emergency services and hospital, in order to anticipate and correct any problems.



Employing the triage system, Dr. Reed Freidinger assesses the needs of the victims as they arrive at the hospital's emergency room.

Machinery moves in to dig up streets for new storm sewers

Excavation began Monday on new storm sewers to be constructed on the south side on State St. from just south of Carpenter to Antrim and down Antrim to Round Lake and, on the north side, on Prospect from Petoskey Ave. to Round Lake.

The long awaited storm sewer system is the result of a millage election last November in which city voters approved 1 mill for storm sewer improvement.

The W.A. Porter contracting firm of East Jordan was awarded the construction bid after the company's employees agreed to wage concessions enabling them to make a lower bid.

According to a letter sent to affected property owners by City Manger Robert Hunt, "The width of the street cuts will be restricted as much as possible. The cuts will be left in a gravel state until final stages of the project when they will be repaved. Curb replacement and other 'secondary' improvements will be kept to a minimum to reduce costs and devote as many dollars as possible to lengthening the State St. sewer."

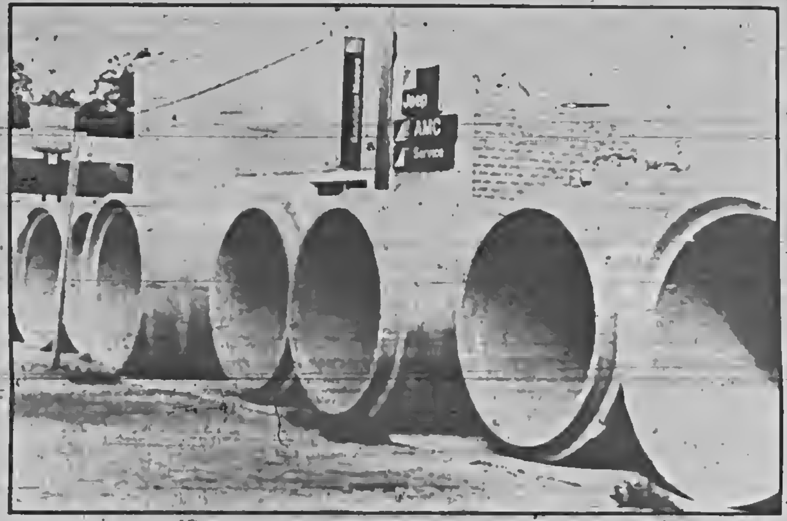
Excavation will start at Round Lake on each part of the project and progress upward from there on Antrim and Prospect Streets. Traffic rerouting will be neccessary and some temporary interruptions in sewer and water service to residents along the construction route may occur.

The project is expected to be completed by Thanksgiving.

Brush pickup now in effect

City residents may now place piles of leaves and brush at curbside for city crews to pick up.

According to City Hall, the fall pickup will not follow any scheduled routine; residents of any part of the city may put out brush for pickup as of this week.



These 42-inch sewer pipes lay ready to be installed on Antrim St.

Woodbury Ransom, founder of Chip Counseling, dies

Woodbury Ransom, well known in Charlevoix as a member of the Belvedere Club and founder with his wife of the Chip Counseling Center, died Saturday, September 18, in Chicago. He was currently serving as chairman of the 90th anniversary drive for endowment at Warren Wilson College in Swannanoa, North Carolina.

He was born in Kalamazoo on April 10, 1907 and graduated from the University of Michigan in 1929. He was involved in banking and real estate in Kalamazoo and was a former director of the Kalamazoo Paper Company and the Kalamazoo Stove Company. He ran for the U.S. House of Representatives as the Republican candidate in 1935 from Kalamazoo.

Mr. Ransom was a trustee emeritus of the Princeton Theological Seminary in Princeton, New Jersey and was a former trustee of the Manual School in Albuquerque, New Mexico; the College of the Ozarks in Clarksville, Arkansas; Avon Old Farms School in Avon, Conneticut; the Board of National Missions of the Presbyterian Church and the Fourth Presbyterian Church in Chicago.

Woodbury Ransom

He was a former deacon of the First Presbyterian Church in Daytona Beach, Florida.

He and his wife Christiana founded the Charles Allen "Chip" Ransom Counseling Center in Charlevoix in memory of their late son who was killed in a Lake Charlevoix boating accident.

Mr. Ransom was a member of the Chicago Club in Chicago, Illinois, the Paradise Valley Country Club in Scottsdale, Arizona and Charlevoix's Belvedere Club where he served as a former president and trustee.

He is survived by his wife, Christiana, his son, Woodbury, his daughter, Priscilla MacDougall, his brother, Allen, and eight grandchildren.

In lieu of flowers, the family has asked that remembrances be directed to Warren Wilson College in Swannanoa, N.C. or the Chip Counseling Center or the First Congregational Church in Charlevoix.

County transit millage to reappear on November ballot

by PEG OHLE

Another proposal for County funding of the Charlevoix County Transportation System will appear on the November 2 General Election ballot.

The County Board of Commissioners recently voted to re-word the proposal that was defeated in the August Primary Election and present the question once again.

The new proposal will ask for "¼ mill (25-100 mill or 25 cents per each $1,000) on the state equalized valuation for a period of three (3) years, 1983, 1984, and 1985 for the purpose of providing funds for the countywide transit system."

The proposal presented in August called for ".29 mill or 29 cents per each $1,000". The figure was lowered slightly in the hope that the voting public would better understand "¼ mill" than ".29 mill".

The August proposal was defeated by 467 votes – 1,799 to 1,332. It carried in only five of the County's 23 precincts, four of them in the Boyne City area and one in Charlevoix.

The Charlevoix County Commission on Aging, whose members are appointed by the County Board of Commissioners, is responsible for operating the Transit System through Transit System Director Arthur Saworski.

Members of the Commission on Aging discussed the upcoming millage vote at their monthly meeting last week. They stressed the necessity of getting people to vote and discussed the formation of a steering committee to promote the Transit System. Because public monies cannot be spent to influence votes, private funds will have to be solicited.

Although the Charlevoix County Transit System is meant to provide transportation for all, it is largely used by senior citizens and handicapped persons. It began operation in the summer of 1980 fully subsidized (over farebox collections) by Federal and State funds. Beginning on August 1 of this year, the funding was cut to 75 percent, and on August 1 of next year, the funding is scheduled to be cut to 50 percent. Last March, the County appropriated $8,500 from its General Fund to help support the System after Federal and State funding wss cut. That money will be spent by January 1.

Based on the 1982 County assessed valuation of $367,664,949, the ¼ mill levy would bring in $91,916 next year. As County valuation increases the following two years, so would income from the levy.

During 1981, when the Transit System was 100 percent funded by Federal and State monies, expenditures for operation of the System amounted to $267,107.83. The only local financial involvement was farebox collections in the amount of $38,878.63, an average of 48.83 cents a ride.

The Charlevoix County Transit System consists of eight buses, four of them with lifts for handicapped persons. They are used by senior citizens to travel to and from their meal sites, for appointments with doctors, dentists, hairdressers, and others, as well as shopping. They are also used by students at special schools and work centers, including the Bergmann Center, along with a few factory workers, business people, and County employees.

Otsego County, which operates a Transit System similar to that of Charlevoix County, will also be asking for Transit millage for the second time in three months. The proposal there on November 2 will be for a two-year half mill levy.

School of Body Work offers classes

Jane Sooy's School of Body Work is now offering exercise classes on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 11 a.m. to noon and from 4:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.

The sessions are held on the second floor of the Market Mall in downtown Charlevoix.

The exercises, accompanied by soft music, stress body awareness and spinal alignment through stretching and provide an alternative, according to Ms. Sooy, to aerobic-type exercises and jogging. A six-week committment is suggested.

Those interested in joining the classes or obtaining more information are asked to call Ms. Sooy at 547-2583.

Benefit held for fire engine fund

Juilleret's Restaurant staged a "Coffee and Cake" event last week as a contribution to the Volunteer Fire Departments Fire Engine Fund.

The restaurant management provided containers at each table and the patrons received the coffee and coffee cake without charge. In lieu of payment the customer deposited a contribution to the fund in the container.

The event was attended by approximately 250 people. The contributions amounted to almost $500 for the growing Fire Engine Fund.

Doug Bergmann, President of the Volunteer Fire Department, reports that over 2,000 letters of solicitation have been mailed to community residents. "The response to these letters has been great," states Bergmann, "and the Fund has now passed the $12,000 mark!"

A series of special events has been planned by the Volunteer Firemen. The next of these is an Old Fashioned Pancake Breakfast that will be held Sunday, October 10 at the American Legion Hall. Tickets for this are $2.50 each or $8.00 for the entire family. Tickets can be obtained at the main Fire Station or from any of the volunteer firemen.

Future special events will be announced as the details are completed.

$1000 for flight station survives repeal effort

A $1,000 contribution by Charlevoix Township toward the bid being formulated by the Charlevoix County Economic Development Corporation for an FAA flight station in Charlevoix will stand after a motion to repeal the township board's earlier approval of the contribution failed at its September 13 meeting.

Township clerk Jo Ann Elzinga reported to the board and others present that the Michigan Township Association legal staff had given her assurance that such a donation was legal if directed to an economic development body such as the EDC. She added, however, that the MTA had indicated at least twice before that the contribution was not proper.

Mrs. Elzinga told the board that when she made the motion August 9 to approve the contribution, she did not fully understand the issue. She then moved to repeal her August 9 motion and withold the $1,000.

The two-thirds needed to repeal the first motion was not attained as board members Oscar Stroud and Rose Bergmann voted with Elzinga to support the repeal while board members Don Smith and Dale Glass voted against.

In other action the board.

-Voted unanimously to increase liability insurance coverage for the township from $300,000 to $500,000 and insure the new town hall for $100,000.

-Heard Charlevoix County Planner Larry Sullivan present the proposed solid waste management plan.

-Voted unanimously to pay election inspectors minimum wage with the chairman getting 25 cents more an hour.

-Voted unanimously to transfer $30,000 to the Improvement Revolving Fund for the new town hall.

-Heard a report from Supervisor Stroud on the north side's water problems. Stroud presented a bill from the Raymer well drilling company for $25,000 which he recommended be retained for negotiations.

Historical Society rides the rails

Thirty-one members of the Charlevoix Historical Society enjoyed a trip to Petoskey via the Bay Rail Express. While at Petoskey they visited the Little Traverse Historical Museum.

Members of the society who attended the regular recent meeting were taken on a reminescent journey through the community via slides taken through the years of 1945-1960 by Mrs. Allen Campbell, grandmother of William Bellinger who presented the interesting program. Included in the slides shown were former local landmarks such as the swing bridge over the Pine River Channel, the Argo Milling Co. building, now the site of the Weathervane Inn, the pierheads through the years, the dedication of Kipke Field, Venetian Festivals, the Greensky Church and sunsets over Lake Michigan.

Mrs. Elmer Gibson reported that several hundred people visited the local museum during the three-day weekends it was open during the summer months.

The next meeting will be held at Harsha House, home of the Historical Society, at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 5.

LOIS HODGSON'S GOOD FRIENDS helped her remember her fortieth birthday last week by arriving unannounced at her home at 6 a.m., escorting her out of bed in pajamas and robe to the Bay Queen trolley parked outside and taking her to Juillerets for a birthday breakfast. The entourage then toured the town, bells clanging and signs waving. Mrs. Hodgson, second from right, is shown above obviously enjoying the surprise.

Bloodmobile to pay visit here next week

Once again it's Bloodmobile time in Charlevoix.

The Bloodmobile will be at the American Legion Hall on East Garfield on Thursday, September 30, from 1 until 7 p.m.

The goal for the drive will be 150 pints.

It is hoped that the men from the U.S.C.G.C. Mesquite will get the drive off to a good start. They are scheduled to donate during the first hour of the six-hour drive Mrs. David Fowler, coordinator for the blook drive, has announced.

Other former donors are being contacted by a telephone committee reminding them of the upcoming blood drive and urging them to make an appointment to donate. Appointments help the committee assure an even flow of donors throughout the afternoon. Beginning Thursday, Sept. 23, appointments may be made by calling Mrs. Fowler at 547-9314.

Mrs. John Bradley will be responsible for recruiting local nurses to assist in the program. Mrs. Vernon Mathews Jr. is lining up other volunteers to assist during the Bloodmobile's visit. Mrs. Clifford Biddick and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Izor are also assisting Mrs. Fowler in the coordinating the visit of the Bloodmobile.

The Kappa Sigma and Xi Epsilon Gamma chapters of Beta Sigma Phi sorority will again be staffing the canteen for the day. It is hoped that homemade cookies can be served to the blood donors. Most blood drives do this. If anyone would like to help with homemade cookies, they may call Mrs. Fowler. Oleson's Food Stores always provide the juice and the First State Bank the coffee, served to donors.

The Charlevoix Lions Club will provide the manpower to off-load and re-load the Bloodmobile.

All persons in good health and weighing 110 pounds or more between the ages of 17 and 66 may donate blood every eight weeks.

A Bloodmobile visit is truly a community effort as can be seen from the people involved. This is a great opportunity for all people to support their community and protect their families in time of need.

Knight on the Town

All My Marshas

by Dave Knight

On a recent trip we passed a restaurant with a marquee. It was the type that usually displays the day's specials or perhaps a witty saying.

All it said that day, however, was "Marsha's back!"

I could not help pondering that cryptic pronouncement. At least two things were obvious: a lot of people who drive past the restaurant know Marsha and the fact that she was back must have been of some interest to them.

But where had she been?

And why did she come back?

Is everyone glad she's back? Was there not at least one person who drove by, saw the marqee and snarled, "Rat meat! She's back!"

Perhaps Marsha comes and goes quite often. If so, when she leaves does the marquee then read: "Marsha's gone again!"

Does Marsha like her comings and goings to be public knowledge? If she is a shy person, it must be agony to know that complete strangers like me, my wife and daughter now know that she's back.

On the other hand, maybe she wears her notoriety well. Maybe she drives past the restaurant several times daily just to see her name in fourteen-inch block letters. At night, when the marquee is lit by neon bulbs from within, it must shout even more unequivocally, "MARSHA'S BACK!" Maybe she parks across the highway after dark and sits in her car gazing at the marquee, warm in knowing that she's back and everyone knows it.

Then again, there is the possibility that she is not at all glad to be back. She might have been forced into coming back by someone who likes to gloat.

Most likely, the restaurant had something to gain by telling people that Marsha's back. Why, if there was not a profit motive, would the owners spend thousands of dollars to erect a sign with a marquee, hundreds of dollars for a supply of letters and punctuation marks and at least mimimum wage to have someone climb a ladder to change the message on a regular basis?

Does Marsha have something to do with the restaurant's product? Is the food better, for some reason, when she's back? The head chef may have sent her on a clandestine mission to Hungary to obtain classified goulash recipes. If so, the fact that she is back, safe and sound and without international incident, is good news indeed. Especially for those who enjoy goulash.

Marsha might be an entertainer; a singer or piano player. If she is a bellydancer, the restaurant is wise not to announce on the marquee that "Marsha the Bellydancer is back!" That would be most distasteful to their family-oriented clientele and could backfire on business disastrously. With the simple announcement that "Marsha's back!", the management can inform those more libidinous customers who enjoyed her the last time that she will be performing again and not antagonize the community's moral element.

Maybe Marsha was a waitress who loved to sing country songs along with the juke box until a snakeskin-booted Nashville producer happened to hear her while eating his chili and offered her a recording contract if she would accompany him back to Tennessee in his motor home. If so, did the marquee announce her triumphant return to thank the little people who knew her before she was a star and pass out eight by ten black and white glossy photos with "Best wishes, Marsha" stamped on the bottom?

Or is she back waiting on tables?

It was a week before we returned along the same route. In that time, I could not forget Marsha. I was concerned about how she was getting along since coming back. I wondered if things had looked the same to her or if things had changed during her abscence. Maybe she had only stayed a short time and was gone already.

I was most curious to see whether the marquee would carry an update like "Marsha's missing!" or "Marsha's pregnant!".

It was not to be. Either the public interest in Marsha had dwindled considerably in a week's time or she had done nothing worthy of mention lately for when we approached the restaurant, the marquee was quite terse:

"Calve's liver and onions - $2.95!"

Letters: A possible scenario

To the Editor:

It is Thanksgiving day. Simultaneously nuclear explosions occur the length of the Pacific west coast and the length of the Missisipi River in the United States, and in the Atlantic Ocean from north of England to southern Portugal in Europe. No missiles are involved. The explosions are designed so that the prevailing westerly winds carry deadly radioactive fallout over the United States and Europe short of the Soviet Union. The radioactive isotopes in the fallout have a relatively short half life. The explosions destroy no property, but will kill most human life in the United States and Europe.

Furious leaders in the United States and Europe immediatedly contact leaders in the Soviet Union who deny any knowledge of the incident. In short order, missiles from the United States and Europe reduce the Soviet Union to rubble. Within weeks, most of the populations of the United States and Europe are dead.

In 1982, England and the United States humiliated the military junta of Argentina over the Falkland Island incident. As a result, the junta planned relatiation with several sympathetic southern hemisphere governments. The bombs were delivered under the bottoms of freighters in the oceans, and under the bottoms of pleasure craft in the river. Several years after the northern hemisphere massacre, South Americans could repopulate the United States and Europe because their economic base would be undamaged, but the Soviet Union would have to be completely rebuilt. The junta could live with that.

This hypothetical scenario is very different from the scenarios in the mind set of American and Soviet military strategists, but the German blitzkrieg was different from the French mind set that built the Maginot line, also.

So many alternative doomsday weapons, and scenarios, are now possible that it is impossible to achieve national military security with arms programs, and will bankrupt those nations who try.

Concerned scientists have reminded national governments repeatedly that the doomsday clock is just a few minutes from midnight and running. If the past is any criteria, nothing significant will be done until it is too late.

Letters: Fudgies, H.S. band

Fudgee or fudgie?

To the Editor:

It was with some distress that I noted in a recent Courier the spelling "fudgees" for those who visit Charlevoix to obtain fudge.

I believe the correct spelling should be "fudgies". An analysis of the word endings shows that the ending "ee" denotes one who is the passive recipient of an action or transaction, as a "payee" or a "lessee".

The ending "ie" indicates one who actively participates, such as a "bookie" or "junkie".

Careful study will show that those who want fudge are anything but passive. They arrive in town with the purpose of getting it, and will let nothing deter them. Purists might say that at the moment they purchase the fudge and it is handed to them, they could be termed "fudgees". However, nobody is giving the fudge away or forcing it upon them; they obtain it voluntarily and eat it eagerly. "Fudgies" they must be.

Charlevoix's spelling should coincide with that of Mackinaw City, which I believe uses the spelling "FUDGIE" on lapel buttons issued for its annual Fudge Festival.

Besides, I have a personal interest in how this word is spelled. The Department of Motor Vehicles of the State of California would take a dim view of our approaching them, shuffling and mumbling about a mistake having been made: that the spelling of our personalized license plates should have been FUDGEES instead of FUDGIES!

Fudgily yours,
Mrs. M. F. Olmstead

An apology

To the Editor:

I would like to apologize to Mr. Isenberger for the way the crowd at Friday nights football game reacted toward the bands performance. I think he and the band should be very proud. For only a week of practice, the band had a very full rich sound that if I closed my eyes I could imagine it to be the band of Mr. Odmark (my father). So come on! Let's show the band and its director some support that they so well deserve.

Clockwise

Skunk City

by Bob Clock

CHARLEVOIX HAS been invaded!

And the invaders are making it well nigh impossible to walk the streets at night in absolute safety.

The intruders, of course, are the legions of skunks, polecats — call them what you will — who have taken up residence in the city this year.

Of course, we always have had skunks in the city — but never before in such numbers.

It is impossible to walk more than a block or two after dark without encountering one of the little critters.

If you're lucky, the skunk will spot you first and hobble away as fast as his little legs will carry him. But if he doesn't see you, he is just as apt to head in your direction (their sense of smell must be very poor) and it is up to you to hobble away as fast as your little legs will carry you.

Spring and fall seem to be the worst seasons for skunks. I've been told they come out of the nests — or wherever they hole up — the first warm nights in March in search of girlfriends and boyfriends.

In the fall they are probably looking for groceries to fatten them up prior to the long, lean days of winter when they go into something of a semi-hibernation.

A friend tells me that society's new mania for sanitary landfills is one reason skunks have invaded such metropolitan areas as Charlevoix. In days of yore, skunks could find all the provender they needed at local dumps. Our new landfills, however, are covered and packed every night and there is nary a scrap left around for our night feeders.

As a result, skunks have moved into town.

I have noticed that skunks are particularly evident on the North Side on "Garbage Eve" — that is Tuesday night before the regular Wednesday morning garbage pickup.

Some folks keep their refuse closeted away until just before the trucks arrive in the morning. Others can't be bothered fiddling around with garbage bags in the morning and take it out to the curb the night before.

Skunks, of course, know the weekly pickup schedule by heart, and I firmly believe they travel from ward to ward throughout the week for their regular curbside dining service.

I have never heard of anyone actually being sprayed by a skunk on the streets of Charlevoix. But I did encounter a woman on Dixon Avenue the other night who was trembling and almost incoherent after a close encounter with one of them on the sidewalk.

Aside from their awful aroma when frightened, skunks also are known carriers of rabies and rabid skunks have been known to attack humans and other animals.

So they do pose a rather serious problem.

ANOTHER WOODLAND creature which has been appearing in town in increasing numbers this summer is the porcupine.

I have seen a dozen or more waddling through the streets and one stupid little fellow even stumbled up onto our front porch in broad daylight a few weeks ago. He wandered the length of the porch, to the consternation of our three cats which eyed him warily from the railing.

I collared the cats and threw them inside until porky finally found the front steps again and humped away.

He too was undoubtedly staging his own private protest against the closing of the dumps.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Brecheisen

Hufford-Brecheisen

Teri Susann Hufford and Vincent Paul Brecheisen were married on Saturday afternoon, September 4, at St. Francis Xavier Church in Petoskey.

The bride is the daughter of Donald Hufford of Charlevoix and Mrs. Sharon Hicks of Lansing. The bridegroom is the son of Robert Brecheisen, Sr. of Petoskey and the late Mrs. Brecheisen.

Approximately 300 guests witnessed the double-ring ceremony performed by Father Wilbert Hegener.

The V-neckline and short sleeves were trimmed with scalloped lace, and the full skirt of organza over taffeta featured a Chapel-length train and wide flounce at the hemline. A Juliet cap secured the waltz-length veil of bridal illusion trimmed with Viennesse lace. The bride's bouquet was fashioned from white roses, forget-me-nots, and baby's breath.

Kimala Avery served her sister as matron of honor, and Valerie Brecheisen, Sandra Hodge, and Gail Bunschoten were bridesmaids. They wore powder blue princess-style crepe gowns with matching lace jackets. The matron of honor carried one red and one white rose with white baby's breath, while the bridesmaids carried one red rose with white baby's breath.

Kristi Avery was flower girl. She wore a long dress of blue dotted Swiss. Danny Avery was the ringbearer.

Aerial attack downs Benzie Central 39-6

The Charlevoix Red Rayders' took out all their frustrations from their opening day loss to Petoskey on Benzie Central Friday night romping to a 39-6 victory in the annual non-conference match-up.

The passing combination of quarterback Tim LaBlance and receiver Mark Oostermeyer was especially potent accounting for two scores in the first half. Both LaBlance and Oostermeyer each also scored solo touchdowns before the game was over, too.

Pat Mitchell put the Rayders in the driver's seat right off the bat when he ran 59 yards for a touchdown on Charlevois's first play from scrimmage. The extra point try was no good and Charlevoix settled for a 6-0 lead.

LaBlance cnnnected with Oostermeyer on a 30-yard scoring play and Thad Morgan kicked the estra point to give the Rayders a 13-0 advantage at the end of the first quarter.

In the second stanza, the bnly scoring was another LaBlance-to-Oostermeyer atrike, this time from 11 yards out, and a Morgan conversion for a 20-0 halftime lead.

Following a scoreless third quarter, LaBlance got the Rayders on the board again with a 30-yard pass to Bill Tillen after which Morgan added the extra point.

LaBlance added six more with a seven-yard dash into the endzone to make the score 33-0 after the extra point try was missed.

To ice the game, Oostermeyer picked off a Benzie screen pass and carried it 37 yards into the endzone to make it 39-0.

Benzie Central's lone touchdown came on an option run by Chris Stevens late in the game.

Charlevoix dominated the game statistically as well as on the scoreboard piling up 236 net yards rushing and 113 yards passing to Benzie's 110 yards on the ground and 89 yards passing.

LaBlance was 8 for 14 and had one pass intercepted.

The Rayders racked up 100 yards in penalties.

In the rusbing department, Mitchell led the Rayders with 120 yards in 22 carries for a 5.5 yards per carry average. LaBlance ran for 44 yards, Shawn Hartnett had 26 yards and Dave Batdorff 27 yards.

Defensively, Oostermeyer, Morgan and Batdorff each recorded an interception. Morgan and Mike Pischner led in tackles with eight apiece. Al Bergmann had seven, Tim Bergmann and Jeff Lemerand had six each and Jack Moran and Shannon Reynolds had five.

Charlevois returns to conference action this Friday night when they travel to Rogers City

JVs shut out Mancelona

The Charlevoix Junior Varsity football team defeated the Mancelona JV's by an impressive 24-0 score here Thursday.

This Thursday, the young Rayders will host Rogers City in their third game of the season.

The Rayders struck early in their game with Mancelona when Brent Cole intercepted a pass and romped 24 yards to give the Rayders a 6-0 lead. Kyle Smith ran the conversion to make the score 8-0. Later in the early period Jim Martin scored from the 12 yard line and then repeated his steps to make the score 16-0 before the period ended.

The second period was scoreless but in the third quarter Cole scored again, this time on a 13 yard run with Cris Havens adding the conversion points on a run.

Coach Brian Certa said the team played a good offensive game with Cole and Shannon Spence playing extremely well. Dave McKenzie, Jim Kenney and Jeff Smith were mentioned for their defensive efforts.

First at Ludington

The Charlevoix Rayder Cross Country team, with 23 points, placed first in the annual Ludington Invitational meet held Saturday according to Coach Pete Spieles.

"The team ran well. It was probably their best meet of the young season" Coach Spieles said of his team. He went on to say that it was their goal to defeat Muskegon Oakridge, a team that defeated them by two points in the White Cloud Invitational earlier in the month. "They accomplished their goal. Oakridge came in second with 69 points" he added.

Benzie Central came in third with 80 points followed by Grand Rapids West Catholic with 82; Walkerville, 162; Hart, 185; Mason County Central, 189; Kingsley, 200; Ludington, 209 and Freesoil, 292.

Charlevoix's Bill Taylor set the pace for the meet, covering the three mile course in 16:41 with team mate John Tunison second in 16:58. Matt Peterson finished fourth in 17:16; Lee Allard, 7th in 17:36; Bill Dohm, 9th in 17:40; Matt Landon, 25th in 18:40 and Ron Way, 29th in 18:45.

In their opener against Central Lake Tuesday, Charlevois beat the Trojans 14-7, 24-14, and 33-19 by quarters with Rhonda Buchanan leading the scoring with 13 points. Kemp and Ann Wagner had 12 points each. Kemp also had 16 rebounds.

Sharon Thler accounted for 13 of Central Lake's points.

Central Lake lost Yvonne Young with a leg injury in this game.

The Charlevoix JVs defeated Elk Rapids JVs 36-27 and Central Lake 28-11.

Golfers win first two

The Charlevoix Rayder golf team, coached by Glen Taylor, carded two victories as the team opened its 1982 season.

On Thursday the team posted a 119-210 win over Gaylord at the Belvedere course and on Monday defeated Boyne City 180-196.

This week the team will be at St. Ignace on Thursday and will host the Soo on Monday. The JV Squad will entertain Mackinac Island Saturday.

In their match with Gaylord, Steve Keller was medalist with a socre of 40, Denny Curtis, a freshman, had a 45 and Bill Joy and Dan Batdorff each had 47.

Colin Busch had a 48 for Gaylord.

In the match at Boyne City, Keller also carded a 40 with Curtis coming in with a 46 and Joy and Mark Mosley a 47 each.

Joe Schlink and Mike Anderson had 47 each for Boyne City.

In this meet, the Charlevoix JVs had 196 with Batdorff tops with a score of 43. Boyne City had only four players so did not compete as a team.

Frosh lose to Soo

The Charlevois Rayder Freshman grid team met the Soo squad Wednesday in its first geme of the season and found themselves on the short end of a 12-6 score.

"I was pleased with the team. They played an excellent defensive gama" Coach Dave Smith said of his players, all of whom were playing their first football game.

The Rayders got on the board in the first period on a one yard plunge by quarterback Jody Putman. The scoring play had been set up by a 27-yard pass from Putman to Jim Morgridge. Putman then kicked the conversion point to give the Rayders a 7-0 lead midway in the first period.

The second period was scoreless and the half ended 7-0.

Early in the second half a 44-yard pass play by the Soo put them on the two yard line from where Bruce Wallis went in to score. The defense held and the score remained at 7-6.

With 5:01 remaining in the game, a Charlevoix fumble on the 40 yard line gave the Soo its second scoring opportunity. The team moved the ball to the four yard line where the defense held them for three downs before Jerry McDonald put his team ahead for the first time. Again the line held and the Soo was unable to score its conversion point.

Coach Smith emphasized the efforts of the defensive squad and mentioned, particularly, Brian Wilmot.

Charlevoix will be at Gaylord on Wednesday.

Flag football opens new season

The annual flag football season for sixth, seventh and eighth grade boys opened Saturday and will continue during the next four weeks under the sponsorship of the Charlevoix Recreation Department.

Fifty-two boys are involved in the program. They were drafted by the following coaches following the first meeting at the Carpenter Ave. field: Beeno Archey of the Chargers; Dave Cole of the Jets; Jiggs Whitley and Paul Parrish of the Falcons who are coaching a team for the eighth year though they have no sons in the program and Bill Gauthier and Nick DeYoung of the Cowboys.

The first two games were played Saturday and Monday.

Successive games will be played Sept. 27, Oct. 4, 11 and 13.

On Monday, Sept. 27, the Chargers and the Falcons will play at 8 p.m. and the Cowboys and the Jets at 7:15 p.m.

A rained out game will be played at 10 a.m. on the Saturday following the rain-out.

A call has gone out for game officials. Fathers of boys in the program are urged to respond to the call for volunteers.

Flag football scores

The Chargers dumped the Jets 29-9 and the Falcons aod the Cowboys played to a scoreless tie to launch the Flag Football season sponsored by the Charlevoix Recreation Department Saturday.

The Chargers put themselves on the board early in the game on a 30 yard run by Wes Cumberland with Scott Mitcheltree adding the conversion. Mitcheltree then got off a 35 yard pass to Kevin Sheppard and added a flea flicker that traveled to Sheppard to Cumberland for a total of 35 yards to give the team a 20-0 halftime margin after Sheppard added the P.A.T.

The Jets scored early in the second half on a one yard plunge by Dan Drury who then added the conversion. Bill Eaton added a safety in the final period for the team's nine points.

The Chargers, however, were not satisfied and added a touchdown on a 10 yard pass from Mitcheltree to Ty Wagner with Roger Smith adding the conversion and Chris Welsh contributed a safety to the winning cause.

Youth soccer league opens its season

The Charlevoix Area Youth Soccer games are in full swing despite a wet and cold opening week. Eleven teams in three age divisions, 12 and under, 9 and under and 7 and under, are competing in a series of matched games from now until mid-October.

The now parent directed, coached and refereed league developed after three years' initial organization by the Charlevoix County Youth Activities Program and Mike Davis. Some 150 Charlevois boys and girls are participating.

During the summer, many took part in a week long soccer clinic led by Canadian coach Clive Wilkinson who also ran a clinic for the teams' coaches.

Coaches and teams are: Cosmos, Jim McGarry; Charlevoix Camera, Dale Glass; Hagen Manker, Associate Broker, Hagen Manker; The Sting, Bruce Livingston; The Strikers, Craig Glass; Charlevois Mens, Michael Bonar; Gaskins Standard, Dave Knight; B.S. Hair - Care, Jim Stewart; Apple Tree, Bill Henne; Offshore Graphics, Richard and Roni Avery; The Rowdies, Jan Babb, Paula Thorpe and Michael Webb.

Scores from the first week's games are: Thursday, Sept. 16, Strikers 1, Sting 0 with Matt Halverson scoring for the winners; Charlevoix Mens 1, Gaskins 0 (individual scoring not available.)

Saturday, Sept. 18: Cosmos 3, Manker 0 with Brad McGlynch scoring all three; Sting 2, Gaskins 1 with Jordan Spencer and Brad Balmer scoring for the Sting and Paul Wakulat for Gaskins; Charlevoix Mens 1, Strikers 0 with Scott Campbell scoring for the winners.

Also on Saturday, B.S. Hair Care beat Apple Tree 1-0 with Ben Whitley scoring; Offshore Graphics beat the Rowdies 8-2. Five of the Graphics goals were scored by Sam Bingham, two by Brent Wojan and one by J.H. Heck. Tim Miller scored two for the Rowdies.

Yachting Notes

An Interesting way of live...this business of "yachting". And it is a way of life, certainly not 'a hobby, a pastime or simple "recreation". In the case of racing fairly large sail boats (here defined as those requiring a crew of at least three) it is also a complex way of life. It's a team sport, yet proper equipment in an efficient package is equally vital to success.

From the first sailing equipment catalogs near the end of winter to pull-out in the late fall, the program is plan, order, sand, paint, polish, install trim, revise, launch, tune, practice, revise, tune again and on and on. Just so, once a week or so, you, the boat and the crew function as one...and compete well. There are few firsts for most of us; after all only one in thirty yachts can get first overall!

A couple of highlights of this week's race...the cannon slowly emitting a white smoke stream accompanied by a low, prolonged "pffffft".

...Paralleling close aboard Dave Strawbridge's new C&C "Rubaiyat" (or is it "Rambling Guy") on the spinnaker reach and enjoying all the crew activity with new and strange gear. Close enough to see the sly smile on Dave's face.

...One rare, absolutely perfect team effort spinnaker set; the guy trimmed just as the hallyard tops out, and a full "chute" by the time the stern clears the bouy.

...A atart, at the pin, with line crossing and starting gun exactly together.

...A reasonable finish, "in-the-money".

...Sharing a beverage or two after in good company with a strong mutual interest.

These are the rewards that make it so worth while.

Overall: First (and, oh, so close to first to finish!) "Camouflage" but only by ~~8 seconds~~ over "Razzmatazz" and only 4 more over "Indooroophilly"; then "Bandit" and "Hummer".

PHRF: "Camouflage", "Hummer" and either "Rambling Guy" or "Rubaiyat" (welcome, Dave!)

P-26: "Tireless", "Blazen III" and "Fosy Lady".

S25's: "Razzmatazz", "Indooroophilly" and "Bandit" (isn't it interesting that the season leaders, here 2nd and 3rd, have yet to get a first in the series!)

Portsmouth Fleet: "Ribit", "Clockwork" and "Cheemaun".

Jeanne Seymour tries to keep fifth graders stimulated

by ANNE KELLY

Teacher Feature

Jeanne Seymour

Another year is in full swing and 5th grade teacher Jeanne Seymour finds that she is renewed and enthusiastic. Jeanne, a graduate of Eastern Michigan University, has been teaching 5th grade most of her career and has been with the Charlevois Public Schools since 1965. Although she has taught 2nd and 3rd grades and has "found something that was unique and satisfying on all levels," she likes 5th grade.

"The higher grades provide more student maturity and stimulation than the younger ones," for her Jeanne found. But she primarily stays where she is because she enjoys working the pleasant educational atmosphere found at the elementary school among her colleagues. "We as a 5th grade group have always changed our methods and techniques and never allow ourselves to stagnate."

It's this enthusiasm and progressiveness which has let Jeanne to pursue math as a favorite area.

"I try to keep the kids stimulated by keeping up with things myself," she commented.

Computers are on her mind at present and she is anxious to put them to good use in the elementary school. More computers are needed to implement the programs which are currently possible for all levels. This summer, Jeanne along with 25 others, enrolled in the "Computer Applications in Education" course offered by Ken Bartley, learning programming techniques.

"What's thrilling for me, is to find that I'm always learning along with the kids." Making sure the students feel good about themselves, trying to get the children to make discoveries on their own and inviting their questions on every subject are goals which Jeanne has incorporated into her personal approach to teaching.

Along with her regular teaching duties, Jeanne has been educationally active as Math curriculum chairman for three years and presently serves as chairperson of the Professional Studies Committee.

High school to hold mini-sessions for parents

The staff of the Charlevoix High School will host "mini-sessions" on Monday, Sept. 27, for the purpose of introducing parents to both the daily schedule and the teachers of their students Vane H. Smith, high school principal, has announced.

The event will be held from 6:30 until 9:30 p.m.

Coffee will be served in the cafeteria from 6:30 until 6:55 p.m.

The schedule for the mini-sessions will be as follows: First period 7:00-7:15 p.m.; second 7:20-7:35; third 7:40-7:55; fourth 8:00-8:15; fifth 8:20-8:35 and sixth 8:40-8:45 p.m.

There will be a half-hour for individual conferences from 9:00-9:30 p.m.

Smith said that the individual conference period would give parents an opportunity to see a teacher of their choice.

Individual Parent-Teacher Conferences for the high school will be held 6:30-9:30 p.m. Monday, Nov. 8. More details on these will be announced at a later date.

In announcing the mini-sessions, Smith urged that all parents participate in this special event planned for them that they might see how their students spend their days.

Parents night scheduled at Elementary School

Charlevoix Elementary School Parent's Night will be held Tuesday evening, September 28. Parents are urged to attend "mini-sessions" of their child's daily schedule at this time. This is an opportunity to become familiar with their child's schedule and to learn of the objectives for learning which his teacher hopes to achieve during the school year.

Sessions will be staggered to enable parents with more than one child to attend each student's group.

A calendar with this, and other up-coming fall events has been sent home with all elementary children.

Country music show to benefit March of Dimes

Country music lovers and auction fans are in for a treat on Sunday, September 26 when five local country music bands perform and dozens of items donated by merchants of Charlevoix and Emmet Counties are auctioned off to help fight birth defects through the March of Dimes at Tucker Inn in East Jordan beginning at 2 p.m. and continuing until 11 p.m.

Silver Oaks, Cross Fire, Country Nites, Country Kids, along with host band Branded Country will each perform for an hour. Between sets auctioneers Rick and Terry Graham and Harry Pearsall will be auctioning off various items, large and small, including sports equipment, clothing, baked goods, toys services and merchandise donated by various businesses in the area.

Two new committees have been formed by Keep Charlevoix Beautiful, Inc. following its September meeting: Air and Water Quality and Tree Management.

Captain Eugene Bridge, who has agreed to serve on the Ailr and Water Quality Committee, expressed the concensus of the group when he stated "we intend to work with existing governmental agencies to become more knowledgeable and find ways to help improve our quality of life through reduction of air and water pollution."

During the discussion a favorable reaction was noted to Medusa Company's reclamation and tree planting project and to a proposed additional monitoring device to measure air quality that may be placed on Mt. McSauba.

Several suspected sources of TCE and odor pollution were identified and this information has been relayed to the appropriate government agencies.

The tree management committee will function as a sub-committee under the Beautificaion Committee chaired by Pat Ranger (Mrs. Alvin) as that committee has been active in working with the City on a tree replacement program.

Persons interested in either tree replacement or preservation (i.e., extending the life of existing trees through full pruning and spring feeding) should contact Mrs. Ranger.

Those interested in serving on the air and water quality committee should contact its secretary, Kenneth Heininger.

Womens book review club to meet

The Book Review Group of the Charlevoix Woman's Club will hold its opening meeting on Monday September 27 at 1:30 p.m. in the downstairs conference room at the Library. There will be a business discussion during which time the program for the balance of the year will be formulated and new chairmen selected.

Since the group normally starts in October, this will be a bonus privilege, for three books will be presented in capsule form by Mrs. Marjorie Dinwiddie including: "Hotel New Hampshire" by John Irving, "Bread On The Water by" Irvin Shaw and "Marco Polo, If You Can" by William Buckley.

Following meetings will be held the fourth Monday of each month excepting December, in member homes. Mrs. E.H. Leedy will hostess this opening session at the Library.

Light sentence for sexual child abuse called 'tragedy'

Leniency sparks criticism

by PEG OHLE

Last April, the Courier ran a lengthy article by reporter Anne Kelly telling about a conference sponsored by the Sexual Abuse Family Education (S.A.F.E.) committee which had recently been held.

The conference centered around sexual child abuse and how to deal with it through early detection, correction, and protection. The speakers were both local residents and downstaters, but it was the theme of the conference that caused a stir: "1 Out of 5 Children is Sexually Misused".

To the average person reading about the conference, those figures probably sounded impossible and could easily have been tossed off as a typographical error. "It could not possibly be that bad."

The Courier has not covered the subject since then except for a short story this summer about teenage runaways, which mentioned sexual abuse at home as one reason for children running away.

Now, from several quarters have come angry requests for us to "say something" again about child abuse.

The requests were precipitated by an order recently handed down in Circuit Court which gave a father who had admitted to criminal sexual conduct in the first degree with his teenage daughter, a one-year suspended sentence. The maximum sentence for this crime is life imprisonment.

Professional men and women in the social services and human relations fields who constantly deal in all kinds of human degredation have expressed concern over the Court's decision.

"It's a tragedy because the child has been victimized", explains a local caseworker. "She probably feels that she never should have told. She will be taken away from her family environment and forced to face a new life. But her father, except for a few restrictions, is leading a normal life."

(Six restrictions accompanied the delayed sentence: He must keep a full-time job, receive court-approved counseling, live in a court-approved residence, donate 10 hours a week to community service, have no contact with his daughter for one year, and report regularly to a probation officer.)

What especialy worries some people involved in child protection is

Apple Festival set to go

by FRAN MARTIN

When the sun on the apple orchard exudes that delicious aroma that tells you it's harvest time, the third annual Apple Festival at Charlevoix will be in full swing under the direction of Kitty Chase, general chairperson, and her committee.

Two days jam-packed with activities have been arranged for October 9 and 10 by the committee which includes Debbie Joos who is in charge of booths sponsored by organizations; Betsy King of King's Orchards who is heading the committee in charge of booths featuring apples and other farm produce; Sandy Puhl who chairs the craft show to be held in the Market Mall; Dee Smith of Bellaire, publicity, and Mike Martin of Boyne City representing WPZ who is in charge of entertainment.

East Park will be the focal point of the two-day event with booths catering to the tastes of all visitors with goodies featuring apples including pies, struedel, cookies and braunsweiger along with other foods and games.

"There will be no duplication of booths," Mrs. Chase said. "We feel that diversity spells success in a festival. That is why we have limited even the number of apple growers. By doing this we feel that everyone will be successful in their sales."

The farmers' market will feature not only apples but all kinds of farm produce from potatoes, pumpkins for Halloween and other garden produce to jams and jellies suitable for Christmas giving.

The Christmas bazaar in the Market Mall will also feature a wide variety of crafts not only for Christmas but for all occasions. The bazaar will be open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday only.

And while all this is going on there will be a remote broadcast in East park by radio station WPZ with a give-away of prizes and the announcement of winners in the school art project now underway.

Kyle Bremmeyr with his magic show will be performing around 3 to 5 p.m. Saturday and 3 to 4 p.m. Sunday in East Park.

In addition, there will be hayrides for children, a sock hop reminiscent of the '50s at the Charlevoix Elementary School from 8 until midnight for the benefit of the American Cancer Society; a breakfast at the American Legion post home on Garfield Ave. from 8 a.m. until noon Sunday sponsored by the Charlevoix Volunteer Fire Department and apples, apples, apples...more than 25 varieties.

"Apples are what the festival is all about and Northern Michigan has them...by ones, by pecks, by bushels or truck loads, if you like," said Mrs. Chase.

Waste plan up for hearing

by PEG OHLE

Residents of Charlevoix County will have a chance tomorrow (Thursday) evening to learn how they will probably be disposing of their solid waste (garbage and trash) during the next ten years.

At 7:30 p.m. in the Circuit Court Room of the County Building, the County Solid Waste Planning Committee will hold a public hearing to receive written and oral comments about the Solid Waste Disposal Plan which has already been submitted to County, City, and Township officials.

Under preparation for almost two years, the Solid Waste Disposal Plan discusses various types of facilities to handle the four-plus pounds of waste that every man, woman, and child creates each day.

The Plan provides guidelines that Cities and Townships may follow as their needs become apparent during the next decade. Included among the suggestions are continued operation of the Charlevoix Garbage Service Landfill in Eveline Township, shipping waste to landfills in Kalkaska and Crawford Counties, mini transfer stations in the Boyne City, East Jordan and Charlevoix areas, a major transfer station near the Charlevoix Landfill or somewhere along M-66, continued use of green box transfer stations in Boyne Valley and Melrose Townships, and either a modular incinerator or a lined landfill on Beaver Island.

According to County Planner Lawrence Sullivan, who has coordinated the writing of the Solid Waste Disposal Plan, implementation of the above suggestions (with the exception of the major transfer station) could cost between $2.3 million and $2.8 million over a period of ten years.

However, Sullivan points out that there are many variables in the Plan. He notes that the major transfer station may never be built, but it is an option and if built would cost between $300,000 and $500,000. "We don't foresee any need for it within the next five or ten years," he says. "The thought was to provide an alternative in case the Charlevoix Landfill should be closed down for safety reasons or if it reaches its capacity."

Sullivan says that the facilities could be financed in one of several ways, or by a combination of ways. They could be financed by a governmental authority composed of a city and surrounding townships, by tipping (gate) fees, by recycling revenues, by County appropriations, by voted millage, or by private capital, among possible methods.

The Solid Waste Disposal Plan was written according to rules set down by the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) under Act 641 of 1978.

Following presentation to the general public tomorrow night, the Plan will be returned to the Solid Waste Planning Committee on October 5 for its final approval, then to the County Planning Commission on October 7 for its approval, next to the County Board of Commissioners on October 12 for its approval, and from there to the Cities and Townships.

If the Plan meets the tests of all these bodies, it will go to the DNR for its blessing. However, if any of the local bodies should make substantial changes in the Plan, it would be returned to the Solid Waste Planning Committee for revision and another public hearing would be held. After approval by the DNR, no one will be permitted to establish a landfill or transfer station that is not a part of the Plan. The DNR will not license them.

Implementation of the Solid Waste Disposal Plan will be gradual, occuring over a period of years, Sullivan cautions, so residents need not expect or fear a sudden change in their lifestyles as far as waste removal is concerned.

Sullivan has appeared before the City Councils in Charlevoix, East Jordan, and Boyne City, as well as the Boards of Charlevoix, Marion, Eveline, Bay, Evangeline, Melrose, South Arm, and Hudson Townships to explain the Solid Waste Disposal Plan, and reports he has received generally good comments about it. Act 641 regulations state that 67 percent of the municipalities in a County must approve the Plan before it can be adopted. This means that 13 of the 19 municipalities in Charlevoix County must say "yes" when asked for approval.

Big Rock Point nuclear plant from the air.

Big Rock marks 20th anniversary of its first nuclear reaction

by DAVE KNIGHT

Twenty years ago Monday a remarkable occurence happened on a rocky Lake Michigan shoreline just north of Charlevoix. While a group of power company officials and invited guests waited in a nearby building, a nuclear chain reaction was achieved deep within the huge, spherical dome housing the nation's fifth commercial nuclear power reactor.

Big Rock Point went critical that day thus bringing right into Charlevoix's back yard all the wonders - and the turbulence - of the nuclear age.

This week Consumers Power Company, owners of the Big Rock Point nuclear plant, are observing the 20th anniversary of that first nuclear reaction with a reception for employees and community leaders and a press conference with some of the individuals instrumental in Big Rock's 20-year history.

Though the first nuclear reaction was recorded on September 27, 1962, electricity was not actually channeled into the Consumers Power grid until the following December. The plant was formally dedicated in the spring of 1963 capping a four-year period from the time the 618-acre property was first purchased for construction of the plant.

"What we have two decades later is a nuclear plant that is still generating electricity, safely and reliably, to meet the needs of 100,000 Michigan residents," said David P. Hoffman, Big Rock Point plant superintendent. "When you consider that the whole commercial nuclear power industry is only about 25 years old, Big Rock Point's anniversary is a tremendous achievement."

Big Rock Point is a small nuclear plant by comparison to more contemporary plants. It generates 75,000 kilowatts of power which accounts for just over one percent of the total Consumers supply.

From the beginning, one of its primary missions has been in the area of fuel research and experimentation. Officials of Consumers Power, which now operates the Palisades nuclear plant in South Haven and is building a twin-reactor plant in Midland, point to the development of Big Rock as one of the industry's more successful chapters.

According to Russell B. DeWitt, now Consumers' vice president for nuclear operations and Big Rock plant superintendent from 1966 to 1968, "Nuclear plants being designed and built today are much larger than Big Rock Point although the technology involved is basically the same. However, without the experience of operating plants like Big Rock Point we could not achieve the level of safety and performance built into those newer, larger power plants."

Technical achievments aside, doubts held by many as to the safety and feasibility of nuclear power in general and to alleged deficiencies of the Big Rock plant in particular have surfaced regularly, especially since the nuclear power debate intensified all over the world in the 1970s.

Public opposition became most visible in November of 1977 when 14 people demanding the immediate shutdown of the plant were arrested at the plant's entrance.

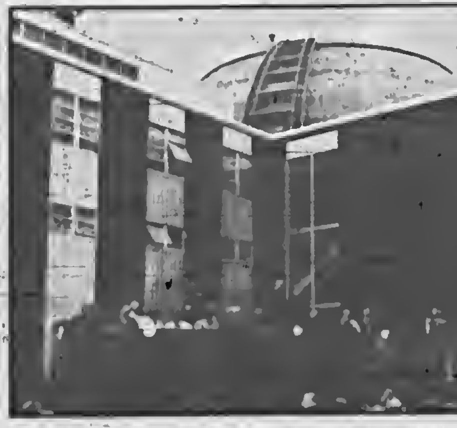
Recent concerns focus on the plant's spent fuel storage capacity. Big Rock Point faces a shutdown within two or three years if Consumers power is not granted permission from the Nuclear Regulatory Commission to increase its fuel storage capacity. If such approval is granted, the plant is scheduled to operated for another 18 years.

The most persistent watchdogs of the Big Rock nuclear plant have been the Concerned Citizens of Charlevoix (CCC) who are presently intervenors in the spent fuel storage matter.

Christa Maria of the CCC said last week, "The CCC congratulates the Big Rock employees for having kept the plant functioning for 20 years. However, nuclear plants continue to produce poisonous nuclear reactor waste, deadly for thousands of years with no solution to the storage and disposal of this waste. Big Rock must expand its nuclear waste pool because there is no safe method of disposal. Unless these problems are solved, we mourn each day of continued nuclear waste production."

Notable in the plant's history has been the consistency of its operation. It holds the world record for continuous operation of boiling water reactors - 343 days - and a company record for job safety - five years without an injury resulting in work loss.

Said Hoffman, "The plant's success is due largely to employees who have worked at Big Rock Point over the years. Many members of the original staff still work at Big Rock Point. There is continuity and experience among the employees and I believe this contributes to the plant's operating and safety records."



Governor George Romney addresses the dedication of the plant on March 21, 1963.

New mounted horse patrol hits the trail for Charlevoix County Sheriff

There are special situations faced occasionally by the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department when neither two-legged deputies nor four-wheeled vehicles are quite appropriate. Such have included major concerts at Castle Farms and search missions on lakeshore sand dunes.

As a result, the department has recently established a mounted horse patrol for times when more conventional patrol methods are not as effective.

According to Sheriff George T. Lasater, the need for a horse patrol became evident when numerous complaints of sexual assault in the parking lot areas of Castle Farms Music Theatre were being received on concert nights.

"From 1977 through 1980, six criminal sexual assaults (rapes) were reported having occurred in the parking lot areas of Castle Farms," according to Lasater in a release describing the new program, "Since the initiation of the mounted horse patrol last year (1981) no sexual assaults have been reported at the concert sites."

Deputy Michael Wheat has been assigned to the patrol along with his wife Judy as a posse member. The Wheats own horses on their Charlevoix County farm and thus provide their own mounts when on patrol duty.

Funding for the program is paid with county general funds and state funds through PA 416 Sheriff's secondary road patrol.

Lasater believes the mounted patrol has made another significant contribution to crime prevention at Fisherman's Island State Park. In summers past, deputies and park rangers were faced with a growing problem of thefts from campers and parked vehicles. Law enforcement personnel suspected that most of the individuals victimizing park users came into the park by foot or on motorbikes from the wooded areas not served by roadways.

This year, with the mounted patrol helping the conventional patrol efforts by working the back trails and heavily wooded dune areas, larcenies in the park were reduced by 80 percent, notes Lasater.

What are the advantages of a mounted patrol? According to Lasater, there are several:

-With a deputy on horseback, the added height gives the officer a better unobstructed view of the crowds and the general activity.

-The added height allows more people to see that a deputy is in the area, thus creating a deterrent to potential criminal activity.

-During patrol confrontations where a deputy was needed to keep the peace, the deputy on horseback had more versatility in getting to locations than a vehicle patrol unit would have.

-The mounted deputy was able to reach areas of concern in the state park areas where patrol vehicles would have difficulty patrolling.

-During search and rescue operations for lost persons, the deputy on horseback has a more advantageous and unobstructed view of the area being searched.

The success to date of the mounted patrol has encouraged the Sheriff's Department to continue and expand the program. Lasater said that mounted patrols will continue to be assigned to concerts at Castle Farms and will be available for use at other events in the county drawing large crowds such as Boyne Falls' Polish Festival.

The patrol's state park duties will also be expanded to include other park areas of the county.

Board learns enrollment figures

The enrollment in the Charlevoix Public Schools presently shows a decline of 25 students or 1407 Supt. Gordon W. VanWieren told the Charlevoix Board of Education at its regular meeting Monday, September 20.

However, the figure might be as much as 40 when the fourth Friday count is taken Oct. 1 if the enrollment follows the pattern set in previous years he added.

Tuition rates for the 1982-83 school year were set. They will be $2,920.26 for elementary students and $3,022.47 for secondary students. Supt. VanWieren said that the reason the rates are so high is because the Charlevoix Schools receive no state aid.

The 1981-82 audit as prepared by Baird, Cotter and Bishop was approved by the board.

A report on the library by Doris Pearl concluded the meeting.

The next meeting is scheduled for Monday, Oct. 4.

Bloodmobile is here this week

Residents of the Charlevoix area are reminded of the visit of The Red Cross Bloodmobile to Charlevoix on Thursday.

The quota for the visit has been set at 150 pints according to Mrs. David Fowler, coordinator for the project.

The Bloodmobile will be located at the American Legion Post Home from 1 until 7 p.m. The crew of the U.S.C.G.C. Mesquite is scheduled to donate during the first hour it is open.

A calling committee is busy contacting former donors for appointments which assure a steady flow throughout the day. If you have not been contacted, you may call 547-9314 for an appointment or, if that is not possible, drop in anytime during the afternoon between 1 and 7 p.m.

There is an urgent need for blood which can come from only one source, a healthy adult.

Should you or any member of your family need blood, it will be available to you without charge except for administering it.

Should you donate here, parents or parents-in-law, grandparents and grandparents-in-law or retirees and their spouses living anywhere in the U.S. or Canada are included in the "total coverage" through this blood program. Individuals leaving Charlevoix county to live elsewhere retain eligibility for one year if a donor. A non-donor loses his eligibility immediately.

The Date: Thursday, Sept 30; the Time: 1-7 p.m.; the Place: American Legion Post Home on East Garfield; the Need: 150 pints of blood.

Middle School to hold open house for parents

The staff of the Charlevoix Middle School will host an open house walk through at the school Monday, October 4 David J. Smith, school principal, has announced.

Purpose of the open house is to introduce parents to their student's schedule and the teachers at the Middle School, Mr. Smith added.

A coffee hour in the cafeteria at 6:30 p.m. will precede the "mini-sessions" that will begin at 6:50 p.m. and run for ten minutes with five minutes between sessions until 8:45 p.m.

Individual conference time from 8:45 until 9:30 p.m. will allow parents some time to consult with teachers.

Individual Parent-Teacher Conferences will be held at the school on November 18 Mr. Smith said. Information on these will be made available at a later date.

In announcing the open house, Mr. Smith said he hoped to see as many parents as possible at the open house Monday.

Knight on the Town

Letter from home

by Dave Knight

"We encourage parents of college bound students to subscribe to the Courier because, in many ways, it is just like sending a weekly letter from home. To the homesick student buried in English lit assignments, there is nothing like the good, ol' Courier to lighten the load with some familiar names and familiar faces. And the best part is, after you read the Courier, there is no quiz!

Thus the following form letter from home is directed to all Red Rayder alumni sitting in their dorm rooms wondering how to camoflage those pastel cinder block walls and dreaming of warm, moonlit nights on the Mount McSauba beach.

Dear (fill in your own name).

Things have been pretty quiet around town since you left. Don't know if that says something about the town or something about you. Do know that the washer and drier heaved a collective sigh of relief when you left; little do they know the chore that awaits them when you come home next month.

You should see what they're doing to Antrim St. and State St. Supposedly a storm sewer is being installed but the pipe is big enough to let the Bay Queen sail right uptown and dock under Judy's. Our neighbor just about had a heart attack when they started digging. He thought they were planting more petunias.

I understand there is a kid from Detroit on your floor. Maybe you can persuade him to bottle some water while he's home. Tell him he can get an excellent price for it here in Charlevoix.

I am sure you read that the football team lost to Petoskey in their first game. Apparently the Petoskey fans got so excited that they rented out the Legion hall on the spot and feasted on Oreos and milk until after 11! Boy, those folks sure know how to party.

Not many tourists around any more but most folks downtown say they had a good season. Even the seagulls look fatter. Heard that one tried to sign up for aerobic dancing the other day but was turned away because her leg warmers would not stay up.

The weather lately has been downright rude. The last time the sun came out was on Labor Day when Governor Milliken walked across the Big Mac. Who says being a nice guy doesn't pay? It's been so foggy that Coach Carey uses KHQ's weather radar to direct his passing attack.

At least someone has used the rainy weather to advantage. For the people from downstate who don't want to drive all the way to the Upper Peninsula, the Market Mall now features an indoor replica of Tahquamenon Falls cascading from the ceiling of the lobby.

And local anglers were delighted with the last heavy rainfall; salmon were running on Petoskey Ave.

Well, behave yourself at the football games and eat something besides french fries every now and then. It's getting tougher to keep your little sister away from your Pink Floyd albums so there might be a few new scratches when you come home.

Sincerely,

(Fill in the name of whomever you most want to get a letter from.)

Clockwise

Legacy of war

by Bob Clock

"WHY HAVEN'T YOU written anything about the massacres?" a friend asked me Saturday afternoon in Oleson's.

And I suppose it was a fair question. I'm in the news business. I have a front row seat on the happenings of the day, thanks to our high-speed satellite service from United Press International. I am neither so cloddish or so cynical that I can look upon as "business as usual" the outright murders of up to 1,500 men, women and children in Beirut's two Palestine refugee camps.

But like most Americans, I am so aghast by such vile doings that words desert me.

I would like to think that Mother Earth does not harbor such groups as the Christian soldiers who were permitted to seize the camps by the Israeli government. I want to think it was a mistake — an oversight, perhaps — on Israel's part, since she certainly should have known what was likely to happen when the wolves got into the hen house.

Furthermore, I have been raised as a Christian and unless I missed something in Sunday School, Christians are supposed to be loving, god-fearing people who would never dream of slaughtering defenseless civilians under any circumstances.

I guess I have remained quiet because I'm a wishful thinker. I wish the Jews and the Arabs and the Christians could live together in peace and harmony in the Middle East.

But deep down I know that it will never happen in my lifetime, or your lifetime or the lifetime of anyone alive today.

The Bible never comes closer to the mark than it does in discussing the inevitability of "war and rumors of war."

One only has to look at the continuing warfare in Northern Ireland to realize the wisdom of the ancient scribes. The combatants in Ulster are of one blood line and subscribe basically to the same religious beliefs — and yet they are at each other's throats year after year after year.

As deeply as I grieve for the slain Palestinians and members of their families, I am doubly sorry that most of the bullets that killed them and the weapons that fired them either were made in the United States or were manufactured with American dollars.

Why must we as a nation continue to send lethal weapons to such totally irresponsible children as the denizens of the Middle East?

Playing gun-maker to the world not only defies common sense but is a serious indictment of both our foreign and domestic priorities.

I AM AFRAID that the latest Israeli incursion into Lebanon and its bloody aftermath have set back the cause of Israel a full quarter century.

The establishment of an Israeli state on Palestine-occupied lands has been touch-and-go since the beginning. But Israel, with American support, has made the desert bloom and has shown her Arab neighbors what can be done with hard work and Yankee dollars.

Yet in the space of a few short weeks, Menachem Begin has destroyed whatever rapport he had with his neighbors and has martyred his arch enemy, Yasser Arafat.

It's time Begin stepped down.

More on church centennial

To the Editor:

When my grandfather, Archibald Irwin, known in Charlevoix as Archie Irwin, left Belfast, Ireland to board a sailing vessel, it took six weeks and a stormy crossing to show him his "New World", and romance was awaiting.

On the ship was Hannah Carter. She was leaving Hannaston, England with the same idea. She wanted a "New World". They met and were married upon arrival in Canada, where their "New World" began.

They settled in a small town called Nicholson. Grandfather got employment with a man named Nichols. It was not long before Grandfather heard good things about Northern Michigan. He moved Hannah to Charlevoix. His new employer was John Nichols, and then John Nichols' son, Harry Nichols, and the Nichols Lumber Company, where Grandfather spent the rest of his days.

Ripley, who wrote the famous column, "Believe It Or Not", heard about the man whose name was Irwin but spent most of his life with the name Nichols. Ripley made the most of it, as only he could.

My Mother, Metta Irwin Comfort, was born in 1882. This year she would have been 100 years old. We must go back to the time when the Charlevoix Congregational Church had not been born, but his year, 1982, it is celebrating a wonderful centennial.

In the early days, the children had a Sunday School. The building still stands on Bridge Street in which it was held, on the second floor. The main floor now holds the Colwell Real Estate office. The building was built by Major Green in 1885.

When Grandmother Hannah returned home on a Sunday with her daughter, Metta, Grandfather Archie said, "Where have you been?" She said, "We have been to Sunday School", and she told him that a church was being born. He said "What name will it have?" She said, "the Congregational Church". He said, "Send Metta to that church."

Several years later, when the church came into being, and the records are now lost, my mother was known as the first member of the Congregational Church, and a loyal member she was until her death. She belonged to the Pilgrim Circle and was an Eastern Star.

At the Charlevoix Historical Society there sits the "Little Red Chair" in a Plexiglas case made by Clifford Biddick of Charlevoix. The "Little Red Chair" was fashioned out of a cigar box for my Mother when she was a little girl by Percival Thompson, a pioneer.

And there at the Historical Society sits the "Trinket Post", made by my Grandmother Hannah. Many ask, "What is a Trinket Post?"

In the early days, there was no TV, radio, ladies' clubs, and very little money, but there was plenty of dirt roads, and Grandmother used them to collect whatever she could find. When you view the "Trinket Post" you will see what she found. Again, the beautiful case is made by Clifford Biddick.

A reminiscence by Annabel Comfort

Letters: Revealing exchange

Ed. Note: The following three letters are reprinted in the sequential order in which they were written. We feel Mrs. DePuy's letter, the response she received from Medusa and the memo to Charlevoix plant employees from company headquarters which followed later provide some insight to community concerns and the Medusa Company's reaction to those concerns.

Dear Friends at Medusa:

Just exactly what is it that you have against my household? For the best part of two weeks now, you have been spewing forth a column of smelly, grit-depositing smoke. Our picnic table, which had a very shiny, glassy surface is now scratchy and always dirty. If we wish to use the table it must be scrubbed down each time even if it is to be used twice in one day.

We have two cars that must sit outside and as of today, one was so badly imbedded with your dust that my husband has had to go over it with compound and spend unnecessary hours making the car look presentable again. The other car now has a badly damaged rear window because of the dust that has settled and is next to impossible to remove.

As I cleaned my house yesterday, I encountered your gritty dust everywhere. The window sills near open windows felt just like a sidewalk!

Even as I sit here typing in our sleeping-porch office, I can smell your smoke. It gives me irritated eyes, a burning throat, and a runny nose.

Now, please tell me why this has to be. I thought you had some rather sophisticated equipment at your plant that was to protect the Charlevoix environment and the citizens in that environment. Please don't tell me that you have "problems". If your equipment isn't working, please shut down and fix it. If any of us here in the city had a problem with our waste discharge that's exactly what we would have to do. But we certainly wouldn't keep pumping garbage into the environment.

I expect a reply to my letter and I also expect some cleaner air. If not, then I will take further steps to see that my complaint is not ignored.

Thank you.

Kathlyn K DePuy

(Mrs. William M. DePuy)

Dear Mrs. DePuy:

During warm weather, it is impossible to tell that Medusa's Charlevoix Plant is operating, when it is operating smoothly, at full production, by observing emissions from the stacks. The basic design is sound.

The level of near perfection that we can achieve when operating at full production adds pressure on us to do so and we are very aware and concerned when we do not. Our friends remind us if we have not noticed it ourselves and reinforce our concern if we have.

Mrs. DePuy, not all of the dust has been from our plant. I live at Island View which is practically never alee of the plant and dust has been much heavier than usual this summer. There are unpaved roads between us and Lake Michigan, but for the most part the dust has been from the far west and very heavy smoke was purportedly from forest fires in Canada.

And, during colder weather we have steam plumes from the stacks that are often mistaken for dust. It was a mistake to say there would be no steam plume with a dry process since water must be added in Conditioning Towers ahead of the Electrostatic Precipitators to achieve their very high design efficiency.

That is not to say that we have achieved our objective of being the cleanest cement plant in the nation. (We are already the cleanest in Michigan, by far.)

Hopefully, business conditions will improve and money will be available for major projects that should eliminate two remaining sources of dust. In the meantime, we pledge our continued efforts toward operating and maintaining the fine equipment we do have properly.

Very Truly yours,

B.B. Nall, P.E.

Environmental & Safety

To All Employees of the Charlevoix Plant:

I am writing this short memo to all employees of the Charlevoix plant concerning the recent newspaper article which accuses the Medusa organization of dirtying the atmosphere in the Charlevoix region.

In the three years that I have been president of Medusa Cement Company, I have insisted that housekeeping at our plants be maintained at a high level of cleanliness. Likewise, I have insisted that the atmosphere around the plant must be as good as if there were no cement plant.

I have seen tremendous improvement at all our locations in this period and have been proud of the actions taken on the part of all of our employees to make this possible. However, when I read an article in the paper and learn of citizens' committees being formed, I become suspicious whether we are doing as good of a job as I thought we were.

Commitments have been made by our company that we would be good neighbors and do everything in our power to not disturb the beauty of the area. These commitments will be upheld.

You, as employees of the Charlevoix plant, are for the most part members of the Charlevoix or neighboring communities and I am certain are proud of the area in which you live. I, therefore, ask that each one of you be more vigilant to the methods used in operating and repairing equipment so that malfunctions can be maintained at a very minimal level. Likewise, I am asking that our operating practices be reevaluated to determine possibilities for malfunctions of equipment or accidents involving dust spills and resultant air pollution.

We consider ourselves a valuable asset to the Charlevoix area in that the number of direct and indirect jobs provided for residents as well as the taxes paid by the company have improved the economic posture of the entire region. We hope to make Charlevoix an even more prosperous and influential community as well as maintaining its beauty and appeal.

I ask all of you to help us to continue to be a good and respectable member of this region, and I again pledge my personal support to this goal.

Dean E. Sandbrook.

that the decision could set a precedent at a time when child abuse cases are increasing. One caseworker reports he has 30 active cases of child abuse under his jurisdiction and there are three other caseworkers with similar loads. Three new cases were heard in Charlevoix Circuit Court last month and still another one is scheduled in the near future. These are just the reported cases.

While criminal sexual conduct is broken down into four degrees – first, second, third, and fourth, ranging from sexual intercourse to fondling – the abuse (or misuse) of a child can have long-ranging effects, a juvenile worker explains.

"The tragedy is an overall problem for everybody," she says, "whether the abuser is prosecuted or not. The child does not feel good about herself, and the perpetrator often goes through life with a feeling of guilt.

"However, in some families, child abuse has been a fact of life for several generations. They think it is 'no big deal' because they have lived with it before. These are the people we must make special efforts to reach."

We find ourselves "viewing with alarm", and, obviously, that is no way to attack the problem.

As far as court decisions go, the general public does have a fever although they may have to wait a while to use it. The judges are elected.

As to protecting children from sexual abuse, Juvenile Officer Brad Campbell has some suggestions:

"Most molesters are people the kids know. We warn them about not talking to strangers or letting them in their homes. But we don't warn them about family and friends. The S.A.F.E. group wants to get into the schools and organize illusion theater-type programs of 'touching plays' for kids. They would teach about appropriate and inappropriate touching, kissing, and hugging.

"We want to organize community groups to recognize the problem and urge the kids to seek help. The problem is to get kids to know help is available, whether it be for sexual or physical abuse. They must learn that it is not their fault.

"We've seen a great increase in child abuse, and it has followed the unemployment rate, especially since last spring. Sex abuse by fathers is to show their power over the child, even though he may not be able to function as head of the family in other ways without a job.

"The thing we have to do is coordinate all the agencies so we can treat the children successfully and educate their families. The public has to know and the public has to help because child abuse is everybody's problem."

After talking with these professionals, we asked a young business woman if she thought that "1 Out of 5 Children Is Sexually Misused". Her answer was an unequivocal "Yes", and she added, "Both of my sisters were abused by the fathers of children with whom they were babysitting".

Out of the Blue

Players and owners seem to have got
The season into a mess;
Will they settle or will they not?
So what? I couldn't care less!

Rayder offense sputters, Hurons dominate in 34-6 romp

Whatever offensive spark the Charlevoix Red Rayders had displayed in their first two games was completely missing Friday night as the Rayders were humbled at Rogers City by a 34-6 score.

The score was an accurate reflection of the Hurons' domination of the game which saw Charlevoix plagued by terrible field position the entire night.

In the first half, for instance, Charlevoix managed only one first down and a total of five yards passing. The Rayders were also held at bay on the ground coming up with but 41 yards rushing in the half.

Rogers City quarterback Steve Urban almost singlehandedly nailed the Rayders' coffin shut tossing a 10-yard pass to Kent Karston and scoring on a seven-yard run himself to put the Hurons up 12-0 in the first quarter. In the second quarter, Urban ran for another TD from 11 yards out and Scott Kowalski ran for the two-point conversion to give Rogers City a 20-0 lead at halftime.

In the third quarter it was Urban to Karsten again for 10 yards and a touchdown with Robert Bingle kicking the extra point. Charlevoix finally got on the board when Pat Mitchell burst through the middle of the line for a 10-yard scoring run. The extra point attempt failed.

Urban hit Karsten one more time in the fourth quarter and Bingle added the conversion to complete the 34-6 rout.

Though Charlevoix did lead Rogers City in passing yardage 151 to 92 at game's end, they were far behind in rushing, 121 to 227. Mitchell led the Rayder ballcarriers with 54 yards in 12 carries. David Batdorff ran six times for 40 yards and Tim LaBlance six times for 18 yards. Jeff Trimper caught three passes for 74 yards.

The only standout on defense, according to the coaching staff, was Shannon Reynolds.

This Friday the Rayders will seek to improve their 0-2 conference record, 1-2 overall, at Boyne City.

Injuries mar JV loss to Rogers City

The Charlevoix Rayder Junior Varsity football team defeated the Roger City JVs by a score of 14-0 at Kipke Field Thursday night.

However, it was a costly victory for the young Rayders who suffered injuries to three players that have resulted in sidelining them, possibly for the season. Britt Center was hospitalized briefly at Little Traverse Hospital when he suffered a neck injury. Mark Hodgson received an injured knee that required a cast and Kyle Smith a torn leg ligament which will bench him.

Charlevoix JVs will host Boyne City at Kipke Field Thursday.

In Thursday's game, Smith scored from the one yard line in the first quarter after setting up the scoring play with a 35 yard run that put the ball in scoring position. The conversion kick failed.

In the second period, the Rayders took to the air with Brent Cole passing 25 yards to Dave McKenzie to put the Charlevoix eleven ahead 12-0 at halftime after the kick failed.

The third quarter saw Cris Havens adding two more points on a safety when he blitzed the visiting quarterback in the end zone.

Coach Brian Certa said after the game that he was very proud of his team adding that they played well and kept their cool under very trying conditions that resulted in the injuries. He mentioned particularly the work of Cole, Havens, McKenzie, Center and Jim Martin on offense; John Pearl, Pat Hamilin on both offense and defense and Shannon Spence, Mark Trimper and Ray Kerr on defense.

Frosh drop early lead, lose to Gaylord

The Charlevoix Rayder Freshman Football team dropped its game to Gaylord Wednesday night by a score of 12-7 after taking an early lead in the outing played at Gaylord.

Coach Dave Smith said the team played an excellent defensive game but lacked the punch to put the ball in pay dirt though the defensive unit gave them several opportunities. He also said that the team's pass defense had improved in the past week. He named Tom Ochs as the outstanding defensive player.

On Wednesday, Charelvoix will host the Cheboygan freshmen at Kipke Field in a game that should be a close one.

In the game at Gaylord, Charlevoix got on the board in the first minute of the game when Matt Lignell broke away for a 48 yard run and a touchdown. Jody Putman kicked the conversion to put Charlevoix ahead 7-0.

The second half opened with Lanny Smith traveling 56 yards on a punt return. Gaylord tried to put the team ahead with a run for the conversion which was stopped.

The game remained at 7-6 until the 4:40 mark in the final period when Gaylord recovered a Rayder fumble on the 28 yard line and worked it into the one foot line where, with 1:40 remaining on the clock, Kevin Bur went in from the one-foot line to give Gaylord the 12-7 win after the kick failed.

Yachting Notes

One of those precious September evenings, a little cool, a dying breeze yet still, a delightful evening. Definitely 525 conditions!

"Tigger" was first to pop the "chute" at the windward mark; "Bandit" close behind with "Indooroophilly" back a good bit. The "big" and the "hot" yachts spent a little time in a delicate waltz around the bouy before taking off in frantic pursuit.

The first three remained in the same relative positions down both reach legs as they steadily moved up through the Portsmouth Fleet and at the leeward pin "Tigger" had nothing but open water ahead.

The final beat to windward saw both "Rambling Guy" and "Hummer" work up nicely, but "Indooroophilly" just had too much speed and direction for the rest of us, and, crossing the finish line in the glow of running lights, she was a firm first, then "Bandit" followed closely by "Tigger" and "Rambling Guy".

Meanwhile, back at the farm, "Maranatha" was sneaking in on the shore line and literally sailing around a good portion of the leaders. Then, from out of the night (helped dramatically by a 90 degree wind shift) came the later yachts...and the first shall be last and the last be first! What's this?...a strange P-26 first in its class, so impressive that Skipper Jim Miller was awarded a one candle cake at breakfast next morning while the boys from "Tireless" explained how that mark came right over and hit them!

In his fine book "Shipwrecks and Survivals" Ratigan tells of the "holes in the lake" that ships sail into and disappear. We didn't have any ships disappear but there sure were a lot of "holes" out there...and if you were unlucky enough to get caught in one (...or two,...or three), why have a cup of cheer, look toward next week, and remember 'twas a pretty picture, was it not?

Overall: "Indooroophilly", "Bandit", "Tigger", "Rambling Guy" and "Maranatha".

PHRF: "Tigger" (Congratulations!), "Rambling Guy" and "Maranatha" (Welcome into the "money").

525's: "Indooroophilly", "Bandit" and "Melvin" (moving up!).

Portsmouth: "Clockwork", "Seascape" and "Phoenecia" (another new format!).

Two new crew members joined the club this fine Wednesday, congratulations to both sponsoring couples; Charlene and Gary Gleason, Jan and Cliff Biddick. Understand the Gleason launching preceded the Biddick event by several hours and all are doing well. In the fine tradition of yachting, both are "she". May you two young ladies be blessed with a love of the lakes and be granted many, many years to enjoy that blessing. Gary's "DID NOT FINISH" and Cliff's "DID NOT START" are hereby fully accepted under the circumstances. Sure did enjoy that big, bright pink, banner on "Razzmatazz".

PLEASE, PLEASE, PLEASE, last year's winners, turn you trophies into Village Care Care...NOW!

Flag football scores

The Charlevois Township Flag Football season opened recently with the Landing shutting out the Coast Guard Cutter Mesquite 35-0 and the Mesquite edging the Coast Guard Station 13-12 in games played Saturday.

In games played earlier in the week, the Landing dumped Big Rock 22-0; Townhouse defeated the Mesquite 41-2; Townhouse won over Big Rock 25-6 and the Landing won by forfeity over the CG Station.

This week will find the Townhouse and the Landing meeting at 5:30 and Big Rock and the CG Station at 6:30 Tuesday; the Landing and the Station clashing at 5:30 and Townhouse and Big Rock meeting at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, and Townhouse and the Station playing at 5:30 and the Landing and Big Rock at 6:30 p.m. Monday.

Beano Archey was in on five scoring plays for the Landing as his team romped over the Coast Guard Cutter Mesquite 35-0. Archey passed five yards to Kevin Morrison twice and 50 yards for a third scoring play, romped 10 yards once and took a 40 yard pass from Tom Morrison plus two conversions to roll up most of his team's points. He also passed to Frank Olach for a conversion. Barry Potter contributed a safety.

It was a seesaw game between the Mesquite and the Coast Guard Station before the ship won by a one-point margin. Bill Heriman put the station on the board on a 20 yard pass interception before Scott Martin got off a 30 yard aerial to Ron Hillis for the ship. Martin then passed to Cary Eggleston for what turned out to be the winning margin.

Rich Borths passed to Denny Brink for 30 yards to give the Station the lead but Jim Rogers got off a 30 yarder to Eggleston late in the game to give the ship the one-point win.

In the Landing 22-0 win over Big Rock, Archey scored on a two yard pass from Tom Morrison and then pitched passes of 25 and 17 yards to Morrison. Denny Erickson scored a safety and a P.A.T. and Archey ran a conversion.

In the Townhouse rout of the Mesquite by a 41-2 score, Greg Nelson scored on passes of 39, 20 and 23 yards from Ray LaVole and five yards from Dave Novotny. Bud Klooster passed one yard to Pat Klooster and took a 20 yard pass from LaVole. Conversions were scored by LaVole, Bud Klooster, Steve Dunlkeberg and Dan McKenzie.

Mid-afternoon Saturday, a ragtag team of adults struggled valiantly against the Aartvark team of 13 to 15 year olds. Final score Aartvark 5 - adults 4. Goals for the Aartvark were made by Quint Walker, Mike Thompson, Jim Cluk and Darren Batdorff. Jim McGarry, Joe Borths, Dale Glass and recruited 12 year old Brad McGlynch scored for the adults. A re-match is scheduled for next Saturday at 3 p.m. and the adults are openly seeking ringers and volunteers — men and women.

Sunday the Aartvark team met the Petoskey team in Charlevoix. Aartvark was defeated 2 to 0. A serious rematch is to be played next Sunday in Petoskey.

Girls need overtime to beat Ellsworth

The Charlevois Rayder girls basketball team defeated the Ellsworth Lancers 44-38 in an overtime game played here Tuesday.

This week will find Charlevois at Boyne City Tuesday, hosting Petoskey here Thursday and traveling to Gaylord Oct. 5.

In the game with Ellsworth, the Lancers came from behind to knot the score 38-all at the end of the regulation game on a field goal by Cheryl Elzinga at the buzzer. In the overtime, Angie McClanaghan put her team ahead with two free throws in the overtime followed by field goals by Laura Kemp and Sue Raginia for the six-point victory.

In the regulation game Charlevois had led the visitors 15-13; 24-19 and 32-27 by quarters before Elzinga tied the score with her field goal.

Charlevoix went to the free throw line to defeat the Lancers. Both teams had 17 field goals. Charlevoix picked up its winning points on the charity line, connecting on 10 of 21 and collecting 15 personal fouls while Ellsworth had four of 11 tries and 18 personal fouls.

Laura Kemp puts up another two-pointer against Ellsworth.

Meeting set for independent volleyball, basketball leagues

An organizational meeting for Independent Volleyball and Basketball Leagues has been called for Wednesday, Oct. 6, by Dwight Boss, city recreation director of the Charlevoix Recreation Department which sponsors the programs.

The meetings will be held in the Council Chambers on the first floor of the city hall at 6 p.m. for the Volleyball League and at approximately 7 p.m. following the first meeting for the Basketball Leagues.

"You Can" describes program

by ANNE KELLY

"You Can", the nationwide logo for community education programs is particularily appropriate for twelve school districts in northwest Michigan. These districts, of which Charlevoix is one, are joined together cooperatively for the purpose of cost reduction in providing adequate adult education for each community.

A joint interview with Charlevoix Community Education director, Ken Bartley, and with Fred Stearms, administrator of the Straits Area Community Education Consortium, clarified the purpose of renewing the high school completion program in Charlevoix this year.

"About 50 percent of people over are 25 in many Michigan counties, do not have their high school diploma," Mr. Stearms pointed out. "In northern Michigan, not including the U.P. over 1000 come back each year to earn their diploma."

Charlevoix has not offered the high school completion program for four years. Mr. Bartley is pleased that the program is able to be offered this year. He reports that four courses will be running for high school completion beginning the week of Sept. 27-30 and continuing 17 weeks. These classes are free to those 18 or older who do not have their high school diploma or those under 20 who have their diploma. They are: Basic Reading, Applied Math, Government, and Typing.

"A lot of people are very interested in getting a diploma instead of just taking the G.E.D. (general educational development) test," he remarked. They come to realize that a high school diploma is a worthwhile thing. Many employers and the services are beginning to look for the diploma over the G.E.D. test. It has to do with the attitude of the person who makes the committment to go back and finish school," Bartley explained. He and Stearms agreed that the kind of person who goes back to school would be indicative of a good risk. That person has searched out the opportunity, put forth the effort, and stuck to a committment, qualities which speak well of his character.

"We are also starting a program in the fall this year for high school completion," Stearms continued.

Charlevoix's adult enrichment program offered general interest courses ranging anywhere to a four week course in investing to a 20 week private pilot ground school course.

Those which will be holding session as a result of registration are: Welding and Computer Programming, both of which are filled, Stained Glass, Fundamentals of Investing and Typing, still with openings. All classes will meet at the Charlevoix High School and begin the week of Sept. 27-30.

Participation in Charlevoix's Community Education Program is one way of becoming involved in your schools. After all, the schools belong to the community and, should be utilized as much as possible by them.

Also offered this fall with be free senior citizen enrichment classes. They will be held on Thursday afternoons in the high school. For further information contact Ken Bartley, or call the high school office.

STORY HOUR AT THE LIBRARY now has a new story teller. Shown above with some of her listeners is Anne Pfluecke. Story hour for pre-schoolers is held from 10:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. every Tuesday at the Charlevoix Public Library.

UAW retirees to meet

Retired United Auto Workers will hold their regular monthly meeting on Tuesday, October 5, at 1:30 p.m. at the Local Union 1403 Hall, 29 N. Park St., Boyne City.

This chapter was formed by retired U.A.W. of Local's 610, 1403, 1503, 1511, and 1669 from Antrim, Charlevoix and Emmet Counties.

All U.A.W. retirees from other local unions who are residing in one of the three counties are entitled to membership in this chapter.

CHARLEVOIX AREA HOSPITAL'S new computerized blood chemistry analyzer is on line after three months of extensive testing. The Gemini, a three modular system, is capable of performing up to 35 different blood tests, to check for such problems as liver, kindey and heart disease. Prior to the acquisition of this compact computerized system early this summer, many of these tests had to be sent to outside labs. The ability to perform these tests within the hospital means savings to the hospital as well as faster results for physicians and patients. Lab Chief Ralph Corwin, shown in the above photo, running a test on the Gemini, explained that during the three month testing period, the Gemini was run side by side with tests sent out, for comparative purposes, as well as used to test already known samples, for control. The testing time enable lab techs to become completely familiary with the computor and to be confident it was functioning perfectly.

Present: Councilmembers Roloff, Wood, Block, Olach, Porter, and Timms. Absent: None.

Moved by Councilman Olech and supported by Councilmen Wood that the Minutes of the September 13, 1982 special Council meeting and the September 7, 1982 regular Council meeting be approved as presented in writing and as recorded in the Council Minutes Book.

Motion was adopted by the following yea and nay vote:

Yeas: Councilmembers Roloff, Wood, Block, Olach, Porter and Timms. Nays: None. Absent: None.

Council adjourned to the Board of Appeals.

Following the Board of Appeals meeting, roll call of the Council was again taken with all members being present.

Council discussed the Keep Charlevoix Beautiful organization's offer for certain of their members to function as a committee to work with the City Administration on a shade tree maintenance program. The City Attorney advised Council that such a committee should either be established within the confines of the City ordinance which provides for a Shade Tree Commission or the ordinance should be revised or rescinded. Council asked Bruce MacArthur, President of K.C.B., Inc., to seek out those members of his organization who would be interested in serving on the Shade Tree Commission and report back to the Council on the matter.

The City Manager asked for direction from Council regarding a berm that has been constructed by Jack Malpeli on his Stover Road property without the required 247 permit or site plan, although Mr. Malpeli had assured him that he would present a site plan for the entire parcel of property at a later date. Council directed the City Manager not to allow any additional berming of the property and to have Mr. Malpeli erect snow fencing to deter drifting snow in the area of the berm.

Council authorized the payments of bills totaling $333,828.42.

Big Rock Point Nuclear Plant
"A good friend and neighbor"

Since the years when Indians inhabited the wilds of northern Michigan the Big Rock--they called it Kitchi-ossining--has been an important landmark.

Then, it was the gathering place for spring and fall meetings of Chippewa Indians from all over northern Michigan. Several hundred years later, near the rock—Kitchi-ossining is still there—sits the electric generating plant that pioneered Michigan's nuclear era.

Big Rock Point Nuclear Plant, owned and operated by Consumers Power Company, is celebrating its 20th anniversary this month.

Built on the threshold of a new technology, Big Rock Point was Michigan's first, and the nation's fifth, commercial nuclear power plant. Construction started in 1960, and finished 2½ years later at a cost of nearly $27 million--a bargain by today's standards for any type of generating plant.

In the 20 years that have followed, scientists have watched the nuclear plant with interest. So, too, have the local residents in nearby Charlevoix and Petoskey, many of whom call it a "good friend and neighbor." The plant generates enough electricity to serve 100,000 people annually.

"We like Big Rock," says Josh Barnes, president of Lexalite Corporation, which is located 1,200 yards from the nuclear plant. "If Big Rock were not to operate, we would not be competitive in our marketplace."

The plant has become valuable to local residents in other ways, too. It provides a big boost to the local economy--at least $5 million in 1981 alone through things like payroll, purchases, taxes and lodging. The plant employs about 160 people, many of them are involved in area religious, civic and governmental activities.

The plant also has been important scientifically. As only the nation's fifth commercial nuclear plant, its operations have been studied closely. In fact, Consumers Power, General Electric and the former Atomic Energy Commission conducted a research and development program at the plant. The successful program was designed to achieve increased fuel economy and greater electric generating capacity from nuclear power.

In 1977, the nuclear plant set a world record for boiling water reactors by operating 343 consecutive days. Last year, the plant fell five days short of breaking its own record. It generated electricity 91 percent of the time in 1981.

Although 20 years old, Big Rock Point is only halfway through its design lifetime.

City to enforce snow removal downtown

by DAVE KNIGHT

It was difficult to debate snow removal with balmy October temperatures outside but the City Council found itself doing just that Monday night.

Following a public hearing, the council unanimously passed a resolution creating a "snow and ice clearance district" downtown. The resolution, made possible by an amendment to the city code, allows the city to concentrate enforcement of snow removal ordinances in the downtown area instead of having to enforce such laws citywide.

The new district includes sidewalks along Bridge Street from the drawbridge to Belvedere Ave. All property owners affected will be required to keep their sidewalks clear of snow and ice or face a $25 minimum charge for removal of the snow by city crews.

In other business, the council:

-Enacted an emergency mobile home ordinance which, for the first time, provides the city with guidelines on the location of mobile homes in single family residential areas. Council failed to act upon a zoning request by Wilfred Crowe who proposes to put a mobile home on a 50-foot by 214-foot lot at 201 W. Carpenter.

-Approved the site plan for an indoor pool at the Hillcrest Apartments, 305 West Hurlbut.

-Approved a final resolution wrapping up the airport improvement project. City Manager Robert Hunt announced that the new runway extension is now open for daytime use.

CONSTRUCTION IS BEING COMPLETED THIS WEEK on Charlevoix's north pier. According to Army Corps of Engineers project engineer Ross Gittleman, the $1,926,314 renovation project was completed right on schedule by the Emmanuel Company of Detroit, general contractor, and Roen Salvage Co. of Manitowoc, Wisconsin, primary subcontractor. The reconstruction of the pier, involving a poured cement walkway with handrails atop tons of boulders, was started in June, 1981. Gittleman said the Corps next priorities for the Charlevoix harbor include repairs on the south pier and restoration of the Pine River shoreline along the Chicago Club's Park Island.

Master Plan is ready

At a joint meeting of the Charlevoix City Council and Planning Commission September 27, a final version of the city's Master Plan was approved for public scrutiny. Initiated by the council last year, the final draft presented by consultant Ron Nino consists of hundreds of pages of data, charts and drawings. Below is a summary of the final version prefaced by a letter to the citizens from the mayor, city manager, Planning Commission chairman and Nino. The plan summary is in abreviated form. The announcement of dates for final hearings on the plan will be forthcoming.

To the Citizens of Charlevoix:

About one year ago, the City initiated a master planning program, "to ensure that the community's waterfront resources, its values, and its historical and natural integrity are preserved, while also ensuring that the community assists, rather than frustrate, development which can strengthen its economic base."

Throughout the winter of 1981-82, City residents participated in a series of workshops to discuss their hopes and identify their concerns about Charlevoix's future. Many responded to a detailed survey, which probed their feelings about the Downtown, the higway corridor, the City's neighborhoods, and each of our waterfront areas.

Clear expressions of concern were heard about the character of past and future development. Many people felt that recent projects had been a detriment, rather than an asset, to the community. On the other hand, firm support was voiced for City initiatives which could help the community adapt to the rapidly changing economic conditions in the area, in the state, and across the country.

The consensus opinion favored a plan which distinguished between parts of the community which should be preserved and parts which should be permitted – or encouraged – to change. Overall, a need was expressed for firm controls on development densities, scale, and location. Landscaping, view corridors, signage, traffic congestion, and public water access were also frequently raised concerns. Priorities were established on controlling strip development along the highway and strengthening retail business Downtown.

A considerable amount of discussion has occurred about the appropriate degree of public involvement in the development process. A consensus seems to support a balanced approach toward development assistance. In other words, the City should distinguish between projects which are clearly in the overall public interest to promote, and those lacking any compelling rationale for local support. A great deal of attention continues to be focussed on how this distinction is put into practice, but the primary criteria appear to be provision of stable, year-round jobs; improvements to the area's resort and light manufacturing economic base; and contributions to the City's tas base.

Out of this process has come volumes of data and an array of reports on every aspect of the community as it exists today and as it might become. The Planning Commission has spent innumerable hours pouring over this material in developing the draft plan. The full document runs into the hundreds of pages. It contains many small suggestions and big ideas, some of which are certain to be forgotten and, many which may be set aside in the course of future events.

The most valuable product is not, of course, the document itself, but the knowledge we have gained about our community and ourselves, and the consensus which has evolved toward a common direction for the City's future. This is not a product of any one person or party. In fact, the City has a different mayor, a different manager, and a different planning commission today than it did when the project was initiated. This is one of the promising features of the plan. Because it is a product of the community as a whole, we feel it can and will survive whatever changes may come to pass in the various official bodies and positions.

Following are some of the highlights of the plan, which we hope will provide you with a sense of its directions. If you find them interesting, you may wish to consult one of the full drafts of the plan which will be placed on file at the library. We invite you to study it, scrutinize it, and to discuss it with your friends and neighbors. Then we would like to hear from you, by mail or in person at one of the final planning meetings. Your interest and support has taken us this far, and we will need your continued involvement in the weeks and years to come.

Any plan, after all, is only the first step.

Ken Staley, Mayor
Walt Hufford, Planning Commission Chairman
Bob Hunt, City Manager
Ron Nino, Planning Consultant

Following is a summary of the major policies which have evolved form the planning process. Most of these can be found in one form or another in the full draft planning document. However, some of these policies are regulatory in nature and will appear in revisions to the Zoning Code, Sign Code, or other City ordinances, which are still being drafted.

Lake Michigan

Maintain and improve public facilities at Michigan Beach and Mt. McSauba. Except for shoreline between Dixon Avenue and the Pine River, preserve single family character of the lakefront. Maintain and, as necessary, improve existing public access points for pedestrian uses.

North Side

Preserve the existing single family character of this neighborhood.

North Lake Charlevoix

Encourage a major hotel-conference facility in the vicinity of the Wayside Motel. Maintain and improve Depot Beach landscaping and parking. Preserve a low density residentiel character along remaining lakefront.

North Shore, Round Lake

Preserve existing single family character of this neighborhood.

Area North of Channel, South of Dixon Avenue

Encourage redevelopment toward resort-based hotel, restaurant, conference, short-terms residential, and parking uses.

Pine River Channel

Construct sidewalk from Bridge Street to the Fisheries Station along the South Bank. Install low-maintenance landscaping along both channel banks. Develop the watertower area as a small park for picnics and observation of boat traffic.

Valley

Preserve esisting single family character of this neighborhood.

Downtown

Encourage redevelopment of areas off Bridge Street. Encourage clean-up of alleys and development of second store entrances on alleys. Encourage construction of new retail space behind Bridge Street stores, and provide additional parking in lots accessed off of State and side streets. Emphasize pedestrian oriented small scale developments. Make improvements to sidewalks and street lighting. Provide for additional benches and pedestrian amenities.

East Park

Reduce amount of land area devoted to parking and increase intensity of landscaping. Provide improved lighting and additional benches and pedestrian amenities. Encourage clean-up of store rears and encourage second store entrances on park side. Study increased boating potential associated with peak-season relocation of Mesquite mooring to Coast Guard station. Accomplish limited expansion of public marina with design preserving "open" character of Round Lake and addressing concern for marine traffic congestion.

South Shore, Round Lake

Permit gradual redevelopment with medium density residential or non-retail commercial-resort-office uses. Emphasize concerns for public access, view corridors, and traffic conjestion in defelopment reviews.

Area East of State Street

Preserve the esisting single family character of the neighborhood. Improve streets and drainage.

Area West of Bridge Street

Preserve the existing single family character of the neighborhood.

Area Between State and Bridge Street

Permit gradual redevelopment of area toward medium density housing. Encourage preservation of existing structures by conversion to duplexes or apartments, where parking and other standards can be met.

May Street at Stover Road Area

Preserve single family residential character of developed area. Permit medium density multi-family development of undeveloped areas north of Stover Road. Emphasize concerns for traffic congestion and buffering between single and multiple family housing in development reviews.

South Lake Charlevoix

Permit redevelopment South of Eaton Street toward resort-based multi-family residential and accessory retail commercial uses. Realign Ferry Avenue and expand Ferry Beach, if possible. Plan for eventual relocation of Electric, Water, and Street Department operations to designated industrial areas. Emphasize concerns for traffic management, landscaping, and view corridors along Ferry Avenue.

South Bridge Street Area

Encourage the redevelopment of the highway corridor to the South City Limits. Limit highway commercial activities (e.g. gas stations, fast foods, etc.) to highway South of Carpenter Street, emphasizing setbacks and clustering of developments where possible. Encourage maintenace of existing residential structures North of Carpenter Street by permitting conversion of house to multi-family uses, and permitting ground-floor office-commercial occupancies on Bridge Street which are compatible with maintaining an overall residential character in the area. Encourage second floor housing in new office and commercial structures proposed for Bridge Street North of Carpenter. Encourage heavy landscaping and promote construction of sidewalks along the highway.

Transportation

Plan for eventual re-configuration to a one-way street system on Bridge and Park Streets Downtown, when build-out of the area requires additional traffic capacity. At the time this occurs, widen Downtown Bridge Street sidewalks replace parallel with angle parking in designated areas, and convert Clinton Street, between State and Bridge Street, to pedestrian mall. Designate and sign certain traffic

State wants $28,000 back from school dist.

By FRAN MARTIN

The Charlevoix School District, in a letter received Monday from the Michigan Department of Education, was advised that it owes the department $28,147.84.

The amount, however, is not an over-payment, as was stated in an earlier letter, but the amount the school district has received from state sources in catagorical aid, Vincent Olach, business manager for the Charlevoix Public Schools, explained. Catagorical aid is money earmarked for a given purpose. In this instance, it is for transportation, special education, vocational education and career education.

The Charlevoix School District, following action taken on the matter at the regular meeting Monday night, will advise the Department of Education that it can subtract the $28,147.84 from any funds the school district may receive in the future.

The request for the return of the so-called "over-payment" came last week from the Michigan Department of Education in letters not only to Charlevoix but all schools in the Char-Em Intermediate School District. At that time, the Charlevoix district was told it owed $94,987.

Vincent Olach, business manager, said at that time the district had never received that amount. After questioning officials at the state level, it was brought out that the Department of Education had erred in its calculating and that instead of $94,787, the amount was $28,448. It also came to light that the amount was not an over-payment but the result of an executive order to cut back.

No tax monies will be involved but the sum subtracted from any future payment to the school district by the state.

November ballot will include several statewide propositions

by PEG OHLE

When Charlevoix County residents go to the polls on November 2, they will be asked to vote both for people and for propositions.

The people are candidates for United States Senator, United States Congressman, Governor and Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, Attorney General, State Senator, Representative in State Legislature, Members of the State Board of Education, Members of the Board of Regents of the University of Michigan, Members of the Board of Trustees of Michigan State University, Members of the Board of Governors of Wayne State University, County Commissioner, Justices of the Supreme Court, Judge of the Court of Appeals, Judge of the Probate Court, and Judge of the District Court.

There are three County propositions and seven State propositions on the ballot. They appear at the end of the ballot, and voters are urged to continue voting after indicating their choices of people for the various National, State, and County jobs.

The first County proposition is headed "Separate Tax Limitation" and reads, "Shall separate tax limitations be established for a period of four years (1983, 1984, 1985, 1986), or until altered by the voters of the County for the County of Charlevoix and the townships and school districts within the County, the aggregate of which shall not exceed 15.0 mills as follows:

"County of Charlevoix, 4.70, School Districts, 9.10, Intermediate School District, .20, and Townships, 1.00".

These are the same millage rate limitations established four years ago and pose no change in the County tax structure.

The second County proposition is headed, "Transit Funding Proposal", and reads, "Shall the total tax limitation which may be assessed all property in the County

Fund drive to aid 4-H projects

A special fund-raising campaign aimed at generating support to underwrite the costs of local and statewide 4-H livestock project opportunities will begin Oct. 1, according to Leah Green, Charlevoix County 4-H Staff. The campaign will be conducted in cooperation with the Michigan Pork Producers Association, the Michigan 4-H Foundation and 13 Michigan livestock auctions and daily hog markets including those at Clare and St. Johns, Mi.

"Though the 4-H program receives appropriations from county, state and federal levels, budget cutbacks make it difficult to continue to teach and train 4-H members to assume leadership roles in livestock-related industries," Green explains. "Our young people are one of our most important resources, and we want to insure that they will continue to have the opportunity to develop the skills and interests necessary to prepare them for careers in the livestock industry."

According to Green, the idea behind the fund-raising project is a simple one. Area pork producers are encouraged to donate the value of a market hog, cull sow or boar during October to the fund-raising project. Producers can donate as many animals as they wish. Participating marketing agencies will help promote the project and forward producer's donations to the Michigan 4-H Foundation.

Fifty percent of the gifts made by local producers will go the the Charlevoix County 4-H program to bolster local livestock projects and activities. The remaining 50 percent will be used to support statewide 4-H livestock programs and activities including Kettunen Center 4-H livestock leadership training workshops, 1983 Michigan 4-H Livestock Exposwine scholarships, regional 4-H animal science workshops and grants to county 4-H programs to develop innovative 4-H livestock education programs.

Donors will be recognized locally and as Michigan 4-H Foundation supporters. Since the foundation is a non-profit, charitable organization, donors are eligible for federal tax deductions and Michigan income tax credits.

For more information about the 4-H Pork Producers Fund-Raising Project, contact Green at the Charlevoix County Cooperative Extension Service office, or the Michigan 4-H Foundation, 220 Nisbet Building, 1407 S. Harrison Road, East Lansing, MI 48812, or call (517) 353-6692.

Shrine band to appear in area

The Northwest Shrine Club will host the Saladin Band Concert this year at the Bellaire High School auditorium, Saturday, October 9 at 8:00 p.m. The admission is free.

The Saladin Million Dollar Band under the direction of Greg Kerkorian presents an outstanding evening of music. Members of the band contriubte their time and talent to help the many charities of the Shrine. The most important of which is the maintenance of 22 hospitals for crippled children and the treatment of burns.

The concert is generously sponsored by local businesses and residents of our Northwest area of Michigan. Attendance at this evening performance will help a crippled child to walk or a badly burned child to once more lead a normal life.

Flu vaccinations suggested

Influenza virus infection occurs every year in Michigan. Infections may not show symptoms, or they may produce a spectrum of problems ranging from mild upper respiratory infection to pneumonia and death. Influenza A and B viruses are responsible for only a small pproportion of all respiratory disease, but they are unique in their ability to cause periodic wide spread outbreaks of feverish respiratory illness among adults and children.

In the area served by District Health Department Number 3 (Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet, Otsego counties) efforts to reduce the impact of influenza have been aimed at protecting persons at greatest risk of serious illness or death.

General recommendations for annual vaccinations are strongly recommended for all people (children or adults) who are at increased risk of adverse consequences from infections of the lower respiratory tract because of pre-existing medical condition. Annual vaccinations are also generally recommended for all older persons, particularily those 65 years old and over. This recommendation is because the risk of death during influenza outbreaks generally increases with age.

For specific information regarding influenza vaccination a private physician should be consulted.

Influenza vaccination for senior citizens are generally available through senior citizen centers located in each county. Vaccinations for all individuals may also be obtained through a private physician.

During the 1981-1982 winters, influenza activity was generally low in the United States, without an excessively high death rate. This low rate of influenza problems is attributed in part to the use of influenza vaccine.

Top bid at Petunia auction sends Bridges to Washington in style

by DAVE KNIGHT

It started out as a generous contribution to Charlevoix's petunia project.

But when it was all over, Capt. and Mrs. Gene Bridge agreed that their trip to Washington D.C., won in the Keep Charlevoiox Beautiful auction last August, was an experience of a lifetime.

"Sure we could have taken a trip to Washington for a lot less money," said Bridge, who paid about $1,800 for the auction's showcase item, "But we never could have done what we did and seen what we saw."

Indeed, the Bridges' itinerary was one that few tourists would ever be able to accomplish on their own.

The trip was billed as "Lunch at the White House". It was made possible by Bruce and Barbara MacArthur's acquaintance with James Rosebush, chief of staff to First Lady Nancy Reagan.

As Bridge puts it, "Rosebush is to Nancy Reagan what Ed Meese is to the President."

Through MacArthurs, Rosebush agreed to host the highest bidders in the KCB auction for lunch in the executive quarters and, according to Bridge, it was one lunch they will never forget.

Their oddysey began on Saturday morning, September 11, when, after attending the KCB meeting at Leutheusers, the Bridges drove to Detroit Metro airport. There they had supper and stayed the night in a luxurious room in the Host Hotel overlooking the airport.

Their food and lodging that evening were made possible by a donation to the KCB cause by Petoskey travel agent Andrew Kan.

They took off the Sunday morning for Baltimore where they landed at 11 a.m. and were met by a limosine which took them to the new Hyatt Regency Hotel in Crystal City Va. Again, accomodations were regal, said Bridge. From their room on the 15th floor, they could look out over the Potomac at the Capitol dome and the rest of the picturesque city of Washington. As they ate supper at the Hyatt's Skylight Room, they literally had planes from all over the world landing at their feet, said Bridge.

Monday morning they headed for downtown Washington on what Bridge termed "one of the most beautiful and well run new subway systems he had ever seen." A tourmobile took them through the Arlington National Cemetery and they also saw briefly the Hirschorn Museum for which they had been offered a private tour through an unusual set of circumstances.

At the KCB auction, one of the most frequent bidders was Sterling Berman, a summer resident of Charlevoix. In fact, Berman was one of the unsuccessful bidders for the Washington trip. It turns out that Mrs. Berman is the niece of Mr. Hershorn who built the Washington museum named after him to house his outstanding collection of modern art. When Mrs. Berman learned that the Bridges were going to Washington, she arranged for an exclusive tour of the museum. Unfortunately, the Bridges' schedule was so packed that they were not able to take advantage of the offer that weekend but hope to return this spring.

Monday's events included private tours of both the FBI and the State Department where the Bridges were shown the stunning eighth floor reception rooms housing some of the nation's most priceless antique artifacts.

A tour of the Kennedy Center finished their day.

Tuesday morning they reported, as instructed, to the East Gate of the White House at 9:30 sharp. To their dismay, they found that the White House had been closed that day because of the state visit of Phillipine President Ferdinand Marcos. A

TWO PEOPLE escaped serious injury in a vehicle accident on US 31 North near the Big Rock Nuclear plant at 10:40 p.m. Wednesday.

The accident occured when a 1975 VW Rabbit, above, driven by Jane Elizabeth Hausler, 29, Burnett Road, Charlevoix, traveling east on the highway, left the roadway and rammed into the rear of a second vehicle, a 1979 AMC, parked on the shoulder of the road and occupied by the driver, Charles Richard Waterson, 22, of Elk Rapids.

Both were taken to the Charlevoix Area Hospital by the Charlevoix ambulance according to Charlevoix County Sheriff's deputies who investigated the accident. Mrs. Hausler was treated for a broken nose. Waterson complained of neck injuries. Both were treated and released.

Mrs. Hausler was cited for operating (a motor vehicle) under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

Backers of county transit organize to support millage

by PEG OHLE

In an effort to keep the Charlevoix County Transit System in business, a group of residents has formed a committee to promote passage of the Transit System millage proposal on November 2. The proposition asks for a levy of .29 mills for 1973, 1974, and 1975.

The committee, which is headed by Mrs. Harvey C. (Gen) Varnum of Boyne City, has already held meetings in East Jordan, Charlevoix, and Boyne City to line up persons for a telephone campaign and to produce window-type posters.

The next meeting is scheduled for Tuesday evening, October 12, at 7:30 in the Bergmann Center Building on Martin Road, Charlevoix. All persons interested in the Transit System are invited to attend.

"There are several things we want people to know about the Transit System that they don't seem to know," Mrs. Varnum told the Courier.

"We want them to know that the buses are for everybody, not just for senior citizens. We want them to them they are used by the people who are clients of Bergmann Center. We want them to know they go to Petoskey from Charlevoix every Friday (and to Petoskey from other cities on other days) so people can see their doctors at Burns Clinic. We want them to know they are used for delivering hot meals to shut-ins as well as taking senior citizens to meal sits. We want them to know that .25 mills will add very little to their taxes."

A similar proposition, except for .29 mills, failed to pass at the August Primary Election by a vote of 1,799 to 1,332. Except for a tide-over grant of $8,500 given to the Transit System last Spring by the County Board of Commissioners and farebox collections, the System has been supported entirely by Federal and State monies since it started operation August 1, 1980. However, that support has been cut by 25 percent and will be cut another 25 percent next August 1.

Knight on the Town
TCE update

by Dave Knight

It has been one year since the people of Charlevoix were told that their municipal water supply is tainted with the industrial chemical tricholorethylene (TCE) and the question "What are we doing about it?" is heard around town with increasing frequency.

Local residents are understandably concerned. Says Mayor Ken Staley, "Hardly a day goes by that my phone doesn't ring with someone asking about TCE."

Though the presence of TCE in any amount is considered totally unacceptable by most city dwellers, there is at least some encouragement in the fact that most recent tests show declining levels. Current readings have been under 20 parts per billion while tests earlier in the year registered over 50 ppb. This indicates that we are at the low point of a yearly cycle in which the TCE concentration increases as the groundwater aquifers are recharged. According to City Manager Robert Hunt, this cycle would result in highest TCE readings during the winter and spring.

The fact that we still cannot positively identify the point source of the contamination is perhaps the most frustrating aspect of the problem.

Almost everybody seems to have their own idea of where the TCE is coming from but, so far, none of the suspected sources have panned out. "Everybody in town knows the TCE is coming from the old Jess Penn plant near the ball park," writes Igor Strzyzewski to the Courier. Many other people point to a former dumping site right on Park Avenue as the probable source.
